Paragraph (c) of § 7.32, which applies to personnel records or other employees' records that are maintained by the FDA in offices other than the Division of Personnel Management, is changed to exclude records in operating offices, which are dealt with separately in paragraph (d) of this section. Records subject to paragraph (c) would be subject to the procedures in Part 7, except that requests for access to or amendment of records may only be denied by the Associate Commissioner for Administration rather than the Associate Commissioner for Compliance. At present, the systems of records that would be subject to paragraph (c) include those routine personnel and administrative management records that are covered by a Department-wide notice, i.e., those listed in item 3 of this preamble that are neither maintained by the Division of Personnel Management nor subject to OS ASAM PT 13, the notice for personnel records in operating offices. Also subject to § 7.32(c) are several FDA systems (FDA-5, FDA-7, FDA-11, and FDA-13) as they relate to agency employees.

Paragraph (d) of § 7.32 specifies additional details on informal procedures for access to personnel records informally maintained by administrative offices in units of the agency and by supervisors. As with records maintained by the Division of Personnel Management, only the Associate Commissioner for Administration or his designate may refuse an employee access to records about himself or a request for amendment of these records.

7. Section 7.33 (21 CFR 7.33), concerning medical records, is changed by adding a provision to enable the agency to follow the same procedures in disclosure to an individual of his medical records under Part 7 that apply when disclosure is made under Part 4.

8. Section 7.40 (21 CFR 7.40) outlines procedures for submitting requests for notification and access and is adopted with two changes. A sentence is added to § 7.40(f), stating that an individual seeking access under § 7.65(b)(2) to investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes other than criminal law enforcement purposes should submit a description of the right, benefit, or privilege allegedly denied as a result of maintenance of the material. Section 7.40(g) is changed to indicate that the FDA will for the time being use the Privacy Act request forms developed by the General Services Administration (OF–203), rather than develop its own forms.

9. Section 7.41 (21 CFR 7.41), concerning processing of requests, is adopted with a change in § 7.41(b) to make it clear that the FDA will determine if a request is under the Privacy Act when about himself is appropriately treated as a request under Part 4, Part 7, or both. When necessary, the FDA will consult with the individual about the appropriate treatment of the request. This may be done, for example, when the individual's request is vague, or asserts that the request is under the Privacy Act when it does not appear that a record about the requesting individual is sought, or when a specific Privacy Act record system is not named.

It should be noted that requests for records sought under Part 4 must reasonably describe the records being sought in a way that they can be identified and located (21 CFR 4.40(b)). This requirement is not altered by § 7.41(b).

Section 7.41(c) as adopted indicates that the FDA Privacy Coordinator is located in the Food and Drug Administration's Public Records and Documents Center. Matters relating to present or former FDA employees will be referred to the Office of Administration, Food and Drug Administration (generally the Division of Personnel Management) for handling. Locating the FDA Privacy Coordinator in the Public Records and Documents Center enables the agency to assure coordination of requests under the Privacy Act with requests under the Freedom of Information Act.

An editorial change is made in § 7.41(d).

Section 7.41(e) is adopted as proposed, with one addition: Once a decision is made to treat a request under Part 4 rather than Part 7, or under both parts, the time limitations prescribed in § 4.41 (21 CFR 4.41) shall apply. These time limitations shall commence at the time a decision is made that the request is properly handled in whole or in part under Part 4. In any case, access to available records shall be provided as promptly as possible. A provision (formerly § 7.43(d)) to this effect is added to § 7.41(e).

10. Sections 7.41(f) and 7.42(b) are amended to provide that access to records in FDA Privacy Act Record Systems other than personnel records shall be denied only by the Associate Commissioner for Compliance or his designate. Under § 7.32, only the Associate Commissioner for Administration may deny access to personnel records. Section 7.41(f) is also amended to indicate that Part 7 does not make available to individuals information that was compiled in reasonable anticipation of court litigation or formal administrative proceedings, and a conforming change is included in § 7.42, which concerns responses to requests. These changes are made to conform to § 7.1(b)(3).

Section 7.42(a)(3) of this section is amended to indicate that where records are available under Part 4 the records may be enclosed with the letter informing the individual of this fact in accordance with Part 4.

11. A reference is included in § 7.43(a)(2) to the address of the Public Records and Documents Center. Section 7.43(c) is amended to indicate that in assuring that records made available to an individual can be understood by the individual, as required by the Privacy Act, the FDA may provide either an oral or a written explanation of the records. Section 7.43(d) is deleted because the provision that access to requested records shall be provided as promptly as possible has been added to § 7.41(e).

12. The provisions in § 7.44 (21 CFR 7.44), which relates to verification of the identity of individuals making requests for records, have been simplified and made consistent with the Department regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(b)), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 8, 1975 (40 FR 47406, 47411).

13. Section 7.45 (21 CFR 7.45), concerning fees, is adopted with several editorial changes. Paragraph (d), relating to fees for personnel records, is deleted since the material is covered in § 7.32, as well as the Civil Service Commission regulations.

14. Section 7.50 (21 CFR 7.50) is adopted with editorial changes in paragraphs (a) and (c).

15. Paragraph (a)(2) in § 7.51 (21 CFR 7.51) is changed to indicate that, except for personnel records that are subject to § 7.32, refusals to amend records may only be made by the Associate Commissioner for Compliance or his designate. Paragraph (b) of § 7.51 provides that an extension of time for acting on a request for amendment shall be 30 working days. Paragraph (c) of § 7.51 is changed to make it clear that the standard to be applied in reviewing requests to amend records applies to all reviewing officials, i.e., the Associate Commissioner for Administration for personnel records, the Associate Commissioner for Compliance for other records, and the Commissioner of Food and Drugs in appeals from decisions by the latter officials.

16. Section 7.61 (21 CFR 7.61), which relates to exempt systems of records, is changed to refer to "records" rather than "material" or "information." In the proposal, paragraph (b) of § 7.61 listed three exempt record systems, the third being "[e]mployee, consultant, and contractor security and investigative records that are the subject of a Department notice, to the extent that these files are maintained by the Food and Drug Administration." It has been determined that the Department-wide notice does not adequately describe the Food and Drug Administration files in question. The Commissioner has therefore issued in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 15, 1975 (40 FR 48462), notice of the records in question, as the Employee Conduct Investigative Records, FDA–13, and as the Service Contractor Employees Investigative Records, FDA–14. In developing the FDA notice, it was found to be more practicable to develop two notices rather than one for the records in question, all of which are maintained by the Policy Management Staff of the FDA. A conforming amendment is made in paragraph (c) of § 7.61.

17. Section 7.65 (21 CFR 7.65) is adopted with a number of editorial changes. A sentence is added to paragraph (b)(2) of the section, which provides that an individual given access to records by reason of the proviso to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) is not entitled under Subpart E of Part 7 to seek amendment of the record that he alleges resulted in denial to him of a right, benefit, or privilege to which he would otherwise have been entitled under Federal law. The proviso only enables an individual to receive access to such investigatory records.

18. Section 7.71 (21 CFR 7.71), which concerns disclosure of records in Privacy Act Record Systems, is adopted with a correction in paragraph (e)(4) of the section.

19. The provisions in § 7.72 (21 CFR 7.72) for individual consent to disclosure of records to other persons is changed to assure consistency with the final Department-wide regulations.

20. Section 7.75 (21 CFR 7.75), which concerns the right of legal guardians, is adopted with an editorial change.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 201 et seq., 52 Stat. 1040 et seq., as amended (21 U.S.C. 321 et seq.)); the Public Health Service Act (sec. 1 et seq., 58 Stat. 682 et seq., as amended (42 U.S.C. 201 et seq.)); the Freedom of Information Act (Pub. L. 90–23, 81 Stat. 54–56, as amended (5 U.S.C. 552)); the Privacy Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93–579, sec. 2 et seq., 88 Stat. 1896 (5 U.S.C. 552a)), and under authority delegated to him (21 CFR 2.120), the Commissioner amends Chapter I, of Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

a. In Subpart B, § 4.20 is amended by revising paragraph (c) and by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 4.20 Policy on disclosure of Food and Drug Administration records.

• • • • • •

(c) Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, all nonexempt records shall be made available for public disclosure upon request regardless whether any justification or need for such records have been shown.

(d) Under § 7.71 of this chapter, a statement of the purposes to which the record requested is to be put, and a certification that the record will be so used, may be requested when:

(1) The requested record is contained in a Privacy Act Record System as defined in § 7.3(c) of this chapter;

(2) The requester is a person other than the individual who is the subject of the record that is so retrieved or a person acting on his behalf; and

(3) The disclosure is one that is discretionary, i.e., not required under this part.

b. In Subpart B, § 4.21 is amended by adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 4.21 Uniform access to records.

• • • • • •

(c) Disclosure of a record about an individual, as defined in § 7.3(a) of this chapter, that is retrieved by the individual's name or other personal identifier and is contained in a Privacy Act Record System, as defined in § 7.3(c) of this chapter, shall be subject to the special requirements of Part 7 of this chapter. Disclosure of such a record to an individual who is the subject of the record does not invoke the rule established in this section that such records shall be made available for disclosure to all members of the public.

c. In Subpart C, § 4.40 is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 4.40 Filing a request for records.

• • • • • •

(d) A request by an individual, as defined in § 7.3(a) of this chapter, for a record about himself shall be subject to:

(1) The special requirements of Part 7 of this chapter (the privacy regulations), and not to the provisions of this subpart, if the record requested is retrieved by the individual's name or other personal identifier and is contained in a Privacy Act Record System, as defined in § 7.3(c) of this chapter.

(2) The provisions of this subpart if the record requested is not retrieved by the individual's name or other personal identifier, whether or not the record is contained in a Privacy Act Record System.

d. In Subpart E, § 4.80 is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 4.80 Applicability of limitations on exemptions.

• • • • • •

(d) In the case of a record in a Privacy Act Record System, as defined in § 7.3(c) of this chapter:

(1) The availability to an individual, as defined in § 7.3(a), of a record about himself that is retrieved by the individual's name or other personal identifier and is contained in a Privacy Act Record System shall be subject to the special requirements of Part 7 of this chapter (the privacy regulations) and shall not be subject to the exemptions in Subpart D of this part except that where the system is exempt and the requested record is not available under § 7.61 of this chapter, the provisions of this part shall apply.

(2) The availability of a record about an individual to persons other than the individual who is the subject of the record shall be subject to the special requirements of Part 7, Subpart G, of this chapter (restrictions on disclosure in the privacy regulations), and shall not be subject to the limitations on exemptions in this subpart except as provided in Part 7, Subpart G, of this chapter.

e. In Subpart E, § 4.82 is amended by adding a new paragraph (b)(4) to read as follows:

§ 4.82 Discretionary disclosure by the Commissioner.

• • • • • •

(b) • • •

(4) Contained in a Privacy Act Record System where disclosure would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy or is otherwise in violation of 5 U.S.C. 552a(b), as applied in Part 7, Subpart G, of this chapter (restrictions on disclosure in the privacy regulations).

• • • • • •

f. In Subpart E, § 4.83 is amended by designating the existing text as paragraph (a) and adding new paragraphs (b) and (c) to read as follows:

§ 4.83 Disclosure required by court order.

(b) Where the Food and Drug Administration record ordered disclosed under paragraph (a) of this section is a record about an individual that is not available for public disclosure under § 4.63, the Food and Drug Administration shall attempt to notify the individual who is the subject of the record of the disclosure, by sending a notice to the individual's last known address.

(c) Paragraph (b) of this section shall not apply where the name or other personal identifying information is deleted prior to disclosure.

g. In subpart F by adding the following new section to read as follows:

§ 4.119 Lists of names and addresses.

Names and addresses of individuals in Food and Drug Administration records shall not be sold or rented. Names and addresses shall not be disclosed if disclosure is prohibited as a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, e.g., lists of names and home addresses of Food and Drug Administration employees, which shall not be disclosed under § 4.110.

2. A new Part 7 is added to read as follows:

Subpart A—General Procedures

Sec.
7.1 Purpose and scope.
7.3 Definitions.
7.10 Policy concerning records about individuals.

Subpart B—Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record Systems

7.20 Procedures for notice of Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record Systems.
7.21 Changes in systems and new systems.

Subpart C—Requirements for Specific Categories of Records

7.30 Records of contractors.
7.31 Records stored by the General Services Administration and archival records.
7.32 Personnel records.
7.33 Medical records.

7.40 Procedures for submitting requests for notification and access.
7.41 Processing of requests.
7.42 Responses to requests.
7.43 Access to requested records.
7.44 Verification of identity.
7.45 Fees.

Subpart E—Procedures for Requests for Amendment of Records

7.50 Procedures for submitting requests for amendment of records.
7.51 Responses to requests for amendment of records.
7.52 Administrative appeals of refusals to amend records.
7.53 Notation and disclosure of disputed records.
7.54 Amended or disputed records received from other agencies.

Subpart F—Exemptions

7.60 Policy.
7.61 Exempt systems.
7.65 Access to records in exempt systems.

Subpart G—Disclosure of Records in Privacy Act Record Systems to Persons Other Than the Subject Individual

7.70 Disclosure and intra-agency use of records in Privacy Act Record Systems; no accounting required.
7.71 Disclosure of records in Privacy Act Record Systems; accounting required.
7.72 Individual consent to disclosure of records to other persons.
7.73 Accuracy, completeness, timeliness, and relevance of records disclosed from Privacy Act Record Systems.
7.74 Providing notice that a record is disputed.
7.75 Rights of legal guardians.

Subpart A—General Provisions

§ 7.1 Purpose and scope.

(a) This part establishes procedures to implement the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a). It applies to records about individuals that are maintained, collected, used, or disclosed by the Food and Drug Administration and contained in Privacy Act Record Systems.

(b) This part does not:

(1) Apply to Food and Drug Administration record systems that are not Privacy Act Record Systems or make available to an individual records that may include references to him but that are not retrieved by his name or other personal identifier, whether or not contained in a Privacy Act Record System.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations) and other regulations referred to therein determine when records are made available in such cases.

(2) Make any records available to persons other than (i) individuals who are the subjects of the records, (ii) persons accompanying such individuals under § 7.43, (iii) persons provided records pursuant to individual consent under § 7.72, or (iv) persons acting on behalf of such individuals as legal guardians under § 7.75. Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations) and other regulations referred to therein determine when Food and Drug Administration records are disclosable to members of the public generally. Subpart G of this part limits the provisions of Part 4 of this chapter with respect to disclosures of records about individuals from Privacy Act Record Systems to persons other than individuals who are the subjects of the records.

(3) Make available information compiled by the Food and Drug Administration in reasonable anticipation of court litigation or formal administrative proceedings. The availability of such information to any member of the public, including any subject individual or party to such litigation or proceeding shall be governed by applicable constitutional principles, rules of discovery, and Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations).

(4) Apply to personnel records maintained by the Division of Personnel Management, Food and Drug Administration, except as provided in § 7.32. Such records are subject to regulations of the Civil Service Commission in 5 CFR Parts 293, 294, and 297.

§ 7.3 Definitions.

As used in this part:

(a) "Individual" means a natural living person who is a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence. Individual does not include sole proprietorships, partnerships, or corporations engaged in the production or distribution of products regulated by the Food and Drug Administration or with which the Food and Drug Administration has business dealings. Any such business enterprise that is identified by the name of one or more individuals is not an individual within the meaning of this part. Employees of regulated business enterprises are considered individuals. Accordingly, physicians and other health professionals who are engaged in business as proprietors of establishments regulated by the Food and Drug Administration are not considered individuals; however, physicians and other health professionals who are engaged in clinical investigations, employed by regulated enterprises, or the subjects of records concerning their own health, e.g., exposure to excessive radiation, are considered individuals. Food and Drug Administration employees, consultants, and advisory committee members, State and local officials, and consumers are considered individuals.

(b) "Records about individuals" means items, collections, or groupings of information about individuals contained in Privacy Act Record Systems, including, but not limited to education, financial transactions, medical history, criminal history, or employment history, that contain names or personal identifiers.

(c) "Privacy Act Record System" means a system of records about individuals under the control of the Food and Drug Administration from which information is retrieved by individual names or other personal identifiers. The term includes such a system of records whether subject to a notice published by the Food and Drug Administration, the Department, or another agency. Where records are retrieved only by personal identifiers other than individual names, a system of records is not a Privacy Act Record System if the Food and Drug Administration cannot, by reference to information under its control, or by reference to records of contractors that are subject to this part under § 7.30, ascertain the identity of individuals who are the subjects of the records.

(d) "Personal identifiers" includes individual names, identifying numbers, symbols, or other identifying designations assigned to individuals. "Personal identifiers" does not include names, numbers, symbols, or other identifying designations that identify products, establishments, or actions.

(e) "Personnel records" means any personal information maintained in a Privacy Act Record System that is needed for personnel management programs or processes such as staffing, employee development, retirement, and grievances and appeals.

(f) "Department" means Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

§ 7.10 Policy concerning records about individuals.

Information about individuals in Food and Drug Administration records shall be collected, maintained, used, and disseminated so as to protect the right to privacy of the individual to the fullest possible extent consistent with laws relating to disclosure of information to the general public, the law enforcement responsibilities of the agency, and administrative and program management needs.

Subpart B—Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record Systems

§ 7.20 Procedures for notice of Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record Systems.

(a) The Food and Drug Administration shall issue in the FEDERAL REGISTER on or before August 30 of each year a notice concerning each Privacy Act Record System as defined in § 7.3(c) that is not covered by a notice published by the Department, the Civil Service Commission, or another agency.

(b) The notice shall include the following information:

(1) The name and location(s) of the system.

(2) The categories of individuals about whom records are maintained in the system.

(3) The categories of records maintained in the system.

(4) The authority for the system.

(5) Each routine use of the records contained in the system (i.e., use outside the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare that is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected and described in the notice) including the categories of users and the purposes of such use.

(6) The policies and practices of the Food and Drug Administration regarding storage, retrievability (i.e., how the records are indexed and what intra-agency uses are made of the records), access controls, retention, and disposal of the records in that system.

(7) The title and business address of the official who is responsible for the system of records.

(8) The notification procedure, i.e., the address of the FDA Privacy Coordinator, whom any individual can contact to seek notification whether the system contains a record about him.

(9) The record access and contest procedures, which shall be the same as the notification procedure except that a reference shall be included to any exemption from access and contest.

(10) Where any records in the system are subject to an exemption under § 7.61, a reference to this exemption.

(11) The categories of sources of records in the system.

§ 7.21 Changes in systems and new systems.

(a) The Food and Drug Administration shall notify the designated Department official, the Office of Management and Budget (Information Systems Division), and the Congress of proposals to change or establish Privacy Act Record Systems in accordance with procedures of the Department and the Office of Management and Budget.

(b) The Food and Drug Administration shall issue a notice, in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section and § 7.20(b), of any change in a Privacy Act Record System which:

(1) Increases the number or types of individuals about whom records are maintained;

(2) Expands the type or amount of information about individuals that is maintained;

(3) Increases the number of categories of agencies or other persons who may have access to those records;

(4) Alters the manner in which the records are organized so as to change the nature or scope of those records, such as the combining of two or more existing systems;

(5) Modifies the way in which the system operates or its location(s) in a manner that alters the process by which individuals can exercise their rights under this part, such as the ways in which they seek access or request amendment of a record; or

(6) Changes the equipment configuration on which the system is operated so as to create the potential for greater access, such as adding a telecommunications capability.

(c) The Food and Drug Administration shall issue a notice of its intention to establish new Privacy Act Record Systems in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section and § 7.20(b).

(d) Notices under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER for comment at least 30 days prior to implementation of the proposed changes or establishment of new systems. Interested persons shall have the opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments on such proposed new uses or systems.

Subpart C—Requirements for Specific Categories of Records

§ 7.30 Records of contractors.

(a) Systems of records that are required to be operated, or as a matter of practical necessity must be operated, by contractors to accomplish Food and Drug Administration functions, from which information is retrieved by individual names or other personal identifiers, may be subject to the provisions of this part. If the contract is agreed to on or after September 27, 1975, the criminal penalties set forth in 5 U.S.C. 552a(i) are applicable to such contractor, and any employee of such contractor, for disclosures prohibited in § 7.71 or for maintenance of a system of records without notice as required in § 7.20.

(b) A contract is considered to accomplish a Food and Drug Administration function if the proposal or activity it supports is principally operated on behalf of and is under the direct management of the Food and Drug Administration. Systems of records from which information is retrieved by individual names or other personal identifiers and that are operated under contracts to accomplish Food and Drug Administration functions are deemed to be maintained by the agency and shall be subject to the procedures and requirements of this part.

(c) A contract is not considered to accomplish a Food and Drug Administration function if the program or activity it supports is not principally operated on behalf of, or is not under the direct management of, the Food and Drug Administration. For example, this part does not apply to systems of records:

(1) Operated under contract with the Food and Drug Administration by State or local government agencies, or organizations representing such agencies, when such agencies or organizations are also performing State or local government functions.

(2) Operated by contractors with the Food and Drug Administration by individuals or organizations whose primary function is delivery of health services, such as hospitals, physicians, pharmacists, and other health professionals, and that report information concerning products, e.g., injuries or product defects, to the Food and Drug Administration. Before such contractors submit information to the Food and Drug Administration, the names and other personal identifiers of patients or research subjects in any medical or similar report, test, study, or other research project shall be deleted, unless the contract provides otherwise. If the Food and Drug Administration subsequently needs the names of such individuals, a separate request will be made.

(3) Relating to individuals whom the contractor employs, or with whom the contractor otherwise deals, in the course of providing goods and services to the Food and Drug Administration.

(4) Operated under grants.

(d) The requirements of this part shall apply when a contractor who operates a system of records not subject to this part reports to the Food and Drug Administration information that is a system of records about individuals from which personal information is retrieved by names or other personal identifiers. Where the information would be a new Privacy Act Record System, or a change in an existing Privacy Act Record System of a type described in § 7.21, the Food and Drug Administration shall comply with the requirements of § 7.21.

(e) The Food and Drug Administration will review all contracts before award to determine whether operation of a system from which information is retrieved by individual names or other personal identifiers will be required of the contractor, by the terms of the contract or as a matter of practical necessity. If such operation will be required, the solicitation and contract shall include the following clause, or a clause of similar effect:

> Whenever the contractor or any of his employees is required by this contract to operate a system of records from which information is retrieved by individual names or other personal identifiers in order to accomplish a Food and Drug Administration function, the contractor and every employee is considered to be an employee of the Food and Drug Administration and shall operate such system of records in accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), regulations of the Food and Drug Administration in 21 CFR Part 7, and rules of conduct that apply to Food and Drug Administration employees who work with such systems of records. The contractor and his employees are subject to the criminal penalties set forth in 5 U.S.C. 552a(i) for violations of the Privacy Act.

§ 7.31 Records stored by the General Services Administration and archival records.

(a) Food and Drug Administration records that are stored, processed, and serviced by the General Services Administration in accordance with 44 U.S.C. 3103 shall be considered to be maintained by the Food and Drug Administration. The General Services Administration shall not disclose the record except to authorized Food and Drug Administration employees.

(b) Each Food and Drug Administration record pertaining to an identifiable individual that was transferred to the National Archives of the United States as a record determined by the National Archives to have sufficient historical or other value to warrant its continued preservation shall be considered to be maintained by the National Archives and shall not be subject to the provisions of this part.

§ 7.32 Personnel records.

(a) Present and former Food and Drug Administration employees desiring access to personnel records about themselves should consult system notices applicable to the agency's personnel records that are published by the Civil Service Commission and the Department as well as any notice issued by the Food and Drug Administration.

(b)(1) The procedures of the Civil Service Commission at 5 CFR Parts 293, 294, and 297, rather than the procedures in § 7.33 and Subparts D through F of this part, govern systems of personnel records about Food and Drug Administration employees that are subject to notices published by the Commission, i.e., systems that:

(i) The Commission maintains.

(ii) Are maintained by the Division of Personnel Management, Food and Drug Administration.

(iii) Are maintained by Department Regional Offices, concerning field employees.

(2) The Commission's procedures may, if necessary, be supplemented in the Food and Drug Administration Staff Manual Guide. Current Food and Drug Administration employees should mail or deliver written requests under the Privacy Act for access to personnel records described in this paragraph to the Commission in accordance with 5 CFR 297.106, the Director, Division of Personnel Management (HFA–400), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852, or the personnel officer in the servicing HEW Regional Personnel Office. An employee may consult with or direct his request to the FDA Privacy Coordinator (HFC–18). Requests for access to personnel records of former employees that are located in Federal records centers should be directed to the Commission. Requests under the Privacy Act for amendment of personnel records should be directed to these same officials who are responsible for access to personnel records under this paragraph.

(3) With respect to records subject to paragraph (b)(1) of this section:

(i) Refusal to grant access to a record or refusal to amend a record upon request of an employee, shall only be made by the Associate Commissioner for Administration or his designate; and

(ii) Appeals of refusals under paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this section may be made to the Civil Service Commission in accordance with 5 CFR 297.108(g)(3) and 297.113(b).

(c) Any other Privacy Act Record Systems that contain personnel records, or records that otherwise concern agency employees, that are maintained by offices of the Food and Drug Administration rather than the Division of Personnel Management but which are not subject to the Department's notice for personnel records in operating offices are subject to this part, except that refusals under this part to grant access to or amend records about present or former employees shall be made by the Associate Commissioner for Administration rather than the Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

(d) The following procedures shall govern requests under the Privacy Act for personnel records that are maintained by the operating offices of the Food and Drug Administration in which employees work:

(1) An employee shall upon request be told whether records about him are maintained. An employee shall be given access to records about himself that are subject to this paragraph in response to an oral or written request and through informal procedures, rather than the procedures specified in §§ 7.40 through 7.43.

(2) Employee identity may be verified, if necessary, by an FDA ID card rather than in accordance with § 7.44.

(3) Generally no fee shall be charged for records requested under this paragraph. However, in cases where the records requested are voluminous, a fee may be charged in accordance with § 7.45.

(4) Records that are subject to this paragraph shall be available for access to an individual, except to the extent that access is refused by the Associate Commissioner for Administration or his designate on the ground that the record is subject to an exemption under § 7.61 or 5 CFR 297.111.

(5) Requests under the Privacy Act for amendment of records subject to this paragraph should be directed to the Director, Division of Personnel Management (HFA–400). Such requests shall be reviewed in accordance with Subpart E of this part. Refusal to amend a record subject to this paragraph (d)(5) shall only be made by the Associate Commissioner for Administration or his designate.

(6) Appeals of refusals under paragraph (d) (4) or (5) of this section may be made to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, except where the Associate Commissioner for Administration or his designate indicates with his refusal that the appeal should be made to the Civil Service Commission.

(7) Disclosures of records subject to this paragraph are subject to Subpart G of this part.

§ 7.33 Medical records.

(a) In general, an individual is entitled to have access to any medical records about himself in Privacy Act Record Systems maintained by the Food and Drug Administration.

(b) The Food and Drug Administration may apply the following special procedures in disclosing medical records to an individual:

(2) The availability of the record may be subject to any procedures for disclosure to an individual of medical records about himself under part 4 of this chapter, in addition to or in lieu of the procedures in paragraph (b) (1), that are not inconsistent with § 7.41(f).

Subpart D—Procedures for Notification of and Access to Records in Privacy Act Record Systems

§ 7.40 Procedures for submitting requests for notification and access.

(a) An individual may request that the Food and Drug Administration notify him whether a Privacy Act Record System contains records about him that are retrieved by reference to his name or other personal identifier. An individual may at the same time, or after receiving notification that such a record about him exists, request that he be given access to the record.

(b) An individual desiring notification or access to records shall mail or deliver a request for records in any Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record System to the FDA Privacy Coordinator (HFC–18), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852.

(c) Requests shall be in writing and shall name the Privacy Act Record System or Systems concerning which the individual requests notification of whether there are records about him that are retrieved by reference to his name or other personal identifier. To help assure a prompt response, an individual should indicate that he is making a "Privacy Act Request" on the envelope and in a prominent manner in the letter.

(d) An individual who merely wishes to be notified whether a Privacy Act Record System contains a record about him ordinarily need not provide any verification of his identity other than his name. The mere fact that the Food and Drug Administration has a record about an individual in any of its Privacy Act Records Systems would not be likely to constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Where mere disclosure of the fact that a record about the individual exists would be a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, further verification of the identity of the individual shall be required.

(e) An individual who requests that he be given access to a copy of records about himself, if any exist, should indicate whether he prefers (1) to have copies of any such records mailed to him in accordance with § 7.43(a)(1), which may involve a fee under § 7.45, including information to verify his identity under § 7.44 or (2) to use the procedures for access in person under § 7.43(a)(2).

(f) A request for notification and access may be submitted under this subpart concerning any Privacy Act Record System that is exempt under § 7.61, as indicated in the notice for the system. An individual seeking access to records under § 7.65(b)(2) to investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes other than criminal law enforcement purposes should submit a description of the right benefit, or privilege that he believes he was denied as the result of the Food and Drug Administration's maintenance of the records. Where the system is exempt under § 7.61, and access to the requested records is not granted under § 7.65, the request shall be handled under the provisions of Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations).

(g) The Public Records and Documents Center shall maintain and make available copies of the forms (OF–203, Privacy Act Request forms) to assist individuals in filing requests under § 7.40.

§ 7.41 Processing of requests.

(a) An individual or his guardian under § 7.75 shall not be required to show any justification or need to obtain notification under § 7.42 or access to a record under § 7.43.

(b) The Food and Drug Administration will determine whether a request by an individual for records about himself is appropriately treated as a request under this subpart, or under the provisions of Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations), or both. Where appropriate, the Food and Drug Administration will consult with the individual concerning the appropriate treatment of the request.

(c) The FDA Privacy Coordinator (HFC–18) in the Public Records and Documents Center shall be responsible for the handling of Privacy Act requests received by the Food and Drug Administration. Requests mailed or delivered to any other office shall be promptly redirected to the FDA Privacy Coordinator. Where this procedure would unduly delay the agency's response, however, the agency employee who received the request should consult with the FDA Privacy Coordinator and obtain advice as to whether the employee can respond to the request directly.

(d) Upon receipt of a request by the FDA Privacy Coordinator, a record shall promptly be made that a request has been received and the date.

(e) A letter in accordance with § 7.42 responding to the request for notification shall issue as promptly as possible after receipt of the request by the Food and Drug Administration. Upon determination by the Public Record and Documents Center that a request for access to records is appropriately treated as a request under Part 4 rather than Part 7, or under both parts, the time limitations prescribed in § 4.41 of this chapter shall apply. In any case, access to available records shall be provided as promptly as possible.

(f) Except as provided in § 7.32, an individual's access to records about himself that are retrieved by his name or other personal identifiers and contained in any Privacy Act Record System may only be denied by the Associate Commissioner for Compliance or his designate. An individual shall not be denied access to any record that is otherwise available to him under this part except on the grounds that it is exempt under § 7.61 and not required to be disclosed under § 7.65(a)(2), that it was compiled in reasonable anticipation of court litigation of formal administrative proceedings, or to the extent that it is exempt or prohibited from disclosure because it includes a trade secret or commercial or financial information that is privileged or confidential information the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of the personal privacy of another individual.

(g) The FDA Privacy Coordinator shall assure that records are maintained of the number, status, and disposition of requests under this subpart, including the number of requests for records exempt from access under this subpart and other information required for purposes of the annual report to Congress under the Privacy Act. These temporary administrative management records shall not be considered to be Privacy Act Record Systems. All records required to be kept under this paragraph shall only include requesting individuals' names or personal identifiers for so long as any request for notification, access, or amendment is pending. The identity of individuals making requests under this subpart shall be regarded as confidential and shall not be disclosed under Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations) to any other person or agency except as is necessary for the processing of requests under this subpart.

§ 7.42 Responses to requests.

(a) The FDA shall respond to an individual's request for notification as to whether a Privacy Act Record System contains records about him that are retrieved by his name or other personal identifier by sending a letter under this paragraph.

(1) If there are no records about the individual that are retrieved by his name or other personal identifier in the named Privacy Act Record System, or the requester is not an "individual" under § 7.3(a), the letter shall so state. Where appropriate, the letter shall indicate that the Food and Drug Administration's public information regulations in Part 4 of this chapter prescribe general rules governing the availability of information to members of the public, and that a request may be made in accordance with Part 4 of this chapter for records that are not retrieved by the requester's name or other personal identifier from a Privacy Act Record System.

(2) If there are records about the individual that are retrieved by his name or other personal identifier and the named Privacy Act Record System is not exempt from individual access and contest under § 7.61, or the system is exempt but access is allowed or required under § 7.65, the letter shall inform him that the records exist and shall either:

(i) Enclose a copy of the records under § 7.43(a)(1) or indicate that the records will be sent under separate cover, where there has been adequate verification of the identity of the individual under § 7.44 and the fees under § 7.45 do not exceed $25, or

(3) If the named Privacy Act Record System contains records about the individual that are retrieved by his name or other personal identifier, and the system is exempt from individual access and contest under § 7.61 and access is not allowed or required under § 7.65, the letter should inform him that the records are exempted from access and contest by § 7.61 The letter shall also inform him if the records sought are not available because they were compiled in reasonable anticipation of court litigation or formal administrative proceedings or are otherwise not available under § 7.41(b). Where appropriate, the letter shall also indicate whether the records are available under Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations), and it may disclose the records in accordance with Part 4.

(4) If the named Privacy Act Record System contains records about the individual that are retrieved by his name or other personal identifier, but a final determination has not yet been made with respect to disclosure of all of the records covered by the request, e.g., because it is necessary to consult another person or agency having an interest in the confidentiality of the records, the letter shall explain the circumstances and indicate when a final answer will be given.

(b) Except as provided in § 7.32, access to a record may only be denied by the Associate Commissioner for Compliance or his designate. If access to any record is denied, wholly or in substantial part, the letter shall state the right of the individual to appeal to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

(c) If a request for a copy of the records will result in a fee of more than $25, the letter shall specify or estimate the fee involved. Where the individual has requested a copy of any records about him and copying the records would result in a fee of over $50, the Food and Drug Administration shall require advance deposit as well as payment of any amount not yet received as a result of any previous request by the individual for a record about himself, under this subpart or Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations) before the records are made available. If the fee is less than $50, prepayment shall not be required unless payment has not yet been received for records disclosed as a result of a previous request by the individual for a record about himself under this subpart or Part 4 of this chapter.

§ 7.43 Access to requested records.

(a) Access may be granted to requested records by:

(1) Mailing a copy of the records to the requesting individual, or

(2) Permitting the requesting individual to review the record in person between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at the office of the FDA Privacy Coordinator, at the Public Records and Documents Center at the address shown in § 4.30 of this chapter, or at any Food and Drug Administration field office listed in § 2.175 of this chapter, or at another location or time upon which the Food and Drug Administration and the individual agree. Arrangements for such review can be made by consultation between the FDA Privacy Coordinator and the individual. An individual seeking to review records in person shall generally be permitted access to the file copy, except that where the records include nondisclosable information, a copy shall be made of that portion of the records, with the nondisclosable information blocked out. Where the individual is not given a copy of the record to retain, no charge shall be made for the costs of copying a record to make it available to an individual who reviews a record in person under this paragraph.

(b) An individual may request that a record be disclosed to or discussed in the presence of another individual, such as an attorney. The individual may be required to furnish a written statement authorizing the disclosure or discussion in such other individual's presence.

(c) The Food and Drug Administration will make every reasonable effort to assure that records made available under this section can be understood by the individual, such as by providing an oral or written explanation of the records.

§ 7.44 Verification of identity.

(a) An individual seeking access to records in a Privacy Act Record System may be required to comply with reasonable requirements to enable the Food and Drug Administration to determine his identity. The identification required shall be suitable considering the nature of the records sought. No identification shall be required to receive access to information that is required to be disclosed to any member of the public under Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations).

(b) An individual who appears in person for access to records about himself shall be required to provide at least one document to identify himself, e.g., driver's license, passport, or alien or voter registration card to verify his identity. If an individual does not have any such document or requests access to records about himself without appearing in person under circumstances in which his identity cannot be verified from the request itself, he shall be required to certify in writing that he is the individual he claims to be and that he understands that the knowing and willful request for or acquisition of a record pertaining to an individual under false pretenses is a criminal offense subject to a $5,000 fine.

(c) In making requests under § 7.75, a parent of a minor child or legal guardian of an incompetent individual may be required to verify his relationship to the minor child or the incompetent individual, in addition to vertifying his own identity, by providing a copy of the minor's birth certificate, a court order, or other evidence of guardianship.

(d) Where an individual seeks access to particularly sensitive records, such as medical records, the individual may be required to provide additional information beyond that specified in paragraph (b) or (c) of this section, such as the individual's years of attendance at a particular educational institution, rank attained in the uniformed services, date or place of birth, names of parents, an occupation, or the specific times the individual received medical treatment.

§ 7.45 Fees.

(a) Where applicable, fees for copying records shall be charged in accordance with the schedule set forth in this section. Fees may only be charged where an individual has requested that a copy be made of a record to which he is granted access. No fee may be charged for making a search of a Privacy Act Record System whether the search is manual, mechancal, or electronic. Where a copy of the record must be made to provide access to the record, e.g., computer printout where no screen reading is available, the copy shall be made available to the individual without cost. Where a medical record is made available to a representative designated by the individual under § 7.33, no fee will be charged.

(b) The fee schedule is as follows:

(1) Copying of records susceptible to photocopying—$.10 per page.

(2) Copying of records not susceptible to photocopying, e.g., punch cards or magnetic tapes—at actual cost to be determined on a case-by-case basis.

(3) No charge will be made if the total amount of copying for an individual does not exceed $25.

(c) When a fee is to be assessed, the individual shall be notified prior to the processing of the copies, and be given an opportunity to amend his request. Payment shall be made by check or money order made payable to the "Food and Drug Administration," and shall be sent to the Accounting Operations Branch (HFA-210), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852. Advance deposit shall be required where the total amount exceeds $50.

Subpart E—Procedures for Requests for Amendment of Records

§ 7.50 Procedures for submitting requests for amendment of records.

(a) An individual who received access to a record about himself under Subpart D of this part may request that the record be amended if he believes that the record or an item of information is not accurate, relevant to a Food and Drug Administration purpose, timely, or complete.

(b) Amendments under this subpart shall not violate existing statute, regulation, or administrative procedure.

(1) This subpart does not permit alteration of evidence presented in the course of judicial proceedings or Food and Drug Administration adjudicatory or rule making proceedings or collateral attack upon that which has already been the subject of any such proceedings.

(2) If the accuracy, relevancy, timeliness, or completeness of the records may be contested in any other pending or imminent agency proceeding, the Food and Drug Administration may refer the individual to the other proceeding as the appropriate means to obtain relief. If the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, or completeness of a record is, or has been, an issue in another agency proceeding, the request under this section shall be disposed of in accordance with the decision in the other proceeding, absent unusual circumstances.

(c) Requests to amend records shall be submitted, in writing, to the FDA Privacy Coordinator in accordance with § 7.40(b). Such requests shall include information sufficient to enable the Food and Drug Administration to locate the record, a brief description of the items of information requested to be amended, and the reasons why the record should be amended together with any appropriate documentation or arguments in support of the requested amendment. An edited copy of the record showing the described amendment may be included. Verification of identity should be provided in accordance with § 7.44.

(d) Written acknowledgement of the receipt of a request to amend a record shall be provided within 10 working days to the individual who requested the amendment. Such acknowledgement may request any additional information needed to verify identity or make a determination. No acknowledgement need be made if the request can be reviewed, processed, and the individual notified of the agency's agreement with the request or refusal within the 10-day period.

§ 7.51 Responses to requests for amendment of records.

(a) The Food and Drug Administration shall take one of the following actions on a request for amendment of records as promptly as possible:

(1) Amend any portion of the record which the agency has determined, based upon a preponderance of the evidence, is not accurate, relevant to a Food and Drug Administration purpose, timely, or complete, and, in accordance with paragraph (d)(3) of this section, inform the individual and previous recipients of the record that has been amended of the amendment.

(2) Inform the individual of its refusal to amend any portion of the record in the manner requested, the reason for the refusal, and the opportunity for administrative appeal to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs. Except as provided in § 7.32, such refusal may only be issued by the Associate Commissioner for Compliance or his designate.

(3) Where another agency was the source of and has control of the record, refer the request to that agency.

(b) The agency may, for good cause, extend the period for taking action an additional 30 working days if notice is provided to the individual explaining the circumstances of the delay.

(c) The officials charged with reviewing a record to determine how to respond to a request to amend it, shall assess its accuracy, relevance to a Food and Drug Administration purpose, timeliness, or completeness. The determination shall be made in the light of the purpose for which the records or system is used, the agency's need for the record, and the possible adverse consequences to the individual from the record if not amended. Whenever the Food and Drug Administration receives a request for deletion of a record, or portions of a record, it shall consider anew whether the contested information in the record is relevant and necessary to a Food and Drug Administration purpose.

(d) If the Food and Drug Administration agrees with an individual's request, it shall take the following actions:

(1) So inform the individual in writing.

(2) In accordance with statute, regulation, or procedure, amend the record to make it accurate, relevant to a Food and Drug Administration purpose, timely, or complete, making note of the date and fact of the amendment.

(3) If an accounting was made under § 7.71(d) of a disclosure of the record under § 7.71(a), provide a copy of the record as amended to all previous recipients of the record.

§ 7.52 Administrative appeals of refusals to amend records.

(a) If an individual disagrees with a refusal under § 7.51(a)(2) to amend a record, he may appeal that refusal to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, Rm. 14-81, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852.

(b) If, upon appeal, the Commissioner upholds the refusal to amend the record as requested, he shall inform the individual:

(1) Of his decision and the reasons for it.

(2) Of the individual's right to file with the Food and Drug Administration a concise statement of the individual's reasons for disagreeing with the agency's decision not to amend the record as requested.

(3) That the statement of disagreement will be made available to all persons listed in an accounting as having previously received the record and any person to whom the record is subsequently disclosed together with, in the discretion of the Food and Drug Administration, a brief statement summarizing its reasons for refusing to amend the record. Any individual who includes false information in the statement of disagreement filed with the Food and Drug Administration may be subject to penalties under 18 U.S.C. 1001, the False Reports to the Government Act.

(4) That the individual has a right to seek judicial review of the refusal to amend the record.

(c) If the Commissioner on administrative appeal or a court on judicial review determines that the record should be amended in accordance with the individual's request, the Food and Drug Administration shall proceed in accordance with § 7.51(d).

(d) A final determination on the individual's administrative appeal of the initial refusal to amend the record shall be concluded within 30 working days of the request for such review under paragraph (a) of this section, unless the Commissioner extends such period for good cause and informs the individual in writing of the reasons for the delay and of the approximate date on which a decision of the appeal can be expected.

§ 7.53 Notation and disclosure of disputed records.

When an individual has filed a statement of disagreement under § 7.52(b)(2), the Food and Drug Administration shall:

(a) Mark any portion of the record that is disputed to assure that the record will clearly show that portion is disputed whenever the record is disclosed.

(b) In any subsequent disclosure under § 7.70 or § 7.71(a), provide a copy of the statement of disagreement and, if the Food and Drug Administration deems it appropriate, a concise statement of the agency's reasons for not making the amendment(s) requested. While the individual shall have access to any such statement, it shall not be subject to a request for amendment under § 7.50.

(c) If an accounting was made under § 7.71 (d) and (e) of a disclosure of the record under § 7.71(a), provide to all previous recipients of the record a copy of the statement of disagreement and the agency statement, if any.

§ 7.54 Amended or disputed records received from other agencies.

Whenever the Food and Drug Administration is notified that a record that it received from another agency was amended or is the subject of a statement of disagreement, the Food and Drug Administration shall:

(a) Discard the record, or clearly note the amendment or the fact of disagreement in its copy of the record, and

(b) Refer persons who subsequently request the record to the agency that provided it.

(c) If an accounting was made under § 7.71 (d) and (e) of the disclosure of the record under § 7.71(a), inform all previous recipients of the record about the amendment or provide to them the statement of disagreement and the agency statement, if any.

Subpart F—Exemptions

§ 7.60 Policy.

It is the policy of the Food and Drug Administration that record systems should be exempted from the Privacy Act only to the extent essential to the performance of law enforcement functions under the laws that are administered and enforced by the Food and Drug Administration or that govern the agency.

§ 7.61 Exempt systems.

(a) Investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes, including criminal law enforcement purposes, in the Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record Systems listed in paragraph (b) of this section are exempt from the following provisions of the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. 552a) and of this part:

(1) Such records are exempt from 5 U.S.C. 552a(c)(3) and § 7.71(e)(4), requiring that an individual be provided with the accounting of disclosures of records about himself from a Privacy Act Record System.

(2) Except where access is required under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) and § 7.65(a)(2), (such records are exempt from 5 U.S.C. 552a (d)(1) through (4) and (f) and §§ 7.40 through 7.54, requiring procedures for an individual to be given notification of and access to records about himself in a Privacy Act Record System and to be allowed to challenge the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, and completeness of such records.

(3) Such records are exempt from 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4) (G) and (H) and § 7.20(b)(10) requiring inclusion in the notice for the system of information about agency procedures for notification, access, and contest.

(4) Such records are exempt from 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(3) requiring that individuals asked to supply information be provided a form outlining the authority for the request, the purposes for which the information will be used, the routine uses in the notice for the Privacy Act Record System, and the consequences to the individual of not providing the information, but only with respect to records compiled by the Food and Drug Administration in a criminal law enforcement investigation where the conduct of the investigation would be prejudiced by such procedures.

(b) Records in the following Food and Drug Administration Privacy Act Record Systems that concern individuals who are subject to Food and Drug Administration enforcement action and consist of investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes, including criminal law enforcement purposes, are exempt under 5 U.S.C. 552a (j)(2) and (k)(2) from the provisions enumerated in paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) Clinical Investigator Records, FDA-3.

(2) Regulated Industry Employee Enforcement Records, FDA-10.

(3) Employee Conduct Investigative Records, FDA-13.

(4) Service Contractor Employees Investigative Records, FDA-14.

(c) The systems described in paragraph (b) (3) and (4) of this section include investigatory records compiled solely for the purpose of determining suitability, eligibility, or qualification for Federal civilian employment, military service, Federal contracts, and access to classified information. These records are exempt from disclosure under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(5) to the extent that the disclosure would reveal the identity of a source who furnished information to the Government under a promise of confidentiality, which must be an express promise if the information was furnished after September 27, 1975. Any individual who is refused access to a record that would reveal a confidential source shall be advised in a general way that the record includes information that would reveal a confidential source.

§ 7.65 Access to records in exempt systems.

(a) Where a Privacy Act Record System is exempt and the requested records are unavailable under § 7.61, an individual may nevertheless make a request under § 7.40 for notification concerning whether any records about him exist and request access to such records where they are retrieved by his name or other personal identifier.

(b) An individual making a request under paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) May be given access to the records where available under Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations) or the Commissioner may, in his discretion, entertain a request under any or all of the provisions of §§ 7.40 through 7.54; and

(2) Shall be given access upon request if the records requested are subject to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) and not to 5 U.S.C. 552a(j)(2) (i.e., because they consist of investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes other than criminal law enforcement purposes) and maintenance of the records resulted in denial to the individual of any right, benefit, or privilege to which he would otherwise be entitled by Federal law, or for which he would otherwise be eligible. An individual given access to a record under this paragraph (b)(2) is not entitled to seek amendment under Subpart E of this part. The FDA may refuse to disclose a record that would reveal the identity of a source who furnished information to the Government under a promise of confidentiality, which must be an express promise if the information was furnished on or after September 27, 1975. Any individual refused access to a record that would reveal a confidential source shall be advised in a general way that the record contains information that would reveal a confidential source.

(c) The Commissioner shall not make available any record that is prohibited from public disclosure under § 4.82(b) of this chapter.

(d) Discretionary disclosure of a record pursuant to paragraph (b)(1) of this section shall not set a precedent for discretionary disclosure of a similar or related record and shall not obligate the Commissioner to exercise his discretion to disclose any other record in a system that is exempt under § 7.61.

Subpart G—Disclosure of Records in Privacy Act Record Systems to Persons Other Than the Subject Individual

§ 7.70 Disclosure and intra-agency use of records in Privacy Act Record Systems; no accounting required.

(a) A record about an individual which is contained in a Privacy Act Record System may be disclosed:

(1) To the individual who is the subject of the record, or his legal guardian under § 7.75;

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(2) To a third party pursuant to a written request by, or with the written consent of, the individual to whom the record pertains, or his legal guardian under § 7.75;

(3) To any person:

(i) Where the names and other identifying information are first deleted, and under circumstances in which the recipient is unlikely to know the identity of the subject of the record;

(ii) Where disclosure is required by Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations); or

(4) Within the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to officers and employees who have a need for the record in the performance of their duties in connection with the laws administered and enforced by the Food and Drug Administration or that govern the agency. For purposes of this section, officers or employees of the Department shall include the following categories of individuals, who shall thereafter be subject to the same restrictions with respect to disclosure as any Food and Drug Administration employee: Food and Drug Administration consultants and advisory committees, State and local government employees for use only in their work with the Food and Drug Administration, and contractors and their employees to the extent that the records of such contractors are subject to the requirements of this part under § 7.30.

(b) No accounting is required for any disclosure or use under paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 7.71 Disclosure of records in Privacy Act Record Systems; accounting required.

(a) Except as provided in § 7.70, a record about an individual that is contained in a Privacy Act Record System shall not be disclosed by any method of communication except under any of the following circumstances, which are subject to the limitations of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section and to the accounting requirement of paragraph (d) of this section:

(1) For a use described as a "routine use" in the notice for the system under § 7.20(b)(5) that is compatible with the purpose for which the record was collected.

(2) To the Bureau of Census for a census, survey, or a related activity pursuant to Title 13 of the United States Code.

(3) To a recipient who has provided advance assurance, pursuant to paragraph (c)(2) of this section that the record will be used solely as a statistical research or reporting record and will not be communicated by the recipient to any other person except in a form that is not individually identifiable.

(4) To the National Archives of the United States as a record which has sufficient historical or other value to warrant its continued preservation, or to the General Services Administration for evaluation to determine whether the record has such value.

(5) To a Federal, State, or local agency for purposes of a law enforcement activity that is authorized by law, upon written request by the head of the agency specifying the particular portion of the record that is desired and the law enforcement purpose for which the record is sought. Disclosures under this paragraph are in addition to any disclosures for law enforcement purposes described as a "routine use" in a notice for a Privacy Act Record System.

(6) To a person pursuant to a showing of compelling circumstances affecting the health and safety of an individual, not necessarily the individual to whom the record pertains. Upon such disclosure, the Food and Drug Administration shall mail a notification of the fact of disclosure to the last known address of the individual who is the subject of the record.

(7) To either House of Congress, or to any Subcommittee or Committee thereof, to the extent that the subject matter of the record falls within its jurisdiction.

(8) To the General Accounting Office.

(9) Pursuant to an order of the court of competent jurisdiction. Upon such court-ordered disclosure, the Food and Drug Administration shall make reasonable efforts to notify the individual in accordance with § 4.83(b) of this chapter.

(b) The Food and Drug Administration may in its discretion refuse to make a disclosure permitted under paragraph (a) of this section, if the disclosure would in the judgment of the agency, invade the privacy of the individual or be inconsistent with the purpose for which the information was collected.

(c) The Food and Drug Administration may require any person requesting a disclosure of a record under paragraph (a) of this section to provide:

(1) Information about the purposes to which the disclosed record is to be put, and

(2) A written statement certifying that the record will be used only for the stated purposes and will not be further disclosed without the written permission of the Food and Drug Administration.

Under 5 U.S.C. 552a(i)(3), any person who knowingly or willfully requests or obtains any record concerning an individual from an agency under false pretenses shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not more than $5,000. Such person may also be subject to prosecution under the False Reports to the Government Act, 18 U.S.C. 1001.

(d) An accounting shall be made, in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section, of any disclosure under paragraph (a) of this section of a record that is not a disclosure under § 7.70.

(e) Where an accounting is required under paragraph (d) of this section, the Food and Drug Administration shall:

(1) Record the name and address of the person or agency to whom the disclosure is made and the date, nature, and purpose of the disclosure. The accounting shall not be considered a Privacy Act Record System.

(2) Retain the accounting for 5 years or for the life of the record, whichever is longer, following the disclosure.

(3) Notify those recipients listed in the accounting of amendments or disputes concerning the records previously disclosed to them pursuant to §§ 7.51(d)(3), 7.53(c), or 7.54(c).

(4) Except when the record is exempt from individual access and contest under § 7.61 or to the extent that the accounting describes a transfer for a law enforcement purpose pursuant to paragraph (a)(5) of this section, make the accounting available to the individual to whom the record pertains, in accordance with procedures of Subpart D of this part.

(f) A single accounting may be used to cover disclosure(s) that consist of a continuing dialogue between two agencies over a prolonged period, such as discussion of an enforcement action between the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Justice. In such cases, a general notation may be made that, as of a certain date, contact was initiated, to continue until resolution of the matter.

§ 7.72 Individual consent to disclosure of records to other persons.

(a) Individuals may consent to disclosure of records about themselves to other persons in several ways, for example:

(1) An individual may give consent at the time that the information is collected for disclosure for specific purposes or to specific persons.

(2) An individual may give consent for disclosure of his records to a specific person.

(3) An individual may request the Food and Drug Administration to transcribe a specific record for submission to another person.

(b) In each case the consent shall be in writing and shall specify the individual, organizational unit, or class of individuals or organizational units to whom the record may be disclosed, which record may be disclosed, and, if applicable, for what time period. A blanket consent to release all of an individual's records to unspecified individuals or organizational units will not be honored. Verification of the identity of the individual and, where applicable, of the person to whom the record is to be disclosed shall be made in accordance with § 7.44. Consent documents shall be retained for a period of at least 2 years. If such documents are used as a means of accounting for the disclosure, they shall be retained as provided in § 7.71(e)(2).

§ 7.73 Accuracy, completeness, timeliness, and relevance of records disclosed from Privacy Act Record Systems.

(a) The Food and Drug Administration shall make reasonable efforts to assure that a record about an individual in a Privacy Act Record System is accurate, relevant to a Food and Drug Administration purpose, timely, and complete before such record is disclosed under § 7.71.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to disclosures that are required under Part 4 of this chapter (the public information regulations or made to other Federal Government departments and agencies. Where appropriate, the letter disclosing the information shall indicate that the Food and Drug Administration has not reviewed the record to assure that it is accurate, relevant, timely, and complete.

§ 7.74 Providing notice that a record is disputed.

Whenever an individual has filed a statement of disagreement with the Food and Drug Administration concerning a refusal to amend a record under § 7.51(a)(2) or with another agency that provides the record to the Food and Drug Administration, the Food and Drug Administration shall in any subsequent disclosure under this subpart provide a copy of the statement of disagreement and a concise statement by the agency, if one has been prepared, of the reasons for not making the amendment(s) requested.

§ 7.75 Rights of legal guardians.

For the purposes of this part, the parent of any individual who is a minor or the legal guardian of any individual who has been declared to be incompetent due to physical or mental incapacity or age by a court of competent jurisdiction may act on behalf of the individual.

Effective date. This regulation shall be effective December 2, 1975.

PART 540—PENICILLIN ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS FOR ANIMAL USE

Ampicillin Trihydrate Boluses

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has evaluated a new animal drug application (55-074V) filed by Beecham-Massengill Pharmaceuticals, Div. of Beecham, Inc., Bristol, TN 37620, proposing safe and effective use of ampicillin trihydrate boluses for the oral treatment of bacterial enteritis (colibacillosis) caused by E. coli in nonruminating calves. The application is approved, effective on December 2, 1975.

The Commissioner is amending § 540.107e (21 CFR 540.107e) to reflect this approval and to insert a statement on duration of treatment.

In accordance with § 514.11(e)(2)(ii) (21 CFR 514.11(e)(2)(ii)) of the animal drug regulations, a summary of the safety and effectiveness of data and information submitted to support the approval of this application is released publicly. The summary is available for public examination at the office of the Hearing Clerk, Rm. 4-65, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., except on Federal legal holidays.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 512(i), 82 Stat. 347 (21 U.S.C. 360b(i))) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), § 540.107e is amended by revising paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 540.107e Ampicillin trihydrate boluses.

* * * * *

(c) Conditions of marketing—(1) Specifications. The drug is in bolus form and conforms to the certification requirements of paragraph (a) of this section.

(2) Related tolerances. See § 556.40 of this chapter.

(3) Labeling statements. (i) For oral use in nonruminating calves only.

(ii) Not for use in other animals which are raised for food production.

(iii) Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.

(4) Conditions of use. (i) Sponsor. See No. 000003 in § 510.600(c) of this chapter.

(A) It is administered orally to nonruminating calves for the treatment of colibacillosis caused by E. coli, bacterial enteritis caused by Salmonella spp., and bacterial pneumonia caused by Pasteurella spp.

(B) It is administered at a dosage level of 5 milligrams per pounds of body weight twice daily.

(C) Treated calves must not be slaughtered for food during treatment and for 15 days after the last treatment.

(ii) Sponsor. See No. 000029 in § 510.600(c) of this chapter.

(A) It is administered orally to nonruminating calves for the treatment of bacterial enteritis (colibacillosis) caused by E. coli.

(B) It is administered at a dosage level of 5 milligrams per pound of body weight twice daily. Treatment should not exceed 4 days.

(C) Treated calves must not be slaughtered for food during treatment and for 7 days after the last treatment.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective on December 2, 1975.

(Sec. 512(i), 82 Stat. 347 (21 U.S.C. 360b(i)).)

Dated: November 24, 1975.

(2) On page 53541 in the table in § 606.60(b) in the "Frequency" column for Autoclave, "do" should read "Each time of use", and for Serologic rotators the entry should read "Each day of use".

Title 26—Internal Revenue

CHAPTER I—INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

[T.D. 7391]

PART 1—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

PART 301—REGULATIONS ON PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

Credit for Purchase of New Principal Residence

By a notice of proposed rule making appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER for July 16, 1975 (40 FR 29874), amendments were proposed in order to conform the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) and the Regulations on Procedure and Administration (26 CFR Part 301) to the amendments made to the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 by section 208 of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 (89 Stat. 32) and by section 401 of the Emergency Compensation and Special Unemployment Assistance Extension Act of 1975 (89 Stat. 243), relating to the tax credit for the purchase of a new principal residence.

Section 208 added section 44 to the Code, which provides a Federal income tax credit for 5 percent of the taxpayer's adjusted basis with respect to the purchase of a new principal residence if certain enumerated conditions are satisfied.

Numerous comments were received on the proposed regulations, and a public hearing was held on October 20, 1975.

Most of the comments related to the rules regarding commencement of construction. Since the statute requires that construction must have begun prior to March 26, 1975, failure to satisfy the requirements with respect to commencement of construction would preclude a residence from being a qualified one for purposes of the credit. Section 1.44-2(a) as it appears in paragraph 1 of the proposed regulations provides rules with regard to commencement of construction limiting such commencement to cases where there is actual physical work of a significant amount on the building site of the residence. Land preparation and improvements such as clearing and grading (excavation or filling), construction of roads and sidewalks, and installation of sewers and utilities are not considered commencement of construction of the residence even though they might involve a significant expenditure. On the other hand, driving pilings for the foundation, digging of the footings, excavation of the building foundation or pouring of floor slabs constitute a significant amount of construction of the residence.

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

The positions taken in the proposed regulations are supported by remarks made by Mr. Ullman, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, in the House debate on the Conference Report with respect to the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 (121 Cong. Rec. 2381 (1975)) evidencing Congressional intent to limit the housing credit to inventory housing and exclude generalized land preparation from constituting construction.

Another method of construction necessitated by different soil conditions or different terrain is the use of earthen pads. While land preparation of a general nature does not constitute commencement of construction, construction of earthen pads when specifically prepared and designed for a particular residential structure and not merely as a part of the overall land preparation satisfies the requirement with regard to commencement of construction. The regulations as they appeared in the appendix to the notice of proposed rule making have, therefore, been amended to make that result clear.

Some comments urged that completely renovated homes should qualify for the credit. However, Mr. Ullman's remarks also made it apparent that that was not the Congressional intent.

Others comments urged such liberalizations as the allowance of the housing credit where there has been a brief occupancy of a residence by someone other than the taxpayer prior to its acquisition by the taxpayer or where the home builders reduced the price of a residence in order to qualify under the original requirement of lowest price and later raised their price to eliminate that reduction. These suggestions have been rejected in view of the clear language in the statute and the statute's legislative history.

The only other changes made in the regulations as proposed are two minor technical corrections.

Adoption of amendments to the regulations.

On July 16, 1975, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the Federal Register (40 F.R. 29874) in order to conform to the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) and the Regulations on Procedure and Administration (26 CFR Part 301) to the amendments made to the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 by section 208 of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 (89 Stat. 32) and by section 401 of the Emergency Compensation and Special Unemployment Assistance Extension Act of 1975 (89 Stat. 243), relating to the tax credit for the purchase of a new principal residence. After consideration of all relevant matter presented by interested persons regarding the proposed rules, the proposed amendment of the regulations is hereby adopted, subject to the following changes:

Paragraph 1. Section 1.44–2, as set forth in paragraph 1 of the appendix to the notice of proposed rule making, is amended by revising paragraph (a) (1) (i) and by adding new example (3) at the end of paragraph (a) (1) (ii). These revised and added provisions read as follows:

§ 1.44–2 Property to which credit for purchase of new principal residence applies.

(a) Construction. * * *

(1) (i) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, construction is considered to commence when actual physical work of a significant amount has occurred on the building site of the residence. A significant amount of construction requires more than drilling to determine soil conditions, preparation of an architect's sketches, securing of a building permit, or grading of the land. Land preparation and improvements such as clearing and grading (excavation or filling), construction of roads and sidewalks, and installation of sewers and utilities are not considered commencement of construction of the residence even though they might involve a significant expenditure. However, driving pilings for the foundation, digging of the footings, excavation of the building foundation, pouring of floor slabs, or construction of compacted earthen pads when specifically prepared and designed for a particular residential structure and not merely as a part of the overall land preparation, constitute a significant amount of construction of the residence. In the case of a housing or condominium development construction of recreational facilities no matter how extensive does not by itself constitute commencement of construction of any residential unit. However, where residential units are part of a building structure, as in the case of certain condominium and cooperative housing units, then digging of the footings or excavation of the building foundation constitutes commencement of construction for all units in that building.

(ii) * * *

Example (3). Assume the same facts as in either example (1) or example (2) except that the builder also constructs an earthen pad of compacted fill specifically prepared for a particular residential structure and not merely as a part of the overall land preparation. Construction of the compacted earthen pad is considered in the same light as excavation of the building foundation and accordingly constitutes commencement of construction.

* * * * * * *

Par. 2. Section 1.44–3, as set forth in paragraph 1 of the appendix to the notice of proposed rule making, is amended by revising paragraph (d) (2) to read as follows:

§ 1.44–3 Certification by seller.

(d) Adjustments in determining lowest price. * * *

(2) Appropriate adjustment to a prior offer to sell shall be made for differences in financing terms and closing costs which increase the seller's actual net proceeds and the purchaser's actual costs. A seller may pass on to the purchaser without affecting the purchase price only those additional amounts he is required to expend in connection with such differences. The seller may not by changing the financing terms or closing costs indirectly increase the purchase price. For these purposes closing costs include all charges paid at settlement for obtaining the mortgage loan and transferring real estate title. Thus, for example, where a seller previously offered a residence for sale for $40,000 and agreed to pay financing "points" required by the mortgagee, and now offers the same residence also for $40,000 but requires the purchaser to pay the points, the present offer does not constitute the lowest offer. On the other hand, a prior offer to sell based upon a large down payment by the prospective purchaser may be adjusted to reflect the additional costs to the seller of accepting a small down payment from the taxpayer. For purposes of determining the seller's net proceeds, proceeds received by all related parties within the meaning of section 318 must be taken into account. For purposes of determining the lowest offer, where an offer provided for a rebate (e.g., of cash or of a contribution toward mortgage payments) or included, without additional charge or at less than fair market value, property not normally included in the sale of a residence (e.g., an automobile), such offer must be reduced by the amount of such rebate or by the amount by which the fair market value of such property at the time of the offer exceeds the amount paid for it by the purchaser. Thus, where a residence was advertised for sale at $40,000, but the seller agreed to pay $200 a month on the purchaser's mortgage for 10 months, such residence is considered to have been offered for sale at $38,000.

* * * * * * *

Par. 3. Paragraph (c) (3) of § 1.6014–2, as set forth in paragraph 2 of the appendix to the notice of proposed rule making, is amended by revising so much thereof as follows subdivision (v) to read as follows:

§ 1.6014–2 Tax not computed by taxpayer for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969.

* * * * * * *

(c) Effects of election. * * *

(3) A taxpayer who makes an election under section 6014 shall not be precluded from claiming—

* * * * * * *

(vi) The credit under section 41 (relating to contributions to candidates for public office);

(vii) The credit under section 42 (relating to personal exemptions);

(viii) The credit under section 43 (relating to earned income);

(ix) The credit under section 44 (relating to purchase of new principal residence), or

(x) The credit under section 45 (relating to overpayments of tax).

(This Treasury decision is issued under the authority contained in sections 44 and 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (89 Stat. 32, 68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 44, 7805).

DONALD C. ALEXANDER,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved:

CHARLES M. WALKER,
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Part 1 of title 26 is amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There are inserted immediately after § 1.42 the following new sections:

§ 1.44 Statutory provisions; purchase of new principal residence.

SEC. 44. Purchase of new principal residence—(a) General rule. In the case of an individual there is allowed, as a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year, an amount equal to 5 percent of the purchase price of a new principal residence purchased or constructed by the taxpayer.

(b) Limitations—(1) Maximum credit. The credit allowed under subsection (a) may not exceed $2,000.

(2) Limitation to one residence. The credit under this section shall be allowed with respect to only one residence of the taxpayer.

(3) Married individuals. In the case of a husband and wife who file a joint return under section 6013, the amount specified under paragraph (1) shall apply to the joint return. In the case of a married individual filing a separate return, paragraph (1) shall be applied by substituting "$1,000" for "$2,000".

(4) Certain other taxpayers. In the case of individuals to whom paragraph (3) does not apply who together purchase the same new principal residence for use as their principal residence, the amount of the credit allowed under subsection (a) shall be allocated among such individuals as prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate, but the sum of the amounts allowed to such individuals shall not exceed $2,000 with respect to that residence.

(5) Application with other credits. The credit allowed by subsection (a) shall not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of the credits allowable under sections 33, 37, 38, 40, 41, and 42.

(c) Definitions. For purposes of this section—

(1) New principal residence. The term "new principal residence" means a principal residence (within the meaning of section 1034), the original use of which commences with the taxpayer, and includes, without being limited to, a single family structure, a residential unit in a condominium or cooperative housing project, and a mobile home.

(2) Purchase price. The term "purchase price" means the adjusted basis of the new principal residence on the date of the acquisition thereof.

(3) Purchase. The term "purchase" means any acquisition of property, but only if—

(A) The property is not acquired from a person whose relationship to the person acquiring it would result in the disallowance of losses under section 267 or 707(b) (but, in applying section 267 (b) and (c) for purposes of this section, paragraph (4) of section 267(c) shall be treated as providing that the family of an individual shall include only his spouse, ancestors, and lineal descendants), and

(B) The basis of the property in the hands of the person acquiring it is not determined—

(1) In whole or in part by reference to the adjusted basis of such property in the hands of the person from whom acquired, or

(ii) Under section 1014(a) (relating to property acquired from a decedent).

(d) Recapture for certain dispositions—(1) In general. Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3), if the taxpayer disposes of property with respect to the purchase of which a credit was allowed under subsection (a) at any time within 36 months after the date on which he acquired it (or, in the case of construction by the taxpayer, on the day on which he first occupied it) as his principal residence, then the tax imposed under this chapter for the taxable year in which terminates the replacement period under paragraph (2) with respect to the disposition is increased by an amount equal to the amount allowed as a credit for the purchase of such property.

(2) Acquisition of new residence. If, in connection with a disposition described in paragraph (1) and within the applicable period prescribed in section 1034, the taxpayer purchases or constructs a new principal residence, then the provisions of paragraph (1) shall not apply and the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year following the taxable year during which disposition occurs is increased by an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount allowed as a credit for the purchase of the old residence as (A) the adjusted sales price of the old residence (within the meaning of section 1034), reduced (but not below zero) by the taxpayer's cost of purchasing the new residence (within the meaning of such section) bears to (B) the adjusted sales price of the old residence.

(3) Death of owner; casualty loss; involuntary conversion; etc. The provisions of paragraph (1) do not apply to—

(A) A disposition of a residence made on account of the death of any individual having a legal or equitable interest therein occurring during the 36 month period to which reference is made under such paragraph,

(B) A disposition of the old residence if it is substantially or completely destroyed by a casualty described in section 165(c)(3) or compulsorily and involuntarily converted (within the meaning of section 1033(a)), or

(C) A disposition pursuant to a settlement in a divorce or legal separation proceeding where the other spouse retains the residence as principal residence.

(e) Property to which section applies—(1) In general. The provisions of this section apply to a new principal residence—

(A) The construction of which began before March 26, 1975.

(B) Which is acquired and occupied by the taxpayer after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977, and

(C) If not constructed by the taxpayer, which was acquired by the taxpayer under a binding contract entered into by the taxpayer before January 1, 1976.

(2) Self-constructed property begun before March 13, 1975. In the case of property the construction of which was begun by the taxpayer before March 13, 1975, only that portion of the basis of such property properly allocable to construction after March 12, 1975, shall be taken into account in determining the amount of the credit allowable under subsection (a).

(3) Binding contract. For purposes of this subsection, a contract for the purchase of a residence which is conditioned upon the purchaser's obtaining a loan for the purchase of the residence (including conditions as to the amount or interest rate of such loan) is not considered non-binding on account of that condition.

(4) Certification must be attached to return. This section does not apply to any residence (other than a residence constructed by the taxpayer) unless there is attached to the return of tax in which the credit is claimed a written certification (which may be in any form) signed by the seller of such residence that—

(A) Construction of the residence began before March 26, 1975, and

(B) The purchase price of the residence is the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale after February 28, 1975.

For purposes of this paragraph, a written certification filed by the taxpayer is sufficient whether or not it is on a form prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate so long as such certification is signed by the seller and contains the information required under this paragraph.

(Sec. 44 as added by sec. 208(a), Tax Reduction Act 1975 (89 Stat. 32), and as amended by sec. 401(a), Emergency Compensation and Special Unemployment Assistance Extension Act 1975 (89 Stat. 243))

SEC. 208 (Tax Reduction Act of 1975.) * * *

(b) Suits to recover amounts of price increases. If—

(1) Any person certifies under section 44(e)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 that the price for which a residence was sold is the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale after February 28, 1975, and

(2) The price for which the residence was sold exceeded the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale after February 28, 1975, such person shall be liable to the purchaser of such residence in an amount equal to three times the amount of such excess. The United States district courts shall have jurisdiction of suits to recover such amounts without regard to any other provision of law. In any suit brought under this subsection in which judgment is entered for the purchaser, he shall also be entitled to recover a reasonable attorney's fee.

(c) Denial of deduction. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 162 or 212 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, no deduction shall be allowed in computing taxable income for two-thirds of any amount paid or incurred on a judgment entered against any person in a suit brought under subsection (b).

(Sec. 208 (b) and (c), Tax Reduction Act 1975 (89 Stat. 35), and as amended by sec. 401(b), Emergency Compensation and Special Unemployment Assistance Extension Act 1975 (89 Stat. 244))

§ 1.44–1 Allowance of credit for purchase of new principal residence after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977.

(a) General rule. Section 44 provides a credit against the tax imposed by chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 in the case of an individual who purchases a new principal residence (as defined in paragraph (a) of § 1.44–5) which is property to which section 44 applies (as provided in § 1.44–2). Subject to the limitations set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, the credit is in an amount equal to 5 percent of the purchase price (as defined in paragraph (b) of § 1.44–5).

(b) Limitations—(1) Maximum credit. The credit allowed under section 44 and this section may not exceed $2,000.

(2) Limitation to one residence. Such credit shall be allowed with respect to only one residence of the taxpayer; the combined purchase prices of more than one new principal residence cannot be aggregated to increase the credit allowed.

(3) Married individuals. In the case of a husband and wife who file a joint return under section 6013, the maximum credit allowed on the joint return is $2,000. In the case of married individuals filing separate returns the maximum credit allowable to each spouse is $1,000. Where a husband and wife do not make equal contributions with respect to the purchase price of the new principal residence, allocation of the credit is to be made in proportion to their respective ownership interests in such residence. For this purpose, tenants by the entirety or joint tenants with right of survivorship are treated as equal owners.

(4) Certain other taxpayers. Where a new principal residence is purchased by two or more taxpayers (other than a husband and wife), the amount of the credit allowed will be allocated among the taxpayers in proportion to their respective ownership interests in such residence with the limitation that the sum of the credits allowed to all such taxpayers shall not exceed $2,000. For this purpose, joint tenants with right of survivorship are treated as equal owners. For an example of the operation of this provision see example (2) of § 1.44–5(b)(2)(ii).

(5) Application with other credits. The credit allowed by this section shall not exceed the amount of the tax imposed by chapter 1 of the Code for the taxable year, reduced by the sum of the credits allowable under—

(i) Section 33 (relating to taxes of foreign countries and possessions of the United States),

(ii) Section 37 (relating to retirement income),

(iii) Section 38 (relating to investment in certain depreciable property),

(iv) Section 40 (relating to expenses of work incentive program),

(v) Section 41 (relating to contributions to candidates for public office), and

(vi) Section 42 (relating to personal exemptions).

§ 1.44–2 Property to which credit for purchase of new principal residence applies.

The provisions of section 44 and the regulations thereunder apply to a new principal residence which satisfies the following conditions:

(a) Construction. The construction of the residence must have begun before March 23, 1975. For this purpose construction is considered to have commenced in the following circumstances:

(1) (i) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, construction is considered to commence when actual physical work of a significant amount has occurred on the building site of the residence. A significant amount of construction requires more than drilling to determine soil conditions, preparation of an architect's sketches, securing of a building permit, or grading of the land. Land preparation and improvements such as the clearing and grading (excavation or filling), construction of roads and sidewalks, and installation of sewers and utilities are not considered commencement of construction of the residence even though they might involve a significant expenditure. However, driving pilings for the foundation, digging of the footings, excavation of the building foundation, pouring of floor slabs, or construction of compacted earthen pads when specifically prepared and designed for a particular residential structure and not merely as a part of the overall land preparation, constitute a significant amount of construction of the residence. In the case of a housing or condominium development construction of recreational facilities no matter how extensive does not by itself constitute commencement of construction of any residential unit. However, where residential units are part of a building structure, as in the case of certain condominium and cooperative housing units, then digging of the footings or excavation of the building foundation constitutes commencement of construction for all units in that building.

(ii) The rules in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph are illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A location chosen for a housing development has extremely hilly terrain. In order to make the location suitable for development, the builder moves large amounts of earth and places it elsewhere on the location. In addition, the earth material which has been moved must be compacted according to government specifications in order to provide a stable base. Such activities constitute land preparation and, therefore, do not constitute the commencement of construction.

Example (2). A location chosen for a housing development has swampy and marshy terrain. In order to make the location suitable for development the builder utilizes large quantities of fill. This activity constitutes land preparation and does not constitute commencement of construction.

Example (3). Assume the same facts as in either example (1) or example (2) except that the builder also constructs an earthen pad of compacted fill specifically prepared for a particular residential structure and not merely as a part of the overall land preparation. Construction of the compacted earthen pad is considered in the same light as excavation of the building foundation and accordingly constitutes commencement of construction.

(2) Construction of a factory-made home (as defined in paragraph (e) of § 1.44–5) is considered to have commenced when construction of important parts of the factory-made home has commenced. For this purpose, commencement of construction of important parts means the cutting and shaping or welding of structural components for a specific identifiable factory-made home, whether the work was done by the manufacturer of the home or by a subcontractor thereof.

(b) Acquisition and occupancy. The residence must be acquired and occupied by the taxpayer after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977. For this purpose a taxpayer "acquires" a residence when legal title to it is conveyed to him at settlement, or he has possession of it pursuant to a binding purchase contract under which he makes periodic payments until he becomes entitled under the contract to demand conveyance of title. A taxpayer "occupies" a residence when he or his spouse physically occupies it. Thus, for example, moving of furniture or other household effects into the residence or physical occupancy by a dependent child of the taxpayer is not "occupancy" for purposes of this paragraph. The credit may be claimed when both the acquisition and occupancy tests have been satisfied. Thus, where a taxpayer meets the acquisition and occupancy tests set forth above after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1976, the credit is allowable for 1975. Where a taxpayer occupied a residence prior to March 13, 1975, without having acquired it (as where his occupancy was pursuant to a leasing arrangement pending settlement under a binding contract to purchase or pursuant to a leasing arrangement where a written option to purchase was contained in the original lease agreement) he will nonetheless satisfy the acquisition and occupancy tests set forth above if he acquires the residence and continues to occupy it after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977.

(c) Binding contract. Except in the case of self-construction, the new principal residence must be acquired by the taxpayer (within the meaning of paragraph (b) of this section) under a binding contract entered into by the taxpayer before January 1, 1976. An otherwise binding contract for the purchase of a residence which is conditioned upon the purchaser's obtaining a loan for the purchase of the residence (including conditions as to the amount or interest rate of such loan) is considered binding notwithstanding that condition.

(d) Self-constructed residence. A self-constructed residence (as defined in paragraph (d) of § 1.44–5) must be occupied by the taxpayer before January 1, 1977. Where self-construction of a principal residence was begun before March 13, 1975, only that portion of the basis of the property allocable to construction after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977, shall be taken into consideration in determining the amount of the credit allowable. For this purpose, the portion of the basis attributable to the pre-March 13 period includes the total cost of land acquired (as defined in paragraph (b) of this section) prior to March 13, 1975, on which the new principal residence is constructed and the cost of expenditures with respect to construction work performed prior to March 13, 1975. The costs incurred in stockpiling materials for later stages of construction, however, are not allocated to the pre-March 13 period. Thus, for example, if prior to March 13, 1975, a taxpayer who qualifies for the credit has constructed a portion of a residence at a cost of $10,000 (including the cost of the land purchased prior to March 13, 1975) and the total cost of the residence is $40,000 and the taxpayer's basis after the application of section 1034 (e) (relating to the reduction of basis of new principal residence where gain is not recognized upon the sale of the old residence) is $36,000, the amount subject to the credit will be $27,000

$$\frac{$30,000}{$40,000} \times $36,000$$

§ 1.44–3 Certificate by seller.

(a) Requirement of certification by seller. Taxpayers claiming the credit should attach Form 5405, Credit for Purchase or Construction of New Principal Residence, to their tax returns on which the credit is claimed. Except in the case of self-construction (as defined in § 1.44–5(d)), taxpayers must attach a certification by the seller that construction of the residence began before March 26, 1975, and that the purchase price is the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale after February 28, 1975. For purposes of section 44(e)(4) and this section, the term "price" generally does not include costs of acquisition other than the amount of the consideration from the purchaser to the seller. However, for rules relating to adjustments in price due to changes in financing terms and closing costs see paragraph (d)(2) of this section.

(b) Form of certification. The following form of the certification statement is suggested:

I certify that the construction of the residence at (specify address) was begun before March 26, 1975, and that this residence has not been offered for sale after February 28, 1975 in a listing, a written private offer, or an offer by means of advertisement at a lower purchase price than (state price), the price at which I sold the residence to (state name, present address, and social security number of purchaser) by contract dated (give date).

(Date, seller's signature and taxpayer identification number.)

However, any written certification filed by the taxpayer will be accepted provided that such certification is signed by the seller and states that construction of the residence began before March 26, 1975, and that the purchase price of the residence is the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale after February 28, 1975. With regard to factory-made homes the seller, in the absence of his own knowledge as to the commencement of construction, may attach to his own certification a certification from the manufacturer that construction began before March 26, 1975, and may certify based on the manufacturer's certification. It is suggested that both certifications include the serial number, if any, of the residence.

(c) Offer to sell. (1) For purposes of section 44(e)(4) and this section, an offer to sell is limited to an offer to sell a specified residence at a specified purchase price.

(2) An "offer" includes any written offer, whether made to a particular purchaser or to the public, and any offer by means of advertising. Advertising includes an offer to sell published by billboards, flyers, brochures, price lists (unless the lists or exclusively for the internal use of the seller and are not made available to the public), mailings, newspapers, periodicals, radio, or television. The listing of a property with a real estate agency, the filing of a prospectus and the registration of construction plans and price lists with the appropriate authorities (in the case of condominiums or cooperative housing developments) are to be considered offers made to the public.

(3) An offer to sell a specified residence includes:

(i) Both an offer to sell an existing residence and an offer to build and sell a residence of substantially the same design or model as that purchased by the taxpayer on the same lot as that on which the taxpayer's new principal residence was constructed. It does not include an offer to sell the same model residence on a different lot. Where a residence of a particular design or model is offered at a specific base price, additions of property to the residence, no matter how extensive, will not result in the residence being treated as a different residence for the purpose of determining the lowest offer (as defined in paragraph (f) of § 1.44–5).

(ii) In the case of a condominium or cooperative housing development where units are offered for sale on the basis of models (e.g., all Model C two-bedroom apartments sell at a specified base price), an offer to sell a specified residence includes an offer to sell a specific type of unit (with appropriate adjustments to be made for the location of such unit and as provided in paragraph (d) of this section).

(iii) In the case of a factory-made home, an offer to sell a specified residence includes an offer to sell the same model home as that purchased by the taxpayer, provided that the offer is made after the seller has the right to sell the home purchased by the taxpayer (i.e., has that specific home in his inventory). However, it does not include an offer to sell such home with land which is not included in the taxpayer's purchase nor an offer to sell such home without land which is included in the taxpayer's purchase. Appropriate adjustments to a prior offer shall be made as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, including adjustments for any delivery and installation charges as provided in paragraph (d)(3).

(iv) The rules of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). In March 1975 A advertised colonial-style homes on section I of subdivision C at a base price of $40,000. At the time none of the homes had been completed but construction of all homes on section I was commenced before March 26, 1975. After one-half of the homes were sold, A offers to sell the remaining homes in May 1975 at a base price of $45,000. Under the facts above the base price of $45,000 is not the lowest offer since the seller had offered to sell the same model home on the same lot at a lower purchase price after February 28, 1975.

Example (2). In June 1975 A offers houses, otherwise qualifying, on section II for the first time for a base price of $50,000. They are colonial homes and substantially the same as the homes he previously offered on section I. Under the facts stated above the base price of $50,000 is the lowest offer since the same model home on the same lot was not previously offered for sale.

Example (3). In March 1975 B, a condominium developer, offers to sell any two-bedroom unit in a particular high rise condominium of $45,000 with an added $5,000 for units with a lake front view and an additional $2,000 for units on higher floors. With regard to all two-bedroom units in the condominium an offer to sell a specified residence at a specified purchase price has been made. This is true even though at the time of the offer construction had not reached the floor on which the particular unit will be located.

(4) A specified purchase price means a stated definite price for a particular residence or a specific base price for a residence of a particular model or design. An offer to sell for an indefinite price (e.g., an advertisement that all houses sell in the $40,000's) is not considered an offer to sell at a specified purchase price.

(5) An offer to sell includes an offer to sell subject to special conditions imposed by the seller. Thus, if the lowest price at which a house was advertised was "at $40,000 for March only", the $40,000 price would be the lowest offer. However, certain conditions may necessitate adjustments in determining the lowest offer. See paragraph (d) of this section.

(6) An offer to sell two or more residences together as for example, in a bulk sale shall be disregarded, even though each residence is assigned a specific purchase price for the purpose of such a sale. With regard to factory-made homes an offer to sell does not include an offer made by the manufacturer to a dealer in such homes.

(7) (i) Where new residences are purchased at a foreclosure sale (including a conveyance by the owner in lieu of foreclosure) and prior to the foreclosure sale such residences had been offered for sale by the foreclosure seller at specified prices, the foreclosure purchaser is bound by such prices in determining the lowest offer. He is not bound by the prices paid to the foreclosure seller since such prices do not constitute voluntary offers.

(ii) For this purpose, if the foreclosure seller and foreclosure purchaser are not related parties (as defined in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph), and if the foreclosure purchaser does not have knowledge of the date of commencement of construction and the lowest offer made by such seller with respect to each of the foreclosed residences, the foreclosure purchaser must request and try to obtain from the foreclosure seller a certificate specifying such facts. Upon a subsequent sale of a particular residence by the foreclosure purchaser, he must certify whether the price is the lowest offer for that particular residence based on the certification of the foreclosure seller, a copy of which must be attached to the certification of the foreclosure purchaser. If the foreclosure seller refuses to so certify, the foreclosure purchaser must make a reasonable effort to determine the date construction commenced and the lowest offer made by the foreclosure seller. For this purpose, reasonable effort includes the effort to locate and examine advertising and listings published or used by the foreclosure seller. If the foreclosure seller and foreclosure purchaser are related parties (as defined in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph), the foreclosure purchaser will be considered as having knowledge of the date of the commencement of construction and the lowest offer made by such seller with respect to each of the foreclosed residences, and, upon a subsequent sale of a particular residence by the foreclosure purchaser, he must comply with the certification requirements prescribed by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(iii) For purposes of this subparagraph related parties shall include the relationships described in subparagraph (2) of § 1.44–5(c), and the constructive ownership rules of section 318 shall apply, but family members for this purpose shall include spouses, ancestors, and lineal descendants.

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(d) Adjustments in determining lowest price. (1) (i) In determining whether a residence was sold at the lowest offer appropriate adjustment shall be made for differences in the property offered and in the terms of the sale. Where the sale to the taxpayer includes property which was not the subject of the prior offer or excludes property which was included in the prior offer, the amount of the prior offer shall be adjusted to reflect the fair market value of such property, provided that, in the case of property included in the sale which was not a part of the residence at the time of execution of the contract of purchase, the taxpayer had the option to require inclusion or exclusion of such property. The fair market value of any excluded property is to be determined at the time of the prior offer, while all additions are to be valued at their fair market value on the date of execution of the contract of sale. If a seller increases his present offer to include financing or other costs of the seller in connection with his ownership of the residence, the present offer does not qualify as being the lowest offer.

(ii) The rules in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph are illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A offered to sell a new home without a garage for $35,000. Having found no buyers A added a garage and sold the home for $40,000. At the time the contract of sale was executed the fair market value of the garage was $5,000. The offer to sell for $40,000 qualifies since it equals the seller's lowest offer plus the fair market value of the garage.

Example (2). B, unable to sell colonial-style homes presently under construction and previously offered for sale for $40,000, makes extensive changes in decor and identifies the homes as his new Williamsburg model. The Williamsburg models are not different residences for purposes of this section. To the extent that the additions have not yet been added at the time of execution of a contract of sale, in order to qualify for the credit the taxpayer must have the option as to whether to include these additions, and if these additions are included B must charge no more than the fair market value of the additions on that date of execution of the contract of sale.

(2) Appropriate adustment to a prior offer to sell shall be made for differences in financing terms and closing costs which increase the seller's actual net proceeds and the purchaser's actual costs. A seller may pass on to the purchaser without affecting the purchase price only those additional amounts he is required to expend in connection with such differences. The seller may not by changing the financing terms or closing costs indirectly increase the purchase price. For these purposes closing costs include all charges paid at settlement for obtaining the mortgage loan and transferring real estate title. Thus, for example, where a seller previously offered a residence for sale for $40,000 and agreed to pay financing "points" required by the mortgagee, and now offers the same residence also for $40,000 but requires the purchaser to pay the points, the present offer does not constitute the lowest offer. On the other hand, a prior offer to sell based upon a large down payment by the prospective purchaser may be adjusted to reflect the additional costs to the seller of accepting a small down payment from the taxpayer. For purposes of determining the seller's net proceeds, proceeds received by all related parties within the meaning of section 318 must be taken into account. For purposes of determining the lowest offer, where an offer provided for a rebate (e.g., of cash or of a contribution toward mortgage payments) or included, without additional charge or at less than fair market value, property not normally included in the sale of a residence (e.g., an automobile), such offer must be reduced by the amount of such rebate or by the amount by which the fair market value of such property at the time of the offer exceeds the amount paid for it by the purchaser. Thus, where a residence was advertised for sale at $40,000, but the seller agreed to pay $200 a month on the purchaser's mortgage for 10 months, such residence is considered to have been offered for sale at $38,000.

(3) In the case of a factory-made home, where delivery and installation costs are included in the specified base price of such home an appropriate adjustment is to be made in such specified base price for differences in the fair market value of the delivery and installation in determining the lowest offer.

(e) Civil and criminal penalties. If a person certifies that the price for which the residence was sold does not exceed the lowest offer and if it is found that the price for which the residence was sold exceeded the lowest offer, then such person is liable (under section 208(b) of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975) to the purchaser for damages in an amount equal to three times the excess of the certified price over the lowest offer plus reasonable attorney's fees. No income tax deduction shall be allowed for two-thirds of any amount paid or incurred pursuant to a judgment entered against any person in a suit based on such liability. However, attorney's fees, court costs, and other such amounts paid or incurred with respect to such suit which meet the requirements of section 162 are deductible under that section. In addition, an individual who falsely certifies may be subject to criminal penalties. For example, section 1001 of title 18 of the United States Code provides as follows:

§ 1001. Statements or entries generally.

Whoever, in any matter within the jurisdiction of any department or agency of the United States knowingly and willfully falsifies, conceals or covers up by any trick, scheme, or device a material fact, or makes any false, fictitious or fraudulent statements or representations, or makes or uses any false writing or document knowing the same to contain any false, fictitious or fraudulent statement or entry, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

The treble damages and criminal sanctions provided under this paragraph apply only with regard to false certification as to the lowest offer, not to false certification as to commencement of construction. However, with regard to false certification as to commencement of construction there may exist contractual or tort remedies under State law.

(f) Denial of credit. In the absence of the taxpayer's participation in, or knowledge of, a false certification by the seller, the credit is not denied to a taxpayer who otherwise qualifies for the credit solely because the seller has falsely certified that the new principal residence was sold at the lowest offer. However, if certification as to the commencement of construction is false, no credit is allowed since such residence does not qualify as a new principal residence construction of which began before March 26, 1975.

§ 1.44–4 Recapture for certain dispositions.

(a) In general. (1) Under section 44(d) except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, if the taxpayer disposes of property, with respect to the purchase of which a credit was allowed under section 44(a), at any time within 36 months after the date on which he acquired it (or, in the case of construction by the taxpayer, the date on which he first occupied it as his principal residence), then the tax imposed under chapter 1 of the Code for the taxable year in which the replacement period (as provided under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) terminates is increased by an amount equal to the amount allowed as a credit for the purchase of such property.

(2) The replacement period is the period provided for purchase of a new principal residence under section 1034 of the Code without recognition of gain on the sale of the old residence. In the case of residences sold or exchanged after December 31, 1974, it is generally 18 months in the case of acquisition by purchase and 2 years in the case of construction by the taxpayer provided, however, that such construction has commenced within the 18-month period. Thus, a calendar-year taxpayer who disposes of his old principal residence in December 1975 and does not qualify under paragraph (b) or (c) of this section will include the amount previously allowed as additional tax on his 1977 tax return.

(3) Except as provided in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, section 44(d) applies to all dispositions of property, including sales (including foreclosure sales), exchanges (including tax-free exchanges such as those under sections 351, 721, and 1031), and gifts.

(4) In the case of a husband and wife who were allowed a credit under section 44(a) claimed on a joint return, for the purpose of section 44(d) and this section the credit shall be allocated between the spouses in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.44–1.

(b) Acquisition of a new residence. (1) Section 44(d)(1) and paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to a disposition of property with respect to the purchase of which a credit was allowed under section 44(a) in the case of a taxpayer who purchases or constructs a new principal residence (within the meaning of § 1.44–5(a)) within the applicable replacement period provided in section 1034. In determining whether a new principal residence qualifies for purposes of this section the rules relating to construction, acquisition, and occupancy under § 1.44–2 do not apply. Where a disposition has occurred and the taxpayer's purchase (or construction) costs of a new principal residence are less than the adjusted sales price (as defined in section 1034(b)) of the old residence, the tax imposed by chapter 1 of the Code for the taxable year following the taxable year during which disposition occurs is increased by an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount allowed as a credit for the purchase of the old residence as (I) the adjusted sales price of the old residence (within the meaning of section 1034), reduced (but not below zero) by the taxpayer's cost of purchasing (or constructing) the new residence (within the meaning of such section) bears to (II) the adjusted sales price of the old residence.

(2) The rules of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. On July 15, 1975, A purchases a new principal residence for a total purchase price of $40,000. The property meets the tests of § 1.44–2, and A is allowed a credit of $2,000 on his 1975 tax return. On January 15, 1977 (within 36 months after acquisition) A sells his residence for an adjusted sales price of $50,000 and March 16, 1977, purchases a new principal residence at a cost of $40,000. Since the new principal residence was purchased within the 18-month replacement period (provided in section 1034), the amount recaptured is limited to $400, determined by multiplying the amount of the credit allowed ($2,000) by a fraction, the numerator of which is $10,000 (determined by reducing the adjusted sales price of the old residence ($50,000) by A's cost of purchasing the new principal residence ($40,000)) and the denominator of which is $50,000 (the adjusted sales price). Therefore, A's tax liability for 1978, the year following the taxable year in which the disposition occurred, is increased by $400.

(c) Certain involuntary dispositions. Section 44(d)(1) and paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to the following:

(1) A disposition of a residence made on account of the death of any individual having a legal or equitable interest therein occurring during the 36-month period described in paragraph (a) of this section.

(2) A disposition of the residence if it is substantially or completely destroyed by a casualty described in section 165(c)(3),

(3) A disposition of the residence if it is compulsorily and involuntarily converted within the meaning of section 1033(a), or

(4) A disposition of the residence pursuant to a settlement in a divorce or legal separation proceeding where the other spouse retains the residence as principal residence (as defined in § 1.44–5(a)).

§ 1.44–5 Definitions.

For purposes of section 44 and the regulations thereunder—

(a) New principal residence. The term "new principal residence" means a principal residence, the original use of which commences with the taxpayer. The term "principal residence" has the same meaning as under section 1034 of the Code. For this purpose, the term "residence" includes, without being limited to, a single family structure, a residential unit in a condominium or cooperative housing project, a townhouse, and a factory-made home. In the case of a tenant-stockholder in a cooperative housing corporation references to property used by the taxpayer as his principal residence and references to the residence of a taxpayer shall include stock held by the tenant-stockholder in a cooperative housing project provided, however, that the taxpayer used as his principal residence the house or apartment which he was entitled as such stockholder to occupy. "Original use" of the new principal residence by the taxpayer means that such residence has never been used as a residence prior to its use as such by the taxpayer. For this purpose, a residence will qualify if the first occupancy was by the taxpayer pursuant to a lease arrangement pending settlement under a binding contract to purchase or pursuant to a lease arrangement where a written option to purchase the then existing residence was contained in the original lease agreement.

A revonated building does not qualify as new, regardless of the extent of the renovation nor does a condominium conversion qualify.

(b) Purchase price.—(1) General rule. For purposes of section 44(a) and § 1.44–1, the term "purchase price" means the adjusted basis of the new principal residence on the date of acquisition and includes all amounts attributable to the acquisition or construction, but only to the extent that such amounts constitute capital expenditures and are not allowable as deductions in computing taxable income. Such capital expenditures include but are not limited to the cost of acquisition or construction, title insurance, attorney's fees, transfer taxes, and other costs of transfer. For these purposes the adjusted basis of a factory-made home includes the cost of moving the home and setting it up as the taxpayer's principal residence only where such cost is included in the base price of the residence; it also includes the purchase price of the land on which the home is located, but only if such land was purchased by the taxpayer after March 12, 1975 and only if the taxpayer acquired the land prior to or in conjunction with the acquisition of such factory-made home. However, the adjusted basis does not include any expenditures involved in connection with the leasing of land on which the factory-made home is located. In the case of factory-made homes the adjusted basis includes furniture only where it is included in the base price of the unit.

(2) Sale of old principal residence. (i) The adjusted basis is reduced by any gain from the sale or involuntary conversion of an old principal residence, which is not recognized due to the application of section 1033 or section 1034. However, no reduction will be made for any gain excluded from tax by reason of the special treatment provided under the tax laws in the case of a sale by a taxpayer who has attained age 65 (sec. 121 of the code).

(ii) The rules in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph are illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A sells an old principal residence for $30,000 which has an adjusted basis of $20,000. A reinvests the proceeds by purchasing a new principal residence for $40,000 (including settlement costs which are capital in nature), and this purchase satisfies the statutory criteria under section 1034 for nonrecognition of gain. The credit under section 44 applies with respect to $30,000 ($40,000 costs minus $10,000 unrecognized gain) of the cost of the new principal residence.

Example (2). B and C, two sisters, purchase a new principal residence as joint tenants with the right of survivorship for a total purchase price of $40,000. B has previously sold her old principal residence for $25,000 and a $10,000 gain on the sale has qualified for nonrecognition under section 1034. B contributes $25,000 and C contributes $15,000. The adjusted basis of the new principal residence is $30,000 representing the total purchase price of $40,000 less $10,000 representing unrecognized gain under section 1034. The total credit allowable, therefore, is $1,500. Since joint tenants are treated as equal owners and since allocation of the credit is made in proportion to the taxpayer's respective ownership interests in such residence B and C each will receive a credit of $750.

Example (3). Taxpayer D is 65 years old and sells his old principal residence for $20,000 excluding all gain under section 121. He then purchases a new principal residence for $30,000. D's adjusted basis in his new principal residence is $30,000, and he is allowed a credit of $1,500.

(3) Tie-in sales. In the case of a purchase of a new principal residence which is tied in to the transfer of other property by the seller to the purchaser, whether purportedly by sale or gift, the adjusted basis of the residence is reduced by the amount of the excess of the fair market value of such other property received over the amount, if any, purportedly paid for it by the purchaser of the residence. For example, if a taxpayer receives a new car with a fair market value of $2,500 upon the purchase of a condominium apartment for a total purchase price of $40,000 (including settlement costs which are capital in nature) his adjusted basis in the residence for computation of the credit is $37,500.

(4) Basis of new principal residence. The taxpayer's basis in his new principal residence is not in any way affected by the allowance of the credit.

(c) Purchase.—(1) General rule. Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the term "purchase" means any acquisition of property.

(2) Exceptions. (i) An acquisition does not qualify as a purchase for the purpose of this paragraph if the property is acquired from a person whose relationship to the person acquiring it would result in the disallowance of losses under section 267 or 707(b). Such persons include—

(A) The purchaser's spouse, ancestors and lineal descendants,

V40I232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(B) Related corporations as provided under section 267(b)(2);

(C) Related trusts as provided under section 267(b), (4), (5), (6), and (7).

(D) Related charitable organizations as provided under section 267(b)(9), and

(E) Related partnerships as provided under section 707(b)(1).

For purposes of this subdivision the constructive ownership rules of section 267(c) shall apply except that paragraph (4) of section 267(c) shall be treated as providing that the family of an individual shall include only his spouse, ancestors, and lineal descendants.

(ii) An acquisition does not qualify as a purchase for the purpose of this paragraph if the basis of the property in the hands of the person acquiring such property is determined—

(A) In whole or in part by reference to the adjusted basis of such property in the hands of the person from whom acquired (e.g., a gift under section 1015), or

(B) Under section 1014(a) (relating to property acquired from a decedent).

(d) Self-construction. The term "self-construction" means the construction of a residence (other than a factory-made home) to the taxpayer's specifications on land already owned or leased by the taxpayer at the time of commencement of construction. Thus, where a taxpayer purchases land and either builds a residence himself or hires an architect and a contractor to build a residence on that land, the taxpayer has "self-constructed" the residence.

(e) Factory-made home. The term "factory-made" homes" includes mobile homes, houseboats and prefabricated and modular homes.

(f) Lowest offer. The term "lowest offer" means the lowest price at which the residence was offered for sale after February 28, 1975.

PAR. 2. Paragraph (c)(3) of § 1.6014–2 is amended by revising subdivisions (vi) and (vii) and adding new subdivisions (viii) and (ix), to read as follows:

§ 1.6014–2 Tax not computed by taxpayer for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969.

* * * * * * *

(c) Effects of election. * * *

(3) A taxpayer who makes an election under section 6014 shall not be precluded from claiming—

* * * * * * *

(vi) The credit under section 41 (relating to contributions to candidates for public office);

(vii) The credit under section 42 (relating to personal exemptions);

(viii) The credit under section 43 (relating to earned income);

(ix) The credit under section 44 (relating to purchase of new principal residence); or

(x) The credit under section 45 (relating to overpayments of tax).

Part 301 is amended as follows:

PAR. 3. Section 301.6096 is amended by revising subsection (b) and the historical note to read as follows:

§ 301.6096 Statutory provisions; designation by individuals.

SEC. 6096. Designation by individuals. * * *

(b) Income tax liability. For purposes of subsection (a), the income tax liability of an individual for any taxable year is the amount of the tax imposed by chapter 1 on such individual for such taxable year (as shown on his return), reduced by the sum of the credits (as shown on his return) allowable under sections 33, 37, 38, 40, 41, 42, and 44.

(Sec. 6096 added by sec. 302, Foreign Investors Tax Act 1966 (80 Stat. 1587); amended by sec. 802 (a) and (b)(2), Rev. Act 1971 (85 Stat. 573); sec. 6(a), Act of July 1, 1973 (87 Stat. 135, Pub. Law 93–53); secs. 203(b)(4) and 208(d)(4), Tax Reduction Act 1975 (89 Stat. 30, 32))

PAR. 4. Section 301.6096–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 301.6096–1 Designation by individuals for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1972.

* * * * * * *

(b) Income tax liability. For purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, the income tax liability of an individual for any taxable year is the amount of the tax imposed by chapter 1 on such individual for such taxable year (as shown on his return), reduced by the sum of the credits (as shown on his return) allowable under sections 33, 37, 38, 40, 41, 42, and 44.

CHAPTER I—BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO AND FIREARMS, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

[T.D. ATF–20]

PART 6—INDUCEMENTS FURNISHED TO RETAILERS

Advertising Specialties Furnished to Retailers

The purpose of this document is to clarify the provisions of 27 CFR 6.28, concerning advertising specialty items furnished to alcoholic beverage retailers by alcoholic beverage industry members.

Treasury decision ATF–15, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 13, 1975 (40 FR 11719), and effective May 1, 1975 increased the limitations for advertising specialties (e.g., trays, coasters, menu cards, etc.) from $10 to $20 for distilled spirits and wine. The specialty limitation for malt beverages, however, was not increased due to opposition presented by the United States Brewers Association (USBA). Subsequent to issuance of the revised specialty limitation regulation, the Bureau received several inquiries concerning the intent of the regulation; i.e. could it be interpreted to allow a total of $30 per year for a retailer ($20 for distilled spirits and wine and $10 for malt beverages). It was the purpose of the regulation to retain the existing specialty limitation for malt beverages ($10 per retailer per calendar year) and increase the limitation for wine and distilled spirits to $20, with the restriction that the aggregate cost to any industry member of all specialty items supplied to any one retailer of alcoholic beverages in any one calendar year could not exceed $20. In order to clarify this restriction, § 6.28 is being amended.

Because the amendment made by this Treasury decision is clarifiyng in nature and could not operate to the detriment of any taxpayer, it is found that it is unnecessary to issue this Treasury decision with the notice and public procedure thereon under 5 U.S.C. 553(b) or subject to the effective date limitations of 5 U.S.C. 553(d). Accordingly, 27 CFR 6.28, as amended, shall be effective on December 2, 1975, as follows:

§ 6.28 Retailer advertising specialties.

(a) Specialty advertising items. Retailer advertising specialty items are items such as trays, coasters, mats, menu cards, meal checks, paper napkins, foam scrapers, back bar mats, thermometers, clocks, and calendars, which bear advertising matter and which are primarily valuable to the retailer as point of sale advertising media.

(b) Advertising limit—distilled spirits or wine. Retailer advertising specialties may be furnished, given, or sold to a retailer of distilled spirits or wine if the aggregate cost to any industry member of such items furnished, given, or sold in connection with any one retail establishment in any one calendar year does not exceed $20.

(c) Advertising limit—malt beverages. Retailer advertising specialties may be furnished, given, or sold to a retailer of malt beverages if the aggregate cost to any industry member of such items furnished, given, or sold in connection with any one retail establishment in any one calendar year does not exceed $10.

(d) Restriction. The aggregate cost to any industry member of all retailer advertising specialties supplied to any one retailer of alcoholic beverages in any one calendar year shall not exceed $20.

(This Treasury decision is issued under the authority contained in 27 U.S.C. 205 (49 Stat. 931).)

Signed: October 20, 1975.

REX D. DAVIS,
Director.

Approved: November 24, 1975.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

SUBCHAPTER E—PESTICIDE PROGRAMS

[FRL 463–6]

PART 180—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Zinc Phosphide

On October 7, 1975, the Environmental Protection Agency published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 46322) a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 40 CFR 180.284 to establish a tolerance for residues of phosphine resulting from the use of the rodenticide zinc phosphide in or on the raw agricultural commodity grapes at 0.01 part per million. Notice of the proposed rulemaking was published in response to a petition (PP 5E1551) submitted by Dr. C. C. Compton, Coordinator, Interregional Research Project No. 4, State Agricultural Experiment Station, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903.

No comments or requests for referral to an advisory committee were received by the Agency. Therefore, based on the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material it is concluded that the tolerance established by amending 40 CFR 180.284 will protect the public health and that the proposed regulation should be adopted without change.

Any person adversely affected by this regulation may, on or before January 2, 1976 file written objections with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M St. SW, Washington DC 20460. Such objections should be submitted in quintuplicate and specify both the provisions of the regulation deemed to be objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought.

Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticide Programs.

CHAPTER 114—DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

PART 114–43—UTILIZATION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Utilization of Excess

Pursuant to the authority of the Secretary of the Interior contained in 5 U.S.C. 301 and Sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c), Subpart 114–43.3 of Chapter 114, Title 41 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as set forth below.

This amendment relates only to matters of internal Department practice. It is, therefore, determined that the public rulemaking procedure is unnecessary and this amendment shall become effective on December 2, 1975.

RICHARD R. HITE,
Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

NOVEMBER 21, 1975.

1. The Table of Contents is revised to read as follows:

Subpart 114–43.3—Utilization of Excess

114–43.301	Federal Government procedure.
114–43.301–50	Economic considerations.

114–43.320	Use of excess property on contracts and grants.

2. Section 114–43.301 is revised and new § 114–43.301–50 is added to read as follows:

§ 114–43.301 Federal Government procedure.

The objective of the policy that excess property is the first source of supply is to obtain effective and economical utilization of property already owned by the Federal Government. Effective and economical utilization can be determined only through evaluation of use and costs, and excess property may be acquired only when there is such an evaluation and:

(a) The property is needed to meet the known requirements of an authorized planned program; and

(b) Funds are available for the costs of acquisition and for the costs of repair or modification needed to comply with the minimum standards established by the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1590), as amended. (29 U.S.C. 651).

§ 114–43.301–50 Economic considerations.

The head of each bureau and office is responsible for establishing procedures to ensure that excess property is not acquired unless there has been a determination that such acquisition is practicable and economically feasible. Such a determination requires consideration of the costs involved, including the costs of transportation, handling, and storage. When the proposed acquisition involves any type of machinery or equipment, consideration shall also be given to the following factors:

(a) The duration of the program and the frequency of use to determine any economic advantage of ownership versus loan or rental; and

(b) The nature of any repairs, modifications, and additional accessorial equipment required to bring the item up to the minimum standards of the Occupational Health and Safety Act, and the total costs involved.

3. Section 114–43.311–1 is revised to read as follows:

§ 114–43.311–1 Reporting.

In accordance with 205 DM 9, the head of each bureau and office is authorized to report to the General Services Administration any personal property that has been determined to be excess to the needs of the Department. Prior to any such determination of excess;

(a) Available ADP equipment will be referred to the Office of ADP Management in accordance with 306 DM 5;

V40I232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(b) Available aircraft will be referred to the Office of Aircraft Services in accordance with procedures established by that office;

(c) All types of books, periodicals, other publications, and related material will be referred to the Office of Library and Information Services in accordance with procedures established by that office;

(d) All other available personal property will be screened against Departmental needs in accordance with 114–43.102.

4. Section 114–43.319(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 114–43.319 Performance reports.

* * * * * *

(b) The annual report of the utilization of foreign excess property shall be submitted to the Director, Office of Management Services (PM) within 30 calendar days after the close of each fiscal year. Negative reports may be submitted in memorandum form in lieu of the prescribed Standard Form 365.

PART 114–60—PERSONAL PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Vesting of Title to Equipment Purchased With Grant or Contract Funds

Pursuant to the authority of the Secretary of the Interior contained in 5 U.S.C. 301, 40 U.S.C. 486(c), and 42 U.S.C. 1892, a new Subpart 114–60.10 is added to Chapter 114, Title 41 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as set forth below.

This amendment relates only to matters of internal Department practice. It is therefore, determined that the public rulemaking procedure is unnecessary and this amendment shall become effective on December 2, 1975.

AUTHORITY: 5 U.S.C. 301, 40 U.S.C. 486(c), 42 U.S.C. 1892

Subpart 114–60.10—Vesting of Title to Equipment Purchased With Grant or Contract Funds

§ 114–60.1000 Scope of subpart.

This subpart establishes Departmental policy for the vesting of title to equipment purchased with grant or contract funds.

§ 114–60.1001 Authority.

(a) Section 2 of Pub. L. 85–934 (42 USC 1892) provides discretionary authority for the vesting of title to equipment purchased with grant or contract funds when the grant or contract is for the conduct of basic or applied scientific research at nonprofit institutions of higher education, or at nonprofit organizations whose primary purpose is the conduct of scientific research.

(b) Federal Management Circular (FMC) 73–7 establishes the policy that vesting of title to equipment in educational institutions furthers the overall Government objective of strengthening the scientific capability of such institutions, and reduces or eliminates the Government's costs and administrative burden of accounting, shipment, storage, disposition, and otherwise treating the equipment as Government property.

(c) Federal Management Circular (FMC) 74–7 prescribes uniform administrative requirements for grants-in-aid to State and local governments, including standards governing the utilization and disposition of property furnished by the Federal Government or acquired in whole or in part with Federal funds.

§ 114–60.1002 Educational institutions.

To the extent permitted by statute, title to equipment purchased or fabricated under any type of research instrument at educational institutions shall be vested in the institution without further obligation to the Government unless:

(a) There is not the proper authority to vest title in the institution;

(b) It is determined that such vesting is not in furtherance of the sponsor's objectives, and such determination has been approved, in writing, by the head of the bureau/office or his authorized representative. Authority to approve such determinations shall not be delegated below the Chief Administrative Officer of a region or comparable office; or

(c) The acquisition cost of the item is $1,000 or more and the sponsor desires to reserve the right to otherwise utilize the equipment, and then only under the condition that such right must be exercised within twelve months after the date of project completion or receipt of the institution's final fiscal report, whichever is sooner.

§ 114–60.1003 State and local governments.

When nonexpendable personal property is acquired wholly or in part with Federal funds provided under a grant to a State or local government, title shall be vested in the grantee subject only to the restrictions on use and disposition set forth in FMC 74–7. Attachment N (See Appendix A). The only exception to this policy is that the grantor may reserve title to property with an acquisition cost of $1,000 or more when such property is:

(a) financed solely with Federal funds;

(b) unique and/or would be difficult or costly to replace;

(c) appropriately identified in the grant agreement or otherwise made known to the grantee; and

(d) use and disposition is in accordance with the standards and procedures set forth in FMC 74–7, Attachment N.

§ 114–60.1004 Documentation.

In all instances, the research instrument should clearly indicate where title to equipment is to be vested and specify which items are to be Government property.

§ 114–60.1005 Federally-owned nonexpendable personal property.

When Federally-owned nonexpendable personal property, including excess, is made available to a grantee or contractor, title to such property remains vested in the Federal Government unless there is specific statutory authority to transfer title (see 114–43.320).

APPENDIX A—FEDERAL MANAGEMENT CIRCULAR 74–7, ATTACHMENT N

PROPERTY MANAGEMENT STANDARDS

1. This attachment prescribes uniform standards governing the utilization and disposition of property furnished by the Federal Government or acquired in whole or in part with Federal funds by State and local governments. Federal grantor agencies shall require State and local governments to observe these standards under grants from the Federal Government and shall not impose additional requirements unless specifically required by Federal law. The grantees shall be authorized to use their own property management standards and procedures as long as the provisions of this attachment are included.

2. The following definitions apply for the purpose of this attachment:

a. Real property. Real property means land, land improvements, structures and appurtenances thereto, excluding movable machinery and equipment.

b. Personal property. Personal property means property of any kind except real property. It may be tangible—having physical existence, or intangible—having no physical existence, such as patents, inventions, and copyrights.

c. Nonexpendable personal property. Nonexpendable personal property means tangible personal property having a useful life of more than one year and an acquisition cost of $300 or more per unit. A grantee may use its own definition of nonexpendable personal property provided that such definition would at least include all tangible personal property as defined above.

d. Expendable personal property. Expendable personal property refers to all tangible personal property other than nonexpendable property.

e. Excess property. Excess property means property under the control of any Federal agency which, as determined by the head thereof, is no longer required for its needs.

3. Each Federal grantor agency shall prescribe requirements for grantees concerning the use of real property funded partly or wholly by the Federal Government. Unless otherwise provided by statute, such requirements, as a minimum, shall contain the following:

a. The grantee shall use the real property for the authorized purpose of the original grant as long as needed.

b. The grantee shall obtain approval by the grantor agency for the use of the real property in other projects when the grantee determines that the property is no longer needed for the original grant purposes. Use in other projects shall be limited to those under other Federal grant programs, or programs that have purposes consistent with those authorized for support by the grantor.

c. When the real property is no longer needed as provided in a. and b., above, the grantee shall return all real property furnished or purchased wholly with Federal grant funds to the control of the Federal grantor agency. In the case of property purchased in part with Federal grant funds, the grantee may be permitted to take title to the Federal interest therein upon compensating the Federal Government for its fair share of the property. The Federal share of the property shall be the amount computed by applying the percentage of the Federal participation in the total cost of the grant program for which the property was acquired to the current fair market value of the property.

4. Standards and procedures governing ownership, use, and disposition of nonexpendable personal property furnished by the Federal Government or acquired with Federal funds are set forth below:

a. Nonexpendable personal property acquired with Federal funds. When nonexpendable personal property is acquired by a grantee wholly or in part with Federal funds, title will not be taken by the Federal Government except as provided in paragraph 4a(4) but shall be vested in the grantee subject to the following restrictions on use and disposition of the property:

(1) The grantee shall retain the property acquired with Federal funds in the grant program as long as there is a need for the property to accomplish the purpose of the grant program whether or not the program continues to be supported by Federal funds. When there is no longer a need for the property to accomplish the purpose of the grant program, the grantee shall use the property in connection with other Federal grants it has received in the following order of priority:

(a) Other grants of the same Federal grantor agency needing the property.

(b) Grants of other Federal agencies needing the property.

(2) When the grantee no longer has need for the property in any of its Federal grant programs, the property may be used for its own official activities in accordance with the following standards:

(a) Nonexpendable property with an acquisition cost of less than $500 and used four years or more. The grantee may use the property for its own official activities without reimbursement to the Federal Government or sell the property and retain the proceeds.

(b) All other nonexpendable property. The grantee may retain the property for its own use provided that a fair compensation is made to the original grantor agency for the latter's share of the property. The amount of compensation shall be computed by applying the percentage of Federal participation in the grant program to the current fair market value of the property.

(3) If the grantee has no need for the property, disposition of the property shall be made as follows:

(a) Nonexpendable property with an acquisition cost of $1,000 or less. Except for that property which meets the criteria of (2)(a) above, the grantee shall sell the property and reimburse the Federal grantor agency an amount which is computed in accordance with (iii) below.

(b) Nonexpendable property with an acquisition cost of over $1,000. The grantee shall request disposition instructions from the grantor agency. The Federal agency shall determine whether the property can be used to meet the agency's requirement. If no requirement exists within that agency, the availability of the property shall be reported to the General Services Administration (GSA) by the Federal agency to determine whether a requirement for the property exists in other Federal agencies. The Federal grantor agency shall issue instructions to the grantee within 120 days and the following procedures shall govern:

(i) If the grantee is instructed to ship the property elsewhere, the grantee shall be reimbursed by the benefiting Federal agency with an amount which is computed by applying the percentage of the grantee's participation in the grant program to the current fair market value of the property, plus any shipping or interim storage costs incurred.

(ii) If the grantee is instructed to otherwise dispose of the property, he shall be reimbursed by the Federal grantor agency for such costs incurred in its disposition.

(iii) If disposition instructions are not issued within 120 days after reporting, the grantee shall sell the property and reimburse the Federal grantor agency an amount which is computed by applying the percentage of Federal participation in the grant program to the sales proceeds. Further, the grantee shall be permitted to retain $100 or 10 percent of the proceeds, whichever is greater, for the grantee's selling and handling expenses.

(4) Where the grantor agency determines that property with an acquisition cost of $1,000 or more and financed solely with Federal funds is unique, difficult, or costly to replace, it may reserve title to such property, subject to the following provisions:

(a) The property shall be appropriately identified in the grant agreement or otherwise made known to the grantee.

(b) The grantor agency shall issue disposition instructions within 120 days after the completion of the need for the property under the Federal grant for which it was acquired. If the grantor agency fails to issue disposition instructions within 120 days, the grantee shall apply the standards of 4a(1), 4a(2)(b), and 4a(3)(b).

b. Federally-owned nonexpendable personal property. Unless statutory authority to transfer title has been granted to an agency, title to Federally-owned property (property to which the Federal Government retains title including excess property made available by the Federal grantor agencies to grantees) remains vested by law in the Federal Government. Upon termination of the grant or need for the property, such property shall be reported to the grantor agency for further agency utilization or, if appropriate, for reporting to the General Services Administration for other Federal agency utilization. Appropriate disposition instructions will be issued to the grantee after completion of Federal agency review.

5. The grantees' property management standards for nonexpendable personal property shall also include the following procedural requirements:

a. Property records shall be maintained accurately and provide for: a description of the property; manufacturer's serial number or other identification number; acquisition date and cost; source of the property; percentage of Federal funds used in the purchase of property; location, use, and condition of the property; and ultimate disposition data including sales price or the method used to determine current fair market value if the grantee reimburses the grantor agency for its share.

b. A physical inventory of property shall be taken and the results reconciled with the property records at least once every two years to verify the existence, current utilization, and continued need for the property.

c. A control system shall be in effect to insure adequate safeguards to prevent loss, damage, or theft to the property. Any loss, damage, or theft of nonexpendable property shall be investigated and fully documented.

d. Adequate maintenance procedures shall be implemented to keep the property in good condition.

e. Proper sales procedures shall be established for unneeded property which would provide for competition to the extent practicable and result in the highest possible return.

6. When the total inventory value of any unused expendable personal property exceeds $500 at the expiration of need for any Federal grant purposes, the grantee may retain the property or sell the property as long as he compensates the Federal Government for its share in the cost. The amount of compensation shall be computed in accordance with 4a(2)(b).

7. Specific standards for control of intangible property are provided as follows:

a. If any program produces patentable items, patent rights, processes, or inventions, in the course of work aided by a Federal grant, such fact shall be promptly and fully reported to the grantor agency. Unless there is prior agreement between the grantee and grantor on disposition of such items, the grantor agency shall determine whether protection on such invention or discovery shall be sought and how the rights in the invention or discovery—including rights under any patent issued thereon—shall be allocated and administered in order to protect the public interest consistent with "Government Patent Policy" (President's Memorandum for Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies, August 23, 1971, and Statement of Government Patent Policy as printed in 36 FR 16889).

b. Where the grant results in a book or other copyrightable material, the author or grantee is free to copyright the work, but the Federal grantor agency reserves a royalty-free, nonexclusive and irrevocable license to reproduce, publish, or otherwise use, and to authorize others to use the work for Government purposes.

codified as 45 CFR Part 1013 are obsolete and legally void. The letter requests the Office of the Federal Register to delete the regulations from a CFR chapter administered by the Community Services Administration.

The basis for the Labor Department request is Title IV of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 801 et seq.) That act entrusted the administartion of these regulations to the Secretary of Labor. Acting under this authority, the Labor Department has promulgated final regulations as 29 CFR Part 97a on October 31, 1975 (40 FR 50812). The effect of the publication of 29 CFR Part 97a is to make obsolete the regulations in 45 CFR Part 1013.

Therefore, pursuant to 1 CFR 8, 2, Part 1013 of Chapter X of Title 45, Code of Federal Regulations, is deleted.

Title 10—Atomic Energy

[RULING 1975- 18]

NATURAL GAS SHRINKAGE

Computation of Increased Cost

This Ruling is issued to provide guidance to gas processors with respect to acceptable methods for computation of increased cost of natural gas shrinkage under Subpart E of the Mandatory Petroleum Price Regulations in Part 212 of the FEA regulations for the period prior to January 1, 1975, and under Subpart K of Part 212 for the period on and after January 1, 1975. Gas processors process natural gas to recover natural gas liquid products covered by FEA regulations (propane, butane and natural gasoline) and, in some instances, a product that is exempt from FEA regulation (ethane). Some gas processors process natural gas only to recover the undifferentiated stream of natural gas liquids, which is a liquid made up of the foregoing products, but in mixed form. Such mixed streams of natural gas liquids may be further processed to segregate the individual component natural gas liquid products.

Gas processing firms are included within the definition of "refiner" in § 212.31 and, prior to January 1, 1975, were subject to the refiner's price regulations in Subpart E of Part 212. Pursuant to the price rules of Subpart E, refiners were permitted to pass through their increased product costs, including the increased costs of natural gas shrinkage, in prices charged for covered products (FEA Ruling 1975–6).

Effective January 1, 1975, the price regulations were amended by adding a new Subpart K to Part 212 to provide price rules tailored more specifically to the operations of gas processors. The price rules of Subpart K continue to permit gas processors to pass through their increased costs of natural gas shrinkage as increased product costs. The principles and procedures set forth in this Ruling provide guidelines as to the appropriate methods for determining the increased cost of natural gas shrinkage for both the period prior to and the period beginning on January 1, 1975.

FACTS

Firm A. Firm A, a gas processor, purchases "wet" natural gas (i.e., natural gas from which the liquids, other than condensate, have not been extracted) under a "net-back" contract with Firm X. Title to the "wet" natural gas passes to Firm A at the wellhead, and Firm A transports the gas to its gas plant. Both the natural gas liquid products which are extracted from the natural gas and fractionated at the same facility and the residue gas which remains after the liquids have been extracted are sold by Firm A. Firms A and X share in the proceeds from the sale of the residue gas and the natural gas liquid products on a percentage basis pursuant to the "net-back" contract.

In May 1973, the inlet ("wet") volume of the gas processed at Firm A's plant, excluding condensate (i.e., liquids which are separated from natural gas by mechanical separators), was 3000 MCF's and the outlet (residue) gas volume was 1950 MCF's. In August 1975, the inlet volume, excluding condensate, was 1600 MCF's (1920 MMBTU's) and the outlet was 1248 MMBTU's. Firm A's contracts in effect on May 15, 1973 permitted the price of residue gas to be determined either by reference to the volume (MCF) of residue gas, without reference to BTU content or by reference to the BTU content (MMBTU) of the residue gas. The actual price received by A for gas delivered during May 1973, was computed pursuant to the price per MCF terms in the contracts. Firm A's sales contracts for residue gas in effect in August 1975 provided for the price of residue gas to be determined by reference to the BTU content of the residue gas.

During each month a portion of the residue gas equal to approximately 10 percent of the residue volume was used by Firm A as plant fuel to operate its extraction facilities.

In May 1973, Firm A delivered to Firm X residue gas equal to 10 percent of the outlet volume for fuel to operate Firm X's production wells ("lease fuel") and for the purpose of injection at the well site to maintain pressure for production ("injection gas"), in accordance with contractual requirements. In August 1975, Firm A delivered to Firm X residue gas equal to 5 percent of the outlet BTU value for use as injection gas and as lease fuel, under new contractual terms calling for BTU measurement of inlet and residue volumes, and requiring the return of lesser amounts of residue gas for these purposes. In August 1975, Firm A "flared" its total butane production, consisting of 5 MMBTU's.

On May 15, 1973, Firm A sold the residue gas at a weighted average rate of $.20 per MCF. In August 1975, it sold the residue gas at a weighted average rate of $.60 per MMBTU.

Firm B. Firm B, a natural gas producer, also extracts mixed natural gas liquids from the natural gas stream and then sells those mixed natural gas liquids to Firm Y, a gas plant operator. Firm Y fractionates the natural gas liquids and sells the natural gas liquid products.

In May 1973, the inlet ("wet") gas volume at Firm B's plant was 3000 MCF's, excluding condensate. During that month, Firm B extracted a mixed natural gas liquid stream consisting of 3125 gallons of propane, 1666 gallons of butane, 6250 gallons of natural gasoline (primarily, pentanes, isopentanes, hexanes, and heptanes), and 6026 gallons of ethane. The outlet (residue) gas during May 1973 was measured at 2060 MMBTU.

In August 1975, the inlet volume was 1600 MCF's, excluding condensate. Natural gas liquids extracted amounted to 1625 gallons of propane, 1000 gallons of butane, 3000 gallons of natural gasoline, and 3999 gallons of ethane. The outlet (residue) gas during August 1975 was measured at 1070 MMBTU. In each month, Firm B utilized 10 percent of the residue gas as plant fuel and an additional 10 percent of the residue gas to operate its wells and as injection gas, and sold the remainder.

On May 15, 1973, Firm B sold the residue gas at a weighted average rate of $.20 per MMBTU. In August 1975, it sold the residue gas at a weighted average rate of $.60 per MMBTU.

Measurement of Firm B's "residue" or outlet natural gas both in May 1973, and August 1975, was made on a BTU basis. However, since the inlet gas was measured on a volumetric basis during those months and since the precise BTU content of the inlet gas is not known, Firm B has computed the calorific (BTU) value of the mixed stream extracted from the gas as the basis for computing its increased cost of natural gas shrinkage. The calorific value of the mixed stream extracted by Firm B, measured at 60 F. and at 14.7 psia, is 91,065 BTU's per gallon for the propane content, 102,600 BTU's per gallon for the butane content, 110,000 BTU's per gallon for the natural gasoline content, and 66,300 BTU's per gallon for the ethane content.[1]

Issue 1: What costs may Firm A and B attribute as allowable increased costs of natural gas shrinkage?

Issue 2: What is the correct method of computing the amount of increased costs of natural gas shrinkage which may be passed through in prices charged for products?

RULING

1. Section 212.166, dealing with the calculation of increased product costs, states that such costs include:

> • • • the difference between the weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage per thousand cubic feet (MCF) of natural gas processed in the month of May 1973, and the weighed average cost of natural gas shrinkage per thousand cubic feet (MCF) of natural gas processed in the current month, multiplied by the number of thousand cubic feet (MCF's) of natural gas processed in the current month.

"Cost of natural gas shrinkage" is defined in § 212.162 as:

> (T)he reduction in selling price per thousand cubic feet (MCF) of natural gas processed, which is atributable to the reduction in volume or BTU value of the natural gas resulting from the extraction of natural gas liquids, as determined pursuant to the contract in effect at the time for which cost of natural gas shrinkage is being measured, and under which the processed gas is sold.

"Natural gas liquids" are defined in § 212.162 as:

> (A) mixed hydrocarbon stream containing, in whole or in substantial part, mixtures of ethane, butane (iso-butane and normal butane), propane or natural gasoline.

The definition of "cost of natural gas shrinkage" makes clear that the reduction in proceeds from the sale of processed natural gas, resulting from the extraction of the natural gas liquids, constitutes a cost which may be included in the calculation of increased product costs pursuant to § 212.166. However, it also makes clear that only those shrinkage costs which are "attributable to the reduction in volume or BTU value of the natural gas resulting from the extraction of natural gas liquids" are included in the "cost of natural gas shrinkage." (Emphasis added.) Hence, to qualify as an increased product cost, any shrinkage cost must be related to the extraction process, which FEA defines to include only the extraction of natural gas liquids from the "wet" gas stream.

Applying this test, FEA has determined that condensate, plant fuel, lease fuel, injection gas, flared gas, and ethane should be treated as follows in computing the cost of natural gas shrinkage:

a. Condensate. Condensate occurs in nature as the heavy hydrocarbon portion of natural gas in the underground reservoir, and is mechanically separated from natural gas as a liquid through a process of retrograde condensation, involving pressure reduction, sometimes accompanied by a reduction in temperature as well. In some cases, condensate is separated from natural gas by conventional lease separation facilities ("surface separators") at the well-head, and in other cases by a single mechanical separator ("field facility") located centrally and servicing two or more wells, and in either case is typically referred to as "leave condensate". In yet other cases, condensate is not separated from natural gas until it reaches a mechanical separation device similar to a surface separator or field facility, but located instead at the inlet side of a gas processing plant ("inlet separator" or "scrubber") and, in that case, the condensate is referred to as "plant condensate".

Condensate is to be distinguished from the lighter natural gas liquids and natural gas liquid products, whether fractionated or in a mixed stream of natural gas liquids, which are incapable of being

[1] The conversion factors used in this fact situation are taken from a table of physical constants for hydrocarbons located in the Ninth Edition of the Natural Gas Processors Suppliers' Association (NGPSA) Engineering Data Book, compiled and edited in cooperation with the Gas Processors Association, 1972.

V 4 0 2 3 2 DEC 2 7 5 XUM

separated from natural gas by mechanical means only and are generally recovered from natural gas at a gas processing plant by absorption, adsorption, or extraneous refrigeration processes. In light of these distinctions, the FEA has determined that condensate should, as a general matter, be treated as crude oil under Subpart D of the price regulations, rather than as natural gas liquids or natural gas liquid products which are treated under Subpart K of the price regulations. Therefore, any reduction in the value of "wet" natural gas which results from the separating out of condensate lacks the requisite connection with the extraction of the natural gas liquids, even though both processes may be performed at the same processing facility by the same party.

b. Plant fuel. The natural gas stream is also reduced by the removal of a certain quantity of gas, typically in the form of residue gas, which is utilized as plant fuel in the extraction process. Since the plant fuel is taken exclusively from feedstock for use in the extraction processes, it is included in the cost of natural gas shrinkage.

Plant fuel is allowed as a shrinkage cost to any firm which extracts natural gas liquids and uses the fuel in connection therewith, whether it is a gas processor or gas producer. Thus Firms A and B may include as shrinkage the reduction in gas volume resulting from its use as plant fuel. However, Firms A and B may not include as shrinkage any reduction in gas volume associated with operations other than the extraction of natural gas liquids.

It should be noted that, in permitting gas processing refiners to include the cost of plant fuel in the total of product costs calculated pursuant to the provisions of Subpart K, the FEA has provided different treatment for gas processors' fuel costs than is provided in Subpart E for the fuel costs of crude oil refiners. Refinery fuel costs are included, under Subpart E, in the total of a crude refiner's non-product costs. The reasons for the different treatment of these seemingly analogous costs are four:

(1) The analogy drawn between refinery fuel and gas plant fuel is merely superficial. Refinery fuel typically consists, in part, of some portion of the crude oil feedstock and, in part, of other fuels including natural gas, natural gas liquids, and electricity. Plant fuel consists almost exclusively of fuels derived from the "wet" (inlet) gas stream. Although the inclusion of the cost of feedstocks used as plant fuel in the total of product costs reflects an identifiable nexus between the product and the feedstock from which it is derived, the inclusion of the cost of other non-related fuels in the total of product costs cannot be justified on the same basis;

(2) Crude oil refiners are automatically permitted under Subpart E to pass-through their increased non-product costs, subject to a profit margin limitation, while gas processing refiners are limited under Subpart K to a pass-through of no more than $.005 per gallon of non-product cost increases incurred;

(3) Increased plant fuel costs were not taken into account by the FEA in its decision to limit the passthrough of gas processors' increased non-product costs to a $.005 per gallon increment; and

(4) In light of the fact that there are more than 700 gas plants in the United States processing products subject to the Subpart K price rules and since plant fuel is not uniformly measured among these plants, the prospect of a requirement that the cost of plant fuel be measured as a discrete amount to be excluded from the total of shrinkage costs otherwise calculated represented an undue administrative burden both for the smaller independent gas processors in their efforts to comply with FEA price rules and for the FEA in its efforts to enforce its regulations.

c. Lease fuel and injection gas. In certain situations a portion of the natural gas stream may be used to provide lease fuel and/or injection gas. The contract which Firm A has with Firm X, for example, requires the gas plant operator to furnish the producer with lease fuel and injection gas from the residue gas which remains after processing of the "wet" natural gas. These quantities of residue gas are to be used for the specific purpose of servicing the producer's wells. In similar fashion Firm B uses a portion of the residue gas that remains after the extraction process to operate its own wells and to maintain well pressure for production. Lease fuel and injection gas do not constitute allowable shrinkage to Firms A and B, since they are not attributable to the reduction in volume or BTU value of the natural gas resulting from the extraction of natural gas liquids, but instead represent the diversion of a portion of the residue gas to supply certain needs associated with the production of the "wet" natural gas. Hence, they lack the requisite nexus with the extraction operation to constitute shrinkage.

d. Flared natural gas liquid products. The FEA is aware that some gas processors have engaged in the practice known as "flaring" from time to time. It involves the burning of certain natural gas liquid products because temporary demand shortfall overburdens existing storage facilities, or for other reasons. Since there is a reduction in the selling price of processed gas attributable to the extraction of the natural gas liquids from which the flared product has been separated, the total amount of all natural gas liquid products extracted from the natural gas stream in the processing operation, including any product which is later flared, is properly taken into account in determining the cost of natural gas shrinkage for the purposes of calculating increased product costs. However, since the flaring of a particular natural gas liquid product, such as butane in the case of Firm A, represents action implementing a business decision formulated in response to market conditions or other circumstances, it is regarded as a use which produces economic value for Firm A. The FEA has previously determined that the internal consumption of covered products in such a manner requires that the same increment of increased product cost be assigned to them as is assigned to such products in determining the selling price for those products in arms-length transactions, with the increment of increased product cost so assigned to be regarded as recouped by Firm A when it flares the product, and therefore no longer available for pass through in price charged by Firm A in arms-length transactions (Ruling 1974–27).

e. Ethane. Since ethane is included within the definition of "natural gas liquids" in § 212.162, the cost of natural gas shrinkage, which is defined in terms of the reduced selling price for natural gas attributable to the extraction of natural gas liquids, includes any reduction in the selling price of processed natural gas attributable to the extraction of ethane. Thus, the increased cost of natural gas shrinkage also includes increases in the cost of shrinkage due to ethane. It should be noted, however, that the increased product costs, including the increased cost of natural gas shrinkage, which are allocated among natural gas liquids and natural gas liquid products pursuant to § 212.167, are reduced by the portion of such costs attributable to the production and sale of ethane under paragraph (a) of that section.

2. Computation of the increased cost of natural gas shrinkage which is included in the calculation of increased product costs pursuant to § 212.166 requires a comparison of the "weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage per thousand cubic feet (MCF) of natural gas processed" during the month of May 1973 and during the current month. The "cost of natural gas shrinkage" is computed, as defined in § 212.162, by determining the reduction in selling price of the processed gas attributable to the extraction of natural gas liquids, by reference to the contract price in effect for the relevant month.

Although the concept of the "cost of natural gas shrinkage," as it is defined in § 212.162, does not appear unduly complex, computation of the "reduction in selling price" can be complicated where, as with Firm A, the price terms in effect during the two relevant periods differ or where, as with Firm B, the extent of the shrinkage in the natural gas stream attributable to he extraction of liquids cannot be determined simply by comparing the inlet and outlet measurements of the natural gas stream. In order to provide guidance as to the appropriate methods of determining the "cost of natural gas shrinkage" under such circumstances, the FEA has developed two formulae consistent with the ruling on Issue #1.

a. The following formula describes the appropriate method of determining the weighted average cost of shrinkage where inlet and outlet quantities are measured on comparable bases during the relevant time period (hereinafter referred to as the "inlet-outlet" method).

$$C_{wa}=\frac{(I-O)P}{I_{MCF}}$$

Where:

C_{wa} = The weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage.

I = The volume (MCF's) or BTU value of inlet gas, exclusive of any condensate (which is "crude oil" as that term is defined in § 212.31).

O = The volume (MCF's) or BTU value of outlet (residue) gas (including all quantities of residue gas utilized as lease fuel or as injection gas, but excluding all quantities of residue gas utilized as plant fuel).

P = The weighted average price per unit (MCF or BTU) for processed natural gas, as determined pursuant to the contracts in effect at the time for which the cost of natural gas shrinkage is being measured, and under which the processed natural gas is sold.

I_{MCF} = The volume in MCF's of the inlet gas, exclusive of any condensate (which is "crude oil" as that term is defined in § 212.31).

The inlet-outlet method should be used whenever the inlet and outlet gases are measured on the same basis during the relevant period. It is not necessary that the same units of measurement be used in both May 1973 and the month for which increased shrinkage cost is measured, however. Thus, the inlet-outlet method should be used when both inlet and outlet gases were measured in MCF's in May 1973 and both are measured in BTU's today, or vice-versa.

b. Where the amounts of inlet and outlet gas are measured on different bases during the same time period, it may not be possible, as in the case of Firm B, to convert the inlet and outlet amounts to the same unit of measurement. Under such circumstances, a different method of computation of cost of shrinkage (hereinafter referred to as the "conversion" method) should be used.

This procedure involves the conversion of the volume of the mixed stream of natural gas liquids or of each covered natural gas liquid product (propane, butane, and natural gasoline), and of ethane, from liquid volumetric measure (gallons) either to the equivalent gaseous volumetric measure (MCF's) or to BTU measurement, whichever is consistent with the price term of the contract under which the residue gas is sold. This is accomplished by the employment of a conversion factor for each product. Such factors may be found in a conversion table or may be determined by a chemical analysis of the stream.[2]

The MCF or BTU values for the covered natural gas liquid products are added together. The resultant aggregate MCF or BTU value of natural gas liquids and natural gas liquid products, plus the MCF or BTU value of any plant fuel, constitutes the measure of shrinkage.

The aggregate value thus derived may be substituted in the following formula for the calculation of the cost of natural gas shrinkage:

$$C_{wa}=\frac{V\times P}{I_{MCF}}$$

Where:

C_{wa} = The weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage.

V = The aggregate value in in MCF or BTU of the natural gas liquids, natural gas liquid products, ethane, and plant fuel extracted from the processed gas stream, determined by converting them to the unit of measurement by which the residue gas is sold, in accordance with the procedures discussed above.

P = The weighted average price per unit (MCF or BTU) for processed natural gas, as determined pursuant to the contracts in effect at the time for which the cost of natural gas shrinkage is being measured, and under which the processed natural gas is sold.

I_{MCF} = The volume in MCF's of the inlet gas, exclusive of any condensate (which is "crude oil" as that term is defined in § 212.31).

The contract terms in effect during the relevant period determine whether volume (MCF's) or BTU value is to be used to calculate each of the elements set forth in the numerators of the above formulae when determining the weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage during that period, in accordance with the definition of "cost of natural gas shrinkage" in § 212.162.

In calculating increased product costs, Subpart K provides that the increased cost of natural gas shrinkage portion of the total shall be > difference between the weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage per thousand cubic feet (MCF) of natural gas processed in the month of May 1973, and the weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage per thousand cubic feet (MCF) of natural gas processed in the current month, multiplied by the number of thousand cubic feet (MCF's) of natural gas processed in the current month. 10 CFR § 212.166(b)(2) (emphasis added).

The purpose of requiring a "weighted average" cost comparison is to provide a method by which firms which have chosen, pursuant to § 212.167(b), to aggregate the total amount of increased product costs respecting volumes of natural gas subject to differing sales contracts which are processed in one or more plants, may calculate a single amount representing the increased costs of natural gas shrinkage for the aggregate of volumes of natural gas processed. Accordingly, the above formulae provide the acceptable methods for the computation of a "weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage." Where the increased costs associated with several volumes of processed natural gas have been aggregated, the residue price which is used to determine the cost of natural gas shrinkage is a weighted average of all contract price terms under which the different volumes of processed natural gas are sold.

The foregoing methods of determining cost of shrinkage are applied with respect to Firms A and B to determine the amount of increased cost of shrinkage for August, 1975, in the above fact situations as follows:

Firm A. Firm A's shrinkage costs are determined by application of the inlet-outlet method. Since Firm A's actual price charged for residue gas during the May 1973 period was determined by reference to a fixed rate per MCF, even though Firm A's contract with Firm X permitted reference to either MCF or BTU content, MCF values must be used in calculating the "cost of natural gas shrinkage" for May 1973. In later periods the price terms of Firm A's contracts make reference to BTU content and this unit of measurement is appropriate for use. This illustrates the "cross-over" which arises in calculating increased cost of shrinkage on the basis of shrinkage amounts in different periods under different contracts.

In accordance with the Ruling on Issue #1, the outlet (residue) gas volume is reduced by the amount of residue gas utilized as plant fuel so that plant fuel is included in computing the weighted average cost of natural gas shrinkage.

[2] FEA is aware that a number of different conversion tables are used in the industry and that they are not identical. However, while the use of different tables may cause some variation in result, the range of deviation does not at this time appear to be significant. Since it is not possible at this time for FEA to identify and to approve a single conversion table for use, it shall be permissible to use any published conversion table which is generally accepted by petroleum engineers in the United States, provided that the table which is used is prominently identified in the calculations, and provided also that FEA shall have the right to review the use of particular conversion tables and to prohibit the use of any conversion table which it considers to be unacceptable.

Firm B. Although Firm B is a gas producer rather than a gas operator, it is entitled to pass through the increased cost of shrinkage since it has extracted the natural gas liquids from the natural gas stream.

Firm B's fact situation is an example of the instance where employment of the conversion method, rather than inlet-outlet method, should be used. Firm B has inlet readings only on a volumetric basis, and its sales contracts are in BTU values. To compute shrinkage, the values for natural gas liquid products and ethane are converted from liquid volumetric measurement (gal.) to BTU values. Increased cost of shrinkage is then calculated according to the standard method set forth above.

Allowed amounts include the BTU value of the covered natural gas liquid products, ethane, and plant fuel, but not lease fuel or injection gas.

proposed rules

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains notices to the public of the proposed issuance of rules and regulations. The purpose of these notices is to give interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rule making prior to the adoption of the final rules.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Aviation Administration

[14 CFR Part 71]

[Airspace Docket No. 75-GL-64]

ESTABLISHMENT OF VOR FEDERAL AIRWAY

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would establish V-493 from Menominee, Mich., to Rhinelander, Wis.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Great Lakes Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018. All communications received on or before January 2, 1976 will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Chief Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, AGC-24, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

The proposed amendment would establish an airway from Menominee direct to Rhinelander. This route is presently being used by a scheduled air carrier and its designation as an airway appears to be justified.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of Sec. 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)) and Sec. 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on November 25, 1975.

WILLIAM E. BROADWATER,
Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

[Docket No. H-004]

OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE TO LEAD

Extension of Time To File Comments on Proposed Rule; Corrections

1. Extension of time. On October 3, 1975, notice was published in the Federal Register (40 FR 45934) of a proposed occupational safety and health standard for exposure to lead pursuant to the authority in sections 6(b) and 8(c) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 15593, 1599; 29 U.S.C. 655, 657) and 29 CFR Part 1911. Interested persons were invited to submit data, views and arguments regarding the proposed standard and to file objections thereto, on or before December 2, 1975. In response to the notice, submisions have been received from several interested parties requesting additional time in which to file comments. Generally, the reasons given for the requests are that the issues raised by the proposed standard on lead are novel and complex and that affected parties are submitting comments on other recently published OSHA proposals as well. The requesting parties state that more time is essential in order to properly respond to the proposed standard on lead.

We find these requests and supporting rationale to have merit, and have decided to extend the period for the filing of comments and objections for approximately 45 additional days. Because of the need to prepare an inflationary impact statement and have it available for public comment in advance of any hearing, this extension of time will not unduly delay the standards-setting process. Therefore, notice is hereby given that the period for submitting written data, views, and arguments, as well as for the filing of objections and requests for an informal hearing on the proposed standard on lead, is extended from December 2, 1975 to January 16, 1976. As originally directed, such material must be submitted in quadruplicate to the Docket Officer, Docket H-004, U.S. Department of Labor, Room N-3620, 3rd and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20210 (Telephone 202/523-8076). The data, views, and arguments will be available for public inspection and copying at the above address. All written submissions received will be made a part of the record. In all other respects, the terms of the original notice remain in effect.

2. Corrections. In the proposed standard on lead (FR Doc. 75-26462) appearing at page 45934 in the FEDERAL REGISTER of Friday, October 3, 1975, the following corrections should be made:

In the first column of page 45942, references seven and eight are corrected to read as follows:

"7. Bleier, H. P.: Inorganic Lead: Biological Indices of Absorption (Biological Threshold Limit Values). National Conference on Occupational Lead and Arsenic Exposure, Chicago, Ill., (Feb. 24-25, 1975).

8. Culver, D.: Epidemiological Considerations of Occupational Lead Exposure. National Conference on Occupational Lead and Arsenic Exposure, Chicago, Ill., (February 24-25, 1975)."

(Secs. 6, 8, 84 Stat. 1593, 1599 (29 U.S.C. 655, 657) and 29 CFR Part 1911).

Signed in Washington, D.C., this 26th day of November, 1975.

[Docket No. H-026]

OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE TO TOLUENE

Extension of Time To File Comments on Proposed Rule; Corrections

1. Extension of time. On October 6, 1975, notice was published in the Federal Register (40 FR 46206) of a proposed occupational safety and health standard for exposure to toluene, pursuant to the authority in sections 6(b) and 8(c) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1593, 1599; 29 U.S.C. 655, 657) and 29 CFR Part 1911. Interested persons were given until December 5, 1975, to submit written data, views, and arguments regarding the proposed standard and to file objections thereto. In response to the notice, interested parties have submitted requests for an extension of the period within which to file comments. The basis for the requests is that the issues raised by the proposal are complex, that additional time is needed to compile relevant data and information regarding the proposed standard, and that affected parties are also submitting comments on other recently published OSHA proposals. The requesting parties state that additional time is necessary in order to submit appropriate comments on the proposed standard.

We find these requests and supporting rationale to have merit, and have decided to extend the period for the filing of comments and objections for approximately 45 additional days. Because of the need to prepare an inflationary impact statement, this extension of time will not unduly delay the standards-setting process. Therefore, notice is hereby given that the period for submitting written data, views and arguments, as well as for the filing of objections and requests for an informal hearing on the proposed standard on toluene, is extended from December 5, 1975 to January 20, 1976. As originally directed, such material must be submitted in quadruplicate to the Docket Officer, Docket H-026, U.S. Department of Labor, Room N-3620, 3rd and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210 (Telephone 202/523-8076). The data, views, and arguments will be available for public inspection and copying at the above address. All written submissions received will be made a part of the record. In all other respects, the terms of the original notice remain in effect.

2. Corrections: In FR Doc. 75-26463, appearing in the issue of October 6, 1975, it is necessary to make the following corrections:

1. On page 46206, in the first column, line 12 of the first paragraph, the proposed toluene standard is designated as 29 CFR § 1910.1043, instead of 29 CFR § 1910.1029.

2. On page 46209, in the third column, in the quoted material following paragraph 2, the first word is corrected from "Some" to "(s)ome," and the last word in the quotation should read "analysis" instead of "judgments."

3. On page 46210, in the first column, the first paragraph is corrected to read:

Where appropriate, the standards are required to include provisions for labels or other forms of warning to apprise employees of hazards, suitable protective equipment, control procedures, monitoring and measuring of employee exposure, employee access to the results of monitoring, and appropriate medical examinations or other tests. Where medical examinations and other tests are appropriate, they must be made available at no cost to the employee. [Section 6(b)(7)] Standards may also prescribe recordkeeping requirements where necessary for appropriate enforcement of the Act or for developing information regarding occupational accidents and illnesses [Section 8(c)].

4. On page 46210, in the third column, paragraph 2, the first sentence is corrected to read: "OSHA has statistically determined that at any measurement exposure level below the permissible limit, some possibility exists that on unmeasured days the employee may be exposed over the permissible limit."

5. On page 46214, in column 3, the introduction and heading for proposed amendment 2 is corrected to read "§ 1910.1943" instead of "§ 1910.1029".

6. On page 46215, in column 3, proposed paragraphs (f)(1)(iv), (f)(1)(v), and (f)(1)(vi) are corrected so that they are designated as paragraphs (f)(1)(iv)(A), (f)(1)(iv)(B), and (f)(1)(v), respectively.

7. On page 46217, in the third column, line 2 of paragraph (o)(1)(ii) is corrected to read "One year" instead of "two years".

8. On page 46219, in paragraph II of Appendix C, the second sentence is corrected to read as follows: Eye contact or prolonged skin contact with liquid toluene can cause eye and skin irritation.

9. On page 46219, in paragraph VI of Appendix C, the last paragraph should be designated as "B. Periodic examinations", instead of "C. Periodic examinations:" and the second sentence of paragraph VI (B) should read as follows: These should include as a minimum a urinalysis, CBC, and a pulmonary function test.

(Secs. 6, 8, 84, Stat. 1593, 1599 (29 U.S.C. 655, 657) and 29 CFR Part 1911).

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 26th day of November, 1975.

TOXIC SUBSTANCES

Extension of Time To File Comments; Period for Filing Objections and Corrections

In the matter of proposed standards for Alkyl Benzenes (p-tert-butyltoluene, cumene, ethyl benzene, alpha-methyl styrene, styreme, and vinyl toluene); cyclohexane; Ketones (camphor, mesityl oxide, and 5-methyl-3-heptanone); and Ozone.

On Wednesday, October 8, 1975 notice was published in the Federal Register (40 FR 47262) of proposed standards for eleven toxic substances (alkyl benzenes, cyclohexane, ketones, and ozone) pursuant to the authority in sections 6(b) and 8(c) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1593, 1599; 29 U.S.C. 655, 657), and 29 CFR Part 1911. The proposed standards were developed as part of the Joint OSHA/NIOSH Standards Completion Project.

A. Interested persons were invited to submit data, views and arguments regarding the proposed standards on or before December 1, 1975. In response to the notice, submissions have been received from several interested parties requesting additional time in which to file comments. Generally, the reasons given for the requests are that the issues raised by the proposed standards are novel and complex and that affected parties are submitting comments on other recently published OSHA proposals as well. The requesting parties state that more time is necessary to properly respond to the proposed standards on toxic substances.

We find these requests and supporting rationale to have merit, and have decided to extend the period for the filing of comments for approximately 45 additional days. Because of the need to prepare inflationary impact statements and have them available for public comment in advance of any hearing, this extension of time will not unduly delay the standard-setting process. Therefore, notice is hereby given that the period for submitting written data, views, and arguments, is extended from December 1, 1975 to January 15, 1976. As originally directed, such material must be submitted in quadruplicate to the Docket Officer, Docket SCP-2, U.S. Department of Labor, Room N-3620, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210 (Telephone No. 202/423-8076). The data, views, and arguments will be available for public inspection and copying at the above address. All written submissions received will be made a part of the record. In all other respects, the terms of the original notice remain in effect.

B. Pursuant to 29 CFR 1911.11(b) and (c), interested persons may, in addition to filing written matter as provided above, file objections to these proposals, requesting an informal hearing with respect thereto in accordance with the following conditions:

(1) the objections must include the name and address of the objector;

(2) The objections must be postmarked on or before January 15, 1976;

(3) The objections must specify with particularity the provision of the proposed rules to which objection is taken, and must state the grounds therefor;

(4) Each objection must be separately stated and numbered; and

(5) The objections must be accompanied by a summary of the evidence proposed to be adduced at the requested hearing.

All objections should be submitted to the address given above for the submission of comments.

C. In the proposed standards on toxic substances (FR Doc. 75-26461) beginning at page 47262 in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 8, 1975, the following corrections are made:

1. On page 47262, column 2, line 3 of the second paragraph from the bottom by correcting the CAS Registry Number for ethyl benzene from "100-42-5" to "100-41-4."

2. On page 47263, column 1, line 5 of the second full paragraph, is corrected by adding, after "CAS Registry Number 464-49-3," the following "(natural) 76-22-2 (synthetic)".

3. On page 47263, column 2, second line, the CAS Registry Number is corrected from "541-85-8" to "541-85-5".

4. On page 47263, column 2, first paragraph is corrected by changing "§ 1010.-1000" to "§ 1910.1000".

5. On page 47265, column 1, line 2 of the third full paragraph, the term "NIOSH-MESA" is corrected to read "NIOSH or MESA".

6. On page 47266, column 2, line 7 of the second full paragraph from the bottom, the word "serve" is corrected to read "observe".

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

7. On page 47277, column 1, line 4 is corrected to add "(a)(4)," after "(a)(2),".

8. On page 47280, column 3, line 2 of the first full paragraph, is corrected by changing "alphamethyl" to "alpha-methyl".

9. On page 47284, column 1, line 6 of the first full paragraph in § 1910.1036, is corrected to add "(TWA)" after "(time weighted average)".

10. On page 47289, column 2, line 2 of the third full paragraph from the bottom, is corrected by changing "§ 190.178" to read "§ 1910.178".

11. On page 47301, column 1, line 4 of the third full paragraph, is corrected by changing "as or above" to read "at or above".

12. On page 47310, column 2, line one of the second full paragraph from the bottom, is corrected by changing "the ensure" to read "to ensure."

NEW SOURCE NPDES PERMITS, PREPARATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENTS

Extension of Comment Period

This notice extends the closing date for comments on the proposed Regulations for the Preparation of Environmental Impact Statements for New Source NPDES Permit issuance (40 FR 47714, October 9, 1975).

Requests for an extension of time were submitted by several persons having an interest in commenting. They argue that additional time is needed to review the notice in sufficient detail to provide meaningful comments.

In view of the requests, the Environmental Protection Agency has determined it is in the public interest that the period for comments on the proposed regulation be extended until December 19, 1975.

CABLE TELEVISION SYSTEM

Order Regarding Extension of Time

In the matter of amendment of part 76 of the Commission's rules and regulations with respect to the definition of a cable television system and the creation of classes of cable systems.

1. The Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., has requested an extension of time to file reply comments in the captioned proceeding from November 28, 1975 to January 15, 1976 on the grounds that the proceedings is particularly complex and has far-reaching consequences, that the comments filed are lengthy and detailed, and that the additional time is necessary to analyze these comments.

2. In view of the complexity of this proceeding and the quantity of comments filed it appears that good cause exists for a time extension of approximately three weeks. Although this is less than the full extension requested it should provide adequate time for the preparation of reply comments.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the date for filing reply comments in the captioned proceeding is extended to December 19, 1975.

This action is taken by the Chief, Cable Television Bureau pursuant to authority delegated by § 0.288(a) of the Commission's Rules.

Adopted: November 20, 1975.

Released: November 24, 1975.

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

[13 CFR Part 121]

SMALL BUSINESS SIZE STANDARDS

Definition of Term "Number of Employees"

Many of the Small Business Administration's definitions of small business are limitations on the "number of employees" that a concern may have in order to qualify as a small business.

Paragraph 121.3-2(t) of the Small Business Size Standards Regulation (Part 121, Chapter 1, Title 13 of the Code of Federal Regulations) provides the method for determining a concern's "number of employees". It reads as follows:

(t) "number of employees" means the average employment of any concern, including the employees of its domestic and foreign affiliates, based on the number of persons employed on a full-time, part-time, temporary, or other basis during the pay period ending nearest the last day of the third month in each calendar quarter for the preceding four quarters. If a concern has not been in existence for four full calendar quarters, "number of employees" means the average employment of such concern and its affiliates during the period such concern has been in existence based on the number of persons employed during the pay period ending nearest the last day of each month. If a concern has acquired an affiliate during the applicable accounting period it is necessary, in computing the applicant's number of employees, to include the affiliates number of employees during the entire applicable accounting period rather than only its employees during the period in which it has been an affiliate. The employees of a former affiliate are not included even if such concern had been an affiliate during a portion of the applicable accounting period.

Pursuant to the above definition, a concern's "number of employees" is calculated by averaging the number of employees on only four of its payrolls in the most recently completed four calendar quarters. Recently, it came to our attention that under such circumstances a concern could defeat the intent of the regulation by temporarily dismissing employees so that they will not appear on one or more of the four payrolls utilized, and then rehiring them after the pertinent payroll periods have passed.

In order to prevent this unacceptable procedure, we propose to amend the regulation to provide that a concern's "number of employees" means the average employment of the concern based on the number of persons employed on a full-time, part-time, temporary or other basis during each of the pay periods of the preceding 12 months, provided, however, that, if the concern has been in business less than 12 months, the average shall be based on the number of persons employed in each of the pay periods of the period that such concern has been in business.

Accordingly, it is proposed to revise § 121.3-2(t) to read as follows:

§ 121.3-2 Definition of terms used in this part.

* * * * *

(t) "Number of employees" means the average employment of any concern, including the employees of its domestic and foreign affiliates, based on the number of persons employed on a full-time, part-time, temporary, or other basis during each of the pay periods of the preceding 12 months. Provided, however, if for the purpose of determining a concern's eligibility for financial assistance under a Small Business Administration program, it is determined that a concern's employment in its most recently completed calendar quarter is at least 25 percent lower than its employment in the corresponding quarter in the preceding calendar year and that such reduction in employment was primarily due to the shortage of energy or materials its "number of employees" for size determination purposes shall be determined by reducing its average employment for the preceding 12 months by the determined percentile. If a concern has not been in existence for 12 months, "number of employees" means the average employment of such concern and its affiliates during the period of such concern has been in existence based on the number of persons employed during each of the pay periods of the period that such concern has been in business. If a concern has acquired an affiliate during the applicable accounting period, it is necessary, in computing the applicant's number of employees, to include the affiliate's number of employees during the entire applicable accounting period rather than only its employees during the period in which it has been an affiliate. The employees of a former affiliate are not included even if such concern had been an affiliate during a portion of the applicable accounting period.

Interested parties may file with the Small Business Administration on or before January 2, 1976 written statements of facts, opinions, or arguments concerning the proposal. All correspondence shall be addressed to:

Granting of Relief

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to 18 U.S.C. Section 925(c), the following named persons have been granted relief from disabilities imposed by Federal laws with respect to the acquisition, transfer, receipt, shipment, or possession of firearms incurred by reason of their convictions of crimes punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

It has been established to my satisfaction that the circumstances regarding the convictions and each applicant's record and reputation are such that the applicants will not be likely to act in a manner dangerous to public safety, and that the granting of the relief will not be dangerous to the public interest.

Department of the Army

CIVIL WORKS ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Establishment, Organization and Functions

In accordance with the provisions of Public Law 92-463, Federal Advisory Committee Act, notice is hereby given that the Civil Works Advisory Committee has been found to be in the public interest in connection with the performance of duties imposed on the Department of Defense by law. The Office of Management and Budget has also reviewed the justification for this advisory committee and concurs with its establishment. The nature and purpose of the Civil Works Advisory Committee is to advise the Secretary of the Army on ways to improve the Civil Works Program of the Corps of Engineers. Specifically, it will advise how the Corps of Engineers can shorten the time span from project inception to project completion by developing an approach to early identification of those civil works projects which are feasible, economically and environmentally sound, and have public support for early funding. The goal of the recommendations of the Committee will be to provide better efficiency and less cost in the administration of the Civil Works Program and better responsiveness to public concerns; thereby, it is in the public interest that the Committee be established.

The Committee will meet three to six times during its existence, at times convenient to the majority of the members.

To obtain balanced membership, the Committee will be composed of thirteen members selected from government, education, and the civilian business community. Members will represent a variety of disciplines (education, engineering, consulting, environmental protection, construction, retail sales, management and law). Members will be selected on the basis of their expressed interest in the project and their qualifications and will serve for a period not to exceed 12 months.

The Civil Works Advisory Committee will terminate 12 months from this date unless terminated sooner. There are no existing committees which will duplicate the functions of this Committee.

The Civil Works Advisory Committee will operate in complete accordance with P.L. 92-463, the "Federal Advisory Committee Act."

Dated: November 26, 1975.

[Docket No. M 76-27]

PENN ALLEIGH COAL CO., INC.

Petition for Modification of Application of Mandatory Safety Standard

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of section 301 (c) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969, 30 U.S.C. 861(c) (1970), Penn Alleigh Coal Co., Inc., has filed a petition to modify the application of 30 CFR 75.1710-1(a) to its Allegheny No. 2 Mine located in Allegheny and Butler Counties, Pennsylvania.

30 CFR 75.1710-1(a) provides:

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (f) of this section, all self-propelled electric face equipment, including shuttle cars, which is employed in the active workings of each underground coal mine on and after January 1, 1973, shall, in accordance with the schedule of time specified in subparagraphs (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), and (6) of this paragraph (a), be equipped with substantially constructed canopies or cabs, located and installed in such a manner that when the operator is at the operating controls of such equipment he shall be protected from falls of roof, face, or rib, or from rib and face rolls. The requirements of this paragraph (a) shall be met as follows:

(1) On and after January 1, 1974, in coal mines having mining heights of 72 inches or more;

(2) On and after July 1, 1974, in coal mines having mining heights of 60 inches or more, but less than 72 inches;

(3) On and after January 1, 1975, in coal mines having mining heights of 48 inches or more, but less than 60 inches;

(4) On and after July 1, 1975, in coal mines having mining heights of 36 inches or more, but less than 48 inches;

(5) On and after January 1, 1976, in coal mines having mining heights of 36 inches or more, but less than 48 inches;

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(6) On and after July 1, 1976, in coal mines having mining heights of less than 24 inches.

In support of its petition, Petitioner states:

1. Petitioner respectfully requests the modification of the application of the mandatory safety standard 30 CFR 75.1710–1(a) with respect to the subject mine for the reason that the application of such standard will result in a diminution of safety to the miners.

2. Petitioner avers that technology does not presently exist to enable it to equip its self-propelled electric face equipment with suitable canopies to protect and provide for the safety of the operators of said equipment. Petitioner further avers that based upon its recent experience with presently available canopies, the use of these canopies results in a diminution of safety to the miners in said mines. Petitioner's experience indicated the following:

(a) While canopies of the type specified had the necessary height clearance most of the time during mining under normal conditions, the necessary clearance diminished to zero when either the bottom or the full seam undulated or when rolls in the coal seam were encountered. Several canopies were torn off when they became wedged against the roof. While in such instances the operators of the equipment quite miraculously escaped harm, the further use of these canopies inevitably will cause injuries to the operators.

(b) When operating with the available canopies, the operator's vision is severely impaired to the point that operation of the equipment becomes hazardous to the operator and to all other persons in the working area.

(c) Due to the combination of the severely limited vision and close confinement in the cab, appendages of the operator's body, such as his head or feet, hang out in such manner that they are in jeopardy of being crushed between the equipment and the coal rib. In one instance the head of an operator became pinched between the equipment and the coal rib.

(d) Ingress to and egress from the cab is so limited that the operator is held capitive, and cannot escape when the action of the roof clearly would warrant such retreat.

(e) Because of close confinement in the cabs and severely limited ingress to and egress from the cab under the canopies, operators repeatedly attempt to manipulate the controls from outside the equipment while standing between the equipment and the rib, thus incurring the risk of being crushed.

(f) In case of machine malfunction, cable damage, or power failure of any kind, the operators of the equipment may be held captive by the canopies for an indefinite period, depending on the circumstances.

(g) The operators of this type of equipment are under fully supported roof at all times provided by an approved full-roof bolting plan. Such roof support is deemed satisfactory for all other personnel in the mine, including the helpers on self-propelled electric face equipment, such as the continuous miner and the bolter. The helpers and other supporting personnel freely move around adjacent to the equipment under the protection of the proper roof support. Hence the addition of canopies of the type presently available rather than providing additional safety for the operators, introduces an instrument capable of inflicting serious bodily harm or death when the necessary clearance is reduced to zero.

3. Petitioner avers that the subject mine has not experienced roof falls in the face area nor rib and face rolls, that secondary mining is rarely practiced and that no more than 60 percent to 65 percent of the recoverable coal is removed, leaving the balance for support.

4. Petitioner avers that with respect to low-ceiling mines, the use of currently available canopies with mobile electrical face equipment severely diminishes rather than increases the overall safety of the miners.

Persons interested in this petition may request a hearing on the petition or furnish comments on or before January 2, 1976. Such requests or comments must be filed with the Office of Hearings and Appeals, Hearings Division, U.S. Department of the Interior, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia 22203. Copies of the petition are available for inspection at that address.

Director,

RUSHTON MINING CO.

Petition for Modification of Application of Mandatory Safety Standard

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of section 301(c) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969, 30 U.S.C. 861(c) (1970), Rushton Mining Company has filed a petition to modify the application of 30 CFR 75.1710 to its Rushton Mine, Philipsburg, Pennsylvania.

30 CFR 75.1710 provides:

An authorized representative of the Secretary may require in any coal mine where the height of the coalbed permits that electric face equipment, including shuttle cars, be provided with substantially constructed canopies, or cabs, to protect the miners operating such equipment from roof falls and from rib and face rolls.

In support of its petition, Petitioner states:

1. Petitioner contacted the manufacturer of its roof bolting equipment and purchased from said manufacturer canopies accepted by the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration which canopies were duly installed and utilized by the work force.

2. Subsequent to the installation of these canopies, the operators attempted to utilize the equipment and were unable to do so because the equipment, due to the position of the canopy, was unable to be moved and as a result the roof bolter operators refused to continue work.

3. Attempts to modify the canopies so as to comply with the appropriate regulations created additional hazards to the miners and resulted in the diminution of safety.

4. The inherent danger which arose as a result of these attempts to modify the canopies necessitated their removal.

As a result of conferences held with MESA officials, the canopies were removed and an extension of time was granted in which to provide a workable alternative.

5. At present, Petitioner is unaware of any proposed commercial manufactured canopy which could be installed and utilized by the workers which would provide the same degree of safety to the miners as the complete removal of the canopy would insure.

6. The operation of the roof bolting equipment without the canopy will afford the same measure of protection to the miners as would be afforded by compliance with the standard and said use would, in fact, increase the measure of protection and diminish the possibility of injury by utilization of the protective canopy.

Persons interested in this petition may request a hearing on the petition or furnish comments on or before January 2, 1976. Such requests or comments must be filed with the Office of Hearings and Appeals, Hearings Division, U.S. Department of the Interior, 4015 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia 22203. Copies of the petition are available for inspection at that address.

TESONE COAL CO.

Petition for Modification of Application of Mandatory Safety Standard

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of section 301(c) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969, 30 U.S.C. 861(c) (1970), Tesone Coal Company has filed a petition to modify the application of 30 CFR 75.1710–1(a) to its Nan-Lee Mine located in Armstrong County, Pennsylvania.

30 CFR 75.1710–1(a) provides:

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (f) of this setcion, all self-propelled electric face equipment, including shuttle cars, which is employed in the active workings of each underground coal mine on and after January 1, 1973, shall, in accordance with the schedule of time specified in subparagraphs (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), and (6) of this paragraph (a), be equipped with substantially constructed canopies or cabs, located and installed in such a manner that when the operator is at the operating controls of such equipment he shall be protected from falls of roof, face, or rib, or from rib and face rolls. The requirements of this paragraph (a) shall be met as follows:

(1) On and after January 1, 1974, in coal mines having mining heights of 72 inches or more;

(2) On and after July 1, 1974, in coal mines having mining heights of 60 inches or more, but less than 72 inches;

(3) On and after January 1, 1975, in coal mines having mining heights of 48 inches or more, but less than 60 inches;

(4) On and after July 1, 1975, in coal mines having mining heights of 36 inches or more, but less than 48 inches;

PROPOSED MINNESOTA MEMORIAL HARDWOOD FOREST

Availability of Final Environmental Statement

Pursuant to Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the Department of the Interior has prepared a final environmental statement for the proposed Minnesota Memorial Hardwood Forest Acquisition project. Notice of Availability of the draft environmental statement inviting comments was announced in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 29, 1974 (DES 74-91).

The environmental statement considers the acquisition of approximately 200,000 acres over a 30-year period to add to the Memorial Hardwood Forest located 20 miles southeast of Minneapolis-St. Paul. The first 10-year phase of acquisition includes 70,000 acres. The land would be managed to provide for multi-use purposes and serve as a model for surrounding landowners. Intensive forest management would improve forest quality and wildlife habitat and create jobs. Development would be the minimum necessary to provide forest recreational opportunities and visitor access. Adverse effects of the action would be partial loss of tax base, relocation of families, minimal short-term erosion, and an expected increase in visitors and traffic. The project will serve regional and interstate recreational needs.

Copies are available for inspection at the following locations:

Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Lake Central Region, 3853 Research Park Drive, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48104.

PROPOSED LAKE WOODRUFF WILDERNESS AREA

Availability of Final Environmental Statement

Pursuant to Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, Public Law 91-190, the Department of the Interior has prepared a final environmental statement for the Proposed Lake Woodruff Wilderness Area, Volusia and Lake Counties in east central Florida.

The proposal recommends that 958 acres of island habitat in the Lake Woodruff National Wildlife Refuge located in Volusia and Lake Counties in east central Florida be designated as wilderness within the National Wilderness Preservation System.

Copies of the final statement are available for inspection at the following locations:

Regional Director, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 17 Executive Park Drive, N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30329.
Refuge Manager, Lake Woodruff National Wildlife Refuge, Box 488, DeLeon Springs, Florida 32028

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Farmers Home Administration

[Notice of Designation Number A269]

MARYLAND

Designation of Emergency Areas

The Secretary of Agriculture has determined that farming, ranching, or aquaculture operations have been substantially affected in St. Marys County, Maryland, as a result of excessive rainfall, flooding, windstorm and hailstorm which occurred during the period of July 2 through July 17, 1975.

Therefore, the Secretary has designated this area as eligible for Emergency loans pursuant to the provisions of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended by Pub. L. 94-68, and the provisions of 7 CFR 1832.3(b) including the recommendation of Governor Marvin Mandel that such designation be made.

Applications for Emergency loans must be received by this Department no later than January 19, 1976, for physical losses and August 18, 1976, for production losses, except that qualified borrowers who receive initial loans pursuant to this designation may be eligible for subsequent loans. The urgency of the need for loans in the designated area makes it impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give advance notice of proposed rule making and invite public participation.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 25th day of November, 1975.

FRANK W. NAYLOR, JR.,
Acting Administrator Farmers Home Administration.

MAYSVILLE STOCK YARDS, ET AL.

Deposting of Facilities; Correction

On November 14, 1975, a notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 53050) relative to the deposting of certain stockyard facilities found no longer to come within the definition of a stockyard under the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U.S.C. 181 et seq.). Through error the name of Maplehurst Livestock Market, Hinsdale, New York, posted on August 6, 1960, under Stockyard Facility number NY-122, was listed in this notice.

It has been ascertained that the stockyard mentioned herein is continuing its operations as a stockyard as that term is defined in the Act and that the name of this stockyard should be stricken from the Depositing of Stockyards notice as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 14, 1975, (40 FR 53050). The Maplehurst Livestock Market, Hinsdale, New York, will continue subject to the provisions of the Act as a posted stockyard until further notice is published depositing this facility.

Done at Washington, D.C. this 25th day of November, 1975.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Center for Disease Control

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH

Request for Information on Certain Chemical Agents

Section 20(a)(3) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 669(a)(3)) provides that the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, on the basis of information available to him, shall develop criteria dealing with toxic materials which will describe exposure levels that are safe for various periods of employment. Section 22(c) of the Act authorizes the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) to develop recommended occupational safety and health standards and to perform all functions of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, under sections 20 and 21 of the Act. NIOSH is proposing to develop criteria documents and recommended occupational health standards on the following substances:

1. Carbon Disulfide.
2. Octanes.
3. Butanes.
4. Hexanes.
5. Pentanes.
6. Kerosene.
7. Stoddard Solvent.
8. Petroleum Naphtha.
9. Mineral Spirits.
10. Nickel and Its Inorganic Compounds. (Including Nickel Carbonyl)

Each criteria document will include among other items an evaluation of available information relative to the areas listed below.

Any person having information or data in any of the areas listed below, or in other areas considered relevant to the establishment of a safe and healthful occupational environment involving these substances is requested to submit such information, with accompanying documentation to Director, Office of Research and Standards Development, NIOSH, 5600 Fishers Lane, Park Building, Room 3-18, Rockville, MD 20852 within 90 days.

1. Establishment of safe occupational environment levels for such agents including levels for acute and chronic exposure to airborne concentrations of the chemical agents as well as safe practices concerning direct contact with such agents.

2. Establishment of biologic standards, i.e., the levels of such agents, metabolites, or other effects of exposure which may be present within man without his suffering ill effects taking into consideration (a) the correlation of airborne concentrations of, and extent of exposure to such substances with effects on specific biological systems of man such as the circulatory, respiratory, urinary, and nervous system, and (b) the analytical methods for determining the amount of the substance which may be present within man.

3. Engineering controls, including ventilation, environmental temperature, humidity, and housekeeping and sanitation procedures, with attention to the technological feasibility of such controls.

4. Specifications for the condition under which personal protective devices should be required.

5. Methodology, including instrumentation, for air sampling and sample analysis of chemical agents and methodology for measuring levels of exposure to physical agents.

6. The need for medical examinations for workers exposed to such agents, the frequency of such examinations, and the specific diagnostic tests which should be used and the rationale of their selection.

7. Work practices or procedures which may be instituted for control of the workplace environment in normal operations and those which may be instituted when environmental levels are temporarily exceeded or where peak concentrations of chemical agents in man are reached.

8. The types of records concerning occupational exposure to such agents that employers should be required to maintain.

9. Warning devices and labels which should be required for the prevention of occupational diseases and hazards caused by such agents.

All information received concerning these substances will be available for public inspection after the development of the respective criteria document.

JOHN F. FINKLEA,
Director, National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health.

OFFICE OF SAFETY MANAGEMENT

"SEC. 1T80.20 Functions.—A. Office of the Director. The Office of the Director (OFEPM) shall be responsible for:

"1. Office of the Director. a. Administration and supervision of all OFEPM activities and personnel resources.

"b. Review of principal operating components and staff office architectural and engineering manpower budgetary requirements for recommendations to the Office of the Secretary in relation to the Department's manpower utilization program.

"c. In conjunction with Department principal operating components and staff offices, justifying the architectural/engineering and related technical aspects of annual budget submittals for the acquisition, construction, utilization, operation, and maintenance, repair and improvement, and disposal of Department facilities before the Office of Management and Budget and Congress.

"2. Policy Development Staff. a. Defining and implementing policies and procedures, and coordinating their development with the principal operating components and staff offices, and other Federal departments and agencies.

"b. Advising the Director on congressional inquiries and other legislative matters affecting OFEPM.

"c. Serving as the focal point with OFEPM for development of grant program policy and procedures and for direct Federal contracting matters regarding architectural/engineering and construction services.

"d. Developing policies, procedures, and regulations for the Department-wide implementation of the Uniform Relocation Act, Public Law 91-646.

"e. Serving as liaison with the Department's Office of General Counsel in the development and application of such policies and procedures.

"f. Developing and recommending policies and procedures, to the Office of Grants and Procurement Management, for DHEW-wide use in contracting for direct Federal architectural/engineering and construction services, and providing related operational and technical guidance and surveillance.

"3. Administrative Staff. Developing OFEPM administrative practices and procedures and annual operating budgets; personnel administration; control and editing of correspondence and publications; control of supply, space allocation, and travel funds; managing files and security controls; establishing and maintaining a resource materials library; and performing other administrative functions as may be necessary.

"4. Metropolitan Engineering Staff. The Metropolitan Engineering Staff is responsible for the following direct Federal activities in headquarters facilities in the Washington-Baltimore metropolitan area:

a. Maintenance and Operations Section.

i. Coordinating the delivery of architectural/engineering services in support of alteration, repair, and minor construction in DHEW-owned and occupied space.

ii. Providing technical assistance on the environmental quality matters associated with the design, construction, and operation of DHEW facilities.

iii. Performing predesign site utilization analysis and providing technical assistance for the site selection team.

iv. Reviewing and coordinating with GSA, job orders for repair, modification, and services for headquarters facilities, including the development of procedures for building equipment operation.

v. Providing liaison with GSA for maintenance and operation of building utilities and equipment, and cleaning and custodial services for headquarters facilities, including building services to concessionaires, credit unions and employee associations.

vi. Providing technical assistance in the performance of inspections of facilities to determine compliance with life/fire safety requirements.

vii. Performing facilities condition surveys to identify deficiencies and determine necessary maintenance and repair actions.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority

Part 4 of the Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare contains the Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority for the Social Security Administration (SSA). Sections 4–05–00 through 4–05–20 of the SSA Statement (40 FR 4476–77, dated January 30, 1975) describe the Mission, Organization, Order of Succession, and Functions for SSA's Office of Program Operations (OPO). These sections are hereby amended and restated to reflect changes in OPO's Statements of Mission, Organization, Order of Succession, and Functions; establishment of the position of Deputy Associate Commissioner for Program Operations; modifications in the Immediate Office of the Associate Commissioner for Program Operations; establishment of Headquarters staff components; abolishment of the Bureau of Field Operations; and retitling of OPO's program centers as "SSA program service centers." Also reflected is a reorganization of the Office of the Regional Commissioner which provides for abolishing the Office of the Regional Representative, Disability Insurance; the Office of the Regional Representative, Retirement and Survivors Insurance; the Office of the Regional Planning Officer, Supplemental Security Income; and the Office of the Regional Representative, Field Operations. Reorganization of the Office of the Regional Commissioner includes the establishment of the Office of the Assistant Regional Commissioner, Disability Insurance; Office of the Assistant Regional Commissioner, Retirement and Survivors Insurance; Office of the Assistant Regional Commissioner, Supplemental Security Income; Office of the Assistant Regional Commissioner, Field Operations; and regional staff organizations. The revised OPO material reads as follows:

Sec. 4–05–00 Office of Program Operations—(Mission). The Office of Program Operations (OPO) provides executive direction and coordination to all aspects of SSA's cash benefit program operations. It provides line direction to a nationwide field organization of ten regional offices, six SSA program service centers and over 1,300 local offices. The Office also directs four Headquarters bureaus responsible for retirement and survivors insurance operations; disability insurance operations; supplemental security income operations; and data processing. OPO implements policy decisions and directives through development and issuance of procedures and program instructions for cash benefit operations. It plans and directs procedural, systems, and direct management support activities. OPO assures that regional offices provide effective leadership to field operations, relationships with States, and implementation of the SSA public affairs programs. The Office is responsible for evaluating the operational effectiveness of all of the above activities.

Sec. 4–05–10 Office of Program Operations—(Organization). The Office of Program Operations, under the leadership of the Associate Commissioner for Program Operations, consists of the:

A. Associate Commissioner for Program Operations.
B. Deputy Associate Commissioner for Program Operations.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority

Part 4 of the Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare contains the Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority for the Social Security Administration (SSA). Sections 4-04-00 through 4-04-20 of the SSA Statement (40 FR 4476 dated January 30, 1975) describe the Mission, Organization, Order of Succession and Functions for SSA's Office of External Affairs (OEA). These sections are hereby amended and restated in their entirety to reflect changes in OEA's mission statement, order of succession and existing component functional statements; to incorporation information concerning the addition of three new OEA components—the Office of Intergovernmental Relations and Public Concerns, the Congressional Relations Staff, and the Press Office; and to indicate that OEA's former Office of Public Affairs is being retitled as the Office of Information. The revised OEA material reads as follows:

Section 4-04-00 Office of External Affairs—(Mission). The Office of External Affairs (OEA) plans, coordinates and evaluates SSA's nationwide program for effective interaction with the public, Congress, the press, international social security organizations and foreign social security systems, other Federal agencies, State agencies, and community and private organizations, regarding SSA-administered programs and related programs and services. It provides SSA representation and participation in organized planning for social services. OEA develops programs and materials to assure public knowledge and understanding of protections, rights and responsibilities under programs administered by SSA. The Office identifies and assesses problems in public acceptance of SSA programs and administration, serving as the advocate of public concerns within SSA. It receives, analyzes and controls high priority inquiries and conducts an ongoing quality appraisal of written responses to public inquiries prepared throughout SSA. It assures SSA adherence to the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act.

Section 4-04-10 Office of External Affairs—(Organization). The Office of External Affairs, under the leadership of the Associate Commissioner for External Affairs, consists of the:

A. Associate Commissioner for External Affairs.
B. Immediate Office of the Associate Commissioner for External Affairs.
C. Office of Intergovernmental Relations and Public Concerns.
D. Congressional Relations Staff.
E. Press Office.
F. Office of Information.
G. Office of Public Inquiries.

Section 4-04-20 Office of External Affairs—(Functions). A.1. The Associate Commissioner for External Affairs is directly responsible to the Commissioner of Social Security for performance of OEA's mission and provides general supervision to the principal components of OEA.

2. In the event that the Associate Commissioner for External Affairs is absent or disabled, the Director of the Office of Intergovernmental Relations and Public Concerns shall serve as acting head of the Office of External Affairs.

3. Should the position of Associate Commissioner for External Affairs become vacant, an SSA official designated by the Commissioner of Social Security shall serve as acting head of the Office of External Affairs.

B. The Immediate Office of the Associate Commissioner for External Affairs assists the Associate Commissioner in the performance of his responsibilities and handles such other assignments as he may prescribe.

C. The Office of Intergovernmental Relations and Public Concerns: 1. Plans, conducts and coordinates SSA's interactions with outside public and private organizations at the national, international, State and local levels; coordinates SSA representation or represents it in national level negotiations and deliberations with government agencies, social and community service agencies, organizations, and advisory groups; and assures appropriate SSA representation at high level conferences and seminars in both the public and private sectors.

2. Assesses public acceptance of SSA programs and administration, and serves as the advocate within SSA of public concerns regarding such matters.

3. Identifies the needs of SSA's constituency for resources and services other than those provided by SSA programs, and directs a nationwide program of SSA representation and participation in organized planning for social services.

4. Provides national guidelines and standards for SSA's information and referral activities.

5. Coordinates relationships between SSA and international organizations concerned with social security matters; foreign social security systems, and the Department of State and other agencies involved in international affairs; participates in the formulation and implementation of U.S. policy relating to international social security matters; and provides training and orientation in social security and allied fields to officials of foreign social security systems and other foreign visitors; consults and coordinates with OS/OIAM on international matters of interest to the Department and on policy matters involving the State Department or other U.S. Government agencies; coordinates as appropriate with the Office of Research and Statistics, identifying issues and trends arising in SSA's international affairs activities which call for research.

D. Congressional Relations Staff: 1. Has agency-wide responsibility for the provision of support services to individual Members of Congress and their staffs, including case work pertaining to SSA claimants and beneficiaries. This responsibility may be delegated to operating headquarters and field units.

2. Is responsible for the fulfillment, on an agency-wide basis, of the agency's general policy for quick and responsive answers to inquiries and questions raised by individual Members of Congress and for the solution to special problems and issues drawn by individual Members of Congress.

3. Specifically responsible for keeping the Congress generally informed concerning SSA operations and activities, including the coordination of all congressional reports (except those dealing with legislation pending before Congress or under consideration by a legislative committee of Congress), as well as for special presentations or briefings of the Congress concerning SSA activities and programs.

4. Directs and participates in highly sensitive negotiations, initiated by Members of Congress and their staffs, to resolve difficult issues.

5. Assures effective and expeditious SSA attention to problem situations and other congressional concerns, and anticipates and averts potential problems in SSA-congressional relationships.

6. Explains and interprets SSA experience, plans, options, constraints and problems in response to expressions of congressional interest.

7. Coordinates as appropriate in relation to the above activities with the Assistant Secretary for Legislation, Office of the Secretary.

E. Press Office: 1. Guides and coordinates all SSA press activities, and prepares and issues news items for national release and for release through district offices.

2. Maintains contacts with members of the working press and responds to requests for information and assistance from newspapers, radio and TV network news departments, news and general magazines and the specialized press.

3. Prepares news and feature stories for the Baltimore press on SSA headquarters events, programs of community interest, and the accomplishments and activities of SSA employees.

4. Analyzes press coverage of social security and Medicare programs to assess public reaction, and prepares the Daily Press Service for the SSA Executive Staff and Regional Commissioners.

F. Office of Information: 1. Provides direction to SSA's information activities to assure public knowledge and understanding of programs administered by SSA.

2. Develops and evaluates goals, objectives, policies, standards and guidelines for SSA public information activities.

3. Assesses nationwide public information needs and carries out comprehensive and diversified programs to inform the public of the purposes and provisions of SSA-administered programs, program additions and changes, and of people's rights and responsibilities under these programs.

4. Prepares and determines distribution of a wide variety of public information materials on all phases of SSA-administered programs.

5. Evaluates and assures the high quality of informational materials distributed to the public and provides technical guidance for public affairs training in SSA.

6. Exercises SSA Headquarters authority to deny requests for information under the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act of 1974, and assures that these Acts are appropriately administered throughout SSA.

G. Office of Public Inquiries: 1. Establishes, promulgates and assesses SSA policy for processing public and Congressional correspondence.

2. Receives, analyzes and controls high priority written and telephone inquiries, replying to many of them and referring to other SSA components, as necessary, those inquiries requiring specialized knowledge.

3. Studies SSA-wide correspondence experience and practices; performs on ongoing quality appraisal of written responses to public inquiries prepared throughout SSA; develops recommendations designed to improve the effectiveness of SSA's public correspondence and to maintain and enhance its consistency and accuracy; and conducts training programs in SSA field and headquarters components to improve correspondence to the public.

4. Provides advice and assistance to SSA officials and liaison with DHEW on public correspondence matters.

Dated: November 20, 1975.

OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF HEALTH

Statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority

Part 11, Chapter 11, in the Statement of Organization, Functions, and Delegations of Authority of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, entitled Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health (38 FR 18571-74, as amended) is amended to update the division functional statements for the Office of Program Implementation (OPI) and the functional statements for certain organizational segments within the Office of Administrative Management (OAM) to include new and transferred responsibilities.

Section 11-B, Organizations and Functions, is changed as follows: Under the heading entitled Office of Program Implementation (1N13), amend the statement for the Division of Health Research and Protection Operations (1N1303) by adding the following as the last sentence: "Serves as focal point for the PHS on matters pertaining to fair information practices, including implementation of the Privacy Act of 1974."

Amend the statement for the Division of Health Services and Prevention Operations (1N1305) by deleting the last three words "fair information practices" and substituting "freedom of information."

Under the heading entitled Office of Administrative Management (1N19), amend the following statements:

Administrative Services Center (1N1903)—Change the first sentence of the third paragraph to read: "Develops Public Health Service policy and procedures for printing, duplicating, and material management."

Division of Management Sciences and Systems (1N19055)—Delete the period at the end of the first sentence and insert the words "for ADP and telecommunications."

Division of Financial Management (1N19095)—Delete the current statement and substitute the following:

Division of Financial Management (1N19095)—The Director of the Division of Financial Management serves as the principal advisor in the area of financial management activities and provides leadership for the direction and improvement of financial management functions; develops policies, financial management procedures, and systems for use throughout the PHS and coordinates the preparation and presentation of budget estimates; participates in the development of the five-year program and financial plan in cooperation with the Office of Policy Development and Planning; directs and manages a system of budgetary, expenditure, and position controls; develops policies and procedures for the PHS direct loan, loan guarantee and interest subsidy programs; provides marketing for direct loan activities; provides assistance and technical guidance to financial management staffs throughout the PHS; assures that the PHS prepares and conducts analyses of financial reports; and maintains liaison with the Office of the Secretary and the Office of Management and Budget.

Division of Grants and Contracts (1N19097)—Delete the current statement and substitute the following:

Division of Grants and Contracts (1N19097)—In the area of grants, procurement, and cost management, the Director of the Division of Grants and Contracts: serves as the principal advisor within PHS for developing policies, guidelines, and procedures; provides leadership and direction for the optimum utilization of contracts and grants; reviews and evaluates the effectiveness of established policy and procedures and recommends improvements; provides liaison for PHS with the Office of the Secretary, other Government agencies, and the private sector; coordinates the Small Business Program, including the Minority Business Program of PHS; and prepares reports as required.

Division of Health Facilities Planning (1N19099)—Strike the phrase "develops safety management and telecommunication policies for the Public Health Service" and substitute the phrase "develops safety management policy for the Public Health Service". At the end of the text, delete the period, add a semicolon and the following statement: "administers the Federal Buildings Fund (established by Pub. L. 92-313) for all GSA-assigned space."

[Agreement C.A.B. 2698, R-23, etc.; Order No. 75-11-106]

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

Order To Show Cause Regarding Conditions of Carriage-Cargo

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 26th day of November, 1975.

In the matter of agreements adopted by the International Air Transport Association regarding conditions of carriage-cargo (Agreement C.A.B. 2698, R-23; Agreement C.A.B. 7648, R-107; Agreement C.A.B. 24475, R-4 and R-5, Docket 25280 Agreement C.A.B. 25166, R-12).

By filing on June 21, 1974, the International Air Transport Association (IATA) has submitted, pursuant to section 412 of the Act, Resolution 600b (Agreement C.A.B. 24475, R-4) which will restate the conditions of carriage of cargo to appear on the back of cargo air waybills (A/W/B).[1] The last previous Board approval of such conditions of carriage for both passengers and cargo occurred on September 1, 1949, IATA Traffic Conference Resolutions, 10 C.A.B. 783. Though the Board therein approved such Resolution then before it on the grounds that the "establishment of these uniform conditions should minimize the confusion and misunderstanding," the Board took pains to note that "serious questions relating to the public interest could arise," and placed its interpretation on several of the provisions. The Board concluded with the following admonition (10 C.A.B. at 793, 794):

> We extend our approval for a temporary period in order to permit the immediate use of the uniform arrangements discussed herein pending revision of the provision under consideration in a manner consistent with the views expressed herein. Should the carriers fail to make such revision at their first opportunity, the public interest may require us to withdraw the approval herein granted.

In 1954, the IATA carriers filed a revision to the earlier approved Resolution (Agreement C.A.B. 7648, R-107 adopted by the IATA traffic Conferences in Honolulu in November, 1953). In considering the Honolulu revisions in Order E-8543, adopted on August 5, 1954,[2] the Board stated:

> The Board is seriously concerned with the little progress that appears to have been made to revise the basic provisions of these agreements to meet the points raised in the aforesaid opinion. While still recognizing the importance of uniformity in the tickets, waybills, and conditions of carriage, it is of the opinion that such uniformity should not be obtained at the sacrifice of the rights of passengers and shippers, and that further approval of provisions which are otherwise adverse to the public interest is not warranted. (p. 581)

The Board, accordingly, tentatively approved some of the provisions,[3] some conditionally, and tentatively disapproved others, giving parties 30 days within which to file objections.[4] Objections were filed by the IATA carriers in which they requested the opportunity for conference with the staff of the Board for purposes of facilitating disposition of the issues. The Board authorized such informal discussions by Order E-8842, dated December 22, 1954, but no final resolution of the cargo issues ever materialized.[5] The result is that the tentative order of August 5, 1954, with respect to cargo, never became final, and the only order of approval on cargo presently operative is [1] Resolution 600] (Agreement C.A.B. 24475, R-5) deals with the Conditions appearing on the face of the A/W/B. The instant Resolutions are set forth in their entirety in Appendices A and B.

[2] Reprinted in Pan Am World Airways et. al., Conditions of Carriage, 24 C.A.B. 575 at 580-591 (1957).

[3] Concurrently, the Board provided extensive comments as to the unacceptable nature of various provisions in the Resolutions, and proposed to condition its approval in many instances (see Paragraph B, 24 C.A.B. 587). Many of such provisions on which the Board expressed its dissatisfaction are nonetheless in existence in the carriers' current tariffs.

[4] The Board noted: The Board at this time has reviewed the proposed agreements for the purpose of indicating which specific provisions would be approved, approved on condition, or disapproved. The Board believes, however, that the carriers should give serious consideration to a complete reappraisal of these agreements. (24 C.A.B. at 582)

[5] Conferences and exchanges of views between staff and IATA were held, resulting in the approval of a Resolution pertaining to passenger tickets and baggage checks, but nothing dealing with cargo air waybills. See Order E-11024, dated February 12, 1957, 24 C.A.B. 575.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

that of September 1, 1949 (IATA Traffic Conference Resolutions, 10 C.A.B. 783).

It should be noted that the pending proceeding in Liability and Claims Rules and Practices Investigation, Docket 19923, embraces many of the conditions of carriage which are likewise presented in the past and instant IATA Resolutions.[6] The decision of the Administrative Law Judge is presently under review by the Board.

The Board has reviewed the instant (1974) Resolutions in the light of the history of this subject, as cited above, and has prepared comments thereon as detailed in Appendix C hereto. It is enough to state that in several material and significant respects, the Resolutions differ markedly from the position of the Board in 24 C.A.B. 587.

All in all, the Resolutions show little improvement over those resolutions considered in 10 C.A.B. 783 and 24 C.A.B. at 580. Recalling the Board's opinion at 24 C.A.B. 582, 583:

> A reading of the provisions which have been submitted to us leaves the definite impression that the philosophy behind these agreements is that of limiting the carriers' liability and responsibility to the maximum in every situation where it might be conceivable that some liability or responsibility would exist, and with little regard to whether or not such provision is really required for an economically stable air transportation operation.

Upon consideration of the above designated agreements, as set forth in Appendices A and B hereto, and in view of the general findings and conclusions cited above and the more specific findings and conclusions set forth in Appendix C hereto:

A. The Board finds that pending final decision in Docket 19923, action should be deferred upon those issues so noted in Appendix C.

B. The Board finds, on a tentative basis, that those portions of Agreement CAB 24475, R–4 and R–5, as so designated in Appendix C, should be disapproved as contrary to the public interest for the reasons stated in Appendix C.

C. The Board finds, upon a tentative basis, that the proceeding considered by the Board in Order E–8543 adopted August 5, 1954, should be terminated.

D. The Board finds, upon a tentative basis, that its earlier approval of the IATA Traffic Conference Resolutions providing for the adoption of a uniform air waybill/consignment note and the conditions of contract to be printed thereon[7] should be withdrawn.

E. The Board finds that an opportunity for comment upon the agreements as set forth in Appendices A and B hereto, as well as upon our proposed actions as specified below and in Appendix C, shall be accorded all interested persons,[8] prior to final Board action upon the agreements.

To the extent that conditions of carriage are disapproved in our final order herein, such disapproval may leave in effect tariff provisions stemming from carrier discussions but inconsistent with the Act, the public interest, and our final order. While the Board will not be in a position to direct specific tariff changes, it is the Board's intention to direct the cancellation of such inconsistent tariff provisions.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly Sections 102, 204, 403, 404, 412, and 414 thereof,

It is ordered, That: 1. Action is deferred upon those portions of the agreements so designated in Appendix C hereto;

2. All interested persons are invited to submit comments on any part of the agreements before us and are hereby directed to show cause why the Board should not make final its tentative findings set forth in findings paragraphs B through D above;

3. Comments upon the agreements and responses to this order to show cause shall be submitted within 60 days after the service of this order;

4. Replies to the comments upon the agreements or to the responses to this order to show cause shall be submitted within 75 days after service of this order;

5. Comments, responses, and replies shall be filed with an original and 19 copies with the Board's Docket Section in Docket 25280; and

6. This order will be served upon carrier members of the International Air Transport Association.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Secretary.

Resolution 600b (Agreement C.A.B. 24475, R–4) AIR WAYBILL—CONDITIONS OF CONTRACT

(New), 106(CTPC)600b, 206(CTP)600b, 306(CTPC)600b, Expiry: Indefinite, Type: B.

RESOLVED that, (1) the Conditions of Contract, prefaced by a Notice, on the reverse side of the Air Waybill/Consignment Note, read as follows:

NOTICE CONCERNING CARRIERS LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

If the carriage involves an ultimate destination or stop in a country other than the country of departure, the Warsaw convention may be applicable and the convention governs and in most cases limits the liability of the carrier in respect of loss of or damage to cargo to 250 French gold francs per kilogramme, unless a higher value is declared in advance by the shipper and a supplementary charge paid if required.

The liability limit of 250 French gold francs per kilogramme is approximately US $20 per kilogramme on the basis of US $42.22 per ounce of gold.

CONDITIONS OF CONTRACT

1. As used in this contract "Carrier" means all air carriers that carry or undertake to carry the goods hereunder or perform any other services incidental to such air carriage, "Warsaw Convention" means the Convention for the Unification of certain Rules relating to International Carriage by Air, signed at Warsaw, 12 October 1929, or that Convention as amended at The Hague, 28 September 1955, which ever may be applicable, and "French gold francs" means francs consisting of 65½ milligrams of gold with a fineness of nine hundred thousandths.

2. (a) Carriage hereunder is subject to the rules relating to liability established by the Warsaw convention unless such carriage is not "International Carriage" as defined by that convention;

2. (b) to the extent not in conflict with the foregoing, carriage hereunder and other services performed by each Carrier are subject to:

(i) applicable laws (including national laws implementing the Convention), government regulations, orders and requirements,

(ii) provisions herein set forth, and

(iii) applicable tariffs, rules, conditions of carriage, regulations and timetables (but not the times of departure and arrival therein) of such carrier, which are made part hereof and which may be inspected at any of its offices and at airports from which it operates regular services. In transportation between a place in the United States or Canada and any place outside thereof the applicable tariffs are the tariffs in force in those countries.

3. The first Carrier's name may be abbreviated on the face hereof, the full name and its abbreviation being set forth in such Carrier's tariffs, conditions of carriage, regulations and time tables. The first Carrier's address is the airport of departure shown on the face hereof. The agreed stopping place (which may be altered by Carrier in case of necessity) are those places, except the place of departure and the place of destination, set forth on the face hereof or shown in Carrier's timetables as scheduled stopping places for the route. Carriage to be performed hereunder by several successive carriers is regarded as a single operation.

4. Except as otherwise provided in Carrier's tariffs or conditions of carriage, in carriage to which the Warsaw Convention does not apply Carriers' liability shall not exceed US$20.00 or the equivalent per kilogramme of goods lost, damaged or delayed, unless a higher value is declared by the shipper and a supplementary charge paid.

5. If the sum entered on the face of the Air Waybill as "Declared Value for Carriage" represents an amount in excess of the applicable limits of liability referred to in the above Notice and in these Conditions and if the shipper has paid any supplementary charge that may be required by the Carrier's tariffs, conditions of carriage or regulations, this shall constitute a special declaration of value and in this case Carrier's limit of liability shall be the sum so declared. Payment of claims shall be subject to proof of actual damages suffered.

6. In cases of loss, damage or delay of part of the consignment, the weight to be taken into account in determining Carrier's limit of liability shall be only the weight of the package or packages concerned.

7. Any exclusion or limitation of liability applicable to Carrier shall apply to and be for the benefit of Carrier's agents, servants and representatives and any person whose aircraft is used by Carrier for carriage and its agents, servants and representatives. For purposes of this provision Carrier acts herein as agent for all such persons.

8. A Carrier issuing an Air Waybill for carriage exclusively over the lines of other Carriers does so only as an agent for such other Carriers.

9. Carrier undertakes to complete the carriage hereunder with reasonable dispatch. Carrier may substitute alternate carriers or aircraft and may without notice and with due regard to the interests of the shipper substitute other means of transportation. Carrier is authorized to select the routing or to change or deviate from the routing shown on the face hereof.

10. The goods are accepted for carriage from their receipt at Carrier's terminal or airport office at the place of departure to the airport at the place of destination. If by specific agreement noted on the face hereof the goods are also accepted for forwarding to the airport of departure or for reforwarding beyond the airport of destination Carrier is hereby authorized to do all things it considers advisable to effect such forwarding or reforwarding, including the consigning of goods with no declaration of value where provisions for such declaration is not available. If such forwarding or reforwarding is by carriage provided by Carrier, the carriage shall be subject to the provisions of Paragraphs 2 and 4 hereof and the limitation of liability. Unless otherwise provided in Carrier's tariffs, conditions of carriage and related regulations, Carrier shall not be liable for loss, damage or delay occurring in the course of such additional carriage by means of transport not operated by Carrier.

11. Carrier is authorized (but shall be under no obligation) to advance any duties, taxes or charges and to make any disbursement with respect to the goods, and the shipper, owner and a consignee who accepts delivery shall be jointly and severally liable for the reimbursement thereof.

12. Shipper guarantees payment of all charges for carriage due in accordance with Carrier's tariffs, conditions of carriage and related regulations, applicable laws (including national laws implementing the Convention), government regulations, orders and requirements.

13. Notice of arrival of goods will be given promptly to the consignee or to the person indicated on the face hereof as the person to be notified. On arrival of the goods at place of destination delivery will be made only to or in accordance with the instructions of the consignee unless the consignee declines to accept the goods or cannot be communicated with, in which case delivery will be made on instruction of the consignor.

14. (a) the person entitled to delivery must make a complaint to the carrier in writing in the case

(i) of visible damage to the goods, immediately after discovery of the damage and at the latest within 14 days from receipt of the goods,

(ii) of other damage to the goods, within 14 days from the date of receipt of the goods,

(iii) of delay, within 21 days, of the date the goods are placed at his disposal, and

(iv) of non-delivery of the goods, within 120 days from the date of the issue of the Air Waybill;

(b) for the purpose of Subparagraph (a) above complaint in writing may be made to the Carrier whose Air Waybill was used, or to the first Carrier or to the last Carrier or to the Carrier who performed the transportation during which the loss, damage or delay took place;

(c) any rights to damages against Carrier shall be extinguished unless an action is brought within two years after the occurrence of the events giving rise to the claim.

15. The shipper shall comply with all applicable laws, and government regulations of any country to, from, through or over which the goods may be carried, including those relating to the packing, carriage or delivery of the goods, and shall furnish such information and attach such documents to this Air Waybill as may be necessary to comply with such laws and regulations. Carriers are not liable to the shipper or any other person for the loss or expense due to the shipper's failure to comply with this provision.

16. No agent, servant or representative of Carrier has authority to alter, modify or waive any provisions of this contract.

(2) notwithstanding anything above, Members may include an insurance clause which shall be printed after Condition 16.

(3) notwithstanding anything contained in the applicable effectiveness Resolutions, Members need not put into effect the change to the format of the Air Waybill adopted by the 6th CTPC until the time of next reprinting of their Air Waybill or in no event later than 15 months after declaration of effectiveness of such change.

Effective date, 1 October 1974.[1]

APPENDIX B

Resolution 600j

(Agreement C.A.B. 24475, R–5)

MANUAL AIR WAYBILL/CONSIGNMENT NOTE (AWB)

Amending, 106(CTPC800, I, 206(CTPC)600j I, 306(CTPC)600j I. Expiry: Indefinite, Type: B.

RESOLVED, that, (1) the Certification and Signature boxes appearing on the face of the Air Waybill/Consignment Note (AWB) are replaced by the following:

It is agreed that the goods described herein are accepted in apparent good order and condition (except as noted) for carriage subject to the conditions of contract on the reverse hereof.' The shipper's attention is drawn to the notice concerning carrier's limitation of liability. Shipper may increase such limitation of liability by declaring a higher value for carriage and paying a supplemental charge if required. Carrier is not liable for the goods until they are received at its town terminal or airport office.

Shipper certifies that the particulars on the face hereof are correct.

Signature of Shipper or his Agent

Signature of Carrier or its Agent

Date Place

Copies 1, 2 and 3 of this Air Waybill are originals and have the same validity.

(2) the above amendment shall not come into effect unless Resolution 600b adopted by the 6th CTPC comes into effect. It shall be implemented in conjunction with the new Conditions of Contract.

Effective date, 1 October 1974.[2]

CONDITIONS OF CONTRACT

Para. (1)2(a)—states that carriage is subject to the Warsaw Convention unless such carriage is not "international carriage" as defined in Warsaw. The question whether there should be differing rules for Warsaw and non-Warsaw traffic is at issue in Docket 19923, Liability and Claims Rules and Practices Investigation, and action on this issue will be deferred pending final decision by the Board in that case.

Para. (1)2(b)(i)(ii), and (iii)—states that carriage and other services are subject to applicable laws, regulations, etc., as well as the provisions of the instant Resolution and the tariffs, rules, conditions, regulations and time-tables of the carrier to the extent not in conflict with Warsaw Under this provision, differing rules are established for Warsaw and non-Warsaw traffic. Consistent with our action on paragraph (1)2(a) above, pending final decision by the Board in Docket 19923, action on the issue of discrimination between Warsaw and non-Warsaw traffic will be deferred.

To the extent that tariff rules and regulations may supplement, but not conflict with Warsaw, the provisions of paragraph (1)2(b)(ii) and (iii) present additional issues. While the intent of the provisions is not free from doubt, the language of the resolution provides ". . . carriage hereunder and other services performed by each carrier are subject to . . . applicable tariffs . . . of such carrier, which are made a part hereof . . ." (Emphasis supplied) Many tariffs, including joint tariffs, reflect objectionable provisions contained in the Honolulu resolutions as previously noted. However, such provisions have not been included in the 1974 IATA conditions now before the Board.[3] Approval of the instant resolutions would therefore provide approval of local and/or joint provisions contained variously in the tariffs of different carriers, and which are incorporated by reference in the resolutions before us and which could change from time-to-time. There would, of course, be no basis to make the necessary findings as to whether such tariff provisions were adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act. It appears that local and/or joint tariff rules which are indirectly a part of the agreement should physically be brought within the agreement for prior Board review and approval. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved with respect to its application to provisions not in conflict with Warsaw.

Alternatively, if it is the carriers' intent that their various tariff rules are not to be a part of the IATA conditions of carriage, but nevertheless be a part of the carriers' conditions of carriage, a question still exists as to whether such tariff rules should not be incorporated into the agreement for prior approval, particularly those rules which affect liability and shipper claims. The Board has heretofore approved the concept of concerted carrier action (to establish uniform conditions of carriage) in recognition of the public interest benefits to the traveling and shipping public in not being subjected to a broad spectrum of different rules and conditions, especially where interline transportation is involved. Uniformity of rules is desirable to minimize the confusion and misunderstanding which exists with respect to the rights, privileges, and obligations of shippers on transportation over the lines of several successive carriers. Nevertheless, we have recognized that on an individual basis, carriers may wish to file local or joint tariff rules which amend, modify, or cancel the rules embodied in IATA resolutions. The Board provided in IATA Traffic Conference Resolutions, 10 C.A.B. 783 at 792, that in the event any such additional rule is adopted by any carrier and the same rule is adopted by any other carrier or carriers for inclusion in an IATA joint tariff, such rule must be filed with us under section 412 of the Act, and appropriate action must be taken thereon prior to its submission for filing as a tariff. There are tariff rules presently on file with the Board that have been agreed upon within the IATA procedures participated in by two or more carriers, but which have not been approved. It would seem that the same considerations discussed in 10 C.A.B., supra, would apply with equal or greater force where such rules appear in separate local tariffs. Accordingly, comments are requested as to why the Board should not direct the cancellation of, or reject, any such rules that have not been approved nor antitrust immunity provided for pursuant to sections 412 and 414 of the Act.

[2] As proposed by IATA.

Para. (1)3—provides that the first carrier's name may be abbreviated, so long as the tariff contains the full name. It would seem that the carrier's full name should be spelled out once on the air waybill, rather than expect a shipper or consignee to seek out a carrier's tariff in order to determine the carrier's full name. Alternatively, as a justifiable exception, and where the carrier's full legal name in a foreign language may be unfamiliar to the average customer, as compared to a more phonetic acronym, the latter would appear to be acceptable if properly defined in that carrier's tariff. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

Para. (1)3 also retains existing language that "agreed stopping place" is as set forth in the air waybill or "shown in carrier's timetables as scheduled stopping places for the route." In 24 C.A.B. 575, 576, the Board expressed its dissatisfaction with use of timetables to determine agreed stopping places on the ground that Warsaw contemplated such stopping place be shown on the ticket or waybill. However, based on the belief that the problem would arise in relatively few cases (because it would pertain only in those cases where the transportation was between two points in the same country, albeit through an agreed stopping place outside thereof) the Board tentatively found that the 1954 provision there under consideration was not adverse to the public interest. The Board also stated that its action should not be construed as a determination that the provision meets the requirements of Warsaw that the agreed stopping place be contained in the ticket or waybill. Obviously, the significance of "agreed stopping places" depends on the extent to which the Warsaw rules and the rules which apply to non-Warsaw traffic are similar or different. Since this is at issue in Docket 19923, action on the matter will be deferred.

Para. (1)4—provides that unless the carrier's tariff or conditions of carriage otherwise provide, the carrier's liability should not exceed $20 per kilogram (in the absence of the declaration of and payment for excess valuation) for non-Warsaw traffic.[3] The $20 per kilo accords with the current limit for Warsaw traffic. However, to the extent that this provision excepts those carriers whose tariffs provide for a lesser limit of liability, it would perpetuate the present distinction between Warsaw and non-Warsaw traffic. (See preceding comment on Para. (1)2(a)). It thus raises a question which would be affected by the final decision in Docket 19923, and action on this issue will be deferred.

Para. (1)6—states that in the case of loss, damage or delay of part of the consignment, the weight to be taken into account shall be only the weight of the package or packages concerned. The Administrative Law Judge recommended that this concept of weight prorate be disapproved in his Initial Decision in Docket 19923. Pending final decision by the Board in Docket 19923, action on this issue will be deferred.

Para. (1)8—provides that a carrier issuing an air waybill for carriage exclusively over the lines of other carriers does so only as an agent for such other carrier. Though this provision is a carry-over from the 1949 resolution, in practice it may work to the detriment of a shipper if the intended origin carrier should reroute at origin, without notice to the shipper, which might invoke the rules of an unknown carrier, or might change the "date of shipment" from which numerous time limits are computed. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

Para. (1)9—provides that:

(1) Carrier undertakes to complete the carriage hereunder with reasonable dispatch;

(2) Carrier may substitute alternate carriers or aircraft and may without notice and with due regard to the interests of the shipper substitute other means of transportation;

(3) Carrier is authorized to select the routing or to change or deviate from the routing shown on the face hereof.

Subparagraph (1)9(2) would authorize the use of motor carriers in lieu of line-haul air transportation. These provisions are less restrictive than the parameters of permissable substituted service in the Substitute Service Case in Docket 19797, (Order 75-3-37, March 12, 1975), for domestic application. The restrictions found necessary in the domestic case are prima facie indicative of what is here required in the public interest. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

Subparagraph (1)9(3) is similar to the domestic tariff rule No. 42(A) which the initial Decision in Docket 19923 found unreasonable in that there was no protection to the shipper where the carrier selects a higher rated routing. Pending final decision by the Board in Docket 19923, action on this issue will be deferred.

Para. (1)10—provides that transportation is provided airport to airport, unless onforwarding is specifically agreed upon. However, in such onforwarding, carrier need not provide excess valuation coverage if the onward carrier does not provide such coverage. If the onforwarding is by "carrier", i.e., another airline, then the limits of liability (for Warsaw and non-Warsaw traffic) previously described shall apply. The final sentence states that unless the carrier's tariffs, conditions of carriage and regulations otherwise provide, in the case of onforwarding not operated by carrier, the carrier is to be relieved of liability for loss, damage, or delay. Further, this paragraph speaks in terms of "forwarding and reforwarding." Thus it is not clear whether it refers to cartage operations performed by the air line or whether such onforwarding is by another scheduled air line as distinct from forwarding operations by a forwarder, or onforwarding (by surface mode) by the air line. This ambiguity may serve to relieve the air line of liability for services in connection with or incidental to air transportation, and is consequently objectionable. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

Para. (1)11—authorizes, but does not require, the carrier to advance duties, taxes and charges subject to reimbursement from shipper or consignee who accepts delivery. To foster intermodal service, the carrier should be obliged to advance surface carrier charges, or other minor amounts for services in connection with air transportation. Moreover, where the carrier elects to extend credit to the consignor or consignee for the advanced charges, the consignee or consignor, respectively, should not be held liable. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

Para. (1)12—provides that the shipper guarantees payment of all charges for carriage. Some carriers have used this provision to require a shipper to pay for transportation charges even where the carrier has failed to carry out its contract to deliver the goods safely; or this provision would make the shipper liable for charges incurred in returning the shipment without obtaining the shipper's express order or consent to such return (see also fn. 2 re Article 8(4)(b), 24 C.A.B. 587). Moreover, this provision should not be applicable where the carrier extends credit to the consignee. The Board tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

Para. (1)13—provides that notice of arrival will be given promptly to consignee, with delivery to be made in accordance with instruction of consignee, unless consignee declines delivery in which case delivery will be made (instruction from consignor. This provision appears to entitle the consignee—and in turn the carrier—to disregard the instructions of the shipper, even in circumstances where such delivery instructions by the consignee would be in derogation of the shipper's rights. The provision is therefore objectionable, and the Board tentatively concludes that it should be disapproved.

Para. (1)14(a)—provides that the consignee must make written complaint as follows:

(i) Within 14 days for visible damage claims;

(ii) Within 14 days for other damage claims;

(iii) Within 21 days for delay claims;

(iv) Within 120 days for nondelivery claims.

The time limits in (i), (ii), and (iii) above are taken from the Hague Protocol, and are slightly better than corresponding provisions in the Warsaw Convention.[5] However, they are much less than the time periods cited in 24 C.A.B. 589 where the Board stated:

. . . the 9-month period provided by section 20(11) of the Interstate Commerce Act would appear more reasonable. Moreover, it appears unreasonable to bar action because of failure to give notice where the carrier had knowledge of the loss and was not prejudiced by the lack of notice.

Para. (1)14 (b) and (c)—provide that claims may be made to the carrier whose air waybill is used,[6] to the first or last carrier, or to the carrier causing the loss, damage, or delay, and suit must be brought within two years "after the occurrence of the events giving rise to the claim."

As regards the requirement in Para. (1)14 (c) that action be brought "within two years after the occurrence of the events giving rise to the claim," the Board has previously stated that:

Such a limitation is potentially ambiguous because of the difficulties involved in determining the beginning of the 2-year period. (24 C.A.B. 589 on Article 15(3))

Pending final decision by the Board in Docket 19923, action on Para. (1)14 (a), (b), and (c) will be deferred.

[3] The Board notes that Para. 1(4), as well as (1)6, (1)10, (1)(14)(a)(iii), and 14(b) speak to delay, whereas the initial Notice on the A/W/B cites only loss or damage. The Board suggests that this omission in such Notice be corrected.

[5] With respect to the 120-day limit specified in Para. (1)14(a)(iv), there is no provision in either Warsaw or Hague for this limitation on claims for nondelivery.

[6] See Para. (1)8, supra, which appears inconsistent with this provision. In addition, no provision is made for claims for overcharges.

Para. (2)—provides that a carrier may include an insurance clause which shall be printed after Para. (1)16 of the A/W/B.

Such individual carrier option to offer or not offer shippers' all-risk insurance,[4] is, first, inconsistent with the standard provision on the face of the IATA air waybill which provides for "Amount of Insurance". Secondly, the Board is not aware of any reason why the actual language of the insurance clause cannot be agreed upon as a proper element of the Conditions of Carriage.[4]

Lastly, and while the Board is of the view that the full and complete details of any such open policy of a third-party underwriter may not constitute proper tariff material, we see no reason why the standard insurance clause cannot state—and why the carriers could not promptly provide—that any shipper purchasing such insurance would be furnished such open policy upon request at the time of purchase. To this extent, and inasmuch as this furnishing of the policy becomes a service of the carrier, the insurance clause would then constitute proper tariff material.

The Board tentatively concludes that this provision, and a more recent proposed amendment thereto,[7] should be disapproved.

IATA RESOLUTION 600], AGREEMENT C.A.B. 24478, R-5

This resolution provides for the wording of a Notice to appear on the face of the air waybill, as distinguished from Resolution No. 600b dealing with conditions of carriage to appear on the back of the air waybill just discussed. The Notice on the front of the air waybill states, inter alia:

"Carrier is not liable for the goods until thy are received at its town terminal or airport office."

[4] To the extent that carriers may actually not represent an actual underwriter and thus not "offer" such insurance, but nonetheless inadvertently "sell" it because of the presence of the Insurance box on the A/W/B, such carriers are prima facie assuming the role of an underwriter. Thus, such insurance in such instances becomes a service of the carrier and warrants treatment as proper tariff material.

[5] The Board notes that the domestic counterpart of the IATA A/W/B now contains the following standard insurance clause: (8) At the request of the shipper, and if the appropriate premium is paid and the fact recorded on the face hereof, the goods covered by this air waybill are insured on behalf of the shipper under an open policy for the amount requested by the shipper as set out on the face hereof (recovery being limited to the actual loss or damage not exceeding the insured value) against all risks of physical loss or damage from any external cause whatsoever, except those arising directly or indirectly from war risks, strikes, riots, hostilities, legal seizure or delay or inherent vice, and subject to the terms and conditions of such open policy which is available for inspection by the shipper. Claims under such policy must be reported immediately to an office of Carrier. (Source: ATC Resolution 215.70, Page 3, Article (8))

[6] Since the filing of the referanced agreements, IATA has filed a further revision to Para. (2) dealing with the insurance clause which may follow Para. (1)16 of the A/W/B. This further revision has been assigned Agreement CAB 25186–R12, and constitutes a recommendation as to the language to be employed for such clause. Said language is virtually identical to the domestic counterpart cited in fn. 6, supra.

Such provision would purportedly exculpate a carrier moving a shipment from a shipper's door under the carrier's air waybill pursuant to cartage service provided by the carrier. The Board is of the view that the carrier's liability should extend to cartage service performed by the carrier itself, or its agent, and tentatively concludes that this provision should be disapproved.

[Docket No. 28149; Order No. 75-11-104]

PIEDMONT AVIATION, INC.

Order To Show Cause Regarding Amendment to Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 26th day of November, 1975.

On August 6, 1975, Piedmont filed a certificate amendment application in Docket 28149 requesting authority to provide seasonal service to Hot Springs, Virginia during the period between the first Sunday in April and the last Sunday in November. On August 12, 1975, Piedmont requested that its application be processed by show cause procedure. Piedmont presently serves Hot Springs on a year-round basis with one turnaround Hot Springs-Charlottesville-Washington YS–11 round trip and a YS–11 round trip between Cincinnati and Washington with stops at other intermediates.[1] No scheduled commuter service is being provided at Hot Springs.

In support of its request for deletion in the off season, Piedmont alleges that: (1) the primary reason for its filing the application is due to the severe operational problems at the Hot Springs airport (Ingalls Field) which has resulted in winter completion factors of under 40%[2] in the last two years; (2) the number of cancellations makes a reasonably useful service impossible and causes a great deal of confusion and inconvenience for the passengers: (3) Piedmont enplanes less than two passengers per day while providing four scheduled trips per day; (4) for the calendar year 1974, Hot Springs enplaned 4,843 passengers or 13.27 per day, but from December through March (the "winter months") Hot Springs enplaned only 237 passengers or 1.96 passengers per day which compares with 18.88 passengers for the rest of the year; (5) operations create a subsidy need of $48,000 or $96.83 per passenger; and (6) there are several other airports which are reasonably accesible to Hot Springs.

No answers to Piedmont's request were received.[3]

Upon consideration of the pleadings and all of the relevant facts, we have decided to grant Piedmont's request and issue an order to show cause proposing to amend Piedmont's certificate so as to authorize it to provide seasonal service to Hot Springs, Virginia between the first Sunday in April and the last Sunday in November. We tentatively find and conclude that the public convenience and necessity require the above-described amendment of Piedmont's certificate.

In support of our proposed ultimate finding, we make the following tentative findings and conclusions: Hot Springs historically has developed very little traffic during the winter months of December through March. Based on experience since 1965 these four months have accounted for only 7.8 percent of the yearly traffic.[4] In the winter months of 1974, Hot Springs enplaned two passengers per day although it received two YS–11 round trips to its principal community of interest—Washington, D.C. For the months December 1974 through March 31, 1975, the load factor on the one turnaround Hot Springs round trip was 5.6 percent on the initial Hot Springs-Charlottesville segment of the flight, a level clearly too low to support operations with turboprop YS–11 equipment.

We further tentatively find and conclude that Hot Springs also experiences high off-season subsidy cost. Piedmont estimates that the cost of serving Hot Springs during the winter months of 1974 resulted in a subsidy need of $48,126 or $96.83 per passenger. We believe Piedmont's expense estimate is high.[5] In any case, the operation of winter service represents an excessive expenditure per passenger which we do not believe is justified.

Finally, we tentatively find and conclude that there are alternate air service facilities available which are reasonably accessible to Hot Springs. Air service is available at nearby Lewisburg, Lynchburg, Roanoke, and Staunton located approximately 39, 55, 49, and 42 miles away, respectively.[6] For the few passengers who would be inconvenienced, limousine service is available at all four airports, air-charter service is available to Hot Springs from Roanoke and Staunton, and Rent-A-Car service is available between Hot Springs and all the named places.[7]

All interested persons will be given 20 days following the adoption of this

[1] September 1, 1975, Official Airline Guide. One Cincinnati flight originates in Baltimore.

[2] Includes nil revenue cancellations.

[3] A letter dated September 11, 1975, was received from the Allegheny-Bath-Clifton Forge-Covington Airport Committee, which has jurisdiction over airline matters in the Hot Springs area, stating that it does not oppose the granting of Piedmont's application.

[4] The reason is that Hot Springs is the location of the Homestead Hotel whose business is highly seasonal. From the records of previous cases involving Hot Springs service, we know that the Homestead accounts for 90 to 95 percent of its traffic.

[5] In computing the expense elements Piedmont has used the block hours committed to serving Hot Springs. We believe that it would be more appropriate to use the actual block hours flown. Use of the latter results in a 1974 subsidy need of $41.00 per passenger.

Order to Show Cause why the tentative findings and conclusions set forth herein should not be made final. We expect such persons to direct their objections, if any, to specific issues and to support such objections with detailed analysis. If an evidentiary hearing is requested, the objector should state the issue with respect to which a hearing is requested and should state in detail why such a hearing is necessary and what relevant and material facts they would expect to establish through such a hearing. Vague, general, or unsupported objections will not be entertained.

Accordingly, it is ordered, that: 1. All interested persons be and they hereby are directed to show cause why the Board should not make final the tentative findings and conclusions herein and why an order should not be issued adding a new condition to Piedmont Aviation, Inc.'s certificate which provides that "The holder shall serve Hot Springs, Virginia only during the period between the first Sunday of April and the last Sunday in November;"

2. Any interested persons having objections to the issuance of an order making final the tentative findings and conclusions herein and transferring the said permit shall, within 20 days after adoption of this order, file with the Board and serve on the persons named in paragraph 5 a statement of objections specifying the part or parts of the tentative findings or conclusions objected to, together with a summary of testimony, statistical data and such evidence expected to be relied upon to support the statement of objections;

3. If timely and properly supported objections hereto are filed, full consideration will be accorded the matters or issues raised therein before further action is taken by the Board: Provided, That the Board may proceed to enter an order in accordance with the tentative findings and conclusions herein if it determines that there are no factual issues presented that warrant the holding of an evidentiary hearing;

4. In the event no objections are filed to this order, all further procedural steps will be deemed to have been waived and the Board may proceed to enter an order in accordance with the tentative findings and conclusions herein; [*] and

5. This order shall be served upon Piedmont Aviation, Inc., the Mayor of Hot Springs, the Governor of Virginia, Allegheny-Bath-Clifton Forge-Covington Airport Committee, and the U.S. Postal Service.

This order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] EDWIN Z. HOLLAND,
Secretary.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES PAY COUNCIL

Meeting

Pursuant to section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, Public Law 92-463, notice is hereby given that the Federal Employees Pay Council will meet at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, December 17, 1975. This meeting will be held in room 5323 of the U.S. Civil Service Commission building, 1900 E. Street, N.W., and will consist of continued discussions on future comparability adjustments for the statutory pay systems of the Federal Government, which are defined in section 5301 of title 5, United States Code.

The Chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission is responsible for the making of determinations under section 10(d) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act as to whether or not meetings of the Federal Employees Pay Council shall be open to the public. He has determined that this meeting will consist of exchanges of opinions and information which, if written, would fall within exemptions (2) or (5) of 5 U.S.C. 552(b). Therefore, this meeting will not be open to the public.

For the President's Agent.

COMMITTEE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF TEXTILE AGREEMENTS

REPUBLIC OF CHINA

Certain Cotton Textile Products Produced or Manufactured

NOVEMBER 25, 1975.

On October 21, 1975, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 49123) a letter dated October 17, 1975 from the Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, to the Commissioner of Customs, amending the levels of restraint established for certain cotton and man-made fiber textile products, pursuant to the Bilateral Cotton, Wool and Man-Made Fiber Textile Agreement of May 21, 1975, between the Governments of the United States and the Republic of China, to provide for carryover of shortfalls in those categories from the previous agreement year. The amended level of restraint set forth in the letter of October 17, 1975 for men's, women's, and children's cotton trousers, slacks and outer shorts in Category 51 should have been 544,467 dozen, instead of 510,438 dozen.

Accordingly, there is published below a letter of November 25, 1975, from the Chairman of the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements to the Commissioner of Customs correcting the amended level of restraint for Category 51 for the twelve-month period which began on January 1, 1975.

ALAN POLANSKY,
Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, and Deputy Assistant Secretary for Resources and Trade Assistance, U.S. Department of Commerce.

COMMITTEE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF TEXTILE AGREEMENTS

Commissioner of Customs,
Department of the Treasury,
Washington, D.C. 20229

Dear Mr. Commissioner:

This directive amends, but does not cancel, the directive issued to you on October 17, 1975 by the Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, concerning imports into the United States of certain cotton and man-made fiber textile products produced or manufactured in the Republic of China.

The second paragraph of the directive of October 17, 1975 is hereby amended to show a level of restraint of 544,467 dozen for Category 51 within the overall level of restraint established for Categories 50/51. The amended level of restraint for Category 51 has not been adjusted to reflect any entries made in this category after January 1, 1975.

The actions taken with respect to the Government of the Republic of China and with respect to imports of cotton textile products from the Republic of China have been determined by the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements to involve foreign affairs functions of the United States. Therefore, the directions to the Commissioner of Customs, being necessary to the implementation of such actions, fall within the foreign affairs exception to the rule-making provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553. This letter will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Sincerely,

ALAN POLANSKY,
Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, and Deputy Assistant Secretary for Resources and Trade Assistance, U.S. Department of Commerce.

CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

ARCHITECTURAL GLASS

Extension of Time for Publishing a Proposed Rule or Withdrawing Notice of Processing

The purpose of this notice is to extend by 45 days, until January 12, 1976, the period in which the Consumer Product Safety Commission must publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER a proposed consumer product safety standard for architectural glass or a notice withdrawing the notice of proceeding for development of a standard.

A standard development proceeding for architectural glass was commenced under the CPSA by notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 28, 1974 (39 FR 19502), soliciting offers to develop a recommended consumer product safety standard. The Commission subsequently accepted the offer of the Consumer Safety Glazing Committee, and CSGC submitted a recommended standard to the Commission on January 24, 1974. A more detailed discussion of the history of the architectural glass standard development proceeding appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 23, 1975 (40 FR 30362). In that notice, the Commission also extended the period within which it must propose a standard for architectural glass or withdraw the notice of proceeding until October 29, 1975, in order to allow the staff to make changes in the recommended standard that were considered necessary prior to its proposal in the FEDERAL REGISTER as a mandatory standard. This period was further extended until November 28, 1975 by a notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 51685).

The Commission staff submitted a draft proposed standard to the Commission on October 22, 1975, for its consideration. On November 13, 1975, the Commission, after analyzing the draft standard, instructed the staff to address several questions raised by the draft standard and to incorporate a number of changes into the draft. The Commission staff is in the process of implementing the Commission's instruction and it is estimated that it will take 45 days to complete. Therefore, the Commission is further extending the period within which it must either publish a proposed consumer product safety standard applicable to architectural glass, or withdraw the notice of proceeding for 45 days, or until January 12, 1976. This period may be further extended by a notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER showing good cause.

Dated: November 26, 1975.

SADYE E. DUNN,
Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission.

BOOKMATCHES

Extension of the Time for Publishing a Proposed Rule or Withdrawing Notice of Proceeding

The purpose of this notice is to extend by 60 days or until January 30, 1976, the period in which the Consumer Product Safety Commission must publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER a proposed consumer product safety standard for bookmatches or withdraw the notice of proceeding for development of a standard.

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 4, 1974 (39 FR 32050), the Commission commenced a proceeding under section 7 of the Consumer Product Safety Act (15 U.S.C. 2056) for the development of a consumer product safety standard applicable to bookmatches. On October 24, 1974, the Commission accepted the offer of the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) to develop a recommended standard, and formalized that agreement on December 30, 1974. A notice was published in the January 7, 1975 FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 1298) announcing the Commission's acceptance of the ASTM offer. On February 3, 1975, ASTM submitted a recommended standard and supporting data to the Commission.

Section 7(f) of the Consumer Product Safety Act provides that within 210 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a notice of proceeding to develop a consumer product safety standard, the Commission must either publish a proposed standard or withdraw the notice of proceeding. The Commission may extend the 210-day period for good cause, by publishing a notice of extension in the FEDERAL REGISTER. In the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 17, 1975 (40 FR 17196), the Commission, for good cause shown, extended the 210-period by 30 days until May 2, 1975. The Commission determined that it needed additional time to properly review the material submitted by the offeror and the analysis of the Commission staff.

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 3, 1975 (40 FR 28126) the Commission further extended the 210-day period until October 1, 1975. The Commission found that this additional time was necessary in order to adequately review the more detailed justification that would be submitted by ASTM and to afford the staff an adequate opportunity to address the issue of child-resistant packaging.

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 31, 1975 (40 FR 50745) the Commission again extended the 210-day period until December 1, 1975. The Commission found that this time was necessary to modify and verify test methods for certain of the ASTM recommended provisions. Also, additional time was needed to allow the Commission staff to prepare detailed justification for the child-resistant bookmatch cover requirements. Finally, the extension was necessary in order to integrate the child-resistant bookmatch cover requirements with provisions of the ASTM recommended standard, into a single comprehensive proposed consumer product safety standard for bookmatches.

The Commission has now begun its review of all data relevant to the bookmatch standard. Because of the complex nature of the proposed standard and the large amount of supporting material, the Commission needs additional time to adequately review the proposed bookmatch standard.

Accordingly, the Commission, for good cause shown, hereby extends by 60 days, or until January 30, 1976, the time in which the Commission must either publish a proposed consumer product safety standard applicable to bookmatches or withdraw its notice of proceeding.

Dated: November 26, 1975.

SADYE E. DUNN,
Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission.

[Docket Nos. CPSC 75-9, 75-10, 75-11, 75-12, 75-13, 75-14]

HILLERICH AND BRADSBY CO., ET AL.

Aluminum Baseball Bats Enforcement Proceeding Commencement of Consolidated Enforcement Proceeding, Extension of Time for Filing Answers, and Notice of Prehearing Conference

On November 5, 1975, the Commission authorized the issuance of six Notices of Enforcement prepared by the Bureau of Compliance directed to the following persons:

Docket No. CPSC 75-9—Hillerich & Bradsby Co. (John A. Hillerich).
Docket No. CPSC 75-10—Pepsico Inc. (Wilson Sporting Goods Co.) (Donald M. Kendall).
Docket No. CPSC 75-11—Lannon Manufacturing Co. (Charles E. Parish).
Docket No. CPSC 75-12—Reynolds Metals Co. (Richard S. Reynolds, Jr.).
Docket No. CPSC 75-13—Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa), Alcoa Sports Products Co. (John D. Harper).
Docket No. CPSC 75-14—Eaton Corporation (Paul Miller).

The Notices of Enforcement which are substantially identical in form and content, declared that the Staff is of the opinion that an undetermined number of baseball, softball and little league style aluminum bats, which are manufactured and sold in commerce by Respondents to consumers directly or through distributors and/or retailers, present a substantial product hazard within the meaning of Section 15 of the Consumer Product Safety Act (the Act)

V4 2 3 2 C DEC 2 75 XUM

(15 U.S.C. 2064(a)(2)) because the Staff believes that the "Hitters Pride" grip manufactured by Respondent Eaton Corporation can deteriorate with normal use and become disengaged from the handle of the bat, causing the bat to be propelled during a swinging motion and having the potential for striking a person in near proximity to the batter.

The Staff believes that, under Section 15(c) of the Act, notification to the public, in general, and to the purchasers of these aluminum bats, in particular, is required in order to adequately protect the public; that action, pursuant to the provisions of Section 15(d) of said Act is in the public interest; and that Respondents should be ordered to elect to repair, to replace, or to refund the purchase price of the affected aluminum bat models, as provided by the said Section 15(d).

Attached to the Notices of Enforcement were copies of the principal items of written evidence, marked Enforcement Counsel Exhibit A, which the Staff considered to constitute a prima facie case in each docket.

On November 19, Counsel for Aluminum Company of America, et al., (Alcoa) moved for an extension of time until December 22, 1975, to file an answer to the Notice of Enforcement in Docket 75–13 which was due November 26, 1975. On November 20, Counsel for Hillerich and Bradsby, et al., filed a motion to extend its time to answer in Docket 75–9 until 30 and preferably 60 days from the November 26 date.

Enforcement Counsel has informally indicated no objection to the proposed postponements provided that a schedule can be established under which a prehearing conference can be held in the middle of January.

In view of the foregoing, the following actions are taken: (1) Pursuant to § 1025.34 of the Commission's Rules of Practice for Adjudicative Proceedings the above designated dockets which involve similar issues are hereby consolidated for hearing and decision in order to expedite their consideration and minimize expense to the parties and the Government.

(2) The time for all Respondents in the above designated dockets to file Answers to the Notices of Enforcement is hereby extended until December 22, 1975.

(3) A prehearing conference will be held on Tuesday, January 13, 1976, 10:00 a.m. (E.s.t.), in the Commission's 6th floor conference room, 1750 K St. NW., Washington, D.C.

All Counsel are requested to file two copies with this office and serve upon all Counsel by the close of business January 9, 1976, a memorandum setting forth (1) a definition of the issues to be heard, (2) requests for discovery, if any, (3) disclosure of the number of witnesses and the approximate length of time each presentation will entail, and (4) a proposal for the time and place of hearing.

Dated: November 24, 1975.

Administrative Law Judge.

ENERGY RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

[ERDA–1540]

BROOKHAVEN NATIONAL LABORATORY

Availability of Draft Environmental Statement

Notice is hereby given that a Draft Environmental Statement, "Brookhaven National Laboratory," ERDA–1540, was issued November 28, 1975, pursuant to the Energy Research and Development Administration's (ERDA) regulations for implementation of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The preparation of the statement was announced in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 12, 1974.

The Brookhaven National Laboratory (BNL) was founded in 1947 by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), predecessor of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), who assumed responsibility for the operation of BNL on January 19, 1975, as a result of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974. The Laboratory provides facilities such as nuclear reactors, particle accelerators, and specialized research laboratories for conducting joint research with academic institutions basically in the Northeastern sector of the U.S.

The current cumulative impact on the environment of the operation of the various facilities and conduct of research at the site has been assessed in the draft environmental statement, as well as the anticipated future impact of continuing these operations at the BNL site.

Copies of the draft statement are being distributed for review and comment to Federal agencies, New York State and local organizations, and individuals that have expressed an interest in the operation of the BNL facilities. Copies of the draft statement are available for public inspection in the ERDA Public Document Rooms at:

20 Massachusetts Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C.;
Albuquerque Operations Office, Kirtland Air Force Base East, Albuquerque, New Mexico;
Chicago Operations Office, 9800 South Cass Avenue, Argonne, Illinois;
Idaho Operations Office, 550 Second Street, Idaho Falls, Idaho;
Nevada Operations Office, 2753 South Highland Drive, Las Vegas, Nevada; Oak Ridge Operations Office, Federal Building, Oak Ridge, Tennessee;
Richland Operations Office, Federal Building, Richland, Washington;
San Francisco Operations Office, 1333 Broadway, Oakland, California;
Savannah River Operations Office, Sevannah Plant, Aiken, South Carolina.

Comments and views concerning the draft statement are requested from other interested agencies, organizations and individuals. Single copies of the Draft Environmental Statement will be furnished for review and comment upon request addressed to W. H. Pennington, Office of the Assistant Administrator for Environment and Safety, Mail Station E–201, U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration, Washington, D.C. 20545, telephone (301) 973–4241. Comments should be sent to the same address.

In accordance with the guidelines from the Council on Environmental Quality, agencies and members of the public submitting comments on the Draft Environmental Statement should endeavor to make their comments as specific, substantive, and factual as possible without undue attention to matters of form in the impact statement. It would assist in the review of comments if the comments were organized in a manner consistent with the structure of the draft statement. Emphasis should be placed on the assessment of the environmental impacts of the BNL operations specifically, and the acceptability of those impacts on the quality of the environment, particularly as contrasted with the impacts of reasonable alternatives. Commenting entities may recommend modifications and/or new alternatives that will enhance environmental quality and avoid or minimize adverse environmental impacts.

Copies of comments on the Draft Environmental Statement will be placed in the above referenced Document Rooms for inspection and will be considered in the preparation of the Final Environmental Statement if received at ERDA by January 27, 1976.

Dated at Germantown, Maryland, this 26th day of November 1975.

For the Energy Research and Development Administration.

Assistant Administrator for Environment and Safety.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[FRL 463–7]

PESTICIDE PRODUCTS CONTAINING HEPTACHLOR/CHLORDANE

Notice of Denial of Applications To Register

On November 26, 1974, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) gave notice (39 FR 41298) of its intent to cancel all registered uses of heptachlor and chlordane pursuant to Section 6 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973, 7 U.S.C. 136d) with the exception of the uses of heptachlor or chlordane through subsurface ground insertion for termite control and the dipping of roots or tops of nonfood plants. Affected parties have been afforded the opportunity to contest this action by requesting a hearing on specific registered uses.

On this same day, the EPA also issued a regulation (39 FR 41256) pertaining to the registration of pesticide products containing heptachlor or chlordane shipped in intrastate commerce. The Agency invoked its authority to bring intrastate products containing heptachlor and chlordane under Federal control, pursuant to the provisions of Sections 3 and 25(a) of FIFRA (86 Stat. 979, 997), because 1) a public hearing process for Federally registered products is available through established administrative procedures for those persons affected by the notice of intent to cancel and 2) the Agency believes it is important to provide registrants and users of similar products containing heptachlor or chlordane, that are manufactured, sold and used intrastate and not presently registered at the Federal level, the same hearing rights as those afforded users and registrants of such Federally registered products. This regulation became effective on November 26, and at that time, all affected persons were instructed to apply for Federal registration. Applications were made not only by those who currently ship such products in intrastate commerce, but by affected persons who sought Federal registration as well. All persons affected by this regulation who made application to the Agency to register products containing heptachlor or chlordane received notices of intent to deny such registration by certified mail. These applicants have been afforded 30 days from the date of receipt of such letters of intent to deny to request a hearing pursuant to Section 6 of FIFRA.

Pesticide Products Intended for Shipment in Intrastate Commerce. Applications for registration were made to the Agency as a result of the November 26 FEDERAL REGISTER notice implementing Section 162.20 of 40 CFR. Notices of intent to deny registration have been mailed applicants based on the notice regarding intrastate products. Applicants were instructed that they could request a hearing within 30 days of receipt of such notice pursuant to section 6 of FIFRA as set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER notice. Applicants were also advised that if they did request a hearing in accordance with the procedures established, their products could continue to be sold in the state where it has been registered pending completion of the scheduled cancellation proceedings.

Applications made to the Agency were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER in accordance with the provisions of the Agency's interim policy with respect to the administration of Section 3(c)(1)(D), which provides that upon receipt of every application for registration the EPA will publish such notice.

Notices of intent to deny registration have been sent to the following applicants for the listed products:

EPA File Symbol 2342–OEI. Kerr-McGee Chemical Corp., Kerr-McGee Center, Oklahoma City OK 73102. FASCO CHLORDANE BAIT–2.
EPA File Symbol 2342–OEO. Kerr-McGee Chemical Corp., Kerr-McGee Center, Oklahoma City OK 73102. FASCO CHLOROPHENE BAIT–375.
EPA File Symbol 9859–AO. Landia Chemical Co., 1801 W. Olive St., Lakeland FL 33801. CHLORDANE—TOXAPHENE BAIT 2–3.

Pesticide Products Intended for Shipment in Interstate Commerce. Notices of intent to deny registration have also been mailed in response to applications for registration made to the Agency for products containing heptachlor or chlordane intended for sale in interstate commerce. Such notices were based on the November 26 FEDERAL REGISTER notice of intent to cancel. Applicants were advised that pursuant to Section 3(c)(6) they had 30 days from receipt of the notice of intent to deny to make any changes necessary to meet the Agency's requirements for registration. The only change possible to comply with current requirements is to restrict such products to use as subsurface ground applications for termite control or for dipping of roots or tops of nonfood plants as set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER notice of intent to cancel. Applicants have also been advised that if this change is possible and desired they may submit a revised application. Otherwise, such applications to register are denied. Products not registered with the Agency cannot be legally sold. Applicants were also told that remedies for denial are available through the administrative procedures set forth in Section 6(b) of FIFRA.

Applications made to the Agency were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER in accordance with the provisions of the Agency's interim policy with respect to the administration of Section 3(c)(1)(D).

Notices of intent to deny registration have been sent to the following applicants for the listed products:

EPA File Symbol 4876–LE. AG Supply Co., Industrial Drive, Hopkinsville KY 42240. CHLORDANE–4 EMULSIFIABLE CONCENTRATE.

Conclusion. Any person adversely affected by this notice may, within 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, request a hearing with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW, East Tower, Room 1019, Washington DC 20460. Any questions concerning this notice should be directed to Product Manager 15, Registration Division, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW, Washington DC 20460.

Notices of the Agency's denial of these applications for registration is given pursuant to the provisions of section 3(c)(6) of FIFRA. Identical notices which contained lists of other affected applications to register products containing heptachlor/chlordane were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 23, 1975 (40 FR 22587), and July 28, 1975 (40 FR 31655).

Dated: November 25, 1975.

O,S-DIMETHYL PHOSPHORAMIDOTHIOATE

Establishment of a Temporary Tolerance

Ortho Division, Chevron Chemical Co., 940 Hensley St., Richmond CA 94804, submitted a pesticide petition (PP 5G1624) to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). This petition requested that a temporary tolerance be established for residues of the insecticide O,S-dimethyl phosphoramidothioate in or on the raw agricultural commodity almonds at 1 part per million.

This temporary tolerance will permit the marketing of almonds when treated in accordance with a temporary permit which is being issued concurrently under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act.

An evaluation of the scientific data reported has shown that the tolerance is adequate to cover residues resulting from the proposed experimental use, and it has been determined that such tolerance will protect the public health. The temporary tolerance is established, therefore, for the insecticide with the following provisions:

1. The total amount of the active ingredient to be used must not exceed the quantity authorized by the temporary permit.
2. Chevron Chemical Co. must immediately notify the EPA of any findings from the experimental use that have a bearing on safety. The company must also keep records of production, distribution, and performance and on request make the records available to any authorized officer or employee of the EPA or Food and Drug Administration.
3. Almond hulls from almonds treated under this experimental program must not be used for feed purposes.

This temporary tolerance expires November 24, 1976. Residues not in excess of this temporary tolerance remaining in or on the above raw agricultural commodity after expiration of this tolerance will not be considered actionable if the insecticide is legally applied during the term and in accordance with the provisions of the temporary permit and temporary tolerance. This temporary tolerance may be revoked if the temporary permit is revoked or if any scientific data or experience with the insecticide indicate that such revocation is necessary to protect the public health.

Dated: November 24, 1975.

Acting Director, Registration Division.

FOOD ADDITIVE PETITION

Notice of Filing

The Union Carbide Corp., 1730 Pennsylvania Ave. NW., Washington D.C. 20006, has submitted a food additive petition (FAP 6H5108) to the Environmental Protection Agency which proposes to amend 21 CFR 561 by establishing a feed additive regulation permitting the use of the insecticide/nematocide [(2-methyl-2-methylthio) propionaldehyde-0-(methylcarbamoyl)] oxime in a proposed experimental program involving application of the pesticide to growing oranges with a tolerance limitation of 0.6 part per million for residues of the insecticide/nematocide and its cholinesterase-inhibiting metabolites aldicarb sulfoxide and aldicarb sulfone in dried citrus pulp.

Notice of this submission is given pursuant to Section 409(b)(5) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the petition referred to in this notice to the Federal Register Section, Technical Services Division (WH–569), Office of Pesticide Programs, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 401, East Tower, 401 M St. SW, Washington D.C. 20460. Three copies of the comments should be submitted to facilitate the work of the Agency and others interested in inspecting them. The comments should be submitted as soon as possible and should bear a notation indicating the petition number "FAP 6H5108". Comments may be made at any time while a petition is pending before the Agency. All written comments will be available for public inspection in the office of the Federal Register Section from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Dated: November 24, 1975.

RECEIPT OF APPLICATIONS FOR PESTICIDE REGISTRATION

Data To Be Considered in Support of Applications

On November 19, 1973, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (38 FR 31862) its interim policy with respect to the administration of Section 3(c)(1)(D) of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended. This policy provides that EPA will, upon receipt of every application for registration, publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice containing the information shown below. The labeling furnished by the applicant will be available for examination at the Environmental Protection Agency, Room EB–31, East Tower, 401 M Street, SW, Washington DC 20460.

On or before February 2, 1976, any person who (a) is or has been an applicant, (b) believes that data he developed and submitted to EPA on or after October 21, 1972, is being used to support an application described in this notice, (c) desires to assert a claim for compensation under Section 3(c)(1)(D) for such use of his data, and (d) wishes to preserve his right to have the Administrator determine the amount of reasonable compensation to which he is entitled for such use of the data, must notify the Administrator and the applicant named in the notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER of his claim by certified mail. Notification to the Administrator should be addressed to the Information Coordination Section, Technical Services Division (WH–569), Office of Pesticide Programs, 401 M Street, SW, Washington DC 20460. Every such claimant must include, at a minimum, the information listed in the interim policy of November 19, 1973.

Applications submitted under 2(a) or 2(b) of the interim policy will be processed to completion in accordance with existing procedures. Applications submitted under 2(c) of the interim policy cannot be made final until the 60 day period has expired. If no claims are received within the 60 day period, the 2(c) application will be processed according to normal procedure. However, if claims are received within the 60 day period, the applicants against whom the claims are asserted will be advised of the alternatives available under the Act. No claims will be accepted for possible EPA adjudication which are received February 2, 1976.

Dated: November 20, 1975.

MARTIN H. ROGOFF,
Director,
Registration Division.

To comply with the advance notice requirements of Pub. L. 92-463, a comparatively long interval of time occurs between publication of this notice and the actual meeting. Consequently, there is no absolute certainty that the listed meeting room will be available on the day of the meeting. Those planning to attend the meeting should report to the room listed in the notice. If a room substitution has been made, the new meeting room location will be posted at the room listed in this notice.

Agendas, working papers, and other appropriate documentation for the meeting is available at that meeting. Those desiring more specific information may contact either the designated Chairman or the RTCM Secretariat. (Phone (202) 632-6490.)

The RTCM has acted as a coordinator for maritime telecommunications since its establishment in 1947. Problems are studied by Special Committees and the final report is approved by the RTCM Executive Committee. All RTCM meetings are open to the public. Written statements are preferred but by previous arrangement, oral presentations will be permitted within time and space limitations.

[Docket No. 20649; RM-2531]

CERTAIN FOREIGN STATIONS

Order Extending Time for Filing Comments and Reply Comments

In the matter of applicability of Section 325(b) of the Communications Act to noninterconnected distribution of television programming to certain foreign stations.

1. On October 16, 1975, the Commission adopted a Notice of Inquiry in the above-entitled proceeding. Publication was given in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 29, 1975, 40 FR 50309. The dates for filing comments and reply comments are presently November 28 and December 8, 1975, respectively.

2. On November 13, 1975, counsel for Garryowen Corporation ("Garryowen"), licensee of television Stations KTVO, Billings, Montana; KXLF, Butte, Montana; and KRTV, Great Falls, Montana, requested that the time for filing comments be extended for an additional 30 days. On November 17, 1975, counsel for Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc., MCA, Inc., Paramount Pictures Corporation, Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, United Artists Corporation, and Warner Bros. Inc. ("Program Suppliers") requested an additional 90 days. Garryowen states that the requested extension is necessary in order to provide the Commission with detailed data pertaining to the actual and quantifiable reduction in U.S. viewing audiences, revenues and profits lost as a result of the pre-release practice. Program Suppliers states that the Commission in its Notice encouraged interested parties to comment on all aspects of the inquiry and listed under "Program Producers and Suppliers" eight areas of inquiry for these parties to address. It notes that a full response will require the accumulation of detailed data, preparation of a statistical analysis and preparation of predictions as to the impact of restrictive regulation based on alternative assumptions. Program Suppliers also adds that it will be necessary for each of the producers to elicit substantial data from their Canadian offices, that data will then have to be collated with the date obtained by other producers, together with an overall analysis based on all such data.

3. We are of the view that the public interest would be served by extending the time in this proceeding. Accordingly, It is ordered, That the requests for extension of time in Docket No. 20649 filed by Garryowen Corporation and Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc., MCA, Inc., Paramount Pictures Corporation, Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, United Artists Corporation, and Warner Bros. Inc., are granted, by extending the time for filing comments and reply comments to and including February 27, 1976, and March 16, 1976, respectively.

4. This action is taken pursuant to authority found in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281 of the Commission's Rules.

Adopted: November 21, 1975.

Released November 21, 1975.

Acting Chief, Broadcast Bureau.

Meeting

Notice is hereby given that a "Conference to Discuss Power Plant Productivity," will be held from 8:30 a.m., to 6:00 p.m., January 6, 1976, in the 5th floor conference room of the MONY Building, 1655 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Georgia.

The purpose of the conference is to provide for an exchange of information and ideas among owner/operators of nuclear and large fossil-fired electric power generating units aimed at improving the productivity of these units.

Invitees to the conference will be from electric utilities located in FEA Region IV, i.e., Kentucky, Tennessee, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and the Canal Zone that own/operate or have under construction or in planning nuclear and 390 megawatts and larger oil or coal-fired generating units.

The agenda for the meeting is as follows:

8:30 to 8:45 am	FEA introductory remarks.
8:45 to 9:15 a.m.	FEA status report on actions to implement Recommendations contained in report on improving the productivity of electric power plants.
9:15 to 12 m.	Utility statements.
12 m. to 1:30 p.m.	Lunch break.
1:30 to 4:30 p.m.	Utility statements.
4:30 to 5:30 p.m.	Statements by others.
5:30 to 6 p.m.	Summary by FEA and questions/answers.
6 p.m.	Adjourn.

The meeting is open to the public. The meeting chairman is empowered to conduct the meeting in a fashion that will, in his judgment, facilitate the orderly conduct of business. Any member of the public who wishes to file a written statement with the conference chairman will be permitted to so do either before or after the meeting. Members of the public who wish to make oral statements should inform Bob Nelson (202) 961-6193, at least five days before the meeting and reasonable provisions will be made for their appearance on the agenda. Further information concerning this meeting may be obtained from Mr. Nelson.

Minutes of the meeting will be made available for public inspection at the Federal Energy Administration, Washington, DC, and Atlanta, Georgia.

Issued at Washington, D.C. on November 26, 1975.

MICHAEL F. BUTLER,
General Counsel.

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

[Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1506]

AMERICAN CONTAINER TRANSPORT, INC.

Order of Revocation

By letter dated October 2, 1975, American Container Transport, Inc., P.O. Box 9085, Baltimore, Maryland 21222 was advised by the Federal Maritime Commission that Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1506 would be automatically revoked or suspended unless a valid surety bond was filed with the Commission on or before October 30, 1975.

Section 44(c), Shipping Act, 1916, provides that no independent ocean freight forwarder license shall remain in force unless a valid bond is in effect and on file with the Commission. Rule 510.9 of Federal Maritime Commission General Order 4, further provides that a license will be automatically revoked or suspended for failure of a licensee to maintain a valid bond on file.

American Container Transport, Inc. has failed to furnish a valid surety bond.

By virtue of authority vested in me by the Federal Maritime Commission as set forth in Manual of Orders, Commission Order No. 201.1 (Revised) Section 5.01 (c) (dated June 30, 1975);

It is ordered, That Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1506 be returned to the Commission for cancellation.

It is further ordered, That Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1506 issued to American Container Transport, Inc. be and is hereby revoked effective October 30, 1975.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this Order be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and served upon American Container Transport, Inc.

LEROY F. FULLER,
Director, Bureau of Certification & Licensing.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

FIRST NATIONAL AGENCY, INC.

Order Approving Formation of Bank Holding Company and Retention of Insurance Agency Activties

First National Agency, Inc., Wayne, Nebraska, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)) of formation of a bank holding company through acquisition of 88.7 percent of the voting shares of First National Bank of Wayne, Wayne, Nebraska ("Bank"). Applicant has also applied, pursuant to section 4(c)(8) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and section 25.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y, for permission to retain the general insurance agency business (in a town with a population of less than 5,000) presently operated by First National Agency, Inc. on the premises of Bank. Such activities have been determined by the Board to be closely related to banking (12 CFR 225.4(a)(9)(iii)(a)).

Notice of the applications, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with sections 3 and 4 of the Act (40 FR 26734). The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the applications and all comments received have been considered in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act, and the considerations specified in section 4(c)(8) of the Act.

Applicant was organized in February 1974 for the purposes of becoming a bank holding company through acquisition of Bank and of operating an insurance agency business. Bank, with deposits of approximately $12 million, representing .02 of 1 per cent of the total commercial bank deposits in Nebraska,[1] is the second largest of five banks located in the relevant banking market.[2] Inasmuch as Applicant has no existing subsidiary banks and the proposal represents merely a restructuring of Bank's ownership, the acquisition of Bank by Applicant would have no adverse effects on competition within the area served by Bank. Accordingly, it is concluded that competitive considerations are consistent with approval of the application.

The financial condition, managerial resources, and prospects of Bank are regarded as satisfactory and consistent with approval of the application. The management of Applicant is satisfactory, and Applicant's financial condition and prospects, which are dependent upon profitable operations of both Bank and the insurance agency, appear favorable. Although Applicant will incur debt in connection with the proposal, the projected income from Bank and the insurance agency activities should provide sufficient revenue to service the debt without impairing the financial condition of Bank. In addition, the Board notes that principals of Applicant, through nine other one-bank holding companies, have interests in six banks in Colorado and three banks in Nebraska. In situations where individuals are involved in more than one one-bank holding company, such as where individuals have established a series or chain of one-bank holding companies, the Board has indicated that such organizations should be analyzed under more restrictive financial standards than are normally used in analyzing multi-bank holding companies.[3] Having applied such standards to the present proposal, the Board finds that financial considerations, including the other banking factors, relating to the present proposal are generally satisfactory and consistent with approval of the application. Considerations relating to convenience and needs are also regarded as being consistent with approval of the application to acquire Bank. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the proposal to form a bank holding company would be consistent with the public interest and the application should be approved.

Applicant has also applied to the Board to retain ownership of the insurance agency business, pursuant to § 225.4(a)(9)(iii)(á) of Regulation Y, which it purchased in March 1974. The agency would continue to engage in the sale of general insurance lines and as credit life insurance; medical and hospital insurance; crop hail, fire and casualty insurance; automobile liability insurance; homeowner's insurance; landlord and tenant insurance; multi-peril insurance, workmen's compensation and surety bonds. Such insurance activities are conducted on the premises of Bank in Wayne, Nebraska, a town which has a population of less than 5,000. It does not appear that the retention of the insurance agency business would have any significant effect on existing or future competition. On the other hand, approval of the application would assure residents of the area of the continuance of a convenient source of insurance services, which factor the Board regards as being in the public interest. There is no evidence in the record indicating that consummation of the proposal would result in any undue concentration of resources, unfair competition, conflicts of interest, unsound banking practices or other adverse effects on the public interest.

Based on the foregoing and other considerations reflected in the record, the Board has determined that the considerations affecting the competitive factors under § 3(c) of the Act and the balance of the public interest factors the Board must consider under § 4(c)(8) both favor approval of Applicant's proposals.

Accordingly, the applications are approved for the reasons summarized above. The acquisition of Bank shall not be made (a) before the thirtieth calendar day following the effective date of this Order; nor (b) later than three months after the effective date of this Order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City pursuant to delegated authority. The determination as to Applicant's insurance activities is subject to the conditions set forth in section 225.4(c) of Regulation Y and to the Board's authority to require reports by, and make examinations of, holding companies and their subsidiaries and to require such modification or termination of the activities of a bank holding company or any of its subsidiaries as the Board finds necessary to assure compliance with the provisions and purposes of the Act and the Board's regulations and orders issued thereunder, or to prevent evasion thereof.

By order of the Board of Governors,[4] effective November 25, 1975.

[SEAL] GRIFFITH L. GARWOOD,
Assistant Secretary of the Board.

VALLEY BANCORP.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

Valley Bancorporation, Appleton, Wisconsin, has applied for the Board's approval under Section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)), to acquire 80 percent or more of the voting shares of State Bank of Fredonia, Fredonia, Wisconsin ("Bank").

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with Section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in Section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant, the seventh largest banking organization in Wisconsin, controls 12 banks with aggregate deposits of $298.9 million,[1] which represent about 1.7 percent of the total commercial bank deposits in the State. Applicant also controls a trust company and six other nonbank companies. Upon consummation of this proposal, the increase in commercial bank deposits controlled by Applicant would be only nominal, and Applicant's rank in the State would not change. The proposed acquisition would not result in a significant increase in the concentration of banking resources in Wisconsin.

Bank holds deposits of $4.1 million, representing only 0.1 percent of the total deposits of commercial banks in the relevant market, and is the 57th largest of 60 banking organizations operating therein.[3] The banking office of a subsidiary of Applicant closest to the sole office of Bank is located about 17 miles northwest in Kewaskum, Wisconsin. Applicant's subsidiary bank in Kewaskum is located outside the relevant market and there is no meaningful competition presently existing between it and Bank, nor is there any existing competition between Bank and Applicant's other 12 banks. Moreover, future competition between these banks is unlikely to develop due to the restrictions of Wisconsin branching law and the nature of the intervening areas. Although Applicant has the resources to enter the Milwaukee market de novo, the low ratio of population to number of banking offices and the low absolute population growth of the Fredonia area of the Milwaukee market makes de novo entry unlikely, and the acquisition of Bank by Applicant as a foothold entry is an acceptable alternative. Accordingly, competitive considerations are consistent with approval of the application.

The financial and managerial resources and future prospects of Applicant and its existing subsidiary banks are considered generally satisfactory, particularly in view of capital funds which Applicant has injected into certain subsidiary banks pursuant to a previous commitment. Bank's present financial condition and capitalization is considered to be generally sound under current ownership, and its future prospects would be significantly enhanced as a subsidiary of Applicant.

Applicant proposes to assist Bank upgrade the services it offers to the public. The many financial, managerial, and other resources of Applicant would be made available to Bank, which should increase Bank's internal efficiencies and increase the quality and quantity of services to the public. New trust services, not now available in Fredonia, would be introduced by Bank with assistance from Applicant's trust company subsidiary. Convenience and needs considerations are consistent with and lend some weight toward approval of the application. It has been determined that the proposed acquisition is in the public interest and that the application should be approved for the reasons summarized above.

On the basis of the record as summarized above, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago approves the application, provided the transaction shall not be consummated (a) before the thirtieth calendar day following the effective date of this Order, or (b) later than three months after the effective date of this Order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board or this Federal Reserve Bank pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, acting pursuant to delegated authority for the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, effective November 19, 1975.

First Vice President.

REGULATORY REPORTS REVIEW

Receipt of Report Proposal

The following request for clearance of a report intended for use in collecting information from the public was received by the Regulatory Reports Review Staff, GAO, on November 25, 1975. See 44 U.S.C. 3512 (c) & (d). The purpose of publishing this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER is to inform the public of such receipt.

The notice includes the title of the request received; the name of the agency sponsoring the proposed collection of information; the agency form number, if applicable; and the frequency with which the information is proposed to be collected.

Written comments on the proposed FPC form are invited from all interested persons, organizations, public interest groups, and affected businesses. Because of the limited amount of time GAO has to review the proposed form, comments (in triplicate) must be received on or before December 19, 1975, and should be addressed to Mr. Carl F. Bogar, Assistant Director, Office of Special Programs, United States General Accounting Office, Room 5216, 425 I Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20548.

Further information may be obtained from Patsy J. Stuart of the Regulatory Reports Review Staff, 202-376-5425.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

Request for clearance of new Form No. 12E-2, "Supplemental Power Statement (Supplement to FPC Form No. 12)," which is to supersede Form No. 12E-1, Monthly Power Statement. The new Form No. 12E-2 consists of five schedules dealing with: (1) reporting month energy, capability and peak load data; (2) near-term summer/winter capability and peak load data; (3) generating unit additions, revisions and retirements—ten year plans; (4) transmission line additions, revisions and retirements—six year plans; and (5) ten year energy and peak load forecast. It is estimated that the number of responding electric utilities will be 275 instead of the 580 respondents to Form No. 12E-1, Schedule 1 is to be filed monthly on the 15th of the month following the reporting month and it is estimated that approximately 2 man hours will be required for each monthly report. Schedules 2-5 are to be filed semi-annually on April 1st and October 1st of each year and it is estimated that approximately 4 man hours will be required per response.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50–237]

COMMONWEALTH EDISON CO. (DRESDEN NUCLEAR POWER STATION UNIT 2)

Proposed Issuance of Amendment to Provisional Operating License

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering the issuance of an amendment to Provisional Operating License No. DPR–19, issued to the Commonwealth Edison Company (the licensee), for operation of the Dresden Nuclear Power Station Unit 2 (the facility), a boiling water reactor located in Grundy County, Illinois, and currently authorized for operation at power levels up to 2527 MWt.

In accordance with the licensee's application for a license amendment dated July 1, 1975, as supplemented, the amendment would modify operating limits in the Technical Specifications based upon an evaluation of ECCS performance calculated in accordance with an acceptable evaluation model that conforms to the requirements of the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR § 50.46. The amendment would modify various limits established in accordance with the Commission's Interim Acceptance Criteria, and would, with respect to the facility, terminate the further restrictions imposed by the Commission's December 27, 1974 Order for Modification of License, and would impose instead, limitations established in accordance with the Commission's Acceptance Criteria for Emergency Core Cooling Systems for Light Water Nuclear Power Reactors, 10 CFR Section 50.46. The amendment would also revise the Technical Specifications to permit operation of the facility using operating limits based on the General Electric Thermal Analysis Basis (GETAB) in accordance with the licensee's application for license amendment dated September 3, 1975.

Prior to issuance of the proposed license amendment, the Commission will have made the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations.

By January 1, 1976, the Licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER Notice and § 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555 and to John W. Rowe, Esquire of Isham, Lincoln and Beale, One First National Plaza, Chicago, Illinois 60670, the attorney for the licensee.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the application for amendment dated July 1, 1975 (as supplemented by filings dated July 7 and 10, 1975, August 25, 1975, and September 19, 1975), and September 3, 1975, (2) the April 8, 1975 Quad-Cities Unit 2 licensee submittal in Docket 50–265 which is applicable to Dresden 2 and is the non-proprietary version of the Dresden 2 proprietary submittal dated July 21, 1975, (3) the Commission's Order for Modification of License dated December 27, 1974 and the documents referred to in the Order (published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 9, 1975, 40 F.R. 1790), (4) the non-proprietary General Electric Report NEDO–10958 on GETAB, and (5) the Commission's evaluation dated September 1974 of the General Electric Report (NEDO–10958). All of these items are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., and at the Morris Public Library at 604 Liberty Street in Morris, Illinois 60451. The license amendment and the Safety Evaluation, when issued, may be inspected at the above locations and a copy may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 21st day of November, 1975.

[Docket No. 50–29]

YANKEE ATOMIC ELECTRIC CO.

Proposed Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering the issuance of an amendment to Facility Operating License No. DPR–3 issued to Yankee Atomic Electric Company (the licensee) for operation of the Yankee Nuclear Power Station (the facility), a pressurized-water reactor located in Rowe, Massachusetts, and currently authorized for operation at power levels up to 600 MWt.

In accordance with the licensee's application for a license amendment dated September 25, 1975, the amendment would add provisions in the Technical Specifications related to the design of spent fuel storage racks. The licensee proposes to replace two of the existing three storage racks which have a combined storage capacity of 66 fuel assemblies with anodized aluminum fixed poison (Boral) curtain racks which have a capacity of 285 assemblies. Some increased capacity would be accomplished as a result of the reduced center-to-center spacing of the assemblies in the design of the proposed spent fuel storage racks. The existing third fuel storage rack which has a capacity of 106 fuel assemblies will be retained and used for storage of assemblies that have a minimum burnup of 20,000 MWD/MTU.

Prior to issuance of the proposed license amendment, the Commission will have made the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations.

By January 1, 1976, the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER Notice and § 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555 and to Frederic Greenmond, Esquire, New England Electric System, 20 Turnpike Road, Westboro, Massachusetts 01581, the attorney for the licensee.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see the application for amendment dated September 25, 1975, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, NW., Washington, D.C., and at the Greenfield Public Library, 402 Main Street, Greenfield, Massachusetts. The license amendment and the Safety Evaluation, when issued, may be inspected at the above locations and a copy may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

ARIZONA PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY, ET AL.

Notice of Availability of Draft Supplement to Final Environmental Statement for Palo Verde Nuclear Generating Station, Units 1, 2, and 3

Notice is hereby given that a Draft Supplement to the Final Environmental Statement prepared by the Commission's Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation related to the proposed Palo Verde Nuclear Generating Station, Units 1, 2, and 3 to be constructed in Maricopa County, Arizona, by the Arizona Public Service Company, is available for inspection by the public in the Commission's Public Document Room at 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. and in the Phoenix Public Library, Science and Industry Section, 12 East McDowell Road, Phoenix, Arizona. The Draft Supplemental Statement is also being made available at the Department of Economic Planning and Development, State of Arizona, 1624 West Adams Street, Phoenix, Arizona, and at the Maricopa Association of Governments, 1820 West Washington Street, Phoenix, Arizona. Requests for copies of the Draft Supplement to the Final Environmental Statement should be addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C., Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

On September 25, 1975, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission issued a Final Environmental Statement for the Palo Verde Nuclear Generating Station, Units 1, 2, and 3 (40 FR 44199). The Tucson Gas and Electric Company has since withdrawn from the consortium building the plant and has been replaced by the

Southern California Edison Company, thus requiring a supplement to the Final Environmental Statement.

Interested persons may submit comments on the Draft Supplement to the Final Environmental Statement for the Commission's consideration. Federal and State agencies are being provided with copies of the Draft Supplemental Statement (local agencies may obtain these documents upon request). Comments are due by January 19, 1976. Comments by Federal, State, and local officials, or other persons received by the Commission will be made available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room in Washington, D.C. and the Phoenix Public Library, Science and Industry Section, 12 East McDowell Road, Phoenix, Arizona. Upon consideration of comments submitted with respect to the draft supplemental statement, the Commission's staff will prepare a final supplemental statement, the availability of which will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Comments on the Draft Supplement to the Final Environmental Statement from interested persons of the public should be addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 25th day of November 1975.

SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO COMMISSIONER

Notice of Appointment

NOVEMBER 25, 1975.

On October 20, 1975, the Prehearing Conference Statement of the Officer of the Commission noted that Stephen L. Sharfman, Trial Attorney for the Litigation Division of the Commission had been assigned to the staff of the Officer of the Commission who shall represent the interests of the general public in Docket No. R76-1 pursuant to Section 3624(a) of the Postal Reorganization Act (39 U.S.C. § 3624(a)). Mr. Sharfman has recently been appointed as Special Assistant to Commissioner Paul A. Miltich, effective on or about November 22, 1975. To permit Mr. Sharfman to prepare for and carry out his new duties, his assignment to the staff of the Officer of the Commission has been concluded.

The Commission has given careful consideration to the question of whether Mr. Sharfman's association with the Officer of the Commission will preclude him from advising the Commission with respect to decisions in this proceeding. After a complete review of Mr. Sharfman's actions including appearances at prehearing conferences and the preparation of pretrial pleadings, we have concluded that neither Rule 8 of the Commission's Rules of Practice nor any other law or regulation preclude Mr. Sharfman from advising the Commission with respect to its decision in this proceeding. Out of an abundance of caution, however, neither the Commission nor Commissioner Miltich will be advised by Mr. Sharfman on any matters as to which the Officer of the Commission has taken a position in the pretrial proceedings in Docket No. R76-1.

Mr. Sharfman has also served as counsel for the Officer of the Commission designated to serve the interests of the general public in Docket No. MC 73-1. Because his participation in Phase I of that case has been extensive, neither the Commission nor Commissioner Miltich will be advised by Mr. Sharfman on any matter in Phase I of Docket No. MC 73-1, nor on any matter in any other Phase of that proceeding, as to which the Officer of the Commission has taken a position in the record to date.

By the Commission.

JAMES R. LINDSAY,
Secretary.

Pursuant to subsection (c)(1) of Rule 17Ab2-1 under the Act, if requested by an applicant, the Commission may grant the applicant registration as a clearing agency but exempt the applicant from one or more of the requirements as to which the Commission is directed to make a determination pursuant to subparagraphs (A)-(I) of section 17A(b)(3) of the Act. Registration pursuant to subsection (c)(1) of Rule 17Ab2-1 shall not be effective for more than eighteen (18) months from the date on which registration is made effective by the Commission.

Subsection (c)(2) of Rule 17Ab2-1 requires that, in the case of any clearing agency registered in accordance with subsection (c)(1) of Rule 17Ab2-1, the Commission, not later than nine (9) months from the date such registration is made effective, will either grant registration without exempting the registrant from one or more of the requirements as to which the Commission is directed to make a determination pursuant to subparagraphs (A)-(I) of Section 17A(b)(3) or will institute proceedings to determine whether registration should be denied at the expiration of eighteen (18) months.

In accordance with Securities Exchange Act Release No. 11787, announcing the adoption of Rule 17Ab2-1 and related Form CA-1, it is the Commission's intention, in appropriate cases, to grant registration on or before December 1, 1975, to be effective on December 1, 1975, to applicants which request registration in accordance with subsection (c)(1) of Rule 17Ab2-1 and which filed applications on or prior to November 24, 1975.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing applications within six weeks from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such written data, views and arguments will be considered by the Commission in granting registration or instituting proceedings to determine whether registration should be denied in accordance with subsection (c)(2) of Rule 17Ab2-1. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C., 20549. Reference should be made to the appropriate file number.

Copies of the applications and of all written comments will be available for inspection at the Securities and Exchange Commission's Public Reference Room, 1100 L Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20006.

By the Commission

[SEAL] GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

Manpower Administration

EMPLOYMENT TRANSFER AND BUSINESS COMPETITION DETERMINATIONS UNDER THE RURAL DEVELOPMENT ACT

Notice of Applications

The organizations listed in the attachment have applied to the Secretary of Agriculture for financial assistance in the form of grants, loans, or loan guarantees in order to establish or improve facilities at the locations listed for the purposes given in the attached list. The financial assistance would be authorized by the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended, 7 USC 1924(b), 1932, or 1942(b).

The Act requires the Secretary of Labor to determine whether such Federal assistance is calculated to or is likely to result in the transfer from one area to another of any employment or business activity provided by operations of the applicant. It is permissible to assist the establishment of a new branch, affiliate or subsidiary, only if this will not result in increased unemployment in the place of present operations and there is no reason to believe the new facility is being established with the intention of closing down an operating facility.

The Act also prohibits such assistance if the Secretary of Labor determines that it is calculated to or is likely to result in an increase in the production of goods, materials, or commodities, or the availability of services or facilities in the area, when there is not sufficient demand for such goods, materials, commodities, services, or facilities to employ the efficient capacity of existing competitive commercial or industrial enterprises, unless such financial or other assistance will not have an adverse effect upon existing competitive enterprises in the area.

The Secretary of Labor's review and certification procedures are set forth at 29 CFR Part 75, published January 29, 1975 (40 FR 4393). In determining whether the applications should be approved or denied, the Secretary will take into consideration the following factors:

1. The overall employment and unemployment situation in the local area in which the proposed facility will be located.

2. Employment trends in the same industry in the local area.

3. The potential effect of the new facility upon the local labor market, with particular emphasis upon its potential impact upon competitive enterprises in the same area.

4. The competitive effect upon other facilities in the same industry located in other areas (where such competition is a factor).

5. In the case of applications involving the establishment of branch plants or facilities, the potential effect of such new facilities on other existing plants or facilities operated by the applicant.

All persons wishing to bring to the attention of the Secretary of Labor any information pertinent to the determinations which must be made regarding these applications are invited to submit such information in writing within two weeks of publication of this notice to: Deputy Assistant Secretary for Manpower, 601 D Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20213.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 24th day of November, 1975.

BEN BURDETSKY,
Deputy Assistant Secretary for Manpower.

BIRCH DOOR SKIN INDUSTRY

Import Relief

On October 20, 1975, the International Trade Commission (ITC), in accordance with the provisions of Section 201 of the Trade Act of 1974 and in response to a petition for import relief filed by the Columbia Plywood Corporation reported to the President that:

On the basis of its investigation, the Commission does not determine that birch plywood door skins, i.e., plywood, with a face ply of birch, not exceeding in any dimension 5/32 inch in thickness, 47 inches in width, and 85 inches in length, provided for in item 240.14 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article.

(USITC Publication 748;40 FEDERAL REGISTER 50320.)

Section 224 of the Trade Act provides, in substance, that whenever the United States International Trade Commission begins an investigation under Section 201 of the Act with respect to an industry, the Secretary shall immediately begin a study of—

(2) The extent to which the adjustment of such workers to the import competition may be facilitated through the use of existing programs.

The Secretary must make a report of this study to the President not later than 15 days after the day on which the Commission makes its report under Section 201. Upon making his report to the President, the Secretary shall also make it public (with the exception of information which the Secretary determines to be confidential) and shall have a summary of it published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Department of Labor has concluded its study and report on birch plywood door skins. The findings of this report are as follows:

1. On May 15, 1975, the Department of Labor certified approximately 300 workers of the Allen Quimby Veneer Company in Bingham, Maine as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance in accordance with the provisions of the Trade Act. As of September 30, 1975, 303 of them had been found eligible to receive assistance.

2. One group of 25 workers may apply for certification of eligibility to apply for trade adjustment assistance and may subsequently be certified by the Department of Labor over the next year.

3. There will be difficulty in placing dislocated individuals in equivalent employment because of limited employment opportunities within the industry, the general lack of mobility of the workers, and poor local economic conditions. Consequently, reemployment, if sought, will involve considerable retraining and relocation.

4. The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) programs appear to be sufficient to meet the needs of the small number who are likely to seek manpower services. The Manpower Administration through its State Employment Service has the authority to purchase training when CETA funds are not available.

Copies of the Department report containing the nonconfidential information developed in the course of the 6-month investigation may be obtained, upon request, from the Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210 (phone 202-523-7665).

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 21st day of November 1975.

JOEL SEGALL,
Deputy Under Secretary of Labor for International Affairs.

COBBLERS, INC.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On November 14, 1975, the Department of Labor received a petition filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the United Shoe Workers of America on behalf of the workers and former workers of Richard Shoe Corporation, Culver City, California, a subsidiary of Cobblers, Incorporated, Culver City, California (TA-W-337). Accordingly, the Acting Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with women's casual footwear produced by Cobblers, Incorporated or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Acting Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than December 12, 1975.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Acting Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 3rd St. and Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 14th day of November 1975.

(7) The Vocational Rehabilitation Act Amendments, 1965, 20 U.S.C. 1241.

(8) The Arts and Humanities Act of 1965, 20 U.S.C. 953, except those provisions relating to safety and health delegated to the Assistant Secretary for Occupational Safety and Health.

(9) The Federal Employees' Compensation Act, as amended and extended (5 U.S.C. 8101 et seq., except 8149 as it pertains to the Employees' Compensation Appeals Board).

(10) The Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act, as amended and extended, except 33 U.S.C. 921(b) as it applies to the Benefits Review Board.

(11) Title IV, Section 415 and Part C, of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969, as amended by the Black Lung Benefits Act of 1972, 30 U.S.C. 901 et seq.

(12) The Act of 1920 establishing a Women's Bureau (P.L. 66-259).

(13) The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 (P.L. 90-202), except those provisions relating to studies and research delegated to the Assistant Secretary for Employment and Training.

(14) The Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act of 1963 (P.L. 88-582), except those provisions relating to the receipt of applications for registration and agreements with Federal or State agencies assigned to the Assistant Secretary for Employment and Training.

(15) The Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1972, as amended, 38 U.S.C. 2012, except for those mandatory listing obligations already delegated to the Assistant Secretary for Employment and Training.

(16) Sections 501(a), 501(f), 502, and 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, (P.L. 93-112) and Executive Order 11758, except sections 501(b) and 504 of the Act delegated to the Assistant Secretary for Administration and Management; and except Section 504 of the Act as it applies to employment and training programs.

(17) Executive Order 1126—as amended by Executive Order 11221—Status of Women.

(18) Executive Order 11246—as amended by Executive Order 11375—Federal Contract Compliance.

(19) Section 1450(1) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (P.L. 93-523).

(20) Section 507 of the Federal Water Pollution Prevention and Control Act (P.L. 87-88, as amended by P.L. 89-234).

(21) Such additional Federal Acts as may from time to time confer upon the Secretary of Labor duties and responsibilities similar to the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. 201 et seq., or the Davis-Bacon Act, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a-f, and related Acts.

b. In carrying out the authority and responsibility delegated under this Order, the Assistant Secretary for Employment Standards shall perform the above functions in accordance with existing governmental and departmental regulations.

c. The Assistant Secretary for Employment Standards is also delegated authority for making organizational changes within policies established by the Secretary.

d. The Solicitor of Labor shall have the responsibility for providing legal advice and assistance to all officers of the Department relating to the administration of the statutes and Executive Orders listed in paragraph 4a above. The bringing of legal proceedings under the statutes and Executive Orders listed in paragraph 4a above, the representation of the Secretary of Labor and/or other officials of the Department of Labor, and the determination of whether such proceedings or representation is appropriate in a given case are delegated exclusively to the Solicitor of Labor.

5. Redelegation of Authority. The authority and responsibility delegated to the Assistant Secretary for Employment Standards may be redelegated.

6. Reservation of Authority. a. Submission of reports and recommendations to the President and the Congress concerning the administration of statutes and Executive Orders listed in paragraph 4a above is reserved to the Secretary.

b. The jurisdiction of the Wage Appeals Board, as presently described in Secretary's Order 24-70 (36 FR 306) and its rules of practice (29 CFR Part 7) is reserved, and the Board shall be authorized to review decisions under this Order relating to the Davis-Bacon Act and related laws within the scope of its jurisdiction.

7. Effective Date. This Order is effective immediately.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 21st day of November, 1975.

[AB 3 (Sub-No. 6)]

MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

Abandonment Between Olivier and Sorrell, in Iberia and St. Mary Parishes, Louisiana

Present: Virginia Mae Brown, Commissioner, to whom the matter which is the subject of this order has been assigned for action thereon.

Upon consideration of the record in the above-entitled proceeding, and of a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey which is available to the public upon request; and

It appearing, That no environmental impact statement need be issued in this proceeding because this proceeding does not represent a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. 4321, et seq.; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That applicant be, and it is hereby, directed to publish the appended notice in a newspaper of general circulation in Iberia and St. Mary Parishes La., on or before December 11, 1975 and certify to the Commission that this has been accomplished.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this finding shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this order and the attached notice in the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., for public inspection, and by delivering a copy of the notice to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER as notice to interested persons.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 18th day of November, 1975.

By the Commission, Commissioner Brown.

ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

[SEAL]

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that by order dated November 18, 1975, it has been determined that the proposed abandonment by the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company of 10.95 mile segment of line between Olvier and Sorrell and a .2 mile portion of line (between mileposts 82.84 and 83.04) in the vicinity of Garden City, all in Iberia and St. Mary Parishes, La., if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332(2)(C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that the environmental impacts of the proposed action are considered insignificant because of the low volume of traffic over the line and the absence of any ecological, historical, or public safety impacts which would result from the abandonment. There are no clearly defined land use plans with which the abandonment would conflict. Southern Pacific would continue to serve most of the affected stations.

This determination was based upon the staff preparation and consideration of an environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Proceedings, Washington, D.C. 20423, telephone 202-343-7966.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., 20423, on or before December 26, 1975.

This negative environmental determination shall become final unless good and sufficient reason demonstrating why an environmental impact statement should be prepared for this action is submitted to the Commission by the above-specified date.

MOTOR CARRIER TEMPORARY AUTHORITY APPLICATIONS

NOVEMBER 26, 1975.

The following are notices of filing of applications for temporary authority under Section 210a(a) of the Interstate Commerce Act provided for under the provisions of 49 C.F.R. 1131.3. These rules provide that an original and six (6) copies of protests to an application may be filed with the field official named in the Federal Register publication no later than the 15th calendar day after the date the notice of the filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. One copy of the protest must be served on the applicant, or its authorized representative, if any, and the protestant must certify that such service has been made. The protest must identify the operating authority upon which it is predicated, specifying the "MC" docket and "Sub" number and quoting the particular portion of authority upon which it relies. Also, the protestant shall specify the service it can and will provide and the amount and type of equipment it will make available for use in connection with the service contemplated by the TA application. The weight accorded a protest shall be governed by the completeness and pertinence of the protestant's information.

Except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.

A copy of the application is on file, and can be examined at the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and also in the I.C.C. Field Office to which protests are to be transmitted.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

Peacetime Responsibilities

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

Title 32—National Defense

CHAPTER V—DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

SUBCHAPTER K—ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY

PART 650—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AND ENHANCEMENT (AR 200–1)

Peacetime Responsibilities

The Secretary of the Army, acting through the Chief of Engineers, hereby adopts the following regulation prescribing policies, responsibilities, and procedures for the protection and preservation of environmental quality for the Department of the Army in peacetime. The regulation implements Department of Defense Directive 5100.50 and provides general guidance to elements within the Department of the Army on environmental protection.

The regulation, as set forth below, is being codified in the Code of Federal Regulations for the first time, although portions of the regulation have been utilized by the Department of the Army since February 1, 1974. The regulation is being adopted without proposed rulemaking because it provides guidance and procedures in the implementation of the pertinent requirements of existing Federal Statutes, Regulations and Executive Orders pertaining to the environmental protection and enhancement, which will be followed by the various military commanders of the Department of the Army. These requirements include: Executive Order 11752, Prevention, Control and Abatement of Environmental Pollution at Federal Facilities (38 FR 34793, December 19, 1973); the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321–4347); the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972, as amended (Pub. L. 92–50, 86 Stat. 816, 33 U.S.C 1251 et al.); the Clean Air Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1857 et al.); the Noise Control Act of 1972 (42 U.S.C. 4901–4918); the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act, as amended by the Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act of 1972 (7 U.S.C. 136–136y); the Solid Waste Disposal Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 3259); the Archeological and Historical Preservation Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93–291), and the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1401–1444). Accordingly, notice of proposed rulemaking and the procedures applicable thereto are considered unnecessary.

This regulation applies to: All active, semiactive and Army Reserve installations and activities located in the United States; National Guard installations and sites supported with Federally appropriated funds; Army installations and activities overseas in accordance with the general provisions set forth in § 650.5(c); and contractor activities and lessees located on real property in the United States under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Army. The Civil Works activities under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Army and implemented by the Chief of Engineers are excluded from the provisions of this regulation. Separate environmental regulations promulgated for Civil Works activities conducted by the Chief of Engineers are found generally in 33 CFR Chapter II.

The proponent agency of this regulation is the Office of the Chief of Engineers. Questions or comments on the regulation may be referred to the following address:

Office of the Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army, ATTN: DAEN–ZCE, Washington, D.C. 20310 (Telephone: 202–694–3434).

Effective date. This regulation is effective December 22, 1975.

WILLIAM R. WRAY,
Major General, USA,
Assistant Chief of Engineers.

This regulation implements DOD Directive 5100.50 and provides general Department of the Army policy on environmental protection. Local limited supplementation of this regulation is permitted, but is not required. If supplements are issued, Army Staff agencies and major Army commands will furnish one copy of each to the Office of the Chief of Engineers, DAEN–ZCE. Other commands will furnish one copy of each to the next higher headquarters.

This regulation supersedes: AR 11–21, November 3, 1967, including all changes; AR 200–2, June 29, 1973; and DA Message DALO–INE 081405Z, January 1974 (U), Subject: Interim change 1 to AR 200–2.

Subpart A—General

§ 650.1 Purpose.

This regulation prescribes policies, assigns responsibilities, and establishes procedures for the protection and preservation of environmental quality for the Department of the Army in peacetime.

§ 650.2 Applicability.

This regulation applies to: (a) All active, semiactive and Army Reserve installations and activities located in the United States.

(b) National Guard installations and sites supported with Federally appropriated funds.

(c) Army installations and activities overseas in accordance with the general provisions set forth in § 650.5(c).

(d) Contractor activities and lessees located on real property in the United States under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Army.

(e) The Civil Works activities under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Army and implemented by the Chief of Engineers are excluded from the provisions of this regulation. Separate environmental regulations promulgated for Civil Works activities by the Chief of Engineers are found generally in 33 CFR Chapter II.

§ 650.3 Explanation of terms.

For the purpose of this regulation, the following apply:

(a) Facility. (AR 310–25.) Facilities include buildings, installations, structures, public works, equipment, aircraft, vessels, and other vehicles and property under the control of or constructed or manufactured for leasing to the Army.

(b) Environmental quality standard. The federal, state and regional quality standards adopted pursuant to the Clean Air Act; Water Pollution Control Act, Noise Control Act and other Federal statutes established for the protection and enhancement of environmental quality.

(c) Environmental performance specifications. Permissible limits of emissions, discharges, or other values applicable to activities which would provide for conformance to environmental quality standards to protect health and welfare.

(d) Environmental pollution. The condition resulting from the presence of chemical, physical, or biological forces which alter the natural environment and thus adversely affect human health or the quality of life, biosystems, structures and equipment, recreational opportunity, aesthetics, and natural beauty.

(e) Environmental enhancement. All actions taken to improve the environment, including but not limited to, those to abate environmental pollution and meet environmental quality standards and performance specifications.

(f) Substantive standards and limitations. The qualitative and quantitative pollution control provisions contained in approved State implementation plans promulgated under Federal environmental protection statutes.

(g) United States. The fifty States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Canal Zone, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

(h) Installation. A grouping of facilities, located in the same vicinity, which support particular functions.

(i) Activity. A unit, organization or installation performing a function or mission.

§ 650.4 Goal.

It is the Department of the Army's goal to plan, initiate, and carry out all actions and programs to minimize the adverse effects on the quality of the human environment without impairment to the Army's mission. Inherent in this goal is the requirement to achieve the following objectives:

(a) Eliminate the discharge of harmful pollutants produced by Army activities.

(b) Conserve and wisely use natural and material resources provided for use throughout the Army.

(c) Maintain, restore, and enhance the natural and manmade environment in terms of its visual attractiveness and productivity.

(d) Demonstrate initiative and leadership in the formulation and execution of a program that contributes to the national goal of preserving and enhancing the environment.

§ 650.5 Policy.

(a) All Department of Defense agencies are required to—

(1) Comply with the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act and all other Federal environmental laws, executive orders, and regulations.

(2) Demonstrate leadership in environmental pollution abatement and enhancement of the environment consistent with the security interests of the Nation.

(b) The Department of the Army policy is that—(1) The achievement of environmental objectives is an integral part of the Army mission.

(2) The environmental consequences of any proposed action will be considered during the planning process and will be evaluated along with the technical and economic factors in the decisionmaking process.

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(3) A detailed environmental impact statement will be prepared and processed in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act when an environmental assessment reveals that the proposed action may significantly affect the quality of the human environment, is highly environmentally controversial, or is anticipated to evoke litigation based upon environmental issues. "Environmentally controversial" relates to cases in which substantive disagreement, real or purported, exists as to the extent, nature, or effect of the action on the environment.

(4) Insofar as essential mission constraints, permit, all programs and actions will be planned, initiated, or carried out in a manner to minimize polluting or degrading the environment.

(5) All activities subject to Federal, State, or local regulation will be conducted in accordance with applicable standards and monitored to insure compliance with such standards.

(6) All material and energy resources will be procured and used in a manner that will minimize the emission of pollutants and the production of wastes in keeping with the national policies for energy conservation. Wastes generated will be reprocessed or reclaimed for other productive uses to the maximum extent practicable.

(7) An understanding of the urgent need to preserve and restore the natural environment and to conserve material resources and an appreciation of the Army's support of the environmental protection effort will be fostered throughout the Army. Initiative, leadership, and cooperation in achieving these environmental objectives are encouraged of all personnel.

(8) Commanders will cooperate, to the extent practicable, in beneficial community environmental action programs.

(9) Historic and cultural sites, structures, and objects under Army jurisdiction will be preserved, restored, and maintained for the benefit and enjoyment of future generations.

(10) An integrated, multi-use, natural resources, land management program will be conducted for forests and woodlands, fish and wildlife, open space, soil, water, vegetation, outdoor recreation, natural beauty, and increased public access and nonconsumptive utilization on lands under Army jurisdiction within the provisions of AR 405–80 and AR 420–74.

(c) At locations outside the United States, Department of the Army activities will comply with the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act as set forth in Subpart B of this part and conform at all times to the environmental quality standards of the host country, international agreements, and Status of Forces Agreements. The provisions of this regulation will be used, to the extent applicable, in fulfilling environmental protection requirements in overseas locations.

(d) When, in the interest of national defense, it is not considered practicable to comply with the foregoing policies, the matter will be referred with full particulars to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE), WASH DC 20310.

§ 650.6 Implementing guidance.

Guidance for implementing DA environmental policies are—(a) The environment must be considered as a single, integrated system characterized by the continuous interaction of air, land, and water.

(b) For planning purposes, the environmental system will be regarded as closed; nothing can be thrown away. Wastes must be either recycled and reclaimed or confined and contained so they will not migrate to re-emerge in pollutant form.

(c) Pollutants are potential resources which are out of place.

§ 650.7 Responsibilities.

(a) Army Environmental Council will—

(1) Review and redirect, as necessary, Army environmental policy and programs to insure the Army fulfills its responsibility under the National Environmental Policy Act and other Federal laws and regulations pertaining to pollution control and environmental protection.

(2) Provide policy guidance on those matters which fall within the cognizance of the Council and on such matters as referred for consideration by the Secretariat or the Army Staff.

(b) Army Environmental Committee will assist the Army Environmental Council by—

(1) Proposing new environmental policies and programs as directed by the Council.

(2) Serving as a forum for the exchange of information and ideas related to the formulation of the Army Environmental Program.

(3) Assisting in the resolution of interagency problems on environmental matters.

(4) Assisting in the formulation of Army-wide implementing instructions for the Army Environmental Program.

(5) Maintaining surveillance over the ongoing Army Environmental Program and activities.

(6) Reviewing Army Environmental Impact Statements and requests for exemption from Federal and State pollution control standards prior to formal approval by the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works).

(7) Providing reports and information as directed by the Army Environmental Council.

(c) Chief of Engineers will—

(1) Exercise primary Army Staff responsibility for directing and coordinating environmental activities within the Army.

(2) Recommend such actions as will enable DA to comply with the intent, purposes, and procedures of the National Environmental Policy Act and other Federal legislation relative to environmental quality.

(3) Apply Army environmental policy and direct programs so that applicable environmental and pollution control laws and regulations are observed in the acquisition, construction, operations, and disposal of real property.

(4) Maintain positive surveillance over and report progress of the design and construction of pollution control facilities for Army installations.

(5) Insure that environmental research and development (R&D) projects fully support the environmental program goals.

(6) Promote participation by engineer troop units in the Army's environmental program.

(7) Provide technical and engineering assistance on the pollution control aspects of construction and the Real Property Maintenance Activities.

(8) Prepare an annual Department of the Army Environmental Quality Status Report (§§ 650.9 and 650.11).

(9) Prescribe procedures in Corps of Engineers regulations to carry out the policies for Civil Works programs as found generally in 33 CFR Chapter II. The activities carried out under the Civil Works program are excluded from the provisions of this regulation (AR 200–1).

(10) Conduct, with the assistance of the Army Staff agencies concerned, a continuing review of DA statutory authority, administrative regulations, policies, procedures, and programs (including those relating to loans, grants, contracts, leases, licenses, or permits) to eliminate deficiencies or inconsistencies which might prohibit or limit full compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, Executive Orders 11514 and 11752, DoD Instruction 4120.14 and DoD Directives 4150.7, 5030.41, 5100.50, 6050.1 and 6050.2.

(d) The Surgeon General will—

(1) Monitor, evaluate, and disseminate data on health and welfare aspects of environmental pollution within the Department of the Army to insure that the required degree of environmental enhancement is maintained.

(2) Provide health and medical policy guidance in respect to instructions and recommendations received from other Federal agencies assigned responsibility for environmental enhancement at Federal installations.

(3) Provide personnel for conducting field investigations and special studies concerning environmental pollution and recommend enhancement measures required for protection of health.

(4) Provide technical assistance and guidance on the health and environmental aspects of management and disposal of hazardous and toxic materials.

(5) Provide technical consultation to OCE and appropriate commanders on health aspects in the development of environmental enhancement policy and programs.

(e) The Chief of Information will—

(1) Insure that the public is informed of the Army's accomplishments in environmental protection and enhancement.

(2) Develop and execute a command information program designed to stimulate understanding and participation by all Army personnel.

(f) Heads of Army Staff agencies will—

(1) Integrate environmental considerations into regularly assigned staff management functions and activities to insure compliance with applicable pollution control and environmental protection laws and to demonstrate the Army's leadership in the national effort to preserve the environment.

(2) Insure that the environmental consequences of each proposed project, program regulation, or action for which they are the Army Staff proponent are assessed at an early stage of planning and are made an integral part of the decision-making process. Further, insure that environmental damage is mitigated to the maximum extent feasible.

(g) Major Army commanders will—

(1) Establish an organizational structure to plan, execute, and monitor environmental programs.

(2) Formulate and execute an environmental program which fully supports the achievement of the Army's environmental goals and objectives.

(3) Monitor and control the environmental projects and activities of the subordinate commands and the installations and activities under their jurisdiction.

(4) Review, consolidate, and forward to higher authority, reports from subordinate installations and activities concerning their environmental projects and activities.

(h) Army installation and activity commanders will—

(1) Establish an organizational structure to plan, execute, and monitor environmental programs.

(2) Formulate and execute an environmental program based on the policies set forth in § 650.5 to achieve the Army's environmnetal goals and objectives.

(3) Cooperate with State and local authorities in formulation and execution of projects and activities required to bring an installation into compliance with applicable Federal, State, and regional pollution control standards.

(4) Integrate environmental protection and preservation activities, to the fullest extent feasible, into the planning and execution of the command's basic mission.

(5) Report, as required, to major commanders on the progress and effectiveness of environmental projects and activities to detect, quantify, and correct pollution sources in accordance with published laws, standards, and guidelines.

§ 650.8 Installation, State and EPA Relationships.

(a) Federal installations are not required to comply with State or local administrative procedures with respect to pollution abatement and control. However, the majority of Federal environmental protection statutes contain provisions that require compliance with Federal, State, interstate and local substantive standards and limitations.

(b) Permits required by Federal statute, notably the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permits, will be obtained from the Environmental Protection Agency in accordance with regulations promulgated pursuant to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and the guidance contained in this regulation.

(c) Compliance schedules required by State Implementation plan for air pollution control, reflecting the major increments of progress for projects designed to meet specified standards, will be negotiated with State regulatory authorities and coordinated with the Regional Office of EPA. When established, such compliance schedules are enforceable and may only be changed by renegotiation.

(d) Performance reports as specified in this regulation on the operation of wastewater treatment facilities, sources of air pollutant emissions, oil spills and such other reports as may be directed by DAEN–ZCE will be submitted to EPA regional authorities, as appropriate, who in turn will transmit appropriate information to State authorities. Requests for substantive reports not provided for by this regulation will be promptly referred to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) Washington, D.C. 20310 for guidance.

(e) Military authorities are to cooperate fully with EPA, State, regional and local authorities requesting access to Army installations for the purpose of inspecting pollution control facilities and activities.

§ 650.9 Annual Status Report on Environmental Programs and Activities (RCS DD–H&E(A)1269).

HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) will prepare the DA Annual Status Report on Environmental Programs and Activities (RCS DD–H&E(A)1269). The DA report will include information on the programs and activities of the major Army commands, the Army Reserve, and the Army National Guard.

(a) Major Army commanders will submit an annual report to DAEN–ZCE not later than February 15, covering actions and activities of the preceding calendar year. The command report should be based on feeder reports from active and semi-active installations. Command and installation reports will include the information outlined in § 650.11 to the extent that it is applicable. Further, the installation report will contain information identified in § 650.11 (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) and (i) for tenant activities and satellited Army Reserve facilities.

(b) The State Adjutants will submit an annual report to the Chief, National Guard Bureau not later than February 1. Negative reports are required. The Chief, National Guard Bureau will consolidate and forward reports containing facilities/sites that are not in compliance with Federal/State standards to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310 not later than February 15. The report will contain the following information:

(1) Status of compliance with Federal/State pollution control standards for those facilities/sites which receive support from Federally appropriated funds. Those not in compliance will be listed separately with the reasons for noncompliance.

(2) Status of programs and actions by facility/site currently ongoing that will bring the facility/site into compliance with Federal/State pollution control requirements.

(3) Those requirements along with estimated cost needed to bring facilities/sites not addressed in paragraph (b)(2) of this section into compliance with Federal/State pollution control standards.

(4) Significant accomplishments by ARNG units to protect and enhance the environment.

(c) Commander in Chief USAREUR; Commanders, Eighth US Army, and US Army, Japan will submit an annual report covering only those elements of § 650.11 which may be applicable. This should include an analysis of the scope of host nation environmental quality laws and regulations, their impact on US Army installations and activities, status of compliance with specific host nation requirements, and a summary of plans to correct any deficiencies.

§ 650.10 Environmental Quality Award.

(a) Secretary of Defense award. The Secretary of Defense presents an annual award to the Department of Defense installation which conducted the best environmental quality program during the preceding calendar year and give recognition to other installations having particularly noteworthy programs. Department of the Army nominees will be selected by the Army Environmental Council from the list of Active Army installations nominated to receive the Secretary of the Army Award.

(b) Secretary of the Army Award. The Secretary of the Army will present an Environmental Quality Award to the Army installation that evidences the most noteworthy contribution to protecting and preserving the quality of the environment. The basis of selection will be the annual Status Report on Environmental Programs and Activities prepared by an installation and used as a feeder report by the major command to its overall report (RCS DD–H&E(A)1269, § 650.9).

(c) Nominating instructions. (1) Army commanders may nominate active or semiactive installations or separate and distinct geographically identifiable activities (e.g., USAMC depot activity and subinstallations) as candidate for the Environmental Quality Award, not to exceed the number listed below:

Command:	Number of nominees
US Army Training and Doctrine Command	3
US Army Forces Command	3
US Army Materiel Command	3
US Army Health Services Command	1
US Army Military District of Washington	1
US Army Security Agency	1
US Army Communications Command	1

(2) The list of nominations will be accompanied by six copies of each installation annual report and submitted to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310 by March 31. Reports will be typewritten or printed, fastened or bound in folders approximately 9 x 11 inches and narrative in style covering the topics in § 650.11.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

§ 650.11 Reporting requirements.

The annual status reports required under the provisions of § 650.9 (RCS DD-H&E(A)1269) will be prepared, using the following format. Each topic will be addressed in sufficient detail to give the next higher headquarters an understanding of the overall environmental program, specific accomplishments, problem areas, and planned new initiatives.

(a) Environmental protection organization.

(1) Organizational structure for environmental matters.

(2) Staffing and management procedures.

(b) National Environmental Policy Act implementation.

(1) Summary of environmental assessments made.

(2) Environmental impact statements prepared and their status.

(c) Air pollution control.

(1) Status of compliance with applicable air quality standards.

(2) Status of corrective projects.

(3) Summary of litigation actions, if any.

(d) Water pollution control.

(1) Status of National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permits requested and issued.

(2) Status of compliance with applicable water quality standards and permit provisions.

(3) Status of corrective projects.

(4) Summary of litigation actions, if any.

(e) Noise pollution control.

(1) Summary of major sources.

(2) Status of corrective measures.

(3) Summary of complaints/litigation, if any.

(f) Radiation pollution control.

(1) Summary of ionizing sources.

(2) Status of protective measures.

(g) Solid waste management.

(1) Summary of waste disposal operations.

(2) Waste recycling (equipment installed and in use, quantities and types of materials recycled, funds derived from sale of waste materials and use made of such funds).

(h) Toxic and hazardous materials management.

(1) Identification of significant toxic materials being controlled.

(2) Summary of types and protective measures for control of oil spills, disposal of toxic chemicals, etc.

(3) Identification of unique problems.

(i) Land management.

(1) Summary of conservation activities (forest, fish and wildlife management, etc.).

(2) Summary of historical and archeological sites and facilities and related preservation activities.

(3) Summary of installation attractiveness program and activities.

(j) Environmental research programs (if applicable).

(1) Summary of ongoing environmental research activities by pollution control media (air, water, etc.)

(2) Summary of technology-application activities.

(3) Identification of new research requirements.

(k) Environmental education, training and information programs.

(1) Status of individual and unit education training activities.

(2) Summary of environmental protection courses given or attended (TRADOC Report will include courses and student attendance at courses in Army School System).

(3) Summary of public information activities.

(l) Environmental enhancement activities.

(1) Summary of environmental enhancement activities and projects conducted in support of Johnny Horizon, Keep America Beautiful, Defense Community Service Program, etc. (includes activities by active and Reserve units).

§ 650.12 Executive Order 11752.

Figure 1-1 is the Presidential Executive Order dated December 17, 1973[1] which sets forth the policy and standards for the prevention, control, and abatement of environmental pollution at DA installations.

Subpart B—Environmental Considerations in DA Actions

General

§ 650.21 Purpose.

This chapter states Department of the Army policy, assigns responsibilities and establishes procedures for assessing the environmental impact of Department of the Army actions on the quality of the human environment as required by Pub. L. 91-190, "National Environmental Policy Act of 1969," January 1, 1970; and implements DOD Directive 6050.1, Environmental Considerations in DOD Actions, March 19, 1974.

§ 650.22 Background.

(a) Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), Pub. L. 91-190, requires that a detailed environmental impact statement (EIS) be included in "every recommendation or report on proposals for legislation and other major Federal actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment".

(b) Executive Order 11514, March 7, 1970, Protection and Enhancement of Environmental Quality, directs the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) to issue guidelines for Federal agencies on the preparation of the environmental impact statements required by section 102(2)(C) of NEPA.

(c) On August 1, 1973, the CEQ published revised guidelines for the preparation of EIS's. These guidelines contain general guidance for determining when an EIS is required.

[1] 38 FR 34793, December 19, 1973; 3A CFR, 1973 Comp., p. 240.

§ 650.23 Applicability.

(a) The provisions of this chapter apply to Headquarters Department of the Army and all Army commands and agencies (hereafter referred to as "DA agencies") and are effective immediately. The civil works functions of the Corps of Engineers are excluded from complying with these procedures.

(b) The provisions of this regulation apply to DA actions worldwide except for—

(1) Multinational actions (such as NATO) in which the DA is not the primary decisionmaking authority.

(2) Combat or combat-related activities in a combat zone, and

(3) Other emergency activities.

(c) In countries or areas not under US control or administration, DA actions, with the exception of those noted above, are subject to the environmental laws, regulations and stipulations of the foreign government concerned and whatever agreements may exist between the United States and the country involved (Status of Forces Agreements).

§ 650.24 Scope.

(a) General—The legislative history of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality define actions which are to be assessed for their environmental impact. They include, but are not limited to, the following:

(1) Recommendations or favorable report relating to legislation, including that for appropriations.

(2) Policies, regulations and procedure-making.

(3) New and continued projects and program activities—

(i) Directly undertaken by Federal agencies,

(ii) Supported in whole or in part through Federal contracts, grants, subsidies, loans, or other forms of funding assistance; and

(iii) Involving a Federal lease, permit, license, certificate, or other entitlement for use.

(b) Proposals for legislation, annual authorization requests, and favorable reports on legislation.

(1) Legislative proposals other than authorization and appropriation acts. Prior to preparing a legislative proposal, the proponent agency shall assess the environmental consequences of the proposal using the factors in this chapter. If it is determined that the proposal would significantly affect the quality of the human environment, an EIS is required and shall be submitted with the proposal.

(2) Annual budget requests. Prior to submitting annual budget requests, the environmental consequences of each line item requested for inclusion therein shall be assessed by the proponent of the action using as a minimum the factors in this chapter. For those items which are identified as major actions having a significant effect on the quality of the human environment, or which are controversial, a draft environmental impact statement shall be prepared which will accompany the budget request through channels. Additional guidance is contained in the Budget Guidance Manual DOD 7110.1-M and DOD Instruction 7040.4 (Military Construction Authorization and Appropriation).

(3) Favorable reports on legislation.

(i) Where the Department of the Army is not the Federal agency that has primary responsibility for a legislative proposal, no EIS is required from the Army. If it is not clear from the legislative item whether the Army is the primary Federal agency responsible for the subject matter involved in the legislative item, advice should be sought from COE, DA (DAEN-ZCE).

(ii) Where the Army is the Federal agency that has primary responsibility for the subject matter involved in the legislative item, the proponent agency responsible for preparing the Army report on the item shall assess the environmental consequences of the proposal, using the factors in this chapter. If the environmental impact assessment indicates that the proposal would significantly affect the quality of the human environment, an EIS is required and should accompany the report.

(c) Policy, regulations, and procedure-making.

(1) Environmental Impact Assessments (EIA) will be made for publications including but not limited to, directives, instructions, regulations, manuals, or major policy issuances of the Department of the Army and its commands and agencies.

(2) The publication proponent, at the appropriate command level, shall assess the environmental consequences for any proposed publication, using the procedure set forth herein. If it is determined that actions required by the publication will significantly affect the environment, an EIS is required unless the publication is an implementation of a publication from OSD or a higher Army command or agency and the environmental consequence will not basically change from those already presented in an EIS prepared for the basic publication. In addition, appropriate environmental requirements will be addressed in these publications.

(3) Any Department of the Army implementation of a Federal law, of a publication of a Federal agency outside of the Department of the Army, or subsequent action taken based on the law or regulation that will significantly affect the quality of the environment, will require an EIS "unless a statement was prepared on the original publication" and the environmental consequences of the Army action will not significantly deviate from those already presented in the basic EIS.

(d)(1) Most activities take place on the typical installation on a routine or programed basis. Activities which are of a continuing nature or are projected to take place in the foreseeable future, are to be analyzed to produce an overall installation EIA. Projections on future activities at an installation can be based on the installation mission, Army Stationing and Installation Plan, ASIP, and the installation master plan. The resulting comprehensive environmental impact assessment would eliminate the need for numerous smaller scope assessments. It would remain valid until there is a major change in the installation mission, training requirements, logistic and administrative support, master plan, ASIP, applicable pollution control standards or new information becomes available on local ecological or environmental conditions that would invalidate an earlier assessment. On the basis of the overall installation environmental impact assessment, an EIS would be prepared when it is determined that the current and/or projected operations at the installation will have significant impact on the environment. DA projects and activities are generally of the following types:

(i) Construction

(ii) Repair and maintenance of real property

(iii) Procurement

(iv) Real estate acquisition, disposal or outleasing

(v) Training

(vi) Industrial operations

(vii) Research, development, test and evaluation

(viii) Administrative support

(ix) Personnel

(x) Resources recycling and conservation

(2) Projects or actions which cannot be appropriately incorporated in the installation EIA because adequate definitive information is not available will require an individual EIA or EIS.

(3) An EIA for each Army installation worldwide will be completed at the earliest practicable date.

(4) Special consideration must also be given and EIS's prepared, if appropriate, by proponents of those major procurement actions that are not normally accomplished at the installation level. Examples would include the procurement of a new combat vehicle, communications system, weapons systems or major fuel supplies. Those aspects of the actions to be included in an EIA, or an EIS if needed, are the environmental impact of any research and developemnt activities, testing operations, manufacture, transportation, maintenance, storage, use during training and disposal of the materiel being procured. In essence, the EIS covers the life cycle of the materiel. The impact of employing such equipments in combat operations is not required in the EIA or the EIS.

§ 650.25 Policies and objectives.

(a) It is the continuing policy of the Department of the Army, as a trustee of the environment, to demonstrate leadership and carry out its mission of national security in a manner consistent with national environmental standards, laws and policies. All practical means and measures will be used to minimize or avoid adverse environmental consequences and in attaining the objectives of—

(1) Providing a safe, healthful, productive, and esthetically and culturally pleasing surrounding.

(2) Attaining the widest range of beneficial uses of the environmental without degradation, risk to health or safety or other undesirable and unintended consequences.

(3) Preserving important historic, cultural, and national aspects of our national heritage and maintaining where possible an environment which supports diversity and variety of individual choice.

(4) Achieving a balance between resources use and development within the sustained carrying capacity of the ecosystem involved.

(5) Enhancing the quality of renewable natural resources and approaching the maximum attainable recycling of depletable resources.

(b) Toward this end, DA agencies shall—

(1) Assess at the earliest practical stage in the planning process and in all instances prior to the first significant point of decision, the environmental consequences of proposed actions.

(2) Review those continuing actions initiated prior to enactment of NEPA, for which the environmental consequences have not been assessed and ensure that any remaining actions are consistent with the provisions of this chapter.

(3) Utilize a systematic interdisciplinary approach in planning and decisionmaking.

(4) In Army planning and decisionmaking, consider environmental values and amenities concurrently with economic and technical considerations.

(5) Prepare and process under the criteria and procedures set forth herein a detailed EIS on every recommendation or report on proposals for legislations and other major defense actions which are expected to be environmentally controversial or could cause a significant effect on the quality of the human environment.

(6) Study, develop and describe appropriate alternatives to the recommended courses of action in any proposal which involves unresolved conflicts concerning alternative uses of available resources.

(7) Recognize the worldwide and long-range character of environmental problems and, where consistent with national security requirements and the foreign policy of the United States, lend appropriate support to initiatives, resolutions and programs designed to maximize international cooperation in anticipating and preventing a decline in the quality of the world human environment.

(8) Refrain from taking any significant implementing steps on administrative actions until 90 days have elapsed after notification has been made in the FEDERAL REGISTER of filing the draft environmental statement and 30 days have elapsed after notification has been made in the FEDERAL REGISTER of filing the final statement, except as provided elsewhere in this chapter. The time relationships for the preparation and processing an EIS are shown in figure 2-1.

(9) On occasion, laws other than the National Environmental Policy Act require the Department of the Army to gain approval of another Federal agency before commencing certain types of actions that may have environmental consequences. Compliance with the requirements of such laws does not relieve the responsible official from preparing and processing an EIS, if the proposed action is a major action that would significantly affect the quality of the human environment. In this connection, compliance with Pub. L. 91–190 is applicable unless existing law applicable to a specific action or activity expressly prohibits or makes compliance impossible. However, insofar as practicable, the draft EIS format should be used in complying with other laws to minimize duplication of efforts.

§ 650.26 Responsibilities.

(a) The Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works) (ASA–CW) shall serve as the Secretary of the Army's responsible official for National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) matter.

(b) The Chief of Engineers, DA, exercises primary staff responsibility for coordinating and monitoring NEPA activities within the Army and shall—

(1) Provide assistance and advice on the preparation/processing of EIA's and EIS's.

(2) Designate a single agency or lead office having the responsibility for preparing and processing EIS's and EIA's when more than one DA agency is involved.

(3) Review and comment on draft EIS's submitted by other DOD components and other Federal agencies.

(4) Monitor issuances of the DA which have environmental implications to determine if EIS's are required and to insure that environmental considerations are built into the decisionmaking process.

(5) Maintain liaison with CEQ, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and other Federal agencies and State and local groups, with respect to the environmental policies affecting the Department of the Army.

(6) Maintain a current quarterly DA consolidated list of actions for which EIS's have been prepared or are under preparation, and a list of negative declarations.

(7) Retain a copy of each draft and final EIS prepared within the Department of the Army until the project or activity is completed.

(8) Direct the preparation of EIS's as appropriate.

(9) Coordinate on the technical aspects of EIS's submitted to HQDA for review and comment within those areas of assigned staff cognizance and technical capability and,

(10) For those actions or activities for which he is normally responsible, fulfill the requirements as defined in paragraph c below for HQDA staff agencies.

(c) Headquarters Department of the Army staff staff agencies shall—

(1) Apply the policies set forth in this chapter on the application of NEPA to continuing and proposed programs and projects within their staff cognizance.

(2) Publish internal procedures for the preparation and review of EIA's and EIS's for programs or projects within assigned areas of responsibility and insure that EIS's, as may be required, are prepared and processed.

(3) Insure that all regulations, directives, instructions, and other major policy publications are reviewed for environmental consequences, and, when such consequences are significant, withhold publication or issuance until the requirements concerning an EIS have been fulfilled.

(4) Coordinate, as appropriate, the preparation of EIS's with other elements of the Department of the Army as well as with the OCE, Environmental Office.

(5) Access continuing and proposed programs and actions for their environmental consequences and initiate the preparation of EIS's where required.

(6) Designate, maintain and report the identity to DAEN–ZCE of the agencys' single point of contact for environmental matters.

(7) Prepare and maintain a list of administrative actions for which EIS's have been prepared or are being prepared, and compile the report of negative declarations required by § 650.27(a).

(8) As requested, assist in the review of EIA's and EISs' prepared by other Army agencies and EIS's prepared by non-Army agencies.

(9) Coordinate existing and proposed directives, instructions, regulations and major policy publications that have environmental implications with OCE (DAEN–ZCE).

(10) Determine, in accordance with the requirements contained in § 650.32, if a public hearing is necessary for the proposed action and assign the responsibility for the hearing to an appropriate office or agency.

(d) The Judge Advocate General shall provide legal advice and assistance, as requested, in the interpretation of applicable laws and regulations related to environmental matters and handle litigation before the various courts and regulatory bodies except for the civil works program of the Chief of Engineers and the other specific responsibilities assigned herein to the Chief of Engineers.

(e) The Comptroller of the Army will establish necessary procedures to ensure compliance with the requirements for environmental exhibits and data in support of annual budget request. Additionally, for those actions or activities for which the COA is normally responsible, the COA will fulfill the requirements defined in paragraph (c) of this section for all HQDA staff agencies.

(f) The Surgeon General is responsible for coordinating the health, welfare and environmental aspects of proposed environmental impact statements submitted to HQDA, and for preparing assessments or proposed EIS's required for actions and programs for which he is the proponent. Army commands, installations and agencies are encouraged to draw upon the special expertise, within those areas of assigned staff cognizance and technical capability, which are available within the medical department. The Surgeon General will, upon request, furnish assistance and advice in the preparation of those aspects of EIS's which involve health, welfare or environmental effects or which have monitoring implications.

(g) The Adjutant General will institute administrative procedures to preclude the publication of any policy letter, regulation or other DA issuance unless the proponent staff agency stated in writing that actions associated with implementing the publication will have no significant impact on the environment or a final EIS has been prepared and published in the Federal Register and the required time frame has passed.

(h) Major field commanders are responsible for monitoring actions and programs proposed for accomplishment within their commands or directed by higher headquarters, and assuring that appropriate EIA's or EIS's are prepared and, if necessary, forwarded to HQDA.

(i) All Army commands and agencies will—

(1) Establish internal procedures for assessing environmental consequences for continuing and proposed programs and actions for which they are the proponent agency, in accordance with the policies contained herein, and for the preparation, coordination within their technical staffs, and processing of EIA's and EIS's required for actions within their agencies.

(2) Establish internal procedures to insure that all regulations, directives, instructions, and other major policy publications for which they are the proponent agency or which implement issuances by higher headquarters, are evaluated for environmental consequences prior to publication.

(3) Establish a continuing program to assure that sufficient personnel within the command or agency are properly trained in the requirements of NEPA and the provisions of this regulation.

REPORTS

§ 650.27 Reports—RCS DD–H&E (QR) 1326, RCS DD–H&E (AR) 1327.

(a) The Department of the Army is required to report to the OSD at least quarterly those actions on which EIS's have been preapred, those under preparation, and in certain situations when it has been determined that an EIS is not required. In the latter instance, when it has been decided that an EIS is not required for a project or activity of a type described in § 650.29(b), a statement (negative declaration) must be prepared for the public record briefly setting forth this decision and the reasons for the determination. The negative declaration should be prepared and suported by an EIA in the EIS format (fig. 2–4) and kept with the project or activity file subject to forwarding to HQDA upon request. Major commands will submit in quadruplicate to HQDA (ATTN: DAEN–ZCE) a report recovering the actions discussed above and in the format shown at figure 2–2. Report will be submitted within ten (10) days following the end of the quarter. The first report will cover the period September 1, 1973–June 30, 1974. Subsequent reports will be submitted on quarterly intervals.

(b) Major commands and HQDA staff elements will maintain cost estimates of the direct costs which are incurred solely for the purpose of preparing and processing EIS's. These estimates must be available upon request and will be identified as follows:

(1) Salaries of military and civilian personnel.

(2) Associated travel costs.

(3) Research costs directly related to the draft EIS's.

(4) Contract and consultant costs directly related.

(5) Administrative costs, and

(6) Costs of public hearings.

(c) Reports discussed in paragraph a above will be submitted within ten (10) days following the end of the quarter. The initial report covers the period July 1–September 30, 1974. This reporting requirement has been assigned Report Control Symbol DD–H&E (QR) 1326.

(d) EIS's prepared in accordance with this regulation have been assigned Reports Control Symbol DD–H&E (AR) 1327.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENTS AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENTS

§ 650.28 General.

(a) Both the EIA and the EIS are analyses of ongoing activities or proposed plans and programs and must include systematic analyses of the environmental impact (adverse and beneficial) on land, air and water. The purpose is to identify—

(1) The environmental impact of the proposed/ongoing action.

(2) Any adverse environmental effects which cannot be avoided.

(3) Alternatives to the proposed action.

(4) The relationship between local short-term uses of man's environment and the maintenance and enhancement of long-term productivity.

(5) Any irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources which would be involved in the proposed action.

(b) Environmental Impact Assessments.

(1) The preparation of an EIA is the initial step of an environmental analysis. Its purpose is to identify whether the action (ongoing or proposed) is major and to determine if the action will have significant impact on the quality of the human environment. Further, it is to serve as the basis for determining if an EIS will be required.

(2) For the many routine actions which are largely administrative in nature, require a minimal expenditure of resources and are of generally limited scope, the EIA can be a conscientious mental evaluation with that action reported in the project or activity file. However, where documentation is required in support of a project or action, the documentation will contain a statement that an EIA has been made and that no significant environmental impact will result.

(3) For those actions not clearly identified to fall in the category outlined in paragraph (b)(2) of this section, a written EIA will be prepared. The EIA will follow the format specified for an EIS as outlined in § 650.31, except that alternative courses of action need not be analyzed when it is determined that only minimal environmental impact will result from pursuing the preferred course of action selected primarily for economic, technical or mission effectiveness reasons. (However, this exception does not absolve those responsible for implementing the action from taking every reasonable measure to minimize or mitigate any environmental impact that is inherent in the action.)

(4) In concluding any EIA, the preparer will make a specific statement on each of the following:

(i) The action is or is not major.

(ii) A significant environmental impact will or will not result from the action.

(iii) The implementation of the plan or action will or will not be environmentally controversial.

(5) The written EIA will be made available for consideration and approval by the principal decisionmaker at the level where the EIA is prepared. For those actions requiring approval of a higher level of authority, the EIA will be forwarded with the request for approval of the action so that the approving authority will be knowledgable of the environmental considerations when approving the action. Each EIA will have a cover sheet as shown in figure 2-3, signed by appropriate decisionmaking officials and the EIA will be retained on file with the agency until the action or project is completed. However, if it is determined that the action is major and will have a significant effect on the environment, an EIS will be prepared and forwarded through command channels to HQDA as specified in §§ 650.33, 650.34 and 650.35.

§ 650.29 Major actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment (MASAQHE).

(a) General. (1) It is impossible to list categorically all DA projects or activities that are "Major Federal actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment." In making a judgement in a particular case, it will be necessary for the proponent of the action to assess the expected environmental effects of the action in conjunction with the intent of NEPA as implemented by the CEQ and DOD. It is essential that all the environmental effects of an action be assessed, whether those effects are adverse or beneficial. In determining whether or not the effects of an action are significant, the proponent must evaluate the nature and degree of all effects on the environment. These may be significant even though the net environmental effect of the proposed action may be beneficial.

(2) DA agencies shall insure that the environmental consequences of a proposed action are fully assessed during the decisionmaking process. If the EIA indicates that the decision will either affect the environment on a large geographical scale or have a serious environmental effect in a more restricted geographical area, the proposed action shall be considered a Major Action Significantly Affecting the Quality of the Human Environment (MASAQHE), and the decision shall be deferred until Federal agencies possessing special expertise or persons affected by the environmental effects of the decision have had an opportunity to present their view. It is necessary to consider not only the degree of effect on the environment but also the scope of the action and the potential effect of the action on other persons. The following examples are provided to assist in defining MASAQHE.

(i) An action that will influence subactivities in many subordinate units, and the subactivities will each affect the environment, is probably a MASAQHE even though a single subactivity by itself may not be in that category. For example, a limited maneuver or training exercise by small elements of a command might not be a major action, nor would it normally affect the environment significantly. However, if a major command or HQDA intended to publish a regulation that includes provisions prescribing the environmental considerations that were to be given to the planning of all training exercises or maneuvers of the command for an indefinite period of time, then it might be expected that such a regulation would have a significant effect on the quality of the environment because it would govern numerous activities which individually would have some effect on the environment. Thus the regulation should be construed to be a MASAQHE.

(ii) A major realignment plan of the Army involving numerous installations or activities could be a MASAQHE. In this instance, the impact at one installation may be small but because of the numerous installations involved, the overall plan impact may be significant, especially insofar as the secondary impacts are concerned. Although the secondary socioeconomic impacts are generally insufficient by themselves to require an EIS, these factors should be included in the event that an EIS is required.

(iii) An example of an action that should be classified as a MASAQHE because of a localized effect is an extremely noisy activity to be conducted near a residential area, where the resulting noise might seriously affect the comfort of residents of the area over an extended period. In keeping with the intent of NEPA, no decision should be made to take any action until those residents have been given an opportunity to present their views and their views have been carefully considered. Ongoing noisy activities should be given the same type study and review as given to planned or proposed activities.

(b) The types of actions listed below require close environmental scrutiny because of the possibility that they may either affect the quality of the environment or create environmental controversy. It is desirable in such cases to have a complete presentation of the environmental aspects of the proposed action available for any interested party. For this reason, consideration should be given to documenting the environmental effects of the following types of actions in writing. (The written EIA need not be elaborate for those actions determined to be minor and for which prudent nonbiased judgment would readily determine that the impact would not be significant. However, negative declarations must be supported by written EIA's which generally meet the EIS format requirements.)

(1) Development or purchase of a new type of aircraft, ship or vehicle.

(2) Development or purchase of a new weapon system.

(3) Real estate acquisition, disposal and outgrants.

(4) Major construction projects.

(5) New installations (bases, posts, etc.) or continued operation of major existing installations or ranges.

(6) Production, storage, transportation, testing or disposal of lethal chemical munitions, and pesticides.

(7) Mission changes and troop deployments which precipitate long-term population increases or decreases in any area with special attention to the secondary impacts which may cause indirect environment impact.

(8) Large quarrying, or earth-moving operations.

(9) Constructing or installing fences of other barriers that might prevent significant migration or free movement of wildlife.

(10) Proposed construction of new sanitary landfills, incinerators and sewage treatment plants.

(11) Existing or changes to master plans.

(12) Proposed construction or acquisition of new family housing.

(13) Dredging, and other similar activities in the water.

(14) Training exercises on or off Federal property, where significant environmental damages might occur regardless of unit sizes.

(15) Opening areas that were previously closed to the public or closing or limiting of areas that previously were open to public use, such as roads or recreational areas.

(16) Proposed construction on flood plains or construction that may cause increased flooding erosion or sedimentation, activities on wetlands or proposals which could alter the wetlands environmental value.

(17) Channelization of streams, diversion or impoundment of water.

(18) Disposal of significant quantities of POL waste products.

(19) Proposed construction of roads, transmission lines or pipelines.

(20) New, revised, or established regulations, directives or policy guidance concerning activities that could have an environmental effect. Regulations, directives, or policy guidance which limit any of the alternative means of performing the actions on this list.

(21) Any action which, because of real, potential or purported adverse environmental consequences, is a subject of controversy among people who will be affected by the action, or which, although not the subject of controversy, is likely to create controversy when the proposed action becomes known by the public.

(c) Even though a written EIA supports the conclusion that an action is not a MASAQHE, an EIS is to be written on a proposed action which is highly controversial because of environmental aspects. The EIS should be based on the information contained in the EIA.

§ 650.30 Environmental effects.

The proponent of the action should consider all aspects of the action to determine if it will interfere unreasonably with the living conditions of man, wildlife, or marine life, or with any ecosystems on an immediate, short-range or long-range basis. Examples of some factors that may be applicable are—

(a) Effects on water quality to include—
(1) Surface resources.
(2) Subsurface resources.
(3) Water supply treatment.
(4) Sewage treatment.
(5) Regulatory standards (water quality, effluent, toxic or hazardous substances, sedimentation, temperature alteration, etc.)

(b) Effects on air quality to include—
(1) Fixed pollution sources (heating plants).
(2) Mobile pollution sources (vehicles, aircraft).
(3) Regulatory standards (ambient, point source, emissions of toxic or hazardous substances or significant amounts of other pollutants).

(c) Effects of noise to include—
(1) Continuous (background) noise sources.
(2) Impact noises (weapons firing).
(3) Regulatory standards (worker safety, community noise).

(d) Effects of solid waste to include—
(1) Types and sources.
(2) Disposal methods.
(3) Regulatory standards (landfill, incinerator).

(e) Effects of hazardous and toxic substances to include—
(1) Types and sources (explosives, chemicals, etc.).
(2) Disposal methods.
(3) Regulatory standards.

(f) Effects on energy resources to include—
(1) Types used.
(2) Expansion capability.

(g) Land use.
(1) Current land usage patterns (on and off installation) including population density, neighborhood character, zoning, aesthetics, recreation and,
(2) Erosion and flooding controls.

(h) Ecology.
(1) Aquatic life.
(2) Animal life.
(i) Species.
(ii) Population.
(3) Endangered species.
(4) Wetlands.
(5) Vegetation.
(i) Open space.
(ii) Forrested areas.
(6) Management.

(i) Cultural quality.
(1) Archeological sites and remains.
(2) Historical structures and sites.
(3) Natural sites and remains.

(j) Preservation.
(1) Resources recycling.
(2) Conservation measures.

Preparation of Environmental Impact Statement

§ 650.31 General.

The following directions for the preparation of EIS's will be followed to assure general uniformity in preparing statements. DA agencies will institute procedures for identifying definite decision points for determining the need to formally submit an environmental statement. In developing and obtaining the necessary information to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement, early consultation within DA and with other Federal, State and local governmental and private organizations is encouraged. The statement is to be based on the EIA and should—

(a) Carefully detail environmental impacts, alternatives, and implications of proposed projects and activities and should provide reviewers insight into the particulars associated with the action. Reviewers will expect the statements to be a valid source of information on the proposed action, as well as a reflection of how the proponent views environmental factors and seeks to accommodate them. Since the statements are to be made available to the public it must be assumed that they will receive careful scrutiny.

(b) Systemically present the environmental impacts and sufficiently described the physical and environmental aspects to permit independent appraisal and evaluation of the proposal. It should be simple and concise, yet include all pertinent facts. Length will depend upon the particular proposal and the nature of its impacts.

(c) Not be limited to ultimate conclusions, but contain a thorough evaluation of all factors affecting the potential environmental impact of the proposal that will reasonably justify the conclusions presented.

(d) Be a complete and objective appraisal of the beneficial and adverse environmental effects of available alternatives, rather than a justification for the proposal. In no case should adverse effects, either real or potential, be ignored or slighted in an attempt to justify an action previously recommended. Similarly, care must be taken to avoid overstating favorable effects.

(e) Indicate at appropriate points in the text supporting and related underlying studies, reports and other information obtained and considered in preparing the EIS including applicable cost benefit analyses. Requirements by other statutes such as the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, and the National Historic Preservation Act should be combined with the EIS. Care should be taken to insure that the EIS remains an essentially self-contained document, capable of being understood by the reader without the need for undue cross-reference. If the case references are not easily accessible, the statement should indicate how the information may be obtained.

§ 650.32 Content of the EIS.

The EIS statement must fulfill and satisfy, to the fullest extent possible at the time the draft is prepared, the requirements established for a final EIS. The body of the EIS shall contain the following separable sections (see fig. 2–4) with the length of each being adequate to identify and develop the required information.

(a) Introduction—(1) Project description. A description of a proposed action, a statement of its purposes, and a description of the environment affected, including information summary technical data, and maps and diagrams where relevant, adequate to permit an assessment of potential environmental impact by commenting agencies and the public. Highly technical and specialized analyses and data should be avoided in the body of the draft impact statement. Such materials should be attached as appendixes with adequate bibliographic references.

(2) Existing environment of proposed site. The EIS should succinctly describe the environment of the area affected as it exists prior to a proposed action, including that of other Federal activities in the area affected by the proposed action which are related to the proposed action. Because the interrelationships and cumulative environmental impacts of the proposed action are to be identified later in the EIS, the amount of detail provided in such decriptions should be commensurate with the extent and expected impact of the action, and with the amount of information required at the particular level of decisionmaking (planning, feasibility, design, etc.). In order to insure accurate descriptions and EIS, site visits should be made where feasible. The proponent agency or command should also take care to identify, as appropriate, population and growth characteristics of the affected area and any population and growth assumptions used to justify the project or program or to determine secondary population and growth impacts resulting from the proposed action and its alternatives. In discussing these population aspects, consideration should be given to using the rates of growth in the region of the project contained in the projection compiled for the Water Resources Council by the Bureau of Economic Analyses of the Department of Commerce and the Economic Research Service of the Department af Agriculture (the "OBERS" projection). In any event, it is essential that the sources of data used to identify, quantify or evaluate any and all environmental consequences be expressly noted.

(b) Relationship of proposed action to land use plans, policies and controls for the affected area. This requires a discussion of how the proposed action may conform or conflict with the objectives and specific terms of approved or proposed Federal, State, and local land use plans, policies, and controls, if any, for the area affected including those developed in response to the Clean Air Act or The Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972. Where a conflict or inconsistency exists, the EIS should describe the extent to which the DA agency has reconciled its proposed action with the plan, policy or control, and the reasons why they decided to proceed not withstanding the absence of full reconciliation.

(c) The probable impact of the proposed action on the environment. (1) This analysis is to include the positive and negative effects of the proposed action as it affects the concerned local and/or State environment, but where applicable, may affect the national and international (Mexico, Canada and other countries) environment. The attention given to different environmental factors will vary according to the nature, scale, and location of proposed actions. Among factors to consider should be the potential effect of the action on such aspects of the environment as those listed in § 650.30. Primary attention should be given in the statement to discussing those factors most evidently impacted by the proposed action.

(2) Secondary or indirect, as well as primary or direct, consequences for the environment should be included in the analysis. Many major Army actions, in particular those that involve the construction of new installations or the expansion of existing installations stimulate or induce secondary effects, in the form of associated investments and changed patterns of social and economic activities outside an installation. Such secondary effects, through their impacts on existing community facilities and activities through inducing new facilities and activities, or through changes in natural conditions, may often be even more substantial than the primary effects of the original action itself. For example, the effects of the proposed action on population and growth impacts should be estimated if expected to be significant and an evaluation made of the effect of any possible change in population patterns or growth upon the resource base, including land use, water, and public services, of the area in question.

(d) Alternatives. Alternatives to the proposed action, including, where relevant, those not within the existing authority of the Department of the Army. A rigorous exploration and objective evaluation of the environmental impacts of all reasonable alternative actions, particularly those that might enhance environmental quality or avoid some or all of the adverse environmental effects, is essential. Sufficient analysis of such alternatives and their environmental benefits, costs and risks should accompany the proposed action through the agency review process in order not to foreclose prematurely options which might enhance environmental quality or have less detrimental effects. Examples of such alternatives include: The alternative of taking no action or of postponing action pending further study; alternatives requiring actions of a significantly different nature which would provide similar benefits with different environmental impacts; alternatives related to different designs or details of the proposed action which would present different environmental impacts (e.g., cooling ponds vs. cooling towers for a power plant or alternatives that will significantly conserve energy); alternative measures to provide for compensation of fish and wildlife losses, including the acquisition of land, waters, and interests therein. In a proposed draft EIS, the proponent may decide to favor an alternative or reserve judgment until comments are received from relevant commenting entities. In each case, the analysis should be sufficiently detailed to reveal the agency's comparative evaluation of the environmental benefits, costs and risks of the proposed action and each reasonable alternative. Where an existing EIS already contains such an analysis, its treatment of alternatives may be incorporated in the new EIS provided that such treatment is current and relevant to the precise purpose of the newly proposed action.

(e) Any probable adverse environmental effects which cannot be avoided should the proposal be implemented. This should be a brief section summarizing in one place those effects that are adverse and unavoidable under the proposed action. Included for purposes of contrast should be a clear statement of how other avoidable adverse effects will be mitigated.

(f) The relationship between local short-term use of man's environment and the maintenance and enhancement of long-term productivity. This section should contain a brief discussion of the extent to which the proposed action involved tradeoffs between short-term environmental gains and the expense of long-term losses, or vice versa, and a discussion of the extent to which the proposed action forecloses future options. In this context, short-term and long-term do not refer to any fixed time periods, but should be viewed in terms of the environmentally significant consequences of the proposed action.

(g) Any irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources that would be involved in the proposed action should it be implemented. Identify the extent to which the action irreversibly curtails the range of potential uses of the environment. Avoid construing the term "resources" to mean only the labor and materials devoted to an action. "Resources" also means the natural and cultural resources committed to loss or destruction by the action.

(h) Considerations that offset the adverse environmental effects. Indicate the extent to which these stated countervailing benefits could be realized by following responsible alternatives to the proposed action. In this connection, cost benefit analyses of proposed actions should be attached, or summaries thereof, to the environmental impact statement, and should clearly indicate the extent to which environmental costs have not been reflected in such analyses.

(i) Summary sheet. The EIS shall be accompanied by an executive summary sheet which must provide the following information:

(1) Indicate whether the EIS is draft or final.

(2) Give the names of the action, provide a brief description of it and indicate what geographical region (States and counties) is particularly affected.

(3) Indicate whether it is an administrative or legislative action.

(4) Summarize the environmental impact and adverse environmental effects.

(5) List alternatives considered.

(6) (i) (For draft EIS's) List all Federal, State and local agencies from which comments are being requested.

(ii) (For final EIS's) List all Federal, State, and local agencies and other sources from which written comments have been received.

(7) Provide the dates the draft statement and final statements were made available to the CEQ and the public.

PROCESSING ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENTS

§ 650.33 General.

(a) EIS's will be processed as displayed in figure 2–5. Both draft and final EIS's will be approved at HQDA by the OSA for filing with the CEQ, release to the Congress and Federal, State and local authorities and to others outside DA for comment or use. Approval will be obtained using normal staffing procedures by the functional staff agency which is proponent for the basic action in coordination with OCE (DAEN–ZCE) (see fig. 2–6). OCE may request that the Army Environmental Committee review the EIS for actions which have controversial, unusual, or Army-wide environmental impacts.

(b) Draft EIS's will be reproduced and forwarded to HQDA in sufficient copies for official distribution to Federal, State and local agencies; internal DA staffing; and release to private organizations and individuals that may request same. Final EIS's will be distributed as indicated in §§ 650.36 and 650.37. Also, sufficient extra copies (estimate of 30) will be produced for distribution to individuals, universities, private organizations, etc., that may request copies subsequent to approval of the action.

(c) EIS's are subject to the requirements of DOD Directive 5200.1–R, Information Security Program Regulation, pertaining to the identification, safeguarding, and dissemination of classified information and to DOD Directive 5230.9, Clearance of DOD Public Information, pertaining to security review for public release approval. EIS's, both draft and final, which contain classified information, shall be prepared, safeguarded, and disseminated in accordance with the usual requirements applicable to classified information (DOD Directive 5200.1–R). However, when feasible, the EIS's shall be organized in such a manner that classified portions can be included as annexes, so that the unclassified portions can be made available to the public.

(d) EIS's that have significant public affairs, implications will be coordinated with OCINFO, HQDA.

(e) Until a draft EIS is approved for filing with CEQ and circulating for comment, a protective cover sheet (see fig. 2–7) will be used.

§ 650.34 Draft environmental impact statements.

(a) Statements on administrative actions. The processing of draft EIS's for filing with CEQ and circulating for comment will be accomplished by the HQDA functional staff proponent agency. The following distribution will be made for draft EIS's:

(1) One (1) copy, OCE (DAEN–ZCE)
(2) One (1) copy, OASA(CW).
(3) Three (3) copies, OASD(H&E)
(4) Five (5) copies, CEQ
(5) One (1) copy, EPA, Washington DC
(6) Six (6) copies, EPA Regional Office that has administration over the area in which the action will take place.
(7) Two (2) copies minimum, appropriate Federal agencies having jurisdiction by law or special expertise with respect to any environmental impact involved. Figure 2–8 lists the Federal agencies according to their areas primary cognizance.
(8) Two (2) copies, State and local agencies authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards when the proposed action affects matters within their jurisdiction. These copies shall be sent to the appropriate State and regional or metropolitan clearinghouses in accordance with the procedures prescribed in OMB Circular No. A–95 unless the Governor of the State involved has designated some other point of contact for obtaining the State and local agency reviews. The clearinghouses are listed in the Directory of State, Metropolitan, the Regional Clearinghouses under OMB Circular No. A–95 (Revised) of April 19, 1971 (OCE (DAEN–ZCE) should be contacted, when appropriate, to obtain current information).
(9) Two (2) copies to cognizant Committees of the House and Senate in support of legislative proposals not pertaining to budget submissions (also see paragraph (b) of this section).
(10) EIS's are to be made available to relevant public commenting entities free of charge or at a fee which is not more than the actual cost of reproducing copies required to be sent to Government agencies.
(11) At such time as the draft EIS is forwarded to the CEQ, other Federal, State, and local agencies, it shall be made available to the public (to any organization or individual upon request) free of charge or, upon request, at a fee which is not more than the actual cost of reproducing copies required to be sent to Government agencies.

(b) Statements on legislative actions. Three (3) copies of each draft EIS concerned with the annual budget request must accompany the budget submission through the Comptroller review process to OSD. In those instances where it has been determined that a project or activity will not have a significant impact on the environment, such determination must be stated on the project/activity request. Additional guidance is provided in the Budget Guidance Manual DOD 7110.1-M and DOD Instruction 7040.4. It is the responsibility of the HQDA Budget Director to provide required draft EIS's to the appropriate Congressional Commitees at the time the legislative request is forwarded to the Congress. Distribution of the draft EIS to other agencies and to the public for comment shall be withheld until the legislative request has been forwarded to the Congress. However, if the draft EIS does not divulge the fiscal year or the monetary amount involved, it can be distributed for comment when approved by the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works).

§ 650.35 Circulation for comment.

(a) Circulation of a draft EIS for comment serves as a guard against objective errors or excessive bias. Further, it makes available expert knowledge from other agencies and the public which can assist the Army in its efforts to protect the environment.

(b) The HQDA staff agency requesting review and comments may establish a time limit of not less than 45 days for reply after CEQ publishes notice of the proposed action in the FEDERAL REGISTER. If the agency consulted does not reply within the established time limit, it may be presumed that the agency has no comment to make, unless a specific request for an extension of time has been made. Requests for extensions of time up to 15 days may be granted by DA unless the urgency of the action precludes such a delay. In determining the length of the review period, consideration will be given to magnitude and complexity of the statement and the possible extent of citizen interest.

(c) Public hearings. (1) Informal public hearings shall be conducted by the proponent HQDA staff agency or its delegate to obtain representative views from the various segments of the public when it is determined that the proposed action covered by the draft EIS is highly controversial. Such hearing will be publicly announced through local news media. Copies of the draft EIS will be made available to the public at least 15 days prior to the hearing.

(2) No public hearings need be held in connection with proposed legislation in view of the opportunity for public hearings in connection with Congressional consideration of the bill.

(3) Informal public hearings may be appropriate in the following situations:

(i) Where the proposed action by the agency will have a direct or peculiar impact on the people residing in a particular geographical area in terms of magnitude of economic costs of commitment of resources.

(ii) Where public organizations or members of the public possess expertise concerning the impact of the action that may not otherwise be available.

(iii) Where no overriding consideration of national security or time makes it illegal or impracticable to involve such organizations or members of the public in the consideration of a proposed action in which a high degree of interest by the public or other Federal, State or local authority is evidenced by a written request that a hearing be held.

§ 650.36 Final EIS.

(a) Final EIS's are prepared after receipt of review comments provided by other agencies and the public. In many cases, the final EIS's can be prepared by making minor revisions to the draft EIS and attaching the review comments received from other sources. In other cases, it may be necessary to provide a discussion of problems and objections raised by other Federal, State and local agencies and by private organizations and individuals and the disposition of the issues involved. Along with the comments received, this discussion will be appended to the final text of the EIS.

(b) Distribution of the final EIS shall be as follows:

(1) Five (5) copies, OCE (DAEN–ZCE).
(2) One (1) copy, OASA(CW).
(3) One (1) copy, OASD(H&E).
(4) Five (5) copies, CEQ.
(5) Five (5) copies, appropriate Congressional Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives on final statements relating to section 412 Pub. L. 86–149, as amended, or the annual Military Construction Authorization Bill.
(6) One (1) copy to those who filed substantive comments on the corresponding draft statement.

(c) Supplementing or amending a draft or final EIS. A proponent agency may at any time supplement or amend a draft or final EIS. This should be accomplished when substantial changes are made in the proposed action or significant new information becomes available concerning its environmental aspects. The proponent agency should consult with OCE (DAEN-ZCE) with respect to the possible need for or desirability of recirculating the EIS.

§ 650.37 Time restrictions.

(a) Draft EIS will be prepared, furnished to the CEQ, and circulated for comment early enough before an action needs to be taken to permit meaningful consideration of the environmental issues involved. To the maximum extent practicable, no administrative action (i.e., any proposed action to be taken, other than proposals for legislation or reports on legislation) shall be taken sooner than 90 days after notice has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER that CEQ has received the draft EIS and that it has been circulated for comment, and, except where advance public disclosure will result in significantly increased costs of procurement, made available to the public. Nor shall such administrative action be taken sooner than 30 days after notice of the final text of the EIS (together with comments) has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and the final EIS has been made available to commenting agencies and the public. The minimum 30-day and 90-day periods may run concurrently to the extent that they overlap. See figure 2–1.

(b) When it is not practical for a proponent agency to comply with the time requirements above, the proponent DA agency may request HQDA (DAEN-ZCE) to request a waiver of a portion of the time requirement for that specific action. Such a request will contain an explanation of the facts and circumstances to justify the waiver and staffing through OSD to CEQ.

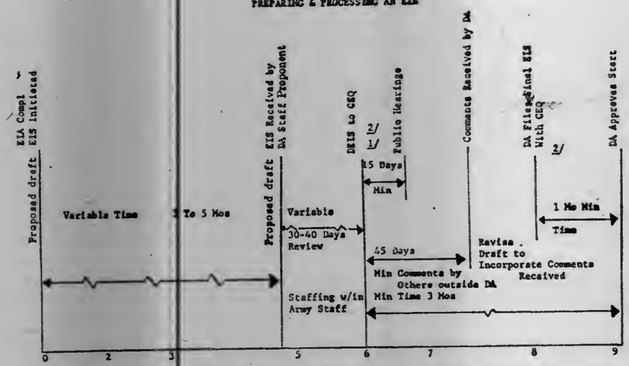
§ 650.38 Review of EIS prepared by another Federal agency.

(a) EIS's will be referred to the Department of the Army by other Federal agencies for review when a proposed action may affect matters over which DA has jurisdiction by law, or where a proposed action may have environmental effects in an area where DA has been identified to possess special expertise.

(b) Comments by the Army on an EIS prepared by another Federal agency will, as a minimum, address the aspect of the action for which the statement was referred. The comments should be organized in a manner consistent with the structure of the draft statement stating the recommended changes and reasons for change. Modification to the proposed action and/or new alternatives that will enhance environmental quality and avoid or minimize adverse environmental impact are appropriately included. In addition, the comments should indicate whether any Army projects are planned that are not identified in the draft EIS and are sufficiently advanced in planning and related environmentally to the proposed action so that a discussion of the environmental interrelationships should be included in the final EIS. Comments should indicate the value of any monitoring of the environmental effects of the proposed project that appear particularly appropriate.

(c) DA review and comment on an EIS prepared by another Federal agency will be coordinated by OCE (DAEN-ZCE). When a request for review and comment is received directly by a DA agency other than OCE, that agency shall reply through OCE (DAEN-ZCE).

§ 650.39 Related publications.



At table 2–1 is a list of related publications. Some of these publications will be of assistance to the agency preparing a proposed draft EIS while others such as Office of Management and Budget Circular A–95 and the Directory of State, Metropolitan and Regional Clearinghouses, under A–95 will be of assistance to only a few HQDA agencies.

Subpart C—Water Resources Management

GENERAL

§ 650.51 Purpose.

This chapter sets forth guidance and procedure for the DA implementation of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 (FWPCA) (Pub. L. 92–500) and the water pollution control regulations promulgated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, U.S. Coast Guard, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and State and regional water pollution control authorities. Additional guidance regarding discharge of hazardous and toxic materials appears in Subpart F of this part.

§ 650.52 Goals and objectives.

The Department of Army goal is to conserve water resources and protect them from contamination by controlling all sources of pollutants in accordance with applicable Federal, State or regional standards and vigorously contribute to the attainment of the national goal of eliminating the discharge of pollutants by 1985. Inherent in this goal are the following objectives:

(a) Identify, treat, monitor, control and dispose of all waterborne wastes produced by Army fixed and mobile facilities in accordance with published Federal, State and regional standards.

(b) Conserve water resources used in the conduct of basic activities on all Army installations by instituting economy measures and by reuse when practicable.

(c) Minimize soil erosion and attendant pollution caused by rapid and uncontrolled runoff into streams and rivers.

(d) Provide drinking water that satisfies the potability standards published by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as interpreted by The Surgeon General of the Army (see § 650.57).

(e) Comply with the provisions of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (Pub. L. 92–500) by obtaining and complying with permits issued by EPA under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) and the Corps of Engineers for the discharge of dredged or fill material.

(f) Comply with the provisions of the Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92–532) by obtaining and complying with permits issued by EPA for the discharge of any material other than dredged material into ocean waters and by the Corps of Engineers for the discharge of dredged material into ocean waters.

§ 650.53 Explanation of terms.

(a) National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES). The system for issuing and conditioning permits under a schedule of compliance and denying permits for the discharge of pollutants from point sources into the navigable waters, which is administered by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency pursuant to sections 402 and 405 of Pub. L. 92–500. The following additional terms have the following meanings with respect to the NPDES program and the FWPCA:

(1) Pollutant. Solid waste, incinerator residue, sewage, garbage, sewage sludge, munitions, chemical wastes, biological materials, radioactive materials, heat, wrecked or discarded equipment, rock, sand, cellar dirt, and industrial, municipal, and agricultural waste discharge into water. It does not mean "sewage from vessels."

(2) Point source. Any discernible, confined and discrete conveyance, including but not limited to any pipe, ditch, channel, tunnel, conduit, well, discrete fissure, container, rolling stock, concentrated animal feeding operation, or vessel or other floating craft, from which pollutants are or may be discharged.

(3) Discharge of a pollutant. Any addition of any pollutant to navigable waters from any point source.

(4) Permit. Any permit or equivalent document or requirement issued by the Environmental Protection Agency to regulate the disposal of pollutants.

(5) Schedule of compliance. A schedule of remedial measures including sequence of actions or operations leading to compliance with an effluent limitation, other limitation, prohibition, or standard.

(6) Navigable waters. All navigable waters of the United States (except the territorial seas); tributaries of navigable waters of the United States; interstate waters; intrastate lakes, rivers, and streams which are utilized by interstate travelers for recreational or other purposes; intrastate lakes, rivers, and streams from which fish or shellfish are taken and sold in interstate commerce; and intrastate lakes, rivers, and streams which are utilized for industrial purposes by industries in interstate commerce.

(b) Treatment works. Any facility, method or system for the storage, treatment, recycling, or reclamation of municipal sewage or industrial wastes of a liquid nature, including waste in combined storm water and sanitary sewer systems.

(c) Material into ocean waters. Matter of any kind or description, but not limited to solid waste, incinerator residue, garbage, sewage, sewage sludge, munitions, radiological, chemical, and biological warfare agents, radioactive materials, chemicals, biological and laboratory waste, wrecked or discarded equipment, rock, sand, excavation debris, and industrial, municipal, agricultural, and other waste. It does not mean oil of any kind or in any form, including, but not limited to, petroleum, fuel oil, sludge, oil refuse, and oil mixed with wastes other than dredge material and does not mean sewage from vessels including human body wastes and wastes from toilets and other receptacles intended to receive or retain body wastes.

(d) Ocean waters. Those waters of the open seas lying seaward of the baseline from which the territorial sea is measured, as provided for in the Convention on the Territorial Sea and the Contiguous Zone (15 UST 1606; TIAS 5639).

(e) Dredged material. Any material exeavated or dredged from navigable waters.

(f) Fill material. Any material deposited or discharged into navigable waters which may result in creating fastlands or other planned elevations of lands beneath navigable waters of the United States.

(g) Navigable waters of the United States. Waters which are subject to the ebb and flow of the tide, or which were used in the past, are presently used, or are susceptible to use as a means to transport interstate commerce. See 33 CFR 209.260 for a more complete definition of this term.

§ 650.54 Policy.

It is the policy of the Army to:

(a) Conserve all water resources.

(b) Control or eliminate all sources of pollutants to navigable waters or groundwaters by on-post treatment of wastes by joining regional or municipal sewage treatment systems or by employing recycling processes.

(c) Comply with applicable Federal, State and regional pollutant effluent limitation standards.

(d) Demonstrate leadership in attaining the national goal of zero pollutant discharge.

(e) Provide drinking water that satisfies the potability standards published by the Public Health Service/EPA as interpreted by The Surgeon General of the Army (TSG) (§ 650.57).

(f) Cooperate with Federal, State and regional authorities in the formulation and execution of water pollution control plans.

(g) Comply with the requirements for permits for the discharge of pollutants into navigable waters (section 402 of the FWPCA and implementing regulations in 40 CFR Part 125); the transportation of material (other than dredged material)

[1] River Basin Commissions (Delaware, Great Lakes, Missouri, New England, Ohio, Pacific Northwest, Souris-Red Rainy, Susquehanna, Upper Mississippi) and similar Federal-State agencies should be consulted on actions affecting the environment of their specific geographic jurisdictions.

In all cases where a proposed action will have significant international environmental effects, the Department of State should be consulted, and should be sent a copy of any draft and final impact statement which cover such action.

for the purpose of dumping it in ocean waters (section 102 of the Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 and implementing regulations in 40 CFR Part 220); and for activities in or affecting navigable or ocean waters including the discharge of dredged or fill material in navigable waters of the United States and the ocean disposal of dredged material (sections 9 and 10 of the River and Harbor Act of 1899, section 404 of the FWPCA, and section 103 of the Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 and implementing regulations in 33 CFR 209.120).

§ 650.55 Responsibilities.

(a) The Chief of Engineers will exercise Army staff responsibility for directing and coordinating the Army water pollution abatement program for both fixed and mobile facilities. Specifically the Chief of Engineers will—

(1) Promulgate policy and regulations on water resources management which reflect Department of Defense guidance and pertinent provisions of water pollution control laws.

(2) Develop long range policies on wastewater treatment to achieve the 1983 water quality objectives and 1985 goals of Pub. L. 92–500.

(3) Manage the identification, reporting, engineering, design and construction of projects required to control and monitor discharges in accordance with applicable Federal, State and regional water quality standards.

(4) Monitor water conservation practices for the purpose of identifying new potential uses for wastewater and methods for reducing water consumption.

(5) Publish policies on the control and disposal of sewage, galley, bilge and marine engine wastes.

(6) Provide guidance and direction to Army facilities in the preparation of applications for operating permits required by the FWPCA, Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972, and River and Harbor Act of 1899.

(7) Monitor the status of all FWPCA and ocean dumping permits and reports submitted in accordance with permit provisions.

(8) Coordinate the promulgation of new or revised water criteria and standards with TSC.

(9) Monitor master plans, construction plans and activities, and natural resource conservation activities to control surface water runoff and minimize erosion.

(10) Review and comment on NPDES and ocean dumping permits issued by EPA to Army installations.

(b) The Surgeon General will—

(1) Monitor health and welfare aspects of water and wastewater control criteria and standards promulgated by Federal and State agencies.

(2) Establish and conduct water supply surveillance programs to insure the maintenance of adequate potable water for Army installations.

(3) Accumulate, evaluate and disseminate information on water pollution conditions that may adversely affect the health of man and animals.

(4) Conduct field investigations and special studies to determine the effectiveness of wastewater treatment and recommend corrective measures when appropriate.

(5) Provide technical consultation on the health, welfare, and environmental aspects of water and wastewater treatment programs and activities.

(6) Coordinate the development of water and wastewater treatment standards, procedures, surveys and studies with the Chief of Engineers.

(7) Review and comment on NPDES and ocean dumping permits issued by EPA to Army installations.

(8) Assist the Chief of Engineers in the formulation of plans and design criteria for water monitoring systems.

(9) Maintain a record of all FWPCA and ocean dumping permits issued to Army installations, perform a technical evaluation of FWPCA and ocean discharge monitoring reports received, and notify submitting installations of noted deficiencies.

(10) Report semi-annually on the status of NPDES permits and NPDES discharge monitoring reports to the HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) Washington, DC 20310, (RCS–ENG 237).

(c) Major Army Commands (MACOMS) have the responsibility to insure that they and their subordinate elements develop programs which will—

(1) Identify, quantify and report all sources of water pollution and take appropriate action to eliminate or reduce them to acceptable levels. This applies to all Army facilities to include all buildings, installation structures, land, utilities, equipment, aircraft, vessels and other vehicles and property controlled by or constructed or manufactured for the purpose of leasing to the Army.

(2) Program and budget funds for remedial water pollution control projects to insure compliance with applicable standards by statutory imposed dates.

(3) Establish routine wastewater control monitoring programs to insure compliance with discharge limitations established by regulatory agencies and adherence to proper waste treatment operational procedure as specified in TM 5–665, TM 5–814–3, and TM 5–814–6.

(4) Obtain permits from the appropriate EPA Regional Administrator for all discharges of pollutants from installations and activities into navigable waters as required by NPDES and for the transportation of materials for the purpose of dumping them into ocean waters and comply fully with the provisions of such permits.

(5) Obtain permits from the appropriate District Engineer for all other actions in or affecting navigable waters of the United States, including the discharge of dredged or fill material in such waters, and for the transportation of dredged material for the purpose of dumping it in ocean waters.

(6) Control the discharge of sewage and bilge waste from vessels in accordance with U.S. Coast Guard, EPA, DOD or state regulations.

(7) Control the runoff of surface waters to minimize soil erosion, downstream flooding and pollution of waterways by sediments and contaminants.

(8) Conserve water resources by instituting regulatory measures where needed and by the judicious use of wastewater for consumptive purposes.

(9) Provide all personnel with drinking water that meets the quality standards specified by The Surgeon General.

(10) Commander, U.S. Army Materiel Command will develop appropriate pollution control devices and retrofit vessels in the inventory required to meet specified standards.

STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

§ 650.57 Water supply standards.

Potable water supply standards must meet, as a minimum, the standards set by the U.S. Public Health Service (42 CFR 72.201–207)/EPA as interpreted by The Surgeon General of the Army (TB MED 229).

§ 650.58 Water quality standards.

(a) Under the provisions of Pub. L. 92–500 it is the responsibility of the States to establish water quality standards and formulate an overall plan for achieving and enforcing these water quality standards. These criteria are based on the quality of water necessary to achieve and maintain use classifications of water such as recreation, fish and wildlife propagation, public water supply, and industrial and agricultural uses. States are also required to establish effluent discharge limitations necessary to achieve and maintain the desired use classification. For Army installations, implementation and enforcement of the applicable Federally or State developed effluent limitations, and water quality standards are accomplished by the regional headquarters of the Environmental Protection Agency through the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System.

(b) The following effluent limitations are minimum standards which have been established pursuant to Pub. L. 92–500. More stringent effluent limitations may be established by the Administrator, EPA, to attain or maintain the water quality standards established by the State. Permissible effluent limitations, whether based on Federal or State water quality standards or on water quality criteria will be specified by the EPA Regional Administrator in the NPDES permit issued for each point of discharge.

§ 650.59 Effluent limitations.

(a) Domestic waste water effluents:

(1) As an interim limitation, all effluents from predominately domestic sources will be receiving the equivalent of secondary treatment as a minimum by July 1, 1977.

(2) By July 1, 1983, domestic wastewater limitations will be based on the best practicable waste treatment technology. Planning for 1983 discharge requirements will be clarified pending case by case evaluation of EPA criteria for 1983 which should be contained in NPDES permits to be issued in the 1977–1980 time frame. It may be assumed that the 1983 standards would require some form of advanced wastewater treatment, i.e., phosphate, nitrate or carbonate removal; very low values of biochemical/chemical oxygen demand, suspended solids and fecal coliform bacteria; and minimal fluctuations in pH and temperature.

(b) Industrial wastewater effluents.

(1) As an interim limitation all effluents from existing industrial sources will be treated by processes employing the "best practicable control technology currently available" by July 1977. Guidelines and standards defining effluent limitations for best practicable control technology currently available are published under 40 CFR Parts 401 through 447. At present only two industrial categories apply to Army activities; these are 40 Part CFR 413, Electro, plating, and 40 CFR Part 415, Inorganic Chemicals. EPA will publish regulations in the form of effluent limitations guidelines and standards of performance and pretreatment for ammunition production facilities at a later date. DAEN–ZCE will issue guidance as appropriate.

(2) By July 1, 1983, treatment of existing industrial wastewater effluents will employ the "best available technology economically achievable." Effluent limitations based on the best available technology economically achievable have been defined and are published in previously mentioned 40 CFR Parts 401 through 447.

(3) Effluent limitations for new sources are in most cases based on best available technology economically achievable and, therefore must necessarily meet the "1983 standards." These effluent limitations are also published with the guidelines and standards in 40 CFR Parts 401 through 447.

(c) Oil. The discharge of oil or effluents containing oil is limited by the quality determined to be harmful to the public health or welfare; or by applicable water quality standards; or by the amount which will cause a film or sheen upon a discoloration of the surface of the water or adjoining shorelines; or cause a sludge or emulsion to be deposited beneath the surface of the water or adjoining shorelines (40 CFR Part 110 and Subpart F of this Part).

(d) Pretreatment Standards (40 CFR Part 128). Non-domestic wastewater effluents from Army installations which are discharged to regional or municipal sewage treatment works must comply with the following limitations:

(1) Effluents will be treated sufficiently to remove wastes which: (i) would create a fire or explosion hazard, (ii) have pH lower than 5.0, (iii) would obstruct flow in sewers or interfere with proper operation of the works or (iv) are introduced at an excessive flow or pollutant discharge rate likely to interfere with proper treatment.

(2) If the characteristics of the effluent qualify the Army installation as a "major contributing industry" and the effluent contains "incompatible pollutants" then the effluent will be pretreated prior to discharge, employing technology described in § 650.59(b) (1), (2) or (3) depending on whether the effluent is from an existing or new source. Such pretreatment is necessary to prevent the discharge of any pollutant into regional or municipal treatment works which may interfere with, pass through or otherwise be incompatible with such works.

(e) Toxic and hazardous pollutants. The EPA determines and publishes a list of toxic and hazardous pollutants and issues effluent or dumping limitations for these substances. Limitations often include absolute prohibition against discharge. Both the Surgeon General and the Chief of Engineers will maintain a list of such pollutants for which effluent guidelines are issued or are pending and will monitor suspected toxic pollutants until a decision on the actual effects is made. The discharge of these toxic pollutants from all Army facilities will comply with the limitations set by the EPA. In all cases, the discharge of a suspected toxic pollutant will be strictly controlled or prohibited until a determination is made as to the potential dangers involved and effluent limitations are established by the EPA and The Surgeon General of the Army.

(1) Prohibited substances. The toxic pollutants which have been prohibited from effluent discharges are listed in 40 CFR Part 129, EPA Regulations on Listing Toxic Pollutants. Other prohibited substances which may not be ocean dumped are listed in 40 CFR 227.21.

(2) Hazardous substances. The EPA listing of hazardous substances which are subject to strict effluent limitations will be addressed in 40 CFR Part 116.

(f) Thermal pollution. Thermal discharges are subject to the best practicable and best available control technology requirements, as are other nondomestic pollutants. Thermal pollutant standards vary depending on temperature of the receiving water, the temperature and relative volume of the effluent, and effects such discharges will have regarding the protection and propagation of a balanced, indigenous population of shellfish, fish and wildlife in and on the receiving water. Therefore, cases which involve thermal pollution are highly individual and are generally limited to large sources of thermal pollution such as steam electric power plants (40 CFR Part 423).

(g) Watercraft. Effluent limitations from watercraft are established by the U.S. Coast Guard, Department of Defense (Department of Navy is the lead agency for DOD), EPA (40 CFR Part 140) and the States. Department of Army vessels: except those acquired and/or operated by the Civil Works appropriations of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, will comply with standards and procedures set by the Office, Secretary of Defense and by TB 55–1900–206–14, Control and Abatement of Pollution by Army Watercraft. Civil Works vessels will comply with U.S. Coast Guard standards of performance and certification.

(1) Non-domestic waste discharge limitations. Non-domestic waste (i.e., bilge, fuels; lubricants and other nonhuman wastes) discharges to navigable waters is prohibited. (40 CFR Part 110). Exempt from this prohibition are discharges of oil from properly functioning vessel engines, provided such normal discharges are not deemed harmful.

(2) Domestic waste discharge limitations. EPA in 40 CFR Part 140, establishes federal effluent limitation standards for the discharge of sewage from vessels. To meet these standards, the U.S. Coast Guard has established certification procedures, design and construction requirements and dates for compliance for equpping vessels with marine sanitation devices (33 CFR Part 159). Marine sanitation devices and systems under development or procurement for new vessels or to replace existing equipment should be carefully selected with "no discharge" as a possible parameter and that full consideration be given to systems based on holding tanks rather than actual treatment systems.

§ 650.60 Ocean dumping standards.

The Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92–532) and EPA prohibit the dumping of certain materials into ocean waters and controls the dumping of all other materials. Army controlled activities will comply with the regulations and standards set by this act and notify HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310 of all permit requests. (40 CFR Parts 220–227 and 33 CFR 209.120).

§ 650.61 Activities in navigable waters or ocean waters.

The construction of any structure in or over any navigable water of the United States, the excavation from or depositing of material in such waters, or the accomplishment of any other work affecting the course, location, condition or capacity of such waters must have prior approval of the Chief of Engineers or his authorized representative. Authority for such work is provided by issuance of a permit. Policy, practice and procedures are contained in 33 CFR 209.120.

§ 650.62 Storage of hazardous materials.

Storage facilities for materials which are hazardous to health, and for oils, gases, fuels or other materials capable of causing water pollution, to either surface or ground waters, if accidentally discharged, will be so located as to minimize or prevent such spillage. Measures necessary to entrap spillage, such as catchment areas, relief vessels, of entrapment dikes, will be installed so as to prevent and/or contain accidental pollution of water (Subparts F and I of this part).

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

§ 650.63 Water supply treatment procedures.

Water supplies will be monitored and, where necessary, treated in accordance with AR 420–46, Water and Sewerage, TB MED 229; AR 115–21, Hydrologic Services for Military Purposes and AR 115–20, Field Water Supply.

§ 650.64 Water conservation.

(a) Reduce consumption. All uses of water will be periodically surveyed and action taken to reduce water consumption wherever possible. The design and construction of new facilities and processes will consider minimized consumption of water, in particular potable water, as a major parameter. Vegetation and landscaping will be selected for the particular climate and geographical location so as to minimize or eliminate the need for irrigation.

(b) Reuse-recycle. In addition to reducing initial water consumption, water conservation measures will include the re-use or recycling of wastewater whenever practicable. The design methodology for new or for modification of old facilities and processes will identify potential re-use or recycling of wastewater alternatives and such alternatives will be selected whenever it is determined economically competitive with "once through" processes. Examples include closed cycle cooling systems for power plants and the use of land based sewage treatment systems.

(c) Erosion Control. Operations will be scheduled and designed to reduce or eliminate the destruction of vegetation and other ground cover which prevents erosion and stream silation. Siting of new facilities will consider topography and soil conditions to reduce construction in areas sensitive to erosion. Construction techniques and methods that minimize erosion will be identified in all construction contracts and design/construction specifications. Large parking lots, roof areas, aircraft facilities and roads which result in rapid runoff will be minimized wherever practicable. Periodic surveys will be made to identify areas where erosion has occurred and action will be initiated to control further erosion such as planting vegetation; controlling and, where necessary, impounding stormwater from areas of rapid runoff.

§ 650.65 Minor industrial and municipal operations.

Wastewater discharge from minor industrial and municipal facilities such as wash racks, engine steam cleaning operations, water treatment plant backwash, swimming pool filter backwash and other similar activities will be connected to the sanitary sewer wherever feasible. It should be noted that effluent from these activities not connected to sanitary sewers requires an NPDES discharge permit. To eliminate costly and difficult treatment and monitoring programs all possible efforts should be directed to connnecting with the sanitary lines. At remote locations, a holding tank may be used which is sized to hold all drainage between pumpouts. After pumpout, the wastewater will be transported to another location for treatment and disposal. Other alternatives include onsite treatment which would require a discharge permit, or a closed cycle system which would treat and re-use the wastewater. In the latter case, if there were no discharges, a permit would not be required.

§ 650.66 NPDES permits.

The NPDES permit program (40 CFR Part 125) requires that all discharges of pollutants from point sources into navigable waters, (§ 650.53(a)(6)), will be regulated by a discharge permit. This applies to domestic and industrial wastewater. The permit requirement does not extend to discharges from separate storm sewers except where the storm sewers receive industrial, municipal and agricultural wastes or runoff or where the storm runoff discharge has been identified by the Regional Administrator, the State water pollution control agency, or an interstate agency as a significant contributor of pollution. Also exempted are Army controlled properties (except when needed for public use) which are leased to contractors or others under authority of 10 U.S.C. 2667. It is the administrator of the lease who will monitor and institute corrective actions as necessary to insure that the leasee obtains and adheres to the NPDES permit.

(a) Permit application. When it is determined that an NPDES permit is required, permit applications will be requested from the applicable EPA Regional Office.

(b) Draft permits. A draft permit will be issued based on the permit application. The draft permit will contain effluent limitations necessary to meet water quality standards; compliance schedules identifying dates on when the effluent limitations will be met, monitoring programs identifying type of pollutant to be monitored, method of sampling and analysis, frequency of sampling; and method and frequency of reporting monitoring program results.

(c) Draft permit review. EPA is required to provide copies of the draft permit to the installation commander, the state, and the general public for review and comment. In general there will be not less than thirty (30) days in which to provide comment before the final permit is issued. MACOMS will provide copies of all NPDES permits (both draft and final) received from EPA to the U.S. Army Environmental Hygiene Agency, ATTN: HSE–EW, Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD 21010. USAEHA will accomplish: (1) a technical review of each NPDES permit received, (2) provide advice or assistance to the installation commander, (3) through appropriate command channels establish liaison with the EPA, as necessary, to clarify and discuss permit conditions, and (4) provide written comment back to the permittee for subsequent passage of written comments to the appropriate EPA Regional Office. Installation commanders will report potential problems arising from the terms of the permits which could impact on the operational capability of the installation to the HQDA (DAEN–FEU) Washington, DC 20314 through appropriate command channels. In addition, the permits will contain instructions pertaining to reporting changes in quality or quantity of wastewater.

(d) Monitoring reports. The terms of the permit will, in general, require the monitoring of all wastewater discharges and a periodic report to the EPA Regional Administrator, National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Discharge Monitoring Report (RCS EPA–1002). In order to determine the effectiveness of the treatment and monitoring programs, copies of all monitoring reports will be forwarded to the USAEHA, ATTN: HSE–EW Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD 21010. Reports are made in accordance with frequency prescribed by each NPDES permit on form EPA 3320–1 (10–72). Forms are available from appropriate EPA Regional Office. (See figure 9–1 and table 9–3 for location and addresses).

(e) Compliance schedules. (1) NPDES permits will contain a schedule of compliance with regard to any discharge which is not in compliance with applicable effluent standards and limitations, applicable water quality standards, and other applicable requirements. This schedule will be rigidly enforced. The terms of the permit will, in general, require that the permittee provide the EPA Regional Administrator with written notice of the permittee's compliance not later than 14 days following each interim date of compliance. Copies of this notice will be provided to the operating command and to USAEHA.

(2) In the event of noncompliance with the interim or final requirements, the permittee will immediately provide written notification to the EPA Regional Administrator with information copies to the appropriate operating command, USAEHA and DAEN–ZCE and where necessary, will request a revision to the compliance schedule following the procedure established under 40 CFR 125.23.

(f) Installations discharging to regional or municipal treatment works. Permits are not normally required for discharge of domestic wastewater to regional or municipal sewage treatment facilities. However, those installations which find that pretreatment prior to discharge is required may be required to file for a permit.

(g) Inspections. The EPA Regional Administrator may, under authority of 40 CFR 125.13 and 125.22, make site visits and inspections (1) for the purpose of evaluating facilities prior to issuance of an NPDES permit and (2) for the purpose of monitoring compliance with the terms of an issued permit.

(h) Cooperation with state and regional authorities. The EPA Regional Administrator, or his designated representative has full and legal authority to make site inspections of Army facilities.

However, installation commanders will on the basis of reasonable, specific requests extend the same privileges to authorized state and regional pollution control authorities.

(i) Security restrictions. When representatives from Federal, State, or regional environmental pollution control agencies inspect facilities, examine operating records, and make tests to determine adherence to environmental performance specifications, security requirement must be met and the inspectors will be accompanied by either engineer or medical technical representatives designated by the appropriate major Army commander.

(j) Information requests. The EPA regional office is the responsible Federal agency regarding enforcement of all water pollution control requirements at Federal facilities in that region. Water pollution control information emanating from Federal facilities should go through the applicable EPA regional office. Therefore, requests for permit related information by state or regional authorities or by responsible members of the general public, should be directed to the applicable EPA regional office (Subpart A of this part).

§ 650.67 Ocean dumping permits.

Permits for the dumping or discharge of materials into ocean waters, other than transportation of dredged material for purpose of dumping in ocean waters, are issued by the EPA. There are two types of permits, one which governs a general category of dumping and one which governs the dumping of special materials. The Administrator of EPA can issue general permits. The authority for issuing most special permits has been delegated to the EPA Regional Offices. Controls governing ocean dumping can be found in 40 CFR Parts 220 through 227, "Regulations and Criteria, Transportation for Dumping, and Dumping of Material into Ocean Waters." Most permits require information on the type of pollutant or effluent being discharged or dumped, its quantity and frequency and location of discharge. Permits require monitoring and documentation.

§ 650.68 Corps of Engineers permits.

The construction of any structure in or over a navigable water of the United States, the excavating from or depositing of dredged or fill material in such waters, the accomplishment of any other work affecting the course, condition, location, or capacity of such waters, the discharge of dredged or fill material in navigable waters, and the transportation of dredged material for the purpose of dumping it in ocean waters requires a permit from the Corps of Engineers and will be processed in accordance with 33 CFR 209.120. Application for this permit is made to the local District Engineer. Applications are available from Corps of Engineers District Offices and will be completed for all projects or activities not under the design and supervision of the Chief of Engineers.

§ 650.69 State permits.

(a) Cooperating with and providing information to State and regional authorities does not include making application for State permits of any kind nor obtaining a water quality certification from the State for any activity involving the discharge of a pollutant into navigable waters. Where information or data is to be provided a State authority on a prescribed registration form and authenticated, Army installation commanders will comply with all reasonable requests and forward same with a disclaimer that:

> While Federal law does not require military installations to apply for State permits or obtain State water quality certifications, this installation is desirous of complying with the objectives of State and Federal pollution control programs. However, completion of this form is not to be construed as an application for permit. To the best of my knowledge, the information presented herein is correct.

Under unusual circumstances, when the installation commander considers it prudent to respond contrary to the above guidance, request for waiver will be submitted through appropriate command channels to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310.

(b) In all cases, waiver request will include a legal opinion by the staff judge advocate of the installation concerned or of the next higher command having a staff judge advocate to insure legal sufficiency. Special attention should be given to questions involving registration of sources and compliance schedules to insure that the legal implications of such instruments are understood.

§ 650.70 Operation training and certification.

(a) Operators of water treatment works and sewage treatment works shall meet levels of proficiency consistent with operator certification requirements applicable to the State or region in which the facility is located. (AR 420–15, Certification of Utility Plant Operators and Personnel Performing Inspection and Testing of Vertical Lift Devices).

(b) Necessary training of water treatment works and sewage treatment works operators will be accomplished through programs sponsored by the State in which the facility is located. In the absence of such State or regional programs, training will be accomplished at qualified institutions designated by the Major Army Command (MACOM).

§ 650.71 Waivers.

(a) No action which is contrary to the provisions contained in this subpart will be taken without first obtaining a waiver of the requirement from HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310.

(b) Waivers may be granted only if the President or the Administrator of EPA finds that the technology to implement such standards is not available or operation of the facilities in question is required for reasons of national security. Requests for such waivers will not be considered by HQDA unless it can be clearly and conclusively demonstrated that operation of the facilities in question and the proposed construction or modification meets the above criteria. Requests for waivers will be forwarded through command channels to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310.

§ 650.72 Investigation of complaints.

Each operating commander will establish procedures to investigate water pollution compliaints and allegations from individuals and water pollution control authorities. In the case of a legal action of potential legal action, the matter will be reported immediately through Judge Advocate General channels to HQDA (DAJA–RL) WASH DC 20310.

§ 650.73 Water Pollution Control Report—(RCS DD–I&L (SA) 1088).

(a) The water pollution control report portion of the Environmental Protection Control Report is designed to provide HQDA with data on a phased and coordinated plan for control and abatement of water pollution for submission to OSD and OMB; and for development of the five-year Army Environmental Program. Detailed instructions for preparing and submitting this report are provided in Subpart J of this part.

(b) The report will cover all portions of the water pollution control program where expenditure of funds for corrective actions is required. This includes all fixed facilities, monitoring equipment, watercraft and other mobile facilities.

Subpart D—Air Pollution Abatement

General

§ 650.81 Purpose.

The provisions contained in this chapter implement the Clean Air Act of 1970 (Pub. L. 91–604 as amended) and the applicable Federal and State Regulations issued pursuant to this Act; Executive Order 11752, Prevention, Control, and Abatement of Environmnetal Pollution at Federal Facilities; and DOD Instruction 4120.14, Air and Water Pollution Control.

§ 650.82 Goal and objectives.

It is the Department of the Army's goal to reduce the emission of pollutants into the air from both stationary and mobile sources to the lowest practicable limits, and at the earliest practicable date. Objectives for obtaining this goal are to—

(a) Identify air pollution emission sources, determine the kinds and amounts of pollutant emissions, and reduce pollutant levels to those specified by Federal, State, interstate, or local substantive standards.

(b) Procure commercial equipment and vehicles with internal combustion engines that meet emission standards, except for combat vehicles specifically excluded by Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations.

(c) Insure that each piece of military equipment is designed, operated, and maintained so that it meets air emission standards unless specifically exempted.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

§ 650.83 Explanation of terms.

(a) Ambient air quality standards. Those standards established pursuant to the Clean Air Act, for protecting public health and welfare.

(b) Emission standards. Permissible limits of emissions established by Federal, State, interstate and local authorities to achieve ambient air quality standards.

(c) Implementation plans. Plans developed and administered by a State to designate the methods used to implement, maintain, and enforce ambient air quality standards in air quality control regions. The plans present an inventory of emissions and their source; a comparison of current emissions with current ambient air quality conditions; amount of emission reduction necessary to attain the ambient air quality standards for each category of emission sources; and plans, including transportation control plans, for achieving emission reductions.

(d) Mobile sources. Vehicles, aircraft, watercraft, construction equipment and other equipment using internal combustion engines as the means of propulsion.

(e) Monitoring. The assessment of emissions and ambient air quality conditions, using techniques such as emission estimates, visible emission reading, diffusion or dispersion estimates, sampling, or measurement with analytical instruments.

(f) Motor vehicle. Any self-propelled vehicle designed for transporting persons or property on a street or highway (sec. 213, Clean Air Act). Further defined in 40 CFR Part 85.

(g) National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants. EPA emission standards established for specified hazardous air pollutants emitted by both new and existing stationary sources. (Sec. 112, Clean Air Act.)

(h) Parking facility. Any off-street area or space, lot, garage, building or structure, or combination or portion thereof, in or on which motor vehicles are parked.

(i) Standards of performance for new stationary sources. Emission standards established for specified pollutant sources, such as industrial facilities (Sec. 111. Clean Air Act).

§ 650.84 Policies.

(a) Control and monitor fixed air pollutant sources to insure compliance with Federal, State, interstate and local substantive air emission standards.

(b) Monitor ambient air quality in the vicinity of Army industrial-type activities, or cooperate with others in such monitoring to determine whether current ambient air standards are being met.

(c) Control emissions from mobile sources in accordance with Federal regulations or by State regulations when authorized by law.

(d) Cooperate with Regional EPA and State authorities in achieving the objectives of State Air Quality Control Plans through the formulation and coordination of installation Air Quality Control Plans and Transportation Control Plans.

(e) Participate with local authorities, to the fullest extent practicable, in controlling air emissions during emergency air pollution episodes.

§ 650.85 Responsibilities.

(a) The Chief of Engineers will—(1) Publish the basic policies and procedures for the identification, reporting, and programming of projects to control and monitor air pollutants emitted by Army fixed facilities and mobile sources, including aircraft and watercraft (DAEN–ZCE).

(2) Report requirements for projects to control sources of air pollution and the installation of air quality monitoring systems in accordance with this regulation and DOD Instruction 4120.14.

(3) Process requests for exemption from compliance in accordance with the provisions of the Clean Air Act and Executive Order 11752.

(4) Include in the Army R&D Program such research as may be needed or required for the development of technology to control Army-unique air pollutants.

(5) Perform technical review and evaluation of remedial projects for the control of existing sources of air pollution at fixed facilities and insure that provisions are made for air pollution control in the design of new structures and facilities.

(6) Coordinate the requirement of the adoption of new air emission standards for the Army fixed facilities with The Surgeon General.

(7) Provide technical advice and assistance for the control of air pollution in the operation and maintenance of fixed facilities.

(b) The Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics will issue implementing policies, procedures and instructions for the control of air pollution which pertain to the maintenance, repair and modification of mobile sources including vehicles, aircraft and watercraft.

(c) The Deputy Chief of Staff for Research, Development and Acquisition will—(1) Conduct research and development programs designed to provide low-pollution, high efficiency engines for Army vehicles, mobile power sources, aircraft, and watercraft; and for the development of clean burning fuels.

(2) Incorporate air pollution controls, where required, in the development of new equipment and weapons systems to the maximum extent possible without degrading the operational capabilities to an unacceptable level.

(3) Insure that mobile equipment and engines developed for the Army comply with applicable current and projected Federal emission standards to the extent that priority defense and national security requirements permit.

(d) The Surgeon General, will—(1) Monitor the health and welfare aspects of the air pollution control program within the Department of the Army.

(2) Issue health and medical policy guidance on air pollution control and abatement.

(3) Consult with COE and appropriate commanders in the establishment of air pollution control standards which are unique to the Army.

(4) Provide staff assistance and guidance on the health and environmental aspects of management of hazardous and toxic air pollutants.

(5) Provide support to the basic Army R&D Program in terms of identification/designation of R&D needs.

(6) Review proposed Federal, State, interstate and local emission/ambient air quality standards and coordinate DA input to the standard-setting process.

(e) Major Army commanders will—(1) Develop a program, consistent with this regulation and DOD guidelines to control and monitor air pollutant emissions from fixed and mobile facilities to comply with applicable Federal, State, interstate and local emission standards and ambient air quality standards.

(2) Insure that personnel having responsibilities for controlling air pollution emissions (e.g. equipment operators and mechanics, heating plant operators, etc.) are properly trained to perform such duties. Further, provide training in the inspection, test and maintenance of pollution control devices and emissions measurement equipment.

(f) Commanding General, US Army Materiel Command. In addition to responsibilities assigned in paragraph (e) of this section, the Commanding General, US Army Materiel Command will—(1) Require that Army materiel equipped with internal combustion engines meet air emission standards in effect at the time of manufacture as required by Federal or State regulations.

(2) Insure that the manufacture, shipment, operation, maintenance and final disposition of the materiel can be accomplished with a minimum emission of air pollutants.

(3) Provide in technical publications appropriate information and instructions on air pollution controls for engine driven equipment and on maintenance and monitoring procedures for minimizing pollutant emissions.

(g) Commanding General, US Health Services Command will—(1) Assist The Surgeon General in fulfilling his responsibilities for the health and welfare aspects of the air pollution control programs.

(2) Provide personnel for conducting field investigations and special studies on sources of air pollution and for recommending measures required to protect health and welfare, and to comply with stationary or mobile emission standards or ambient air quality standards (§ 650.92).

(h) Installation and activity commanders will—(1) Monitor air emission sources within their installations or under their control and identify air emission sources requiring remedial action to insure compliance with emission standards and ambient air quality standards.

(2) Program remedial projects and funds to control and monitor air emission sources and ambient air quality to insure compliance with emission standards and ambient air quality standards.

(3) Cooperate with local representatives of Federal, State and regional agencies in the formulation and execution of projects and activities related to abatement of air pollution to include instituting emergency measures required during air pollution episodes.

(4) Monitor the operation of motor vehicles to permit compliance with applicable Federal or State emission standards; or in the absence of applicable standards, to minimize smoke emissions.

(5) Continue mechanic and operator training programs in the prevention, control and abatement of pollution from mobile equipment.

§ 650.86 Reports.

Sources of air pollution will be identified and those requiring remedial action will be reported as specified in Subpart J of this part. An example of an exhibit prepared on a facility found not to be in compliance with specified standards is shown in figure 10–3.

§ 650.87 References.

See table 4–1 for related publications to be used in conjunction with this subpart.

STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

§ 650.88 Standards.

(a) General. (1) The Clean Air Act establishes the legal basis for improving air quality and maintaining air quality for the protection of public health and welfare. Included in its provisions are the establishment of Air Quality Control Regions, which are approximately 250 in number; the establishment of National Ambient Air Quality Standards to identify the acceptable health and welfare levels which will be permitted for a given pollutant; allowable significant air quality deterioration zones which set the allowable amount of air quality deterioration; and the preparation of Implementation Plans by each State to provide for the attainment of primary standards by July 1, 1975 and secondary standards within a reasonable time. The Act also requires EPA to set Standards of Performance for new or modified sources of pollution; establishing source emission standards for hazardous air pollutants such as asbestos, beryllium and mercury; and controlling motor vehicle emissions.

(2) National Ambient Air Quality Standards prescribe maximum pollutant levels for particulate matter, sulfur oxides, carbon monoxide, photo chemical oxidents, hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxides (40 CFR Part 50). In all instances the States in their Implementation Plans have specified strict ambient air quality standards and established maximum levels for each pollutant based on the type of source. It is the applicable State standard that is to be achieved by each Army facility.

(b) Fixed facilities—(1) Existing Sources. Individual pollutants are to be controlled in accordance with national primary and secondary air quality emission standards, normally those promulgated by a State. The basic reference is 40 CFR Part 50.

(2) New sources. Specific Federal emission standards are applicable to certain types of new facilities such as large fossil fuel-fired steam generators, incinerators, sulfuric and nitric acid plants, etc. Detailed information is contained in 40 CFR Part 60.

(3) Air quality control regions. Air quality control regions, criteria, and control techniques are given in 40 CFR Part 81.

(4) Hazardous air pollutants. Certain hazardous air pollutants as such asbestos, beryllium and mercury, which must be closely controlled are identified in Federal regulations promulgated by EPA. Refer to 40 CFR Part 61 and § 650.132 for guidance on control of asbestos during demolition and prohibition on use of sprayed asbestos materials for any purpose.

(c) Mobile sources—(1) Commercial or commercially-adapted vehicles. The manufacturer is required to certify these vehicles as meeting established emission standards of the year of manufacture. Basic reference is 40 CFR Part 85.

(2) Military vehicles. Certain military vehicles are excluded from the provisions of the Clean Air Act. Those not excluded will be certified by the manufacturer as meeting standards of the year of manufacture. Basic reference is 40 CFR Part 85.

(3) Replacement engines. (40 CFR Part 85).

(i) Light duty will meet the standards imposed at the year of vehicle manufacture.

(ii) Heavy duty will meet the standards imposed at the year of engine manufacture.

(4) Aircraft. Commercial or commercially adapted aircraft will comply with standards applicable to commercial aircraft in year of manufacture. Basic reference is 40 CFR Part 87.

§ 650.89 Assessment of air quality.

The impact of emissions produced by the operation of fixed and mobile sources on air quality will be included in an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) or Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) of any Army proposed action. Specific information as to existing regional air quality will be provided along with the changes or impact produced by the planned action. See also § 650.91 (b) on significant air quality deterioration zones for additional guidance. Particular attention will be given to vehicle emissions from both military and privately owned vehicles which, along with the vehicles in a nearby community, may constitute a significant source of air quality degradation and health hazard.

§ 650.90 Air pollution sources.

Common sources of air pollution which must be controlled include—:

(a) Heating plants over one million BTU per hour input.

(b) Incinerators.

(c) Large electrical power generating plants.

(d) Manufacturing processes/acid production facilities.

(e) Metal cleaning and treatment operations.

(f) Spray painting operations.

(g) POL storage and dispensing facilities.

§ 650.91 Air pollution abatement and control.

(a) Existing fixed sources of air emission are subject to Federal and State standards promulgated under the Clean Air Act. Those facilities found not in compliance with such standards are to be promptly identified and reported in accordance with the procedures outlined in Subpart J of this part. The programing and budgeting for remedial projects will conform with established procedures as in AR's 37–40, 415–15, 415–25 and 420–10.

(b) New fixed sources or major modification to existing facilities which are a source of air emissions will be designed in accordance with applicable standards. Consultation with or review by State authorities on such projects will be through the Regional Administrator of EPA at the earliest practicable time in the planning process. Further, the State air pollution control agencies will establish significant air quality deterioration zones to control the introduction of pollutants into a specified area. Deterioration zones apply only to specific category of sources such as acid plants and power plants. Applicable air pollutants are particulate matter and SO_x only. Zones will be established by the state and are as follows:

Zone I—Very little to zero deterioration.
Zone II—Moderate deterioration.
Zone III—May deteriorate up to the national maximum.

Implementation of these standards is now through the state review of preconstruction plans. This regulation significantly increases the power of states to control land use patterns. Therefore, all Army plans for development and expansion of facilities must consider the deterioration zone within which the affected installation is located. (40 CFR Part 52).

(c) Emissions from new mobile sources such as vehicle and aircraft engines will be regulated at the time of manufacture and certified in accordance with Federal regulations issued by EPA. The alteration or removal of such emission controls installed on Army equipment is prohibited.

(d) The retrofit of military vehicles not equipped with emission control devices at the time of manufacture may be required by State regulation. Commanders of installations where such controls are required will take appropriate action to have such vehicles retrofitted and to insure that vehicles without emission controls are not operated unless a waiver or exemption as specified in § 650.95 is approved.

§ 650.92 Air emission monitoring and reporting.

(a) Fixed sources. Air emissions will be monitored in accordance with EPA approved State, regional or local regulations. The more common pollutants that are monitored include particulates, sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide, oxides of nitrogen, hydrocarbons and photochemical oxidants. Mandatory monitoring is imposed where more toxic emissions, such as nitric and sulfuric acid mists and asbestos, are released to the atmosphere. Such records on emissions as may be specified by EPA will be maintained and submitted as required.

(b) Mobile sources. The periodic monitoring of vehicle emissions serves to verify the effectiveness of emission controls and engine combustion efficiency. Installations having large vehicle fleets are encouraged to institute such monitoring procedures. No reports are required for these emission monitoring operations.

(c) Technical assistance. Technical assistance relating to health and welfare considerations of air pollution problems can be obtained from Commander, US Army Health Services Command (HSC-PA), Fort Sam Houston, TX 78234. Specific services available include:—

(1) Collection of pollutant emission data, operating criteria and performance standards for air pollution abatement equipment.

(2) Consultation on current Federal and State air quality regulations, standards and monitoring instrumentation.

(3) Source and ambient air evaluations to demonstrate compliance of existing sources with air quality regulations or standards.

(4) Provide assistance in collection and interpretation of air quality data for development of EIA or EIS.

§ 650.93 EPA Air Pollution Project review.

(a) The following type projects require review by the EPA Regional administrator for compliance with air pollution control standards prior to the initiation of construction:

(1) Large industrial or manufacturing facilities.

(2) Certain new parking facilities to be constructed in areas covered by Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas and Transportation Control Plans (38 major urban areas) are subject to preconstruction review by the EPA Regional Administrator (40 CFR Part 52). A review is required for parking facilities having a capacity of 250 or more vehicles, or where special restrictions are imposed on any additional parking. In such instances, an EPA permit must be obtained for new or modification of existing parking facilities which results in a net increase of 250 or more spaces when construction commences after January 1, 1975 or when a construction contract is signed after January 1, 1975. The basic references for state implementation plans and Transportation Control Plans are 40 CFR Part 51 and 40 CFR Part 52 respectively.

(b) At the request of the installation commander, such reviews may be coordinated with the Regional EPA office by the supporting Corps of Engineers District Office.

§ 650.94 Compliance schedules.

(a) A compliance schedule is required for each existing fixed source of air pollution which exceeds applicable standards. Such a schedule contains a chronological list of dates (milestones) for each major action to be completed within the overall plan to bring a polluting source into compliance.

(b) Compliance schedules are negotiated by installation representatives with EPA Regional Offices and State air pollution control authorities. Once approved by EPA, the specified date when the facility will comply with air emission standards becomes legally binding on the installation commander. Further, the installation is required to inform the appropriate EPA Regional Office and State authority in writing of any foreseen delays in meeting the intermediate dates contained in the compliance schedule and the reasons therefore prior to the scheduled completion date. When it becomes apparent that the ultimate compliance date can not be met for reasons beyond the control of the installation commander, a revised compliance schedule should be renegotiated with the State. In such cases the EPA Regional Administrator will be notified as soon as possible since only EPA has the final authority to approve compliance schedules which go beyond the final compliance date. If renegotiation of a compliance schedule is rejected by EPA, the installation commander may forward a request for an exemption (§ 650.95) from compliance from standards when continued operation of the facility is essential to the conduct of the DA mission.

§ 650.95 Exemptions.

(a) An exemption from compliance with air pollutant emissions may only be requested for existing facilities. New facilities are to be designed to meet established standards.

(b) Requests for exemption from the Clean Air Act and regulations promulgated pursuant to the Act will be based on the continued operation of a particular facility being in the interests of national security and upon the requirements of Executive Order 11752. Such requests will be forwarded through channels to HQDA (DAEN-ZCE), WASH DC 20310 for necessary action.

(c) Requests for exemption for mobile sources (vehicles) will be handled in accordance with AR 750–20.

§ 650.96 Transportation Control Plans.

(a) In addition to regulating the emissions from fixed sources, it may be necessary for a State to impose controls over transportation in order to achieve national ambient air standards. Large metropolitan areas, such as Los Angeles, California and Baltimore, Maryland are having to resort to such measures because the major portion of air pollution in those areas is caused by motor vehicles.

(b) Military installations and activities located within the area defined in EPA approved Transportation Control Plans are required to cooperate with local authorities in reducing vehicular traffic consistent with military requirements. Although the overall requirement is to reduce both military and civilian traffic, primary emphasis should be on reducing the use of privately owned vehicles. Consequently, Installation Transportation Control Plans which may be required for a particular region by Federal Regulations should be prepared and implemented as deemed necessary. Various control measures that should be considered include:

(1) instituting a command carpooling with carpool locator program,

(2) encouraging the use or expansion of public transportation service,

(3) restricting available parking areas to promote carpooling,

(4) issuing preferred parking spaces to carpool cars, and

(5) encourage the use of bicycles/walking for short on-post trips.

(c) Information regarding the existence of approved metropolitan Transportation Control Plans may be obtained from local air pollution control authorities or the Regional EPA Administrator.

§ 650.97 Emergency air pollution episodes.

(a) Army installations or activities located in areas susceptible to air pollution episodes (smog conditions) will cooperate with local authorities in reducing air emissions during such emergency periods. Specific contingency plans are to be developed for these emergencies to provide for: (1) the curtailment of all but essential services; (2) to provide for required mission activities; (3) announcement of notification procedures; and (4) instructions on those control measures to be invoked during the various phases of such episodes.

(b) The following control measures are to be considered in such contingency plans:

(1) Restrict use of private automobiles by requiring car pools or use of mass transit facilities.

(2) Conduct an educational program on the hazards of air pollution episodes.

(3) Publicize episode warnings and notification procedures.

(4) Postpone all except mission-essential activities which produce air emissions; e.g., vehicle use, operation of incinerators, etc.

(5) Grant personnel administrative leave, but only as a last resort. This action will be coordinated with other DOD and Federal installations in the affected area.

(c) Government assets provided a contractor managing a government-owned facility, are subject to the same use restrictions during an emergency air pollution episode as those imposed on a contractor by a State on the use of his private assets.

Subpart E—Waste Management [Reserved]

Subpart F—Hazardous and Toxic Materials Management

GENERAL

§ 650.121 Purpose.

The provisions contained in this chapter implement the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act, as amended; Clean Air Act, as amended; the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA) as amended by the Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act (FEPCA) of 1972; the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (FWPCA), as amended; the Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1973 (MPRSA)—Ocean Dumping; and the Solid Waste Disposal Act (SWDA), as amended. Detailed guidance on oil and hazardous liquid substances spill prevention and contingency plans appears in Subpart I of this part.

§ 650.122 Goal and objectives.

The Department of the Army (DA) goal is to control hazardous and toxic materials to minimize hazards to health and damage to the environment. The following objectives are necessary to achieve this goal:

(a) All material developed and procured by the Army is to be designed to minimize health and environmental hazards during research, development, testing, production, use, storage, and disposal.

(b) Limit, to the extent practicable, the use of toxic and/or hazardous materials, and employ procedures which provide maximum safety during storage, use, and disposal when less toxic or hazardous substitutes are not available.

(c) Develop safe and environmentally acceptable methods for the storage and disposal of materials which are inherently hazardous or potentially dangerous due to the quantities involved.

(d) Provide properly trained personnel for the management, use, storage, and disposal of hazardous and toxic materials.

§ 650.123 Explanation of terms.

(a) Certification. The recognition by a certifying agency that a person is competent and thus authorized to use and supervise the use of restricted use pesticides.

(b) Certified applicator. Any individual who is certified to use or supervise the use of any restricted use pesticide covered by his certification.

(c) Class 1 disposal site. The location (e.g., sanitary landfill) where any final deposition of hazardous or toxic waste, after proper processing, may occur. Such a facility complies with EPA guidelines for the disposal of solid wastes as prescribed in 40 CFR Part 241.

(d) Disposal. To abandon, deposit, inter or otherwise discard waste as a final action after its use has been achieved, a use is no longer intended, or its use has been declared excess, suspended or cancelled.

(e) Effluent standard. A state or federal effluent standard or limitation to which a discharge is subject under the FWPCA amendments of 1972, including, but not limited to, effluent limitations, standards of performance, toxic effluent standards and prohibitions, and pretreatment standards. This includes a prohibition of any discharge established, for any toxic pollutant described in 307(a) of the FWPCA as amended.

(f) Hazardous and toxic material management. For environmental purposes, the systematic and purposeful control over the production, procurement, storage, handling, use, and disposal of materials or substances which are either hazardous to life because of their inherent toxicity or a potential danger because of the quantities involved.

(g) Hazardous substance. An element or compound or mixture (other than oil as covered in Subpart I of this part) which, when discharged in any quantity into or upon the navigable or coastal waters, presents an imminent and substantial danger to the public health or welfare, including fish, shellfish, wildlife, shoreline, and beaches, e.g., hazardous substances include some strong acids, strong bases, organic solvents, certain metals and their compounds, other strong oxidizers, or other bulk-stored chemicals used in manufacturing processes and maintenance or repair operations. (Designation of and determination of removability of hazardous substances will be addressed in 40 CFR Part 116).

(h) Hazardous waste. Any waste or combination of wastes which, if not effectively controlled, poses a potential hazard to human health or living organisms because they are nondegradable, persistent in nature, lethal, or may otherwise cause or tend to cause detrimental cumulative effects. Such materials include wastes which are corrosive, flammable, toxic, irritants, strong sensitizers or which generate pressure through decomposition, heat or other means.

(i) Ocean dumping. The disposal of hazardous or toxic materials (including pesticides, pesticide containers, pesticide-related wastes, other hazardous chemical stocks, pharmaceutical stocks of drugs, radioactive materials, explosive ordinance or chemical warfare agents) in or on the oceans and seas as defined in the MPRSA (Pub. L. 92–532).

(j) Open burning. The disposal by burning of hazardous or toxic materials or their wastes in any fashion other than by incineration in an approved hazardous waste incinerator.

(k) Open dumping. The placing of hazardous or toxic materials or their wastes in a land site in a manner which does not protect the environment and is exposed to the elements, vectors, and scavengers.

(l) Pest. Includes, but is not limited to, any insect, rodent, nematode, fungus, weed, or any form of plant or animal life or virus, bacterial organism or other micro-organism (except viruses, bacteria, or other micro-organisms on or in living man or other animals) which is normally considered to be a pest or which the Army may declare to be a pest in accordance with public law or national policy.

(m) Pest management. Pest control in which one or more control methods are selected for use in an integrated program that incorporates a series of alternative control strategies including parasites, predators, pathogens, cultural practices and chemicals, to achieve economic pest control with least disruption of the environment.

(n) Pesticide. Any substance or mixture of substances intended for preventing, destroying, repelling, attracting, or mitigating any pest and any substances or mixture of substances intended for use as a plant regulator, defoliant, or desiccant.

(o) Pesticide-related wastes. All pesticide-containing wastes or pesticide-containing by-products which are to be discarded, but which, pursuant to acceptable pesticide manufacturing or processing operations, are not ordinarily a part of or contained within an industrial waste stream discharged into a sewer or the waters of a State.

(p) Processing. To neutralize, detoxify, incinerate, biodegrade, or otherwise treat a hazardous or toxic waste to remove its harmful properties or characteristics for disposal.

(q) Restricted use pesticide. A pesticide that is classified for restricted use under the provisions of section 3(d)(1)(C) of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act, as amended (7 U.S.C. 135 et seq.) and other legislation supplementary thereto and amendatory itself.

(r) Soil injection. The emplacement of hazardous or toxic materials or their wastes by ordinary tillage practices within the plow layer of a soil.

(s) Toxicity. The property of a substance or mixture of substances to cause any adverse physiological effects on any of the biological mechanisms of an organism.

(t) Toxic pollutant. Pollutants or combinations of substances (including disease-causing agents) which, after discharge and upon exposure, ingestion, inhalation, or assimilation into any organism—either directly from the environment or indirectly by ingestion through food chains—will cause death, disease, behavioral abnormalities, cancer, genetic mutations, physiological malfunctions (including malfunctions in reproduction) or physical deformations in such organisms or their offspring. (A list of toxic pollutants will be given in 40 CFR Part 129).

(u) Waste. Any material for which no use or re-use is intended and which is to be discarded.

(v) Water dumping. The disposal of hazardous or toxic materials or their wastes in or on lakes, ponds, rivers, sewers, or other water systems as defined in the FWPCA (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.)

§ 650.124 Policies.

The Department of the Army will—

(a) Exercise positive management over the research, development, procurement, production, use, handling, storage and disposal of hazardous and toxic material. Priority will be given to instituting measures required to protect health or control pollution.

(b) Comply with environmental quality policies and procedures specified in this regulation and those standards established by the applicable Federal, State, interstate, or local authority for the control of hazardous and toxic materials and substances.

(c) Use nonhazardous or nontoxic materials to the extent practicable.

(d) Conserve resources and, to the extent practicable, dispose of hazardous and toxic materials and waste by reprocessing, recycling, and/or re-using.

(e) Program and budget sufficient resources for the effective management and environmental control of pesticides, hazardous chemical stocks, pharmaceuticals, radioactive materials, explosives, and chemical agents in accordance with DA regulations and in consonance with any other applicable Federal, State, or local objectives.

(f) Conform with Federal regulations and guidelines respecting pesticides, promulgated pursuant to the provisions of FIFRA as amended, (§§ 650.126—650.129).

(g) Acquire and use only those pesticides registered with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) (§ 650.126(a)).

(h) Monitor for the residual effects of pesticides on military installations in furtherance of the National Pesticide Monitoring Program.

(i) Conform with applicable Federal regulations, standards, and guidelines promulgated and adopted in accordance with the Atomic Energy Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 2011), or by EPA on discharges of radioactivity. This restriction does not apply to emergency operations conducted by Explosive Ordnance Disposal or Technical Escort personnel (§§ 650.139, 650.140 and 650.141)

(j) Prohibit the disposal (by open dumping, water dumping, well injection, or open burning) of pesticides, hazardous chemical stocks, pharmaceutical stocks and drugs, radioactive materials, explosive ordnance, or chemical warfare agents directly into the air, water, or land environment in a manner hazardous to man or animals or if it will cause unreasonable adverse effects on the environment (§ 650.127(f)).

(k) Conform with Federal regulations and guidelines respecting dumping of material into ocean waters in accordance with the MPRSA and the FWPCA as amended.

(l) In the absence of published national standards, guidance on acceptable methods and maximum concentrations pertaining to the use, storage, discharge or disposal of hazardous and toxic substances are to be referred through Major Command Headquarters to the USA Health Services Command.

§ 650.125 Responsibilities.

(a) Department of the Army Staff.

(1) The Inspector General and Auditor General will—(i) Exercise primary Army Staff responsibility for overall supervision of Army safety program activities as established by AR–385–10.

(ii) Provide assistance and guidance on the safety aspects of the storage, use, handling, and disposal of hazardous and toxic substances.

(2) The Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans will—(i) Insure that Required Operational Capability (ROC) documentation for new material involving potentially hazardous materials requires that safe and environmentally acceptable methods for storage and disposal of these materials be developed or included as part of procurement specifications.

(ii) Provide single DA contact point for all chemical warfare activities including demilitarization and disposal.

(3) The Deputy Chief of Staff for Research, Development and Acquisition will insure that all materiel developed by the Army is designed to minimize health and environmental hazards during research and development, production, testing, storage, use and disposal.

(4) The Chief of Engineers will—(i) Exercise primary Army Staff responsibility for coordinating guidance and promulgating environmental protection regulations concerning hazardous and toxic material management within the Army.

(ii) Provide technical instructions and guidance on the implementation of pest management programs.

(iii) Coordinate with The Surgeon General to establish Army criteria, instructions, and corrective measures involving pollution from hazardous and toxic materials.

(iv) Promote the reclamation, recycling, or safe disposal of excess and outdated chemicals, particularly the stocks of cancelled or excess pesticides and superseded chemicals.

(5) The Surgeon General will—(i) Establish health criteria and standards and monitor health and welfare aspects of the hazardous and toxic material management program.

(ii) Develop environmental toxicology data and recommend standards for safe storage, use, discharge and disposal of hazardous and toxic materials.

(iii) Provide technical instructions and guidance for the DA pest management programs in disease vector control, pesticide monitoring, health, safety, and the training of insecticide and rodenticide applicators.

(iv) Coordinate with the Chief of Engineers in establishing criteria, instructions, and corrective measures involving pollution from hazardous and toxic materials.

(6) The Judge Advocate General will provide guidance, as required, on interpretation of FIFRA, FEPCA, FWPCA, MPRSA, SWMA and other Federal, State, and local laws and regulations.

(b) Commanding General, US Army Materiel Command (AMC) will—

(1) Establish training programs for logistical personnel involved in the production, testing, and storage of explosives and chemical munitions and for those handling radioactive materials, hazardous and toxic chemicals, and products.

(2) Conduct research and technological investigations in support of the hazardous and toxic materials pollution abatement efforts related to industrial facilities operated by AMC. This includes development of alternative less polluting industrial processes, development of industrial waste recycling systems, evolvement of treatment processes and design criteria, and development of safe and profitable disposal methods.

(3) Insure compliance with DA and other Federal regulations on the disposal of chemical agents and munitions (§§ 650.130–650.134 and §§ 650.139–650.141).

(4) Procure materials for Army use which will minimize health and environmental hazards during production, use, storage, and disposal.

(c) Commanding General, US Army Health Services Command will—

(1) Conduct training activities to insure proficiency in the application, handling, storage, use, and disposal of insecticides and rodenticides to qualify pest control personnel for certification in accordance with the FIFRA 1972, as amended, and EPA guidelines.

(2) Provide personnel for conducting field investigations and special studies concerning hazardous and toxic materials and for recommending measures required to protect health and welfare and to comply with standards.

(d) Major Army commanders will—

(1) Establish a program for the control of hazardous and toxic materials management for the protection of the health and welfare of personnel and the natural environments.

(2) Program and budget for necessary resources required for hazardous and toxic materials management and pest management programs.

(3) Certify and re-certify as necessary, personnel employed in pest control activities after determination that personnel have received adequate training from an authorized and qualified source and have demonstrated proficiency in the application, handling, storage, use and disposal of pesticides in accordance with FIFRA, as amended. Such certification should identify the specific areas in which personnel are fully qualified.

(e) Installation and activity commanders will—

(1) Supervise the procurement, use, storage, and disposal of hazardous and toxic materials and chemicals and initiate appropriate procedures to protect the health and welfare of personnel who are exposed to their use.

(2) Comply with the procedures on the handling, use, and storage of hazardous and toxic materials which are under development and will be published by the Department of the Army. In the absence of DA regulations, Army activities will cooperate with Federal, State, or local agencies in meeting their standards.

(3) Use nonhazardous and nontoxic materials in installation and activity operations and procedures, when practicable.

(4) Insure that personnel involved in the pest management programs and in application of pesticides are certified in accordance with procedures in AR 420–76 and AR 420–74.

(5) Maintain liaison and cooperate with representatives of Federal, State, and local authorities engaged in regional pest control operations and pollution control and abatement.

(6) Dispose of hazardous and toxic materials in accordance with EPA-approved and DA-approved procedures (§§ 650.126–650.138). Chemical warfare agents will be disposed of in accordance with detailed plans approved by DOD (§§ 650.136–650.141).

(7) Insure that waste effluent discharges from radioactive isotope activities are in accordance with applicable rules, regulations, and requirements of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (10 CFR Part 20.) and the policies and guidance of the Federal Radiation Council.

(8) Program and budget for resources necessary to conduct an effective hazardous and toxic materials management program at each Army installation.

PESTICIDE MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

§ 650.126 Implementing guidelines.

(a) DA will procure only those pesticides approved by and registered for use with the EPA and will use them consistent with their intended use and label instructions. Use of a pesticide other than those registered and approved for specific application in accordance with their labeling is illegal under FEPCA. Major command entomologist/agronomist, in coordination with DAEN–FEB, will be contacted in those instances where use of pesticides is anticipated for purposes other than that given on registered labeling.

(b) Some pesticides are on the EPA list of toxic pollutants for which water effluent standards are being developed. The list includes, but is not limited to substances such as aldrin, dieldrin, cadmium and all cadmium compounds, cyanide and all cyanide compounds, DDD (TDE), DDE, DDT, endrin, mercury and all mercury compounds, and toxaphene (chlorinated camphene). If the registration of any pesticides has been suspended or finally cancelled by EPA, DA organizations will not use such products except by special permission of DAEN–ZCE. If justified, DAEN–ZCE may request an exemption from EPA.

(c) The concentration of pesticide residue contained in waste water discharges should not exceed the levels specified by the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit issued to an installation.

(d) The storage, use, handling, and disposal of pesticides will conform to safety and health standards established by HQDA based on regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and Code of Federal Regulations by EPA, HEW, DOT and other appropriate Federal agencies. Army publications that apply to the conduct of pest control activities are given in table 6–1. Disposal and repackaging guidelines are given in tables 6–3 and 6–4 of this Subpart.

§ 650.127 Procedures.

(a) The following requirements are applicable to pesticides in the two EPA rating system classes, highly toxic and moderately toxic (Toxicity categories I and II respectively) 39 FR 15237. Pesticides and used pesticide containers will be stored in a secure, dry, ventilated, single purpose, fire resistive room, building, or covered area. Pesticide formulations will be stored separately, inventoried semiannually and identified with warning signs in accordance with the EPA toxicity rating and Department of Transportation warning systems for pesticide labeling, and checked bimonthly for corrosion and leaks (39 FR 15235–15241). Large quantities of excess pesticides and used pesticide containers awaiting disposal will be stored in a secure and separate area and will be checked bimonthly for corrosion and leaks. Where applicable, the outside of each storage area will be labeled with appropriate "DANGER," "POISON," "PESTICIDE STORAGE" signs and local fire department hazard signal signs.

(1) Emergency detoxification and decontamination equipment, sink and showers, eye lavage, protective clothing, and rubber gloves will be provided pesticide handlers in accordance with AR's 420–74, 420–76, and 385–32.

(2) A viable accident prevention and environmental protection program will be maintained within the installation pest control service areas. Signs will be posted within the pesticide storage area indicating the type and common name of the pesticides being stored.

(3) A complete inventory of pesticides on hand will be maintained by the pesticide control services personnel indicating the number and identity of containers stored.

(b) Pesticide application and other insect and rodent control will be accomplished by or under the direct and continuing supervision of a trained and certified applicator (AR's 420–74 and 420–76): SOPs will be prepared by installation pesticide users on the application of pesticides. These SOPs will be reviewed by the appropriate DA engineer and/or medical entomologist, or agronomist (for herbicide application).

(c) DA directives will give a categorization for pesticide use. Categorization listings will identify those pesticides which may be used by a trained and certified applicator as well as by other than a trained and certified applicator.

(d) Only EPA registered pesticides will be used by the pesticide control services personnel, and usage will be in accordance with DA directives and label requirements. Nonregistered pesticides will only be obtained and used after approval by the command agronomist or entomologist, DAEN–FEB, and DAEN–ZCE.

(e) Pesticides in excess of installation requirements will be reported through channels to the Commander, U.S. Army General Parts and Materiel Center, New Cumberland Army Depot, New Cumberland, Pa. 17070, in accordance with paragraph 776, Defense Disposal Manual 4160.21M. Disposition instructions will be requested. However, every effort should be made to use the pesticide for the purposes originally intended, at the prescribed dosage rates, provided they are currently legal under all Federal, State, and local laws and regulations.

(f) Only approved methods will be used in the disposal of small quantities of certain excess or unusable pesticides (39 FR 15239). Accepted methods of rinse and disposal of pesticide containers have been developed in accordance with EPA recommended procedures. Guidance thereon will be issued by DAEN–ZCE. Technical assistance concerning containers not covered in directives may be obtained from: Commander, U.S. Army Environmental Hygiene Agency (USAEHA), Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. 21010. Small quantities of used, suspended or cancelled pesticides may be disposed of in a Class 1 disposal site or its equivalent. These "small" quantities vary with different pesticides and will be determined by Commander, USAEHA.

(g) The judicious application of herbicides will be observed in natural resources management operations. Alternative methods of plant control such as mowing, controlled burning, etc. should be employed if economically feasible rather than the use of herbicides if at all possible.

(h) Prohibited procedures.

(1) No pesticide, pesticide-related waste, pesticide container, or residues from a pesticide container will be disposed of in such a manner as to cause or allow: open dumping; water dumping; well injection; direct exposure which may result in contamination of food or feed supplies, or a manner inconsistent with its label or labeling. Rare exceptions to these prohibited procedures may be granted by the regional administrator of EPA in accordance with the MPRSA and FWPCA amendments of 1972.

(2) Normally, no pesticide, pesticide-related waste, pesticide container, or residue from a pesticide container shall be disposed of in such a manner inconsistent with its label or labeling or in such a manner as to cause or allow open burning. Small quantities of combustible containers, not to exceed 50 pounds or the quantity emptied in a single work day, whichever is less (except those formerly containing organic beryllium, selenium, mercury, lead, cadmium, or arsenic compounds) may be burned by the applicator in open fields where—

(i) Due regard is given to wind direction in relation to receptors such as population centers, field workers, domestic animals, and surface water supplies,

(ii) Such open burning is consistent with Federal, State, or local ordinances; and

(iii) Provisions are made to avoid contamination of surface and groundwater to levels in excess of standards promulgated by the Public Health Service, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare for potable water.

(i) Immediate emergency assistance on a pesticide spill that threatens life or gross contamination of the environment may be obtained by calling (800) 424–9300 (Chap. 6, AR 420–76).

(j) Application of pesticides, including aerial dispersal, may require the filing of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). The continuation of ongoing pest control operations which have been assessed and found to have no significant adverse environmental effect may not require the preparation of an EIS. However, a change of pesticide, rate of application, application technique or the initiation of a special or new operation, will require preparation of a new Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) or the updating of a previous assessment. Where new pesticide programs are proposed, the command entomologist or agronomist will be consulted. Copies of each EIA prepared will be retained on file at the installation. (See Subpart B of this Part for EIA/EIS procedures).

§ 650.128 Monitoring.

(a) The DA pesticide monitoring program is the responsibility of the US Army Health Services Command (AR 40–5). It complements the National Pesticide Monitoring Program to insure that the use of pesticides does not constitute a threat to human health or hazard to the environment. The program determines pesticide residue levels in substances such as surface water, soil, sediments, fish, and birds.

(b) Army installation commanders having pest control management activities will support the DA pesticide monitoring program. Technical assistance in this area may be obtained from Commander, US Army Environmental Hygiene Agency, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. 21010.

(c) All Army facilities will require an annual review and inspection of pest control shops to insure that a sound pest management program is established and followed, and that prescribed procedures in the handling, use, and disposal of pesticides and pesticide containers are being followed.

§ 650.129 Reports (RCS DD–I&L (AR) 1080) and (RCS DD–I&L (SA) 1088).

(a) Pest Control Summary Report, (RCS, DD–I&L (AR) 1080). Continuing reports will be made on the storage and use of pesticides as required by AR 420–76.

(b) The Environmental Protection Control Report—Pesticide Pollution Category 6, (RCS DD–I&L (SA) 1088). The Pesticide Pollution Control Report is designed to provide information on a phased and co-ordinated plan for prevention or control of pesticide pollution for submission to Office of the Secretary of Defense and Office of Management and Budget. Examples to be included in such a report are disposal facilities, storage facilities or shop remodeling relating to prevention, control or abatement of pollution from pesticides. The report is the Army's fiscal plan for abatement of pesticide pollution resulting from Army activities. See Subpart J of this part for reporting procedures and guidance.

HAZARDOUS CHEMICAL STOCKS (EXCLUDING CHEMICAL WARFARE AGENTS)

§ 650.130 Implementing guidelines.

(a) Existing or promulgated hazardous chemical management standards in this regulation apply to all Army facilities. Storage, use, handling and disposal of hazardous chemical stocks will conform to published DA policies, standards, and procedures (tables 6–1 and 6–2).

(b) With the exception of oils and other liquid petroleum products (Subpart I of this part), it is difficult to identify materials which should be classified as hazardous or toxic. Hazards to be considered include flammability, radioactivity, re-activity, toxicity, bioconcentration, irritation, allergenic, or genetic activity. Certain chemicals, such as asbestos, cadmium, lead, mercury, beryllium, cyanide, toxaphene, polyvinyl chloride, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB's), fluorine compounds, selenium, arsenic, and certain pesticides are recognized as hazardous and special storage and handling are necessary even for small quantities. Other materials, however, are more difficult to categorize since excessive amounts of almost anything can be harmful when released. EPA is currently defining criteria and establishing effluent standards for hazardous substances and toxic pollutants (including some pesticides) under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act amendments of 1972 (39 FR 30466). Effluent standards will be published by EPA for these hazardous substances which can reasonably be anticipated to be discharged into navigable waters and which will pose an imminent and substantial danger to public health and welfare. Upon issuance in the FEDERAL REGISTER, DA installation commanders will follow required restrictions and guidelines on their discharge or disposal.

(c) Subpart C of this part lists requirements under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System and other applicable Federal, State and local standards.

(d) Ocean dumping, as a rule, will not be considered an acceptable means of disposing of hazardous and toxic substances, pesticides, radioactive wastes, or chemical warfare agents. Only under special circumstances, and after coordination with EPA, will ocean dumping and transportation for such dumping be allowed.

§ 650.131 Procedures.

The hazardous chemical management procedures in this regulation are presented as preferred methods by which the requirements of the environmental standards and the objectives of DA policies can be achieved. If techniques other than the following are used, commanders will demonstrate in advance that the techniques to be employed will satisfy the environmental quality standard in this regulation or those established by the appropriate Federal, State, or local authority.

(a) All measures to prevent accidental pollution of the environment by uncontrolled release of hazardous chemicals to the air, water, or land environment will be taken by all Army activities.

(1) Installations storing, handling, or transferring hazardous chemicals will include within their Spill Prevention Control and Countermeasure (SPCC) Plan, procedures to prevent, control and report accidental releases of these substances to the environment. (See Subpart I of this part, on requirements for SPCC plans).

(2) Effluent standards for toxic pollutants are found in 40 CFR Part 129, and the designation of hazardous substances will be found in 40 CFR Part 116.

(b) Storage facilities for chemicals (excluding pesticides) hazardous to health and welfare and detrimental to the environment, will be located according to the nature of the chemicals, storage site, protective enclosures, and operating procedures. Adequate measures will be taken for inventorying chemicals semi-annually, for controlling hazards, and for monitoring the environment.

(c) Appropriate safety materials and protective clothing and equipment will be kept on hand for emergency treatment, decontamination, cleanup, and for area warning signs and labels.

(d) No hazardous chemical, or its container, which will cause adverse effects on the environment, will be used or disposed of in a manner inconsistent with instructions on its label or inconsistent with use or disposal procedures established by Federal, State, or local laws or regulations.

(e) Ultimate disposal of unserviceable and excess hazardous chemical stocks.

(1) Hazardous chemical stocks that are unserviceable and/or have been declared excess to DA requirements will be reported to the local Defense Property Disposal Office (DPDO) for merchandising. The stocks will remain the property of the generating agency until ultimate disposal.

(2) Disposal of hazardous chemical stocks on which DPDO disposition cannot be obtained may be made by contract with commercial firms, provided it is in accordance with appropriate Federal, State, or local laws and regulations and the commercial firm is licensed or otherwise approved to dispose of the chemical stocks by the appropriate authorities.

(3) Disposal guidance can be obtained from the Commander, US Army Edgewood Arsenal who, in conjunction with Commander, US Army Environmental Hygiene Agency, Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD 21010, will provide data. Requests for disposal guidance should include Federal Stock Number (FSN), full nomenclature, appropriate military specification or standard indicated on label, quantity of issue, total quantity of issue, total quantity requiring disposal (pounds, gallons, liters, etc.), and condition of containers.

(4) Commanders of installations and activities who are responsible for disposing of hazardous chemicals will maintain records indicating quantities of hazardous chemicals disposed of, disposal method used, and disposal site location (e.g. removal of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB) from transformers).

(f) The transport of dangerous or hazardous chemicals is subject to the provision of Pub. L. 91–121 (50 U.S.C. 1511–1516) and AR 55–56. Chapter 216, AR 55–355 requires DA compliance with CFR Title 14 (air transportation), Title 49 (highway and rail transportation), and Title 46 (water transportation). Further, AR 55–228 governs water transport of hazardous materials and TM 38–250 prescribes the provisions for the transportation of dangerous materials by military aircraft.

(g) Immediate short-term (30 minutes or less) emergency assistance on a chemical spill transportation problem may be obtained by calling Chem Trec (800) 424–9300 or in the Washington, D.C. area, (202) 483–7616. This service is available only for short-term transportation problems and provides information on spills, leaks, fire and explosion.

§ 650.132 Special authorizations.

(a) A notification must be made to EPA for the operation, construction or modification of a source of hazardous air pollutants (asbestos, beryllium, or mercury); FEDERAL REGISTER April 6, 1973 (38 FR 8820) and May 3, 1974 (39 FR 15396) and October 25, 1974 (39 FR 38064) (Exempt Report paragraph 7–2o AR 335–15). Sprayed asbestos materials will not be used in construction for any purpose and controls are placed on asbestos handling during demolition operations. When Federal, State, or local regulations establish other permit systems, DA directives will provide guidance and compliance schedules, as appropriate.

(b) Transportation of hazardous items is covered in AR 55–56, Title 49 CFR Parts 170–189 and Department of Transportation hazardous materials regulations.

(c) Installation commanders will comply with permits required under the provisions of the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES).

§ 650.133 Monitoring.

Environmental monitoring will be in accordance with requirements established in Subparts C and D of this part and the NPDES.

§ 650.134 Reports.

Installation commanders will report, as required, on the inventory, use, and disposal of hazardous chemical stocks, on recurring reports under the NPDES, and as required on accident/incident reports required by AR 385–40 and AR 50–21.

PHARMACEUTICAL STOCKS, BIOLOGICAL WASTES AND DRUGS

§ 650.135 Procedures.

The pharmaceutical disposal procedures in this regulation are preferred methods and apply to both existing and new Army facilities.

(a) No pharmaceutical stock or its container will be disposed of in a manner inconsistent with instructions on its label; or instructions provided in DA #SB 8–75 series supply bulletins; or inconsistent with disposal procedures established by appropriate Federal, State, or local laws and regulations.

(b) Pharmaceutical stocks in excess to medical facility requirements will be reported through medical supply channels in accordance with AR 40–61 and disposition instructions will be requested.

(c) Destruction of banned, outdated, and unserviceable pharmaceutical stocks will be in accordance with instructions provided in DA #SB 8–75 series bulletins. Assistance in determining applicability of disposal procedures may be obtained by request to Commander, US Army Environmental Hygiene Agency, Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD 21010.

(d) Army installation commanders disposing of pharmaceutical stocks by land burial will maintain records on quantities disposed, disposal method used, and disposal site location.

(e) Biological, surgical and hospital-type hazardous or toxic waste materials will be used, handled, stored and disposed of in accordance with AR 40–5 and AR 40–61. Technical assistance on special problems in handling unusual, hazardous or toxic chemical and biological materials can be obtained by requests addressed to:

(1) CONUS—Commander, US Army Health Services Command, ATTN: HSC–PA–H, Fort Sam Houston, Tx 78234.

(2) OVERSEAS (including Hawaii)—HQDA (DASG–HCH), WASH DC 20310.

§ 650.136 Special authorizations.

Policies and procedures for obtaining written approval applicable to investigative drugs in humans are outlined in AR 40–7.

§ 650.137 Monitoring.

Environmental monitoring will be in accordance with requirements established in Subparts C and D of this part under the NPDES.

§ 650.138 Reports.

Installation commanders will provide reports on disposition of pharmaceutical drugs as required.

RADIOACTIVE MATERIALS, EXPLOSIVES, AND CHEMICAL WARFARE AGENTS

§ 650.139 Radioactive materials and nuclear accidents and incidents.

(a) Policies and procedures applicable to nuclear accidents and incidents are given in ARs 40–13, 50–5, 360–5, 360–43, 385–40, and 755–15. The handling, use, and disposal of radioactive materials will be in accordance with applicable Army regulations and will be in such a manner so as not to contribute to pollution of the environment; within imminent safety and health considerations. Procedures may be found in Army guidance dealing with medical services, nuclear weapons and material, transportation and travel, explosives, safety, logistics, and disposal of supplies and equipment directives.

(b) Temporary storage of radioactive materials, prior to shipment for disposal, will be in accordance with TM 3–261, AR 385–30, AR 700–52, and Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, part 20.

(c) The shipment and disposal of radioactive materials will be in accordance with AR 55–55, AR 755–15, and DOT and Nuclear Regulatory Commission regulations.

(d) Local disposal of radioactive materials by release to the sanitary sewerage systems and other radioactive effluents to the environment will be in accordance with AR 755–15 and Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, part 20.

(e) Special problems on radioactive waste disposal will be referred through command channels to Commander, US Army Materiel Command (ATTN: AM CSF–P), 5001 Eisenhower Avenue, Alexandria, Va 22333.

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(f) All nuclear reactor facilities will be monitored for discharges of gaseous, liquid or particulate effluents to prevent contamination of the environment in accordance with chapter 4, AR 385–80.

(g) Installation commanders will provide reports on handling, use, inventory or disposal of radioactive materials and monitoring as requested by DA, EPA, Nuclear Regulatory Commission or other Federal agencies, and on nuclear accidents/incidents as required by AR 385–40.

(h) The Environmental Protection Control Report—Radiation Pollution, Category 4, (RCS (DD–I&L(SA) 1088). The Radiation section of the semiannual Environmental Pollution Control report is designed to provide information to HQDA on phased or coordinated plans for prevention or control of radiation pollution for submission to Office of the Secretary of Defense and Office of Management and Budget. See Subpart J of this part for reporting procedures and guidance.

§ 650.140 Explosive ordnance.

(a) Policies and procedures applicable to explosive ordnance materials are contained in AR's 75–1, AR 75–14, AR 75–15, AR 385–60, AR 385–64, and 755 series regulations dealing with disposal of supplies & equipment. The disposal of deteriorated ammunitions and explosives will be in accordance with Army regulations in the 75, 385 and 755 series. Every effort will be made to dispose of these wastes so as not to contribute to the pollution of the environment within personnel safety considerations for Explosive Ordnance Disposal and Technical Escort Emergency Operations.

(b) Deteriorated or unused explosives, munitions and rocket propellants may only be open-burned in non-urban areas and under conditions acceptable to Regional EPA and appropriate State Air Pollution Control authorities. Where there is an official prohibition against burning of such wastes, notification of restrictions and/or requests for assistance will be submitted through command channels to DAEN–ZCE.

(c) Installation commanders will provide reports to DA, as requested, on the handling, use, inventory or disposal of explosive materials and on explosive accidents/incidents as required in AR 385–40.

§ 650.141 Chemical warfare agents.

(a) The handling, use, and disposal of chemical warfare agents, ammunition, and explosive materials will be in accordance with Army regulations and will be in such a manner so as not to contribute to the pollution of the environment. Procedures may be found in Army directives dealing with transportation and travel, explosives, safety, and disposal of supplies and equipment. The safety program for chemical agents and associated weapon systems is prescribed in AR 385–61. Further, disposal of chemical warfare agents will be planned in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, Pub. L. 91–190 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), Military Appropriation Acts Pub. L. 91–121, section 409 and Pub. L. 91–441, section 506.

(b) Installation Commanders will provide reports through command channels to DA as requested on handling, use, inventory, or disposal of chemical warfare agents and as required on chemical accidents/incidents as outlined in AR 385–40. Disposal guidance can be obtained from the Commander, US Army Edgewood Arsenal who, in conjunction with the Commander, US Army Environmental Hygiene Agency. Aberdeen Proving Ground Md. 21010, will provide data.

TABLE 6–3—PESTICIDE CONTAINER DISPOSAL GUIDELINES

RECOMMENDED INTERIM GUIDELINES FOR DISPOSAL OF EMULSIFIABLE CONCENTRATE METAL CONTAINERS

Step 1. Empty containers in the normal manner and allow to drain for one minute into the spray or mix tank.

Step. 2. First Rinse.

a. Add the correct amount of water rinse solution:

Container size	Minimum water rinse solution
Less than one gal	One-fourth container volume.
One gal	One quart.
Five gal	Two quarts.
Fifteen gal	1.5 gallons.
Thirty gal	Three gallons.
Fifty-five gal	Five gallons.

b. Replace closure.

c. Rotate and up end container to get rinse over all interior surfaces.

d. Drain rinse into the spray or mix tank.

Step. 3. Second Rinse.

a. Repeat step 2 a thru c.

b. Puncture head of the metal container near the edge adjacent to the pour spout and drain the rinse into the spray or mix tank.

NOTE: If 15–55 gallon containers are to be recycled through a registered drum reconditioner, DO NOT PUNCTURE the containers.

Step. 4. Third Rinse.

a. Repeat step 2, but gently rotate the drum to rinse interior of the container being careful not to spill rinse through the puncture area.

b. Metal containers up to and including five gallon size:

(1) Allow rinsed container to drain for one minute into the spray or mix tank.

(2) Crush the rinsed container and bury in sanitary landfill in conformance with State and local standards, or recycle through a properly equipped metal reclaiming firm, if applicable.

c. Metal containers, 15–55 gallon capacity:

(1) Allow the rinsed container to drain for one minute into the spray or mix tank.

(2) Replace all closures, accumulate rinsed drums in a secure area, and:

(a) Recycle through a registered drum reconditioner; [1] or

(b) Return to a pesticide manufacturer or formulator for refilling with the same chemical class of pesticide providing such return and reuse is legal under currently applicable U.S. Department of Transportation regulations; [1] or

(c) Recycle as scrap metal through a metal reclaiming firm.

[1] Information on registered drum reconditioners "Reuse of Specification 17 Series Steel Drums" and the reuse of empty pesticide containers may be obtained from: Department of Transportation, Office of Hazardous Materials, Operations Division, 400 Sixth Street, SW., Washington, D.C. 20590.

(3) If drums are not recycled, they should be rinsed and punctured as outlined in Step 3, crushed and buried in a sanitary landfill in conformance with State and local standards.

NOTE: Never re-use emptied pesticide containers.

RECOMMENDED INTERIM GUIDELINES FOR DISPOSAL OF TECHNICAL GRADE METAL CONTAINERS

Step 1. Empty container should be allowed to drain for one minute into the spray tank.

Step 2. Replace closure.

Step 3. Accumulate unrinsed empty drums in a secure area, and:

a. Store pending receipt of DOD disposal instructions; or

b. Return empty drums to a registered drum reconditioner [1] or a pesticide manufacturer or formulator for refilling with the same chemical class of pesticide as previously contained provided such return and refilling is legal under current applicable US Department of Transportation regulations [1]; or

c. Recycle as scrap metal through a metal reclaiming firm having EPA and/or State approved burning equipment suitable for incineration of pesticides.

Department of Transportation, Office of Hazardous Materials, Operations Division, 400 Sixth Street, SW., Washington, DC 20590.

RECOMMENDED INTERIM GUIDELINES FOR DISPOSAL OF SPECIFIED CONTAINERS (BAIT, DUST, AEROSOL AND GRANULE)

Step 1. Empty container in the normal manner.

a. Residue should be completely removed from bait, duet and granule containers.

b. Aerosol containers should be completely expended.[2]

Step 2. Crush container with the exception of aerosol containers.

Step 3. Dispose container in the sanitary landfill in conformance with State and local standards, or accumulate and recycle the crushed metal containers through a properly equipped metal reclaiming firm, if applicable.

NOTE: Never re-use emptied pesticide containers.

RECOMMENDED INTERIM GUIDELINES FOR DISPOSAL OF WATER WETTABLE POWDER CONTAINERS (METAL AND PAPER)

Step 1. Empty container in the normal manner.

Step 2. Rinse container three times, each time using a volume of water equal to approximately 10 percent of the container capacity and adding the rinse water to the spray tank. This rinse water should be calculated as part of the required diluent.

Step 3. Rinsed metal containers can be crushed and sold as scrap metal, if applicable. Unsalvaged containers should be rendered unuseable and buried in an approved sanitary landfill in conformance with State and local standards.

NOTE: Never re-use emptied pesticide containers.

RECOMMENDED INTERIM GUIDELINES FOR DISPOSAL OF ONE GALLON OIL SOLUTION READY-MIX METAL CONTAINERS (6840–844–7355 DIAZINON 0.5 PERCENT; 6840–180–6069 BAYGON HOUSEHOLD SPRAY 1 PERCENT)

Step 1. Empty container in the normal manner.

Step 2. Puncture top of metal container near the edge adjacent to the pour spout and allow to drain for 5 minutes into the spray tank.

Step 3. The empty container should be crushed and buried in an approved sanitary landfill in conformance with State and local standards.

NOTE: Never re-use emptied pesticide containers.

TABLE 6–4—RECOMMENDED PROCEDURES FOR REPACKAGING LIQUID PESTICIDES AND DISPOSITION OF EMPTY CONTAINERS

1. Observe prescribed safety procedures during all operations to prevent spilling of, or exposure of personnel to the pesticides, and:

a. Stay up wind while pouring pesticides.

b. Do not drink, eat, smoke, or use tobacco in pesticide handling areas.

c. Wear neoprene or neoprene coated gloves and a neoprene or Buna–N rubber apron while repackaging.

d. Wear face shields or chemical goggles during repackaging.

e. Do not put fingers in mouth or rub eyes while repackaging.

f. Wash hands before eating, smoking, or using the toilet and immediately after repackaging.

g. Wear protective clothing; remove contaminated clothing immediately and launder before wearing again.

h. Work clothes and street clothes should not be stored in the same locker.

i. Workers should shower at the end of each shift or upon completion of repackaging operations.

j. Respirators or gas masks with proper canisters approved for the particular type of exposure by the US Bureau of Mines or the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health should be available. Combat masks (M17, M17A1) should not be used.

k. Leaking containers should be repackaged under the supervision of the installation Facilities Engineer's pest management personnel.

2. Approved containers for repackaging liquid pesticides are:

Five gallon—FSN 8110–282–2520, Drum Metal: New; 22 USS sheet metal gage steel; enamel exterior; nonremovable ends, 13⅜ in. outside H, 11¼ in. OD; five gal normal filled capacity; bail attached to top; spout; FED PPP–P–704, Type 1, Class 8, push-pull spout.

Fifty-five gallon—FSN 8110–597–2353, Drum, Shipping and Storage: 16 USS sheet metal gage steel; enamel exterior; nonremoval cover, 35⅛ in. outside H, 23⅜in. OD; 55 gal capacity; two expanded outward rolling hoops; bung and vent located in end; reusable; FED PPP–D–729, Type 1.

3. When repackaging liquid pesticides, the interior surface of each metal drum FSN 8110–282–2520 and FSN 8110–597–2353, shall be completely lined with two coats, .0015 inch total thickness, of bisphenol epoxide and phenol-formaldehyde resins mixture conforming to MIL–V–12276D, Type III, class optional.

4. Empty the leaking container into one of the above approved containers and mark as shown in paragraph 8 or 9.

NOTE: Do Not Combine Pesticides During Repackaging.

5. After emptying the contents of a container, puncture the top of the container near the edge adjacent to the pour spout and allow one gallon containers one additional minute and larger containers 3 to 5 additional minutes to drain.

6. With storage some pesticides develop sludges or crystals that solidify and adhere to the bottom of the container. Should this occur, dissolve with a solvent and add the dissolved sludge to the new container being used to repackage the contents of the leaking container. Pesticides containing sludges are considered unserviceable.

7. Container Rinse Procedures.

a. Rinse the empty container three times, each time using a volume of the normal diluent equal to approximately 10 percent of the container's capacity. The diluent for 5 percent DDT, FSN 6840–253–3892, is kerosene; diluents for other pesticides are indicated on the pesticide container labels.

Container size	Minimum diluent required for each rinse
One gallon	qt.	1.0
Five gallon	qts.	2.0
Fifteen gallon	gal.	1.5
Thirty gallon	do.	3.0
Fifty-five gallon	do.	5.0

b. Add the correct amount of rinse solution and GENTLY ROTATE the container for one minute to get the rinse over interior surfaces avoiding spillage of the rinse through the leaking areas.

c. Drain the rinse into an approved container. Note:

(1) For a pesticide declared SERVICEABLE, drain the rinse into a separate container. DO NOT RINSE INTO THE CONTAINER BEING USED TO REPACKAGE THE CONTENTS OF THE LEAKING CONTAINER. (Serviceability must be verified by a quality assurance test.)

(2) For a pesticide declared UNSERVICEABLE, drain the rinse into the container being used to repackage the contents of the leaking container.

d. Repeat paragraphs 7b and c (second rinse).

e. Repeat paragraphs 7b and c (third rinse), and:

(1) Allow to drain for 5 minutes into one of the above approved containers.

(2) Crush and bury empty containers in a sanitary landfill in conformance with Federal, State and local standards or recycle rinsed containers to a commercial metal reclaiming firm having EPA and/or State approval burning equipment suitable for incineration of pesticides.

8. Labeling containers of UNSERVICEABLE pesticides (diluted or undiluted) and rinse solutions.

a. Marking shown on one side of drum shall not occupy more than the upper one-third of the side:

(1) WASTE MATERIAL NOT APPROVED FOR USE.

(2) FSN—Repackaged.

(3) Nomenclature and percentage.

(4) Type and quantity of rinse solution added to repackaged container.

(5) Total quantity in gallons.

(6) Level of protection and date packaged (B-month/year).

(7) Gross weight and cube.

b. Marking shown on drum head or ends not removed in order to use contents (applies to 55 gallon drums only):

(1) WASTE MATERIAL NOT APPROVED FOR USE.

[2] In expending aerosol containers, some propellant usually remains. This propellant can be ignited if a large quantity of aerosol cans are crushed while being disposed in sanitary landfill operations. The vapors of propellant (in sufficient volume) can be sucked over the hot bulldozer engine by its fan and such vapors can ignite, consuming the equipment and operators in flames. Therefore, never store spent aerosol cans for disposal at one time; rather dispose them either singly or in quantities of no more than six cans.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(2) FSN—Repackaged.
(3) Total quantity.

9. Labeling containers of SERVICEABLE pesticides.

a. Marking shown on one side of drum shall not occupy more than the upper one-third of the side:
(1) FSN—Repackaged.
(2) Nomenclature and percentage.
(3) Total quantity in gallons.
(4) Level of protection and date packaged (B-month/year).
(5) Gross weight and cube.

b. Marking shown on drum head or ends not removed in order to use contents (applies to 55 gallon drums only):
(1) FSN.
(2) Nomenclature and percentage.
(3) Total quantity.
(4) Lot or batch numbers.
(5) Date of pack (earliest repackage date).
(6) Contract number(s).
(7) Name and address of the contractor(s).

c. Marking shown on the diametrically opposite side of the container from that containing the identification marking and shall be located in the upper one-third of the side:
(1) Contract, purchase, or delivery order number(s).
(2) Name(s) and address(es) of prime contractor(s).

d. In order for repackaged pesticides to be considered serviceable, returned to the supply system, transferred or sold for use as originally intended, an additional label which conforms with the original EPA or USDA registered label to include the registration number must be attached. If the item does not have an EPA or USDA registered label, the additional label must then conform to the labeling instructions contained in the original military or Federal specification for each line item.

10. Storage.

a. Store UNSERVICEABLE repackaged pesticides with other UNSERVICEABLE pesticides and hold pending DOD disposal instructions.

b. Store SERVICEABLE repackaged pesticides with other SERVICEABLE pesticides and use for intended purpose.

Subpart G—Environmental Noise Abatement

General

§ 650.161 Purpose.

The provisions contained in this chapter implement the provisions of the Noise Control Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92–574) and Federal Regulations promulgated pursuant to this Act, including Executive Order 11752, Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A–106, and EPA procedures for Reporting Proposed Pollution Abatement Projects For Federal Facilities.

§ 650.162 Goal and objectives.

The Department of the Army (DA) goal is to control noise produced by Army activities to protect the health and welfare of its members and the public within, adjacent to, and surrounding Army installations. The following objectives are necessary to achieve this goal:

(a) Assess the environmental impact of noise produced by Army activities and mitigate harmful or objectionable effects to the maximum extent practicable.

(b) Comply with applicable Federal, State, interstate and local standards pertaining to noise, consistent with military requirements.

(c) Achieve noise abatement through the application of engineering noise reduction procedures, administrative noise control measures, modern land use planning and procurement of less noisy equipment.

(d) Incorporate noise control provisions, consistent with national security requirements, into the development and procurement of weapons systems and other military equipment for use in combat operations; and in the design and siting of facilities.

§ 650.163 Explanation of terms.

(a) Administrative noise control measures. Policy decisions and administrative actions taken to regulate the conduct of training, operations and activities for the purpose of relocating, rescheduling, or restricting activity to abate or control noise; e.g., decisions on the time of day, site, and number of operations, firing schedules, flight patterns, etc.

(b) Ambient noise. The all encompassing noise associated with a given environment, usually composite of sounds from many sources.

(c) Decibel (dB). Unit of measure indicating the sound pressure level of a measured sound. dBA indicates that the sound level is measured through the A-weighting network of a sound level meter.

(d) Engineering noise reduction. Control of noise at the source, path or receptor site through use of acoustical engineering techniques. Among other techniques, this involves enclosures, absorbent materials, and barriers.

(e) Environmental noise. The intensity, duration, and character of sounds from all sources.

(f) Impulsive noise (also referred to as impulse or impact noise). Noise with abrupt onset, high intensity, short duration—typically less than one second. This type of noise can be produced by weapons fire, explosions, punch presses, and drop hammers, and consists of a short burst of acoustical energy of either a single impulse or a series of impulses.

(g) Land use planning. That aspect of master planning wherein the best possible use is made of available land areas by considering, among other factors, mission and environmental protection requirements.

(h) Noise control management. The abatement of noise through use of low-noise-emission products, engineering noise reduction, or administrative noise control measures.

(i) Noise pollution control standards. Noise emission standards for products adopted in accordance with provisions of the Noise Control Act of 1972 or provisions of State, interstate, and local standards for control and abatement of environmental noise.

§ 650.164 Policies.

The Department of the Army will—

(a) Comply with all DOD and applicable Federal, State and local noise control standards promulgated pursuant to the Noise Control Act in the planning, siting, design, construction and operation of Army controlled facilities and installations. The aim is to promote an environment for all people free from noise that jeopardizes their health and welfare.

(b) Procure commercial equipment and products, or those adapted for military use, that are in compliance with established Federal noise standards and give priority to use of low-noise-emission products within reasonable cost and mission limitations.

(c) Incorporate noise control provisions in the design and procurement of vehicles, aircraft, weapons systems and other military-unique equipment for use in combat operations to the extent that essential operational capabilities are not significantly impaired.

(d) Include the impact of environmental noise in any assessment of an Army action or program.

(e) Institute measures to reduce and/or control the generation of noise from flying and flying-related activities and comply with DOD Instruction 4165.57 on Air Installations Compatible Use Zones (AICUZ).

(f) Periodically monitor Army installations and their environs to insure that applicable Federal, State, interstate and local noise standards are met.

§ 650.165 Responsibilities.

(a) Department of the Army Staff.

(1) The Chief of Engineers will—(i) Promulgate basic policies, guidance and regulations for the control of environmental noise produced by military equipment (aircraft, vehicles, etc.), and that resulting from the conduct of various types of military training activities (DAEN–ZCE).

(ii) Monitor the structural engineering aspects of the environmental noise pollution control program to assure that facilities on Army real property satisfies established noise control standards (DAEN–MC).

(iii) Provide guidelines and assistance for the selection of architectural and engineering measures to be employed, to control noise levels in conjunction with installation master planning or the siting of new facilities. (e.g., siting considerations, noise barriers or berms, operational controls, and sound attenuation in new and existing structures) (DAEN–MC).

(iv) Coordinate noise abatement criteria, standards, policies, and corrective measures with The Surgeon General, and The Inspector General and Auditor General, (Army Director of Safety).

(v) Incorporate noise attenuation measures in the design and construction of new structures and provide technical assistance on noise attenuation techniques for existing structures (DAEN–MC).

(2) The Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans will—(i) Monitor operations and activities to assure control of noise produced by military equipment, aircraft, and vehicles, resulting from the conduct of various types of military training activities.

(ii) Insure compliance with appropriate-noise standards during test and evaluation of Army material and during operational testing.

(3) The Deputy Chief of Staff for Research, Development and Acquisition will—(i) Monitor compliance with applicable noise control standards during the development and testing of new material.

(ii) Process and staff requests for exemptions (§ 650.175) for military unique equipment where essential operational characteristics are significantly impaired by adherence to applicable noise standards, and where the equipment is deemed essential to mission accomplishment.

(4) The Surgeon General will—(i) Monitor health and welfare aspects of environmental noise within the Department of the Army to assure that the required degree of noise control is maintained.

(ii) Issue health and medical policy guidance obtained from liaison with other Federal agencies assigned responsibility for environmental noice control.

(iii) Coordinate in the development of noise abatement criteria, standards and corrective measures with the Chief of Engineers and when appropriate with Director of Safety, HQDA.

(b) Commander, US Army Health Services Command will—

(1) Accumulate, evaluate, and disseminate data on environmental noise conditions that may adversely affect the health of men and animals.

(2) Conduct environmental noise studies when requested, provide acoustical technical assistance for preparation of Environmental Impact Assessments (EIA) or Environmental Impact Statements (EIS) and make recommendations on programs or projects to achieve noise pollution control.

(3) Provide technical consultation to commanders on health aspects of environmental noise control and assist in the development of environmental noise abatement programs for facilities and activities.

(c) Commander, US Army Materiel Command and other materiel development and procurement agencies will—

(1) Procure equipment or materiel which complies with DA adopted noise emission standards and retrofit existing vehicles as appropriate, to reduce noise to acceptable levels.

(2) Initiate and forward requests for waiver of noise standards for military equipment to DAEN–ZCE when it has been determined that compliance with such standards would significantly degrade the required military capability of the equipment.

(3) Pursue a research and development, test and evaluation program for the abatement or control of noise from military equipment.

(d) Major Army commanders will—

(1) Comply with applicable Federal, State, interstate and local standards regarding environmental noise control and abatement.

(2) Establish a program for an initial survey and periodic review of environmental noise control.

(3) Program and budget for those resources required for environmental noise control.

(4) Report resource requirements for the conduct of the noise pollution control program in accordance with Subpart J of this part.

(e) Installation and activity commanders will—

(1) Comply with applicable Federal, State, interstate and local standards regarding environmental noise.

(2) Identify continuous or recurring sources of noise at an installation or by an activity which exceed standards; are an annoyance to others; are injurious to health; and develop remedial projects or procedures to reduce such noise to acceptable levels.

(3) Monitor the conduct of training activities producing inherently high noise levels for the purpose of minimizing its effect on nearby military and civilian populations.

(4) Maintain liaison with appropriate Federal, State, and local noise pollution abatement authorities, for the purpose of noise control measures insofar as installation and military operational requirements permit in accordance with Subpart A of this part.

(5) Program and budget for resources necessary to conduct an effective noise control program.

(6) Maintain a log of citizen complaints of noise produced by Army activities.

§ 650.166 Reports.

Sources of noise pollution will be identified and those requiring remedial action will be reported as specified in Subpart J of this part. An example of an exhibit prepared on a typical environmental noise control project is shown in Figure 10–7.

§ 650.167 References.

See table 7–1, for related publications to be used in conjunction with this subpart.

Standards and Procedures

§ 650.168 Standards.

(a) Undue exposure to noise may be detrimental to the health and welfare of Department of Army personnel and members of civilian communities adjacent to military installations. Consequently it is necessary to assess major sources of noise to insure there are no adverse impacts. Normally this is accomplished by making sound level measurements and comparing them to established noise standards which include:

(1) Occupational noise level standards—a noise exposure standard established for the protection of hearing of workers by the Army Surgeon General and/or under the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

(2) Product noise source emission standards—maximum noise levels that may be produced by specified items of equipment under the authority of the Noise Control Act or State, interstate and local standards.

(3) Environmental noise standards—property use and/or operational noise levels that are permitted under those conditions specified in Federal, State, interstate and local standards and regulations.

(b) Occupational noise level standards applicable to the Army are contained in AR 40–5, AR 385–10, TB MED 251 and MIL–STD–1474(MI).

(c) Product noise emission standards are published in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). Army materiel excluded from compliance with such emission standards at the time of manufacture are aircraft, vehicles, weapons systems and other products produced for combat use. Commercially manufactured products or those adapted for general military use will comply with the following Federal noise standards:

(1) Commercial Aircraft—14 CFR Parts 21, 36 and 91.

(2) Motor Carrier Noise Emission Standards—40 CFR Part 202 and 23 CFR Part 772. (Section 18 of Noise Control Act only).

(3) Motors and Engines—40 CFR Part 206.

(4) Railroad Noise Emission Standards—40 CFR Part 201.

(5) Construction Equipment—40 CFR Part 204.

(6) Transportation Equipment—40 CFR Part 205.

(d) MIL–STD–1474(MI), Noise Limits for Army Materiel, establishes acoustical noise limits for Army materiel and prescribes the testing requirements and measurement techniques for determining conformance to the noise limits therein.

(e) Environmental noise will be assessed and controlled in accordance with the provisions set forth herein.

§ 650.169 Noise measurement standards.

(a) Noise pollution control standards are applicable to both existing and new Army facilities.

(b) Army facilities and activities will comply with applicable Federal, State, interstate and local noise standards unless a waiver is specifically obtained in accordance with § 650.175. Where no applicable noise regulations and standards exist, installation commanders will minimize noise intrusions into areas surrounding the installations to prevent them from being a source of complaint. An EPA manual that provides general guidance in the absence of specific standards is listed in reference 15, table 7–1.

(c) Measurements in decibels (dBA) should be used for measuring sound levels from Army activities or facilities.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 D XUM

(d) Environmental noise levels should be identified using an equivalent sound level description system known as Leq/Ldn. This new methodology supplements and may replace earlier techniques such as Composite Noise Ratings (CNR) and Noise Exposure Forecast (NEF). The basic reference is EPA Document 550/9–74–004, "Information on Levels of Environmental Noise Requisite to Protect Public Health and Welfare with an Adequate Margin of Safety," March 1974. It is available from the U.S. Government Printing Office. Use will be made of this descriptor system in discussing noise implications in all Environmental Impact Assessments (EIA) and Environmental Impact Statements (EIS). Other rating schemes may be used, but should be related to Leq/Ldn, e.g. the Leq/Ldn rating scheme may be inappropriate for certain types of noises, such as helicopter and blast noise.

§ 650.170 Assessment of noise.

The impact of environmental noise whose source is located on Army-controlled property will be included in an EIA or an EIS of any Army proposed action. Analyses of such significant sources of environmental noise as airfields and firing ranges should be based on field measurements by acoustical technicians.

(a) Technical assistance on land use management or real property associated noise problems (e.g., blast noise, etc.) can be obtained from U.S. Army Construction Engineering Research Laboratory (CERL), P.O. Box 4005, Champaign, IL 61820. A helpful reference on this matter is the CERL document: "User Manual for the Acquisition and Evaluation of Operational Blast Noise Data," (reference 13, table 7–1).

(b) Technical assistance to include field surveys and the preparation of environmental noise pollution evaluations relating to health and welfare considerations of all types of environmental noise problems can be provided by the U.S. Army Environmental Hygiene Agency. Requests for assistance should be sent to Commander, U.S. Army Health Services Command (HSC–PA), Fort Sam Houston, TX 78234. This assistance includes—

(1) The evaluation of existing or potential noise problems which are evidenced by complaints, litigation, or official inquiries;

(2) The assessment of those situations where existing or proposed civilian-community actions may adversely impact noise-sensitive areas located on Army installations;

(3) The assessment of those situations where a proposed civilian community action may be adversely impacted from an ongoing Army activity;

(4) The recommendation of measures to mitigate an existing or potential adverse noise impact;

(5) The evaluation of Department of the Army activities to insure that they comply with applicable noise standards and regulations; and

(6) The conduct of environmental noise assessments as input to Environmental Impact Statements, excluding all projects involving land management and acquisition.

(c) Technical assistance, such as information and technical documents, is also available from the EPA. Inquiries may be sent directly to EPA Office of Noise Abatement & Control, Washington, D.C. 20460, or to the noise representative in the respective EPA Region (see fig 9–1 and table 9–3).

§ 650.171 Noise sources.

Common sources of environmental noise produced by military activities that may require some form of noise control include—

(a) Aircraft operations and training.

(b) Vehicles (combat and noncombat) operations and training.

(c) Weapons firing, explosives and demolition operations and training (blast noise, § 650.169(d)).

(d) Fixed noise sources (power plants and generators, manufacturing plants, industrial facilities, carpenter shops, dynamometer buildings etc.)

(e) Electrical and electronic equipment.

(f) Construction equipment operations and training.

(g) Recreational activities (e.g., snowmobiles, trailbikes, etc.)

(h) All other noise sources that exceed 55 dBA measured at a distance of 50 feet from the source.

§ 650.172 Noise control.

(a) Control of new and existing sources of environmental noise can normally be achieved by applying singly or in combination noise reduction at the source, altering the path of noise, and noise reduction at the receptor site. Further, low-noise-emission products and equipment will be acquired wherever possible.

(b) Engineering noise controls, establishment of noise buffer zones, site design and building construction for noise control, and similar land use planning techniques will be employed in the siting and design of new military structures and facilities.

(c) Projects and resources required to control sources of environmental noise, reported in accordance with § 650.166, will be programed and budgeted using established procedures.

(d) To preclude the need for expensive engineering noise reduction techniques, the impact of environmental noise should be integrated into military land use planning. Attention will be given such matters in the master planning process (AR 210–20) with particular emphasis on—

(1) Routes of high volume traffic flow.

(2) Family housing area locations.

(3) Location of off-post residential areas.

(4) Sites of hospital complexes.

(5) Sites for on-post and off-post school facilities.

(6) Sites for new ranges, impact areas and airfields.

(e) The identification of critical noise rating contours at an installation for the purpose of aiding in land use planning will be a required component of each Installation Master Plan (AR 210–20). Assistance in preparing data for these contours can be obtained through the Office Chief of Engineers (DAEN–MCE–P) and Construction Engineering Research Laboratory (CERL). Requests for such assistance are to be forwarded in accordance with reference 13, table 7–1. Blast noise, helicopter noise and truck noise programs are under development and OCE will issue Technical Reports in each area.

(f) Technical assistance in quantifying noise problems, identifying possible violation of standards, making noise surveys for inclusion in environmental impact assessments or impact statements, etc., may be requested from the U.S. Army Environmental Hygiene Agency (USAEHA) in accordance with § 650.170(b).

§ 650.173 Noise complaints.

While not to be used as the sole criterion for judging the severity of environmental noise impacts, citizen complaints may be indicators of situations where noise control measures will be necessary. Such complaints should be logged, investigated and appropriate corrective measures taken wherever possible. In many instances, such problems can be resolved to the mutual satisfaction of the Army and the community through direct consultation among those involved.

§ 650.174 Low-noise-emission products.

Under section 15 of the Noise Control Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92–574), the US Environmental Protection Agency is responsible for administering a national program for the development of low-noise-emission products. EPA certifies new products whose noise emissions are significantly below the EPA source emission standards for these products as low-noise-emission products. Such certified products of a commercial nature will be acquired by purchase by the Army in lieu of other products if the Administrator of General Services determines that the product costs no more than 125 per cent of the retail price of the least expensive type of product for which these are certified substitutes. Those products found to meet the low-noise-emission criteria will be announced as available through regular supply procurement sources (40 CFR Part 203 and Noise Control Act of 1972, section 15).

§ 650.175 Waivers and exemptions from noise standards.

Requests for exemption or waiver of a Federal or State noise standard will be forwarded through channels to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) WASH DC 20310 who will take appropriate action to obtain OSD approval. Waivers will be requested for the specified period of time (normally one year) needed to permit compliance. Exemptions must be fully justified on the basis of mission accomplishment and military necessity.

Subpart H—Historic Preservation

GENERAL

§ 650.181 Purpose.

This chapter sets forth guidance and procedures to be used by the Department of the Army in the implementation of Executive Order 11593, "Protection and Enhancement of the Cultural Environment" (36 F.R. 8921, 16 U.S.C. 470), in accordance with:

(a) The Antiquities Act of 1906 (34 Stat. 225, 16 U.S.C. 431 et seq),

(b) The Historic Sites Act of 1935 (49 Stat. 666, 16 U.S.C. 461 et seq),

(c) The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 915, 16 U.S.C. 470 et seq),

(d) The National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (83 Stat. 852, 42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq),

(e) The Archeological and Historic Preservation Act of 1974 (88 Stat. 174, 16 U.S.C. 469 et seq).

§ 650.182 Goal and objectives.

The Department of the Army goal is to protect through preservation, restoration or rehabilitation all sites, structures and objects of historical, architectural, archeological or cultural significance located on Army-controlled property. Objectives in attaining this goal are to identify, report and take those actions necessary to protect and preserve those Army-controlled properties (Historic Properties).

§ 650.183 References.

Related publications which should be used in conjunction with this regulation are contained in table 8–1.

§ 650.184 Policy.

The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (Pub. L. 89–665) establishes a national policy for historic preservation stating "that the historical and cultural foundations of the nation should be preserved as a living part of our community life and developed in order to give a sense of orientation to the American people." Therefore, it is the policy of the Department of the Army to—

(a) Locate, inventory, evaluate and nominate to the Secretary of the Interior all properties under Army jurisdiction or control that appear to qualify for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places (National Register).

(b) Administer and maintain historic properties which are under Army control or jurisdiction in a spirit of stewardship and trusteeship for future generations.

(c) Assess all Army-controlled activities to minimize, eliminate or mitigate any adverse impact on historic properties.

(d) Initiate, plan and budget for support of programs necessary to preserve, restore or rehabilitate historic properties.

(e) Coordinate, when applicable, plans, programs, procedures and activities with the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, the Secretary of Interior, State Historic Preservation Officers, The National Trust For Historic Preservation, the Smithsonian Institution, and other Federal, State, or local historic organizations.

(f) Encourage and assist the Secretary of the Interior, non-Federal public agencies, local historical societies or similarly oriented organizations to administer and maintain historic properties where such activity does not adversely impact on the performance of the Army mission.

§ 650.185 Definitions.

Definitions as used in these procedures are contained in subparagraph 800.3, 36 CFR 800 (appendix).

§ 650.186 Responsibilities.

(a) The Chief of Engineers will exercise primary Army staff responsibility for directing and coordinating a Preservation Program for Army-controlled historic properties. The Chief of Engineers will—

(1) Promulgate policy and regulations on protection and enhancement of the cultural and historic environment which reflect Department of Defense guidance and policy.

(2) Establish and monitor the program to preserve, restore, or rehabilitate all Army-controlled properties of historical, achitectual, archeological or cultural significance.

(3) Monitor surveys to identify all Army-controlled properties of historical, architectural, archeological or cultural significance.

(4) Provide guidance and direction to Army installations on the preparation of nominations to the National Register and reports submitted under section 106 of Pub. L. 89–665 and Executive Order 11593, as implemented in 36 CFR Part 800 (appendix).

(5) Maintain, as part of the Inventory of Real property, a record of all Army-controlled properties listed in the National Register. This record will include a copy of the nomination forms with all attachments for each listing and a record of all reports and memoranda of agreement as required under 36 CFR Part 800 (appendix).

(6) Review and evaluate construction programs and master plans to minimize or eliminate adverse impacts on Army-controlled properties of historical, architectural, archeological, or cultural significance.

(7) Insure that all actions undertaken with this guidance have been coordinated, where applicable, with local historical societies; State Historic Preservation Officers (SHPO); the Secretary of the Interior; the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation; the Smithsonian Institution; and the National Trust for Historic Preservation (appendix).

(8) Issue guidance and provide technical assistance on the development and execution of historic preservation projects.

(9) Process permits to authorize archeological investigations (AR 405–80).

(b) The Chief of Military History will—

(1) Publish by 1976 a comprehensive listing of Army-controlled properties listed in the National Register to include the historic significance, photographs and other factors as deemed appropriate. This publication will be updated with a supplement published every 3 years thereafter.

(2) Provide professional support as requested.

(c) Major Army Commands (MACOMS). Major Army Commanders will develop programs, in accordance with TM 5–801–1, Historic Preservation, which will encompass, at a minimum, the following:

(1) The conduct of initial and triennial surveys thereafter, of installations under their control or jurisdiction to identify all properties of historical, architectural, archeological or cultural significance.

(2) The programing and budgeting of funds for the maintenance through preservation, restoration, or rehabilitation of structures, sites and objects of historical, architectural, archeological or cultural significance.

(3) The retention and use of historic properties which are a functional part of Army installations or are so located that their disposal is impractical.

(4) The nomination to the National Register of all Army-controlled properties which appear to meet the minimum criteria established by the Secretary of the Interior (appendix).

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(5) The coordination of proposed actions having an effect on a registered and/or nominated historic property with the SHPO and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation as required by 36 CFR Part 800. (§ 650.190 and appendix).

(6) The inclusion, where applicable, of evidence of compliance with 36 CFR Part 800 in each environmental assessment or environmental impact statement (§ 650.190).

(7) The maintaining of a record of each property under their control or jurisdiction which is listed in the National Register including a copy of the nomination forms with all attachments and a record of all reports and memoranda of agreement as required under 36 CFR Part 800.

(8) The protection of archeological sites by insuring that all investigations, excavations and salvage activities are undertaken with the written concurrence of the Secretary of the Interior and the Smithsonian Institution in accordance with AR 405–80.

STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

§ 650.187 Standards.

The preservation, restoration, rehabilitation and maintenance of historic properties under Army control or jurisdiction will be accomplished in accordance with the standards and procedures established by the Secretary of the Interior and as promulgated by the Chief of Engineers in TM 5–801–1, Historic Preservation.

§ 650.188 Procedures for preparing nominations to the National Register (RCS DOI–1005).

Procedures for preparing nomination forms for Army controlled properties which appear to qualify for listing in the National Register of Historic Places are contained in TM 5–801–1. Completed forms will be forwarded through channels to HQDA (DAEN–MCP–A) WASH DC 20314. RCS DOI–1005 applies.

§ 650.189 Funding of Historic Preservation Activities.

(a) Funding for the requirements for historic properties will be accomplished through regular programing/budgeting channels.

(b) Historic properties in the Army Family Housing inventory will be funded in the Family Housing Management Account. Requirements for historic properties other than family housing will be supported by the appropriation financing all other real property maintenance activities on the installation.

(c) Projects for restoration and/or rehabilitation of historic properties, which include construction-type work in excess of $50,000, will be included in the installation's military construction programs for accomplishment under MCA or FHMA programing procedures as outlined in AR 415–15 and 210–50. Block 25 of DD Form 1391 (Military Construction Project Data) of these projects will contain a statement identifying the project as supporting a historic property listed in the National Register.

(d) Projects for preservation of registered historic places, which include construction-type work not in excess of $50,000, will be identified and processed for approval by the appropriate approving authority, as reflected in AR 415–35 and/or AR 420–10, and will be programed and budgeted in the normal budget cycle. Requirements will be identified to the proper supporting appropriation (FHMA, OMA, OMAR, etc.) in the installation and command budget submissions (RCS CSAB 205 series), and specifically identified as supporting a historic property listed in the National Register (AR 415–15).

§ 650.190 Utilization of historic properties.

(a) Historic properties which are a functional part of Army installations or are so located that their disposal or outleasing is impractical will be preserved and maintained by the installation commander. All efforts will be made to utilize these properties for military purposes in order to justify funds expended under this program. The concept of "adaptive use" (TM 5–801–1) for these properties compatible with their cultural values will be observed, whenever possible. Where this is not possible, a stabilization project will be developed to prevent further deterioration of the property.

(b) In all instances, the planned use of a historic property listed in the National Register will be reviewed with the SHPO and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800 (§ 650.190 and appendix).

(c) Historic Properties which would be more adequately administered by the Department of the Interior, non-Federal public agencies, local historical societies or similarly oriented organizations should not be retained by the Army. Therefore, when there is no adverse impact on the performance of the Army mission, the installation commander may recommend, in the Analytical Report of the Installation Master Plan, the disposal of a historic property for historic monument purposes in accordance with AR 405–90 and the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 as amended, or recommend its outleasing for historic preservation, park and recreation or similar purposes in accordance with AR 405–80. In the latter case, the installation commander's recommendations must include assurances that the grantee has a viable plan for use of the property in a manner compatible with preservation objectives and policies. In such instances, the installation commander will notify the SHPO and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation and, if appropriate, consummate a "Memorandum of Agreement" that the proposed action will not adversely affect the historical, architectural, archeological or cultural value of the property (§ 650.191).

§ 650.191 Compliance procedures.

(a) The applicable Federal Regulation that contains the review requirements of section 106 of Pub. L. 89–665 and Executive Order 11593 is 36 CFR Part 800, Procedures for the Protection of Historic and Cultural Properties, and is included in its entirety in the appendix.

(b) Any action which may have an effect on a National Register property or an historic place which appears eligible for listing in the National Register must go through two integral but separate review procedures. First, the environmental impact assessment (subpart B of this part) must identify cultural resources potentially affected by the proposed action. Second, where the identification of cultural resources indicates that properties included in the National Register will be affected, evidence of compliance with the review requirements of 36 CFR Part 800 shall be included in the environmental impact assessment and/or EIS Comments by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, should be included in the EIA or draft EIS and must be included in the final EIS.

(c) If there is an effect, but it is determined that the action will not have an adverse effect, a description of the proposed action together with the commander's determination of "no adverse effect" will be forwarded to the SHPO for comments. If the SHPO concurs in the findings, then a copy of this correspondence will be forwarded to the Executive Director of the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (§ 650.191(f)). If there is no reply within 45 days, the action may proceed.

(d) If it appears that there will be an adverse effect, the installation commander will prepare a technical report documenting the identification of cultural resources, the assessment of the impact of the undertaking on those resources, and the feasibility of mitigative measures. All mitigative measures proposed to minimize adverse effects on properties included or eligible for inclusion in the National Register should have the concurrence of the SHPO and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation and should be documented in a memorandum of agreement signed by all three parties. In most cases, an on-site inspection/consultation by the signees is required as part of the development of the memorandum of agreement. All correspondence regarding the determination of "no adverse effect," (§ 650.191(b)) or in obtaining a memorandum of agreement is to be forwarded to the parties directly involved with information copies to the appropriate major command and HQDA (DAEN–MCZ–E) WASH DC 20314.

(e) If a memorandum of agreement cannot be consummated, the case will be forwarded through Army channels to HQDA (DAEN–MCZ–E) WASH DC 20314, who will in turn forward it to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation for review and evaluation. Where a memorandum of agreement cannot be obtained or an unfavorable ruling is obtained from the Advisory Council, then an Environmental Impact Statement containing the comments of the Advisory Council must be prepared covering the basic action and the proposed mitigative measures. If it is determined that the Army should proceed with the proposed action and that action will result in the destruction or major alteration of the property, then records of the property, including measured drawings, photographs and written data will be prepared for deposit in the Library of Congress as part of the Historic American Buildings Survey or the Historic American Engineering Records in accordance with the standards promulgated by the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation, Department of the Interior, Wash DC 20240. (TM 5–801–1 explains the standards and § 650.192 discusses archeology).

(f) Advice on matters relating to implementing 36 CFR Part 800 may be obtained from the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation as indicated below:

(1) Eastern Area: Executitve Director, Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, Suite 430, 1522 K Street, NW, Washington, DC 20005, Telephone: (202) 254–3974.

(2) Western Area: Director, Western Office, Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, P.O. Box 25085, Denver, Colorado 80225, Telephone: (303) 234–4946.

§ 650.192 Archeological sites.

(a) The Secretary of the Army, under the authority of 16 U.S.C. 432, may issue archeological permits on Army-controlled installations after referral of the permit application to the Smithsonian Institution for his recommendations (AR 405–80).

(b) All Army-controlled property will be surveyed to identify and locate archeological sites. Due to the magnitude of such surveys, installation commanders will establish coordination with the appropriate field offices of the National Park Service, SHPO and/or EO 11593 consultant, to review current Army plans, programs and activities which may lead to the destruction of an archeological site and to develop survey schedules for affected areas. Since Army activities may necessarily lead to destruction of archeological sites, the survey must include value judgments assessing the relative significance of the surveyed sites so that destruction of the more significant archeological sites may be avoided.

(c) The National Park Service may not be able to provide timely surveys of archeological resources necessary for preparation of legally sufficient environmental statements on Army activities. In these cases, the installation commander is authorized to contract with outside experts for the survey of archeological sites after receipt of a written turndown by the National Park Service, except as limited in paragraph (c)(2) of this section. Copies of all such surveys should be furnished appropriate field officials of the National Park Service.

(1) While such inventories would generally be confined to a literature search and a reconnaissance of the affected area, there may be occasions when testing of archeological sites will be necessary in order to establish the need for the National Park Service to budget full-scale archeological survey programs at a later date.

(2) In any instance where estimated contract cost of such work exceeds $25,000, the matter must be referred to HQDA (DAEN–MCZ–E) WASH DC 20314 prior to consummation of a contract.

(d) A copy of the program requirements for archeological investigations and salvage activities as jointly determined by the installation commander and the National Park Service will be provided HQDA (DAEN–MCZ–E) WASH DC 20314, in order to assist in overall program coordination between DAEN–MCZ–E and the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation, Department of the Interior.

(e) Salvage activities. (1) Procedures for authorizing archeological salvage activities on Army-controlled property are contained in AR 405–80.

(2) Installation commanders are responsible for instituting security measures for the protection of an archeological site during salvage operations. Assistance in salvage operations may be made when determined to be within the capability of the installation.

(3) Permits for archeological investigations and salvage activities will identify a museum responsible for preserving artifacts found as a result of the investigation. Therefore, where appropriate, permits for archeological investigations on Army-controlled property will designate the post museum as the recipient of all specimens. If the post museum is not appropriate, the Commander, US Army Center of Military History will determine which museum will be designated.

(f) In the event that a suspected archeological site is encountered during construction or some other form of activity, operations in the area will be suspended until the Secretary of the Interior is consulted and the site is investigated by a professional archeologist approved by the Secretary of the Interior. All construction contracting procedures, both through direct contracting or by the District Engineer, will be amended to require the provision to obtain expert archeological analysis as required. Installation commanders and District Engineers are authorized to expend funds appropriated for Army activities for the survey and salvage of scientific, historic, archeological and paleontological resources which are being or may be irreparably lost or damaged as a result of those Army activities. Such expenditures may not exceed one percent of the project amount.

§ 650.193 National Historic Landmarks.

(a) The National Park Service regularly surveys historic properties under the National Historic Landmark Program. Designation of a National Historic Landmark automatically places the property in the National Register of Historic Places.

(b) Notification from the Department of the Interior that Army-controlled property has been designated as a National Historical Landmark will be forwarded through channels to HQDA (DAEN–MCZ–E) Wash, DC 20314. Also, subsequent correspondence regarding the landmark such as plaque application, notifications of annual visits and other related matters will be forwarded to the Department of the Interior with information copies to HQDA (DAEN–MCZ–E) Wash, D.C. 20314.

Subpart I—Oil and Hazardous Substances Spill Control and Contingency Plans

GENERAL

§ 650.201 Purpose.

This chapter sets forth the procedures for the control of discharges of oil and hazardous substances under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (FWPCA) Amendments of 1972 and as promulgated by US Environmental Protection Agency and US Coast Guard Regulations. Further guidance on hazardous and toxic materials management appears in subpart F of this part.

§ 650.202 Goal and objectives.

The Department of the Army goal, in support of national policy, is to prevent the discharge of oil and hazardous substances and to provide for the prompt, coordinated responses to contain and clean up spills should they occur. Objectives for attaining this goal are to—

(a) Transport, store, handle, and dispose of oil, fuels, lubricant products, and hazardous liquid substances in a safe and environmentally acceptable manner.

(b) Institute a responsive alert procedure in the event of a spill and be prepared to rapidly respond in the containment and cleanup of a spill.

(c) Plan for and cooperate with other Federal, State, interstate and local Government agencies to insure that the public health and welfare are provided adequate protection from discharge of oils and other hazardous liquid substances.

§ 650.203 Explanation of terms.

For the purpose of this regulation and AR 500–60, the following apply—

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(a) Advisory agencies. Departments or agencies which can make major contributions during response activities for certain types of discharges. These agencies are: the Nuclear Regulatory Commission; Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Department of Justice; Federal Disaster Assistance Administration; and Department of State.

(b) Coastal waters. Generally, those US waters nagivable by deep draft vessels, the continguous zone, the high seas, and other waters subject to tidal influence.

(c) Contiguous zone. The entire zone established by the United States under Article 24 of the Convention on the Territorial Sea and the Contiguous Zone. This is the zone contiguous to the territorial sea which extends 12 miles seaward from the baseline from which the territorial sea is measured.

(d) Discharge. Includes but is not limited to any spilling, leaking, pumping, pouring, emitting, emptying, or dumping that poses a threat to public health or welfare. For the purpose of the Spill Prevention Control and Countermeasure Plan (SPCC Plan) and the Installation Spill Contingency Plan (ISCP), the term discharge shall not include any discharge of oil which is authorized by a permit issued by a Federal or State authority: i.e., issued pursuant to section 13 of the River and Harbor Act of 1899 (30 Stat. 1121, 33 U.S.C. 407), or sections 402 or 405 of the FWPCA Amendments of 1972 (86 Stat. 816 et seq., 33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.).

(e) Discharge classifications. The following classifications are provided for guidance and serve as criteria for reporting and general response actions. They are not meant to imply or connote associated degree of hazard to the public health or welfare, or a measure of environmental damage. A discharge that poses a substantial threat to the public health or welfare, or results in critical public concern will be classed as a major discharge, notwithstanding the following quantitative measures.

(1) Minor discharge. A discharge to the inland waters of less than 1000 gallons of oil, or a discharge of less than 10,000 gallons of oil to the coastal waters.

(2) Medium discharge. A discharge of 1,000 to 10,000 gallons of oil to the inland waters, or a discharge of 10,000 to 100,000 gallons of oil to the coastal waters, or a discharge of a hazardous substance in a harmful quantity as defined in EPA or Army regulations.

(3) Major discharge. A discharge of more than 10,000 gallons of oil to the inland waters, or more than 100,000 gallons of oil to the coastal waters, or a discharge of a hazardous substance that poses a substantial threat to the public health or welfare.

(f) Hazardous substance. An element or compound, or mixture, (other than oil) which, when discharged in any quantity onto land or into or upon navigable or coastal waters, presents an imminent and substantial danger to the public health or welfare, including fish, shellfish, wildlife, shorelines, and beaches; e.g., hazardous substances include strong acids, strong bases, potentially toxic pesticides, or other bulk-stored chemicals used in manufacturing processes and maintenance or repair operations.

(g) Inland waters. Generally, those waters upstream from coastal waters.

(h) Installation On-Scene Coordinator (IOSC). The official predesignated by the Army Installation Commander to coordinate and direct Army control and cleanup efforts at the scene of an oil or hazardous substance discharge on or adjacent to an Army installation.

(i) Installation Response Team (IRT). Those collective individuals on an installation designated to act in an emergency to perform those functions directed by the IOSC.

(j) National Response Center (NRC). The Washington, D.C., headquarters for coordinating activities relative to pollution emergencies. It is located at Headquarters, USCG.

(k) National Response Team (NRT). A team of representatives from the Primary and Advisory Agencies which serves as the national body for planning and preparedness actions prior to a pollution discharge and for coordination and advice during a pollution emergency.

(l) Navigable waters of the United States. "Navigable waters" as defined in section 502(7) of the FWPCA amendments of 1972 (Pub. L. 92–500) and—

(1) All navigable waters of the United States, as defined in judicial decisions prior to passage of the 1972 amendments to the FWPCA (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.), and tributaries of such waters;

(2) Interstate waters;

(3) Intrastate lakes, rivers, and streams which are utilized by interstate travelers for recreational or other purposes; and

(4) Intrastate lakes, rivers, and streams from which fish or shellfish are taken and sold in interstate commerce.

(m) Nontransportation-related onshore and offshore facilities. Includes, but is not limited to, oil storage facilities and related equipment and appurtenances, as well as fixed bulk plant storage, terminal oil storage facilities, consumer storage, pumps, and drainage systems used in the storage of oil. These facilities include—

(1) Waste treatment facilities including in-plant pipelines, effluent discharge lines, and storage tanks, but excluding waste treatment facilities located on vessels and terminal storage tanks and appurtenances for the reception of oily ballast water or tank washings from vessels and associated systems used for offloading vessels.

(2) Loading racks, transfer hoses, loading arms and other equipment which are appurtenant to a nontransportation-related facility or terminal facility and which are used to transfer oil in bulk to or from highway vehicles or railroad cars.

(3) Highway vehicles and railroad cars which are used for the transport of oil exclusively within the confines of a nontransportation-related facility and which are not intended to transport oil in interstate or intrastate commerce.

(4) Pipeline systems which are used for the transport of oil exclusively within the confines of a nontransportation-related facility or terminal facility and which are not intended to transport oil in interstate or intrastate commerce, but excluding pipeline systems used to transfer oil in bulk to or from a vessel.

(n) Offshore facility. Any facility located in, on, or under any of the navigable waters of the United States, which is not a transportation-related facility.

(o) Oil. Oil of any kind or in any form, including but not limited to, petroleum, fuel oil, sludge, and oil mixed with wastes other than dredged spoil. The terms "oil" and "POL" are used interchangeably in this regulation.

(p) On-Scene Coordinator (OSC). The Federal official predesignated by the EPA or the USCG to coordinate and direct Federal discharge removal efforts in approved regional contingency plans at the scene of an oil or hazardous substance discharge.

(q) Onshore facility. Any facility located in, on, or under any land within the United States, other than submerged lands, which is not a transportation-related facility.

(r) Potential discharge. Any incident or circumstance which threatens to result in the discharge of oil or a hazardous substance.

(s) Primary agencies. Federal Departments or agencies comprising the NRT and designated to have primary responsibility and resources to promote effective operation of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan. These agencies are the Departments of Commerce, Interior, Transportation, Defense, and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

(t) Public health or welfare. All factors affecting the health and welfare of man. They include but are not limited to, human health, the natural environment, fish, shellfish, wildlife, and public and private property, shorelines, and beaches.

(u) Regional Administrator of the EPA, or his designee, in and for the region in which the facility is located.

(v) Regional Response Center (RRC). The Federal regional site for the control of pollution emergency response activities. It provides communications, information storage, and necessary personnel and facilities to promote the proper functioning and administration of regional pollution emergency response operations.

(w) Regional Response Team (RRT). A team of regional Federal representatives of the Primary or selected Advisory Agencies, which acts within its region as an emergency response team performing functions similar to those of the NRT.

(x) Spill event. A discharge of oil or hazardous substance on land or into or upon the navigable waters of the United States or adjoining shorelines in harmful quantities. For oil, a harmful quantity is that oil in excess of established State water quality standards; or that which causes a film, sheen, or discoloration on the surface of the water or adjoining shorelines; or quantities in excess of 1000 U.S. gallons on land. For other hazardous substances, quantity guidelines will be published by DAEN–ZCE when information is developed by EPA.

(y) Toxic pollutant. Those pollutants or combinations of pollutants, including disease-causing agents, which after discharge and upon exposure, ingestion, inhalation or assimilation into any organism, either directly from the environment or indirectly by ingestion through food chains, will cause death, disease, behavioral abnormalities, cancer, genetic mutations, physiological malfunctions (including malfunctions in reproduction) or physical deformations, in such organisms or their offspring.

(z) Vessel. Every type of watercraft or other artificial contrivance used, or capable of being used, as a means of transportation on water, other than a public vessel.

§ 650.204 Policies.

(a) A capability will be established and maintained to respond in emergency situations to promptly contain and clean up accidental DA-caused oil discharges and spills of hazardous and toxic substances that occur at or near Army installations and activities.

(b) Assistance will be provided to contain and clean up non-DA-caused spills under the provisions of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Polution Contingency Plan consistent with operational commitments.

(c) All materials (including oils, fuels, petroleum products, and other hazardous chemicals) will be handled, used, and stored to avoid or minimize the possibility of an accidental spill and potential pollution of land, air, and water.

(d) Storage facilities for oil and other hazardous substances (at date described herein) will be designed to incorporate such safeguards as dikes, catchment areas, and relief vessels to contain the flow of oil and hazardous liquids and to minimize the contamination of land and water resources.

(e) DA agencies will cooperate with the Council on Environmental Quality, Department of Interior, Department of Transportation, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Department of Commerce in the planning and execution of activities to minimize the possibility of discharges or mitigating the effects of spills, wherever they occur.

(f) Contracts for disposal of oil or other wastes will contain provisions that require the disposal method to be in accordance with Federal, State, and/or local regulations and standards.

(g) Each installation or activity with the capability of storing, dispensing or discharging oils, oil products, and bulk quantities of liquid toxic and hazardous substances will prepare, maintain and implement a current SPCC Plan and an ISCP as specified herein. (The requirements for a spill prevention plan and a spill contingency plan may be satisfied by one plan with two distinctive sections—SPCC and ISCP).

§ 650.205 Implementing guidelines.

(a) The willful discharge of oil, petroleum products or hazardous and toxic substances from installations, vehicles, aircraft, and watercraft onto land or into waters is prohibited except in cases of extreme emergency and if considered essential for the protection of human life. Every reasonable precaution, therefore, will be taken to prevent the accidental discharge of oil or petroleum products on land or water or their vapors to the air.

(b) Oil-water separators will be installed and maintained to reduce the oil content of oil-water wastes produced from vehicle and equipment washracks, industrial processes, steam cleaning operations, etc., to levels specified by Federal, State or local standards.

(c) The discharge of ballast water from vessels will be strictly controlled either by the use of ship-board or on-land oil-water separators capable of processing accumulated waste waters. Oil and fuel contaminated wastes produced during the cleaning of fuel storage tanks and combustion engine components will also be collected and treated for oil removal prior to discharge.

(d) Waste oil produced on Army installations will be collected, segregated, and protected to avoid contamination. Where cost effective, waste oil will be used as a fuel additive in large oil burning heating plants. Waste oil will not be used as a dust palliative on roads or other surfaces. If the generating installation does not have the capability to use the waste oil, it will be offered to other installations that are located within cost-effective transportation distances. If the oil cannot be cost-effectively used, it will be reported to a Defense Property Disposal Office in the area for disposal.

(e) Waste water discharges will be monitored for oil content and other toxic and hazardous substances in accordance with the provisions of the permits issued under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES).

(f) DA will provide representatives to the RRT located in each of the Standard Federal Regions (figure 9–1) in accordance with § 650.206. The number of representatives may vary, depending upon the requirements in that Federal regional area and with details specified in each regional contingency plan.

(g) The RRT will be activated automatically if a major or potentially major discharge occurs. In any other pollution emergency, the RRT may also be activated upon an oral request by any Primary Agency representative to the Chairman of the RRT. Such requests for team activation shall be confirmed in writing.

(h) During a major pollution discharge involving activation of the RRT, the IOSC may be directed and controlled by the EPA or USCG OSC.

(i) In the event an installation commander provides assistance on non-DA caused spills (those not covered by EPA, USCG or the National Plan) a civil support release and/or reimbursement agreement should be obtained similar to appendix A, AR 75–15. Paragraph 216011, AR 55–355, Assistance to Carriers, also provides guidance.

§ 650.206 Responsibilities.

(a) Department of the Army Staff.

(1) The Chief of Engineers will—(i) Promulgate basic policies and procedures for Department of the Army implementation of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan (National Plan) for Army-caused discharges and for the preparation and implementation of SPCC and ISCP plans.

(ii) Provide technical direction, design guidance, and engineering procedures to military installations on implementation of SPCC and ISCP plans.

(iii) Provide primary and alternate members (for Civil Works) to the RRT in each of the Standard Federal Regions as required. Nominations will be provided directly to the Chairman of the RRT.

(2) Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans will exercise Army Staff supervision of DA support to the EPA and USCG in the cleanup of pollution discharges caused by other than Army agencies under the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan.

(3) The Inspector General and Auditor General, (Army Director of Safety) will provide assistance and guidance on the safety aspects of the storage, use, handling, and disposal of hazardous and toxic substances.

(4) The Surgeon General will provide assistance and guidance on the health and environmental aspects of the storage, use, handling, and disposal of hazardous and toxic substances.

(b) Major Army commanders will—(1) Promulgate instructions for early preparation and periodic review of the ISCP for prompt identification, reporting, containment, and cleanup of accidental oil discharges and spills of hazardous and toxic substances at or near Army installations.

(2) Initiate a program for an initial survey and periodic evaluation of oil storage transfer and handling facilities for the purpose of developing an SPCC Plan for each installation.

(3) Program and budget for personnel, materials and equipment required for oil and hazardous substances spill prevention, containment and cleanup activities of DA-caused spills at Army installations.

(c) Commanding General, FORSCOM will—(1) Upon oral request, confirmed in writing by the EPA or USCG, provide personnel and resources support in accordance with the provisions of AR 500–60 during activation of the NRT and/or RRT and implementation of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan. Such support is to be on a reimbursable basis.

(2) Provide primary and alternate representatives (for military matters) to the RRT for each Standard Federal Region as required. Nominations will be provided directly to the Chairman of the RRT.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 XUM

(d) Installation and activity commanders will—(1) Establish SPCC Plans and ISCPs and procedures to prevent spills and to insure prompt reporting, containment, and cleanup of accidental discharges of oil and hazardous substances that occur at Army installations and nearby activities.

(2) Perform periodic surveys or inspections to verify compliance with the provisions of this regulation and to periodically test the effectiveness of SPCC Plans and ISCPs.

(3) Insure that all fuels, oils and hazardous materials (such as acids, bases, organic solvents, and other toxic chemicals) are used, stored and handled to avoid or minimize the possibilities of environmental pollution.

(4) Provide engineering safeguards (such as dikes, catchment areas, relief vessels) necessary to prevent pollution of navigable waters by accidental discharge of stored fuels, solvents, oils, and other chemicals.

(5) Identify in their ISCP (§ 650.214) other possible DA resources that could be made available to the RRT if DA agencies are requested to assist in the containment and/or cleanup of a non-DA caused spill in accordance with AR 500–60.

(6) When directed by CG, FORSCOM, provide available resources to support the OSC during implementation of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan (AR 500–60).

(7) Inform the installation information officer and next higher information office about the anticipated news media coverage and local public reaction to an accidental discharge of oil or hazardous substances.

(8) Program and budget for personnel, materials, and equipment required for oil and hazardous substances spill prevention, containment and cleanup of DA-caused spills.

(9) Determine, for DA-caused off-post spills in the immediate vicinity of the installation, if his military organization is within the most reasonable distance of the pollution discharge and if he has the resource capability to respond to the discharge incident. If he does not respond to the containment and cleanup of the spill, the installation commander will insure that the RRT and appropriate DOD agencies are notified for necessary action.

(10) Insure that all reportable spills of oil and hazardous substances are reported through channels to DAEN–FEU and to EPA, USCG or other civil authorities (§§ 650.215–650.218).

SPILL PREVENTION CONTROL AND COUNTERMEASURE PLAN

§ 650.208 General.

Regulations have been issued by the US Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), as required by the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (FWPCA) amendments of 1972, to prevent discharges of oil into the navigable waters of the United States and to contain these discharges if they do occur. These regulations require installations having certain nontransportation-related onshore and offshore oil storage facilities (as described below) to prepare, maintain, and implement a Spill Prevention Control and Countermeasure Plan (SPCC Plan) to prevent and control the discharge of oil and hazardous substances before they occur.

(a) The SPCC Plan will identify potential sources of oil and hazardous substances and the measures required to prevent and contain any accidental discharge resulting from equipment or storage facility failure. The SPCC Plan is directed by Title 40 CFR Part 112, copies of which are available from the EPA, Washington, DC 20242 or from any EPA regional office.

(b) Army installations will prepare and implement a current SPCC Plan when their oil or hazardous substance storage facilities meet any one of the following:

(1) Aggregate above-ground oil storage, at any one location on the installation, is greater than 1320 gallons.

(2) Any single tank above-ground oil storage, at any one location on the installation, is greater than 660 gallons.

(3) Total underground oil storage, at any one location on the installation, is greater than 42,000 gallons.

(4) Single bulk storage of hazardous liquid substances (acids, chemical solvents, etc.) is greater than 500 gallons. The 500 gallon limit represents that total combined quantity of hazardous liquid substance at a single storage location on an installation.

(5) Nontransportation-related onshore and offshore facilities which, because of their location or operations, could reasonably be expected to discharge oil or hazardous material in harmful quantities into or upon the navigable waters of the United States.

(c) For purposes of an SPCC Plan, the oil storage facilities will include, but not be limited to, storage for a facility such as a heating or boiler plant, electric generating unit, fuel dispensing or transfer facility, tank car or truck loading/unloading rack, bulk fuel storage, etc. An above-ground or underground oil storage facility may be a single tank or grouping of tanks in a localized area on an installation.

§ 650.209 Preparation and implementation of plan.

(a) An SPCC Plan will be prepared expeditiously by each installation having oil or hazardous substances storage facilities as required in § 650.208(b), and each plan will be periodically reviewed and updated as necessary.

(b) Completed plans will be fully implemented (including required construction and installation of equipment and/or training of personnel) as soon as possible after January 10, 1975. Newly activated installations will prepare an SPCC Plan within 6 months after the date they begin operation and will fully implement it not later than 1 year after operations begin.

(c) An extension of time for the preparation and full implementation of an SPCC Plan beyond the times specified may be obtained from the EPA Regional Administrator. A copy of any request for an extension will be furnished through command channels to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE) Wash., DC 20310.

§ 650.210 Review and evaluation.

Each SPCC Plan will be—(a) Reviewed by a registered Professional Engineer (PE) and certified to have been prepared in accordance with good engineering practices, after on-site examination of the facility, and after familiarity with Title 40 CFR Part 112. This certification may be accomplished by a PE at the next higher command if no PE is available at the installation.

(b) Maintained current. Changes will be reviewed by a registered professional engineer and will be made available for on-site review by the EPA regional administrator at the office of the facilities engineer.

(c) Reviewed and evaluated at least once every 3 years. If the review shows that more effective prevention and control technology will significantly reduce the likelihood of a spill event and if the technology has been field-proven and can be procured and installed at the time of the review, the DA component will amend the SPCC Plan to include the more effective technology and have it certified by a registered professional engineer. Technological improvements should be included in Operation and Maintenance, Army or Major Construction, Army budgets as appropriate.

(d) Reviewed and amended in accordance with § 650.216, as required by the EPA Regional Administrator, whenever a facility has discharged more than 1,000 US gallons of oil into the navigable waters in a single spill event or when there have been two spill events within any 12-month period.

§ 650.211 Minimum plan requirements.

As a minimum, the SPCC Plan will contain—(a) A detailed description of the equipment and measures specified for oil spill prevention, control, and countermeasure, including structures and equipment for diversion and containment of discharges, facility drainage, and identification of resources to cleanup spills. Measures adopted should permit as far as practical reclamation of spilled substance. Many prevention and control requirements are similar to safety requirements for the design and operation of oil tanks, pipelines and pumping facilities.

(b) A description of each nontransportation-related spill event that has occurred at that facility within the past 12 months with corrective actions taken, and plans for preventing recurrence.

(c) An inventory list of storage, handling, and transfer facilities for which there is a reasonable possibility of a significant discharge of oil or other hazardous polluting substances. For each listing, where experience indicates a reasonable potential for equipment failure (e.g., tank overflow, rupture, or leakage), include a prediction of the direction, rate of flow, and total quantity of oil which could be discharged as a result of a major type of failure.

(d) A graphic description showing all containment and/or diversionary structures or equipment required to prevent discharged oil from reaching a navigable water course. Included among the various preventive measures that can be employed are: Impervious berm and dike; curbing; culverting, gutters, or other drainage systems; weirs, booms, or other barriers; spill diversion ponds; and retention ponds. If it is not practicable to install structures, sorbent materials such as straw or commercial products can be used for containment or cleanup of spills at locations specified in the plan.

(e) When it is determined that the installation of the preventative structures or equipment listed § 650.211(d) is not practicable, the installation commander will demonstrate fully such impracticability and include the written provisions of the Installation Spill Contingency Plan (ISCP) in this section of the SPCC Plan.

§ 650.212 Detailed guidance.

In addition to the minimum prevention measures (§ 650.211), sections of the SPCC Plan will include a written analysis and complete discussion of conformance with applicable guidelines on other effective spill prevention and containment procedures. The guidelines are described in Title 40 CFR Part 112.7(e) and cover the following areas:

(a) Onshore facility diked storage drainage areas including valve restraints.

(b) Onshore bulk storage tank and dike construction material, liquid alarm systems and sensing devices.

(c) Facility transfer operations criteria for piping, valves, and inspection requirements.

(d) Facility tank car and tank truck loading/unloading rack, barriers, and warning requirements.

(e) Inspections and records procedures.

(f) Security fencing, pump control, pipeline connections and lighting systems devices.

(g) Personnel, training, and spill prevention procedures.

INSTALLATION SPILL CONTINGENCY PLAN

§ 650.213 General.

A National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan was developed in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (FWPCA) Amendments of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1151 et. seq.) and requires Federal agencies to develop a plan to cleanup discharges of oil and hazardous substances for which they are responsible. Commanders will maintain an Installation Spill Contingency Plan (ISCP) to identify resources to be used to cleanup discharges on Army installations and will be prepared to provide assistance to non-DA agencies when requested. (AR 500–60 provides policy and guidance for the DA response to the National Oil and Hazardous Substance Pollution Contingency Plan to assist EPA and the U.S. Coast Guard (USCG) in spills caused by other than DA agencies).

(a) The ISCP will establish the responsibilities, duties, procedures, and resources to be employed, to contain and cleanup accidental discharges.

(b) All Army installations will maintain a current ISCP which will be reviewed and evaluated at least once every 3 years.

(c) The resources identified for possible use by a RRT in support of the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan are to be specifically identified as an element of the ISCP.

(d) The ISCP will be simulated at least annually by the installation commander in coordination with the responsible officers of the SPCC Plan in order to insure timely and effective personnel and equipment response in the event of an accidental discharge.

§ 650.214 Minimum plan requirements.

As a minimum the ISCP will contain—(a) The name, responsibilities and duties of the installation on-scene coordinator (IOSC). The IOSC is the official predesignated by the Installation Commander to coordinate and direct Army control and cleanup efforts at the scene of an Army caused oil or hazardous substance discharge on or adjacent to an Army installation.

(b) The specification, composition, and training plans of the installation response team (IRT) which acts as an emergency response team performing response functions as defined and directed by the IOSC. A preplanned location for an installation response operations center.

(c) IRT alert and mobilization procedures including provisions for access to a reliable communications system for timely notification of an oil or hazardous substance discharge.

(d) A current list of positions, telephone numbers, and addresses (e.g. names of key contact people in an ISCP appendix) of the responsible persons and alternates on call to receive notification of an oil or hazardous substance discharge as well as the names, telephone numbers and addresses of key organizations and agencies to be notified when a discharge is discovered.

(e) Surveillance procedures for the early detection of oil and hazardous substances discharges.

(f) Quantities and locations of manpower, equipment, vehicles, supplies, and material resources required to expeditiously contain, recover, and remove any maximum harmful quantity of oil or hazardous substance discharged by Army activities on post or at nearby Army operations. Plans will identify specific action for various size potential spills, (identified in the SPCC Plan inventory list (§ 650.211(c))), and will identify a priority list in which various critical water uses are to protected as a result of a discharge.

(g) Sources of additional resources that are available to an installation for the cleanup or reclamation of a large DA-caused spill, if such a pollution spill exceeds the response capability of the installation (e.g., resources such as U.S. Coast Guard, Air Force, Navy or private contractors). An established, prearranged procedure for requesting assistance, and agreements for acquisition of resources, during a major disaster or response exceeding situation.

(h) Procedures and techniques to be employed in identifying, containing, dispersing, reclaiming and removing oil and hazardous substances used in bulk quantity on an installation. Identification of chemicals (whose technical product data has been provided to and accepted by EPA) that may be used to concentrate, neutralize, collect, disperse and remove oil or hazardous substances discharges. Pollution control actions taken will be in accordance with applicable Federal, State, or local standards, EPA guidelines, and the current National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan.

(i) Reporting procedures as required by §§ 650.215 and 650.216 in the event of an oil or hazardous substance discharge by Army activities.

(j) Army resources useful to the RRT in the event Army agencies are tasked to aid in the cleanup of a non-Army caused spill. Specific procedures to facilitate recovery of costs encountered during cleanup of non-Army spills are given in AR 500–60.

REPORTS OF ARMY ACCIDENTAL OIL AND HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCE DISCHARGES

§ 650.215 General.

All personnel assigned or employed by the Department of the Army will promptly report any observed oil spill, significant discharges of hazardous and toxic substances, or evidence of a spill by discovery of a slick or sheen on water from oil, gasoline, jet fuel, or other hazardous polluting substance. Spill events will be reported immediately by telephonic means to the USCG Local Unit, District Office or National Response Center (800) 424–8802. On-post spill events (§ 650.203) not entering navigable waters are to be reported in accordance with local procedures and off-post incidents should be reported to the nearest or appropriate political jurisdiction and to the RRT at the RRC.

§ 650.216 Pollution Incident Report (RCS EPA 1001).

(a) Medium and major spills (§ 650.203) and any discharge of more than 1,000 U.S. gallons of oil or a spill of more than 500 U.S. gallons of other hazardous liquid substance into navigable waters on or adjacent to an Army installation in the United States will be promptly reported by the IOSC by telephonic means to (800) 424–8802, or to the nearest USCG District Office, to the EPA Regional Office, and electronically through channels to HQDA (DAEN–ZCE), Wash., D.C. 20310. (See figures 9–1 and 9–2 for Regions and Districts).

(1) When it has been determined by the OSC that a spill of a hazardous substance (less than 500 gallons) is in a harmful quantity or that the discharge poses a substantial threat to the public health or welfare, it will be classed as a medium or major discharge and a Pollution Incident Report will be submitted.

(2) The format for the Pollution Incident Report is given in table 9–2.

(3) Telephonic or electronic reports will be confirmed by a follow-up written message within 60 days after the spill to the EPA Regional Administrator, the NRT or RRT, as appropriate, and to DAEN–ZCE.

(b) When more than 1,000 U.S. gallons of oil (medium and major spills) or more than 500 U.S. gallons of a hazardous liquid substance (or any major discharge of a hazardous substance) have been discharged into or upon a navigable water in a single spill or when two spill events occur within any 12-month period, this written follow-up report will contain (in addition to the items in table 9–2) the following:

(1) Description of facility from which spill originated; (including maps, flow diagrams, and topographic maps) date facility was put into operation; storage or handling capacity; and normal daily/weekly through-put.

(2) Cause of spill, including a failure analysis of system or subsystem in which the failure occurred. Describe unique problems encountered.

(3) Post spill corrective actions, including resources committed, attempts to reclaim spilled substance and/or countermeasures taken. Include a description of equipment repairs and/or replacements.

(4) Effectiveness of response and removal actions by the discharger, State and local forces, or Federal Agencies and Special Forces.

(5) Additional preventive measures taken or contemplated to minimize the possibility of a recurrence and recommendations to improve response actions and chances for reclaiming if a similar spill should occur.

(6) A complete copy of the SPCC Plan with any amendments.

(c) Based on the above spill report information, the EPA Regional Administrator may require amendments to the SPCC Plan and will notify the commander concerned by certified mail. A copy of such report will also be submitted to the state water pollution control authority.

(d) Upon discovery of a spill in which the pollutant may flow past the boundary of the installation, or a spill into navigable waters, or a spill from a vessel, the IOSC will notify the installation Judge Advocate's office to insure that information, records, and samples adequate for legal purposes are obtained and safeguarded for future use.

§ 650.217 Reports on DA support provided to control non-DA spills.

Reports on the commitment of Army resources to spills, either requested by EPA or USCG, or by authority of the installation commander, in response to the provisions of the National Oil and Hazardous Substance Pollution Contingency Plan will be provided to Director of Military Support HQDA (DAMO–MS) WASH DC 20310, in accordance with the provisions of AR 500–60.

§ 650.218 Exclusions.

(a) Policies and procedures applicable to nuclear accidents and incidents as outlined in AR 360–5, AR 50–21, and AR 40–13 are not affected by this regulation.

(b) Policies and procedures applicable to chemical agent accidents and incidents as outlined in AR 50–21 and AR 385–40 are not affected by this regulation.

Subpart J—Environmental Protection Control Report (RCS DD-I&L(SA) 1088)

GENERAL

§ 650.231 Purpose.

(a) This chapter provides reporting procedures to be followed within the Department of the Army to control environmental pollution from existing facilities as contained in section 3(a)(3) Executive Order 11752 of December 17, 1973, entitled, "Prevention, Control and Abatement of Environmental Pollution at Federal Facilities." This section of the Executive Order provides that "Heads of Federal agencies shall, with regard to all facilities under their jurisdiction in the United States: * * *. (3) Present to the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), annually, a plan to provide for such improvement in the design, construction, management, operation, and maintenance of existing facilities as may be necessary to meet applicable standards specified * * *"

(b) The report described herein will be the principal mechanism for identifying pollution control projects and those resources needed to effectively execute installation and major command Environmental Programs. Properly defined information presented in this report can be used as a basis for necessary programing and budget actions by DA and major commands.

(c) These instruction implement OMB Circular A-106, dated 31 Dec 74, which supersedes OMB Circular A-78 and A-81, dated 18 May 70. Further, these instructions supersede those contained in AR 11-21.

§ 650.232 Explanation of terms.

(a) The terms used herein shall be the same as those defined in chapter 1.

(b) The term, "project" shall mean an action to achieve needed corrective measures relative to identified environmental pollution sources.

(c) The term "cost" shall mean the amount of funds required to install the necessary environmental protection measures. These funds include the capital costs of structures and equipment, irrespective of the appropriation chargeable, but not the annual maintenance and operating costs.

§ 650.233 Applicability.

Each active, semiactive and Army Reserve installation operated by or for the Department of the Army, and National Guard facilities/sites supported by Federally appropriated funds in the Continental United States; Alaska and Hawaii, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Panama Canal Zone, and the Trust Territories of the Pacific, whether Army-controlled or under jurisdiction of the Army by lease or similar instrument, where environmental protection measures do not meet the current requirements and/or standards established by appropriated Federal, State or local regulatory agencies are to be listed in the Environmental Pollution Control Report. Each installation identifying a new pollution source or environmental protection requirement will report through command channels in accordance with these instructions. Negative report will be rendered by responsible commands in the form of a listing of those installations where remedial measures are not needed to correct a source of pollution or where no additional resources are needed to meet the provisions of this regulation.

§ 650.234 Scope.

(a) The report described herein consists of one exhibit to be prepared at the installation or activity level and two exhibits to be prepared at the major command level. Reports are to be forwarded through channels to HQDA (DAEN-FEU) WASH, DC 20314, by November 15, and May 15, of each year. The exhibits will reflect information as of October 20, and April 20.

(b) Exhibit 1 is entitled—Proposed Project Report. Separate Exhibits will be prepared for each project or activity on an installation in each of the following categories:

(1) Air Pollution.
(2) Water Pollution.
(3) Solid Waste Pollution.
(4) Radiation Pollution.
(5) Noise Pollution.
(6) Pesticide and Hazardous/Toxic Materials Pollution.
(7) Environmental Management.

(c) Exhibit 2 is entitled—Status Report. It indicates the amount programed, appropriated, or funded; the Current Working Estimate (CWE); and the status of each active project. Separate exhibits will be completed by the major commands for each category or projects (i.e. air, water, noise, solid waste, etc.). After the initial report, marked-up copies of the ADP printout giving an update on all previously reported projects is all that is necessary. The ADP printout to be used for this purpose will be provided by HQDA (DAEN-FEU) WASH, DC 20314.

(d) Exhibit 3 is entitled—Narrative Report. Major commands will provide a short explanation of the objectives that will be achieved, the elements of their environmental program that will be given particular emphasis over the short term, and the extent that statuory pollution control requirements and DA environmental goals and objectives will be satisfied by executing the projects or actions listed in the report. For any specific portion of the program that requires more than 12 months to complete, an identification of the major milestones for accomplishing the various actions are also to be included.

§ 650.235 Responsibilities.

(a) Department of the Army Staff. (1) The Chief of Engineers will compile the overall DA report based on submissions from major commands and the National Guard Bureau.

(2) The Chief, Army Reserve will monitor those reports by the major commands to insure that Reserve installations for which they provide logistic support are included in the Pollution Control Report.

(3) The Chief, National Guard Bureau will submit a report to the Chief of

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

Engineers including those projects for National Guard sites or installations which are supported by Federally appropriated funds.

(b) Major Commands. (1) Major commands controlling installations or activities, or providing logistical support to Reserve installations in the United States, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Canal Zone, Guam, American Samoa, Virgin Islands and the Trust Territories will submit reports in accordance with this regulation.

(2) Major commands controlling installations or activities in overseas areas will submit reports identifying pollution abatement projects required for compliance with host nation regulations, international or Status of Forces Agreements.

(3) Commander, US Army Materiel Command will submit reports on retrofit projects and programs to bring mobile sources (vehicles, aircraft and watercraft) into compliance with air, water and noise standards.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE PREPARATION AND SUBMISSION OF EXHIBITS

§ 650.236 Exhibit 1—Proposed Project.

(a) An Exhibit 1 will be prepared and maintained current for all known pollution control projects using the format in figure 10–1 and for valid environmental protection resource requirements using the format in figure 10–2. Exhibit 1's previously submitted on air and water pollution control projects which are still valid, but not yet completed, do not have to be resubmitted in the new format except when a significant change takes place to make the earlier Exhibit 1 obsolete. Exhibit 1's are not required for completed projects.

(b) Exhibit 1's for new or revised projects or requirements will be submitted semi-annually by November 15, and May 15, of each year to DAEN–FEU based on the latest information as of 30 days prior to the above reporting dates.

(c) Each project will be identified as to the category of pollution control needed (i.e., air, water, solid waste, radiation, noise, pesticides, and environmental management). Projects within a category will be assigned consecutive numbers by DAEN–FEU beginning with "1." Project numbers are for permanent identification and may not be reassigned to new projects. Existing air and water pollution control projects previously numbered under RCS DD–I&L(SA) 1088 are to be continued under their originally assigned numbers. These project numbers apply strictly to this report and are not to be confused with or to replace programing line-item numbers.

(d) Each project at the same installation required for a distinct and separate purpose is to be considered a separate project. Separate projects will be reported individually using the project number assigned by DAEN–FEU.

(e) Every item in Figures 10–1 or 10–2 is to be completed for each project. Where no entry is appropriate, enter NA (Not applicable). A specific effort must be made by the installation to obtain any information not immediately on hand.

(f) The following will be reported as other relevant information:

(1) Item 10 of Exhibit 1 will include information not shown elsewhere on the exhibit which is necessary for the evaluation of the project. For example, where the command knows of changing circumstances which will affect the practicability of undertaking a project at a particular facility (e.g., replacement of a facility or a change in installation mission which would alter control needs), these changes are to be stated. If a project is discontinued, state in this item the reasons and circumstances, if any, which might lead to a re-activation of the projects (e.g., plant is put in layaway; re-activation would be based on further troop strength increase or mobilization requirements).

(2) For facilities leased by the Army which are subject to the provisions of this regulation, describe under Item 10 the lease arrangements that would affect the requirements for control measures for such facilities. Such projects will be included in Exhibit 2 with a reference in the margin to the explanation given on Exhibit 1.

(3) If a project proposed in one environmental category is likely to generate pollution of other types, Item 10 is to include a brief description and how it is to be controlled.

(4) Citations or other forms of litigation by regulatory agencies or other official entities will be reported under Item 10.

(g) Enter in Item 11, Figure 10–1 or Item 5, Figure 10–2 known or estimated funding requirements by appropriation account (OMA, MCA, etc). (This source of project and cost data can be helpful to major commands in the development of annual budget requests to support their environmental program.)

(1) Air.—(i) Item 2. Identify the pollutant(s) by name for which the project will be required (for example: Particulate matter, sulfur oxides, hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide, nitrogen oxides, etc).

(ii) Item 3. State the amount of pollutants emitted by each point of emission being controlled within the facility. These amounts should be measured amounts if available and expressed in the same terms of the applicable emission standard, normally State Standards (e.g., lb/hr, ppm, etc.) in Item 8 at maximum process operating rate.

(iii) Item 4. Identify the specific emission point(s) which the project will control. This identification should be specific (e.g., two coal-fired boilers in building "xyz" rather than just "boiler").

(iv) Item 5. Specify the existing pollution control measures at the individual emission points. If no control measures are being utilized, so state.

(v) Item 6. Indicate the percentage of the pollutant which the control device removes.

(vi) Item 7. Indicate the type control device or process modification to be utilized to control emissions.

(vii) Item 8. Cite the applicable Federal, State or local air pollution emission control standard which the facility is required to meet, referencing the specific code, chapter, and part. Also, include the date the statutory requirements became effective.

(viii) Item 9. Indicate the project schedules proposed by the installation and that required by the statutory standards listed in Item 8. If the schedule for achieving compliance differs from statutory, regulatory, or other milestones and deadlines, indicate the dates the facility will meet them and explain why the statutory or regulatory dates will not be met. If a compliance schedule has been negotiated and accepted by the Regional EPA administrator, list those dates in lieu of those cited in a statute or regulation and indicate the date the compliance schedule was accepted.

(ix) Items 10 & 11. Complete according to instructions §§ 650.236 (a) thru (f).

(2) Water.—(i) Item 2. Describes specific pollution and nature of problem, e.g., unintercepted washrack wastes containing oil and grease; overloaded sewage treatment plant bypasses raw or partly treated sewage to river; combined sewage overflow carries untreated sewage to lake, etc. Use this item and items 3, 6, and 7 as appropriate to describe infiltration inflow problems and measures required by NPDES permit and/or by "Spill Control and Countermeasure Plans" formulated pursuant to 40 CFR Part 112, "Oil Pollution Prevention," and promulgated in chapter 9 of this regulation.

(ii) Item 3. Show amount of waste generated and treated. Indicate gpd, tgd, or mgd.

(iii) Item 4. Show whether discharge is due to water (name of receiving water and location thereon), sewer system (name), land application, subsurface (e.g., septic system, drainfield, etc.).

(iv) Item 5. If problem as described in items 2 and 4 does not relate to an existing or proposed treatment plant, identify in this item the plant, if any, which ultimately receives, or will receive, and treats the wastewater.

(v) Items 6 and 7. In appropriate item, show existing and proposed ppm and/or lbs. in influent and effluent and percent removal for all principal polluting constituents. As a minimum BOD (COD and TOC where applicable) and suspended solids data should be shown wherever possible.

(vi) Item 8. Cite the applicable Federal, State or local discharge standard which the facility is required to meet, referencing the specific code, chapter and part. Also include date statutory requirement became effective. Briefly summarize the discharge limitations if a NPDES permit has not been issued. When a draft or final NPDES permit has been issued, indicate:

(A) When a permit application was submitted;

(B) the application and/or permit number, and the effective and expiration dates of any permit(s) issued; and

(C) the conditions of each permit in summary form, other than the compliance dates which are to be entered in item 9.

(vii) Item 9. Indicate the project schedules proposed by the command and as required by the standards listed in item 8. Where issued, NPDES permit schedules should be entered in the Regulation Schedule column. If the command schedule for achieving compliance differs from the regulatory, or NPDES scheduled dates indicate the date the facility will be in compliance and explain why the required dates will not be met.

(viii) Item 10. Under lease construction arrangements, state who is responsible for obtaining NPDES permits or for meeting schedules and requirements.

(ix) Item 11. Provide funding requirements.

(3) Solid waste.—(i) Item 2. Indicate the activity which is not in compliance with solid waste disposal standards; i.e., waste collection, segregation of wastes, siting or operation of sanitary landfill.

NOTE: Particular attention is to be given to controlling leachate from landfill seeping into ground or surface water sources, control of surface runoff, sanitation of waste collection and transfer systems.

(ii) Item 3. If specific amounts of pollution are known, list or otherwise provide best estimate.

(iii) Item 4. Give details of the problem; i.e., whatever it is that is not in compliance with standards.

(iv) Item 5. Indicate, as applicable, quantities, types, and sources of solid waste handled; frequency of operation; year of original construction/operation; design life; and estimated remaining life.

(v) Item 6. Discuss effectiveness of existing solid waste management system or practices, if applicable.

(vi) Item 7. Give brief description of proposed project which will bring operation into compliance.

(vii) Item 8. Specify the DA, EPA, or other solid waste management guideline applicable and the specific requirement that makes the project necessary and the effective date of the regulation.

(viii) Items 9, 10 and 11. Complete according to instructions §§ 650.236 (a) thru (f)).

(4) Radiation.—(i) Item 2. Identify specific type of pollutant; i.e., plutonium, cobalt 60 and other substances emitting ionizing radiations.

(ii) Item 3. Indicate levels of contamination (Curies or subunits, etc.)

(iii) Item 4. Give details of the problem.

(iv) Item 5. Explain current protection measures being employed, if any.

(v) Item 6. Discuss effectiveness of current control measures.

(vi) Item 7. Give brief description of proposed remedial measures.

(vii) Item 8. Specify AEC, EPA, or DA standards that are applicable and effective date of the regulation.

(viii) Items 9, 10 and 11. Complete according to instructions §§ 650.236 (a) thru (f)).

(5) Noise Pollution.—(i) Item 2. Specify the character of the noise if known or by answering the following questions:

(A) Is the noise impulsive or non-impulsive?

(B) Is the noise on continuously or is it on-and-off intermittently?

(C) When the noise is on, is it steady in level, or does the level of loudness fluctuate?

(D) Is there a discernable tone or whine in the noise?

(ii) Item 3. Specify: (A) the sound level, if measured, and the measurement methodology utilized; (B) the elevation of the noise source, and the distance from the source to the noise impacted area; (C) identify the facilities or areas affected including the nature of the activities affected by the noise intrusions; e.g., churches, schools, hospitals, homes, recreational areas, offices and business areas, etc., and (D) whether areas affected are on or off-post. Technical assistance on identification and characterization of noises should be requested from Commander, US Army Health Services Command (HSC–PA), Fort Sam Houston, TX 78234.

(iii) Item 4. Identify the specific course of noise pollution which requires control. Report as a minimum, those sources which have been the subject of citizen complaints.

(iv) Item 5.

(A) Give description of existing level of noise control provided in terms of noise control management techniques such as engineering noise reduction, land use planning, or administrative procedures on controlling the source, path or receptor.

(B) State if sources of acoustic expertise were provided by an accoustical laboratory within the Army, or from commercial acoustical consultants to obtain noise level data.

(v) Item 6. Describe the effectiveness of existing treatment and control measures.

(vi) Item 7. Describe any remedial measures proposed and estimated effect in correcting the noise problem.

(vii) Item 8. Specify those portions and effective dates of applicable Federal, State or local noise regulations, statutes, standards to which the project responds, and the acceptable sound level permitted thereafter. If no regulations are known to apply, indicate if the nature of citizen complaints would justify some form of corrective action.

(viii) Item 9. Indicate the project schedules proposed to comply with standards listed in Item 8. If the schedule for achieving compliance differs from statutory or, regulatory laws, indicate the dates the requirements will be met and explain the reasons therefor.

(A) Identify the complaints received on the noise source in terms of the nature and number of complaints, source of complaints (military or civilian) and how they were registered with the installation (e.g., petitions, phone calls, letters, telegrams, etc.).

(B) Indicate if any legal actions are anticipated or have been initiated against the installation as a result of this reported source of environmental nose pollution.

(x) Item 11. Provide funding requirements.

(6) Pesticides and hazardous/toxic materials. (i) Projects to be reported should involve the control and abatement of pesticide and hazardous/toxic material pollution. Do not describe proposed and/or current programs involving the use of pesticides. Examples of pollution control projects would be measures to correct inadequate storage or disposal facilities to clean up land areas contaminated as a result of a pesticide spill, to provide mixing sinks and bathing facilities for personnel to repackage leaking chemical stock's, etc.

(ii) Item 2. Identify the pesticide or chemical that is the source of pollution and indicate the reason for correcting existing conditions.

(iii) Items 3 thru 6. Complete according to instructions (§§650.236(a) thru (f)).

(iv) Item 7. Describe the proposed method of disposal or nature of proposed corrective action.

(v) Items 8 thru 11 Complete according to instructions (§§ 650.236(a) thru (f)).

(7) Environmental Management. (i) Exhibit 1–EM (figure 10–2) will be used to identify needed resources not included in an Exhibit 1 prepared in accordance with a previous paragraph but are required to comply with the provisions of this regulation. Items to be reported are those needed for the management of an installation environmental program and can logically include:

(A) NEPA resources—Preparation of Environmental Assessments and Environmental Impact Statements.

(B) Manpower resources—Full time environmental coordinators, staff officers, instructors, etc.

(C) Training—Schooling for operators (i.e., sewage treatment plant operators, lab technicians, pesticide applicators); training for management personnel (i.e., environmental co-ordinator, sanitary engineers, etc.).

(D) Environmental surveys—Ecological or archelogical surveys of an installation to obtain information needed for an Environmental Impact Assessment or an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS or EIS).

(E) Special studies—Technical or engineering studies to define sources of pollution and identify possible remedial measures.

(F) Other—Specify.

(ii) Item 2. Identify the basic requirement using the identifications in subparagraphs (1) (i) (A) through (F) of this paragraph.

(iii) Item 3. Explain the requirement and provide a brief justification for any new or additional resources needed for the management of the installation environmental program.

V 40 232 DEC 2 75 5 XUM

(iv) Item 4. List only those items which are quantifiable, such as number of personnel required, special equipment items, school courses, man-year requirements for studies, etc. by fiscal year.

(v) Item 5. Cite one-time costs or 5-year projected costs by appropriation as applicable.

(vi) Item 6. List other relevant information and specify. (See example and § 650.236(f)).

(h) Sample Exhibits—Examples of Exhibit 1's for each of the media are shown in figures 10–3 through 10–9.

§ 650.237 Exhibit 2—Status Report.

(a) Exhibit 2 is a command report which provides a financial summary of the projects in the program and their status. A separate Exhibit 2 is required for each media or category of projects (i.e., air, water, noise, solid waste, etc.) and will be submitted semi-annually along with Exhibit 1's on November 15 and May 15 of each year.

(b) Exhibit 2 will include all active projects plus those completed or discontinued subsequent to the submission of the previous report. Once a project is reported as completed or discontinued, it will be dropped from the report. The May 15 report will contain all projects which the command will submit in the next fiscal year budget. In addition, the November 15 report will reflect congressional appropriation action taken on the prior fiscal year budget.

(c) The initial Exhibit 2's for each media will be prepared by the reporting command using the format in Figure 10–10. Subsequent reports will be only an update of the previous command report. As each Exhibit 2 is received from a command, it will be converted to an ADP printout and returned to the reporting command by DAEN–FEU in 45–60 days for use in the next report update. The following updating procedures will be observed:

(1) One copy of a marked-up printout of the previous Exhibit 2 will accompany the semi-annual report.

(2) Corrections, changes and additions will be made neatly with a RED marking pen.

(3) An asterisk in the left margin will be used to identify projects which have been completed, discontinued or changed.

(4) New projects will be added to the bottom of the appropriate media printout.

(5) Exhibit 2's submitted on May 15 will contain the amount included or proposed to be included in the President's budget for each project, or the amount actually appropriated or funded.

(6) Major Command updating will be done only for non-MCA funded projects. MCA funded project status will be updated by DAEN–FEU.

(7) Each revision of Exhibit 2 will reflect the information as of October 30 and April 20, as appropriate.

(8) Funding totals by appropriation type for each fiscal year and for each media reported will be provided at the bottom of the last page:

(9) Current and relevant information will be presented in the "Status" column using the following format:

(i) Indicate "PP ——" if the project is in the preliminary planning stage. The blank provided should contain the estimated completion date for construction.

(ii) Indicate "DES ——" if the project is under design or has been designed, but is not under construction. The blank provided should contain the estimated completion date for construction and not the completion date of design.

(iii) Indicate "CON—" if the project is under construction. The blank provided should contain the estimated completion date.

(iv) Indicate "CPL —" if the project has been completed. The blank provided should contain the actual completion date.

(v) Indicate "DIS" if the project has been discontinued or dropped. Reasons should be given.

(vi) Indicate "DEF" if the project has been deferred or significantly delayed. Reasons for and what corrective actions taken, if any, should be given.

(vii) Indicate "OTH" if other than the above circumstances apply. An explanation should be given.

§ 650.238—Exhibit 3—Narrative Report.

(a) The Narrative Report will be a brief summary of the command environmental program. No specific format is prescribed; however, it will contain the following:

(1) Financial displays for the current FYDP period by appropriation account (MCA, PA, OMA, etc.) and by program media (air, water, noise, etc.). The elements of the program presented in the Exhibit 1–EM are to be aggregated by management activity to identify funding requirements for training, preparation of EIA/EIS, environmental surveys and studies, personnel costs, etc.

(2) An explanatoin of the environmental objectives to be achiveed by completing the projects reported or funding those activities contained in Exhibit 1's. For any specific portion of the program that requires more than 12 months to complete, identify the major milestones for accomplishing the actions.

(3) Elements of the command program that will be given particular emphasis over the short term.

(4) Projection of when statutory pollution control requirements, Federal or state, will be satisfied by the various elements of a command.

(5) Summary of potential or pending environmental litigation involving installations within the command.

(6) Explanation of anticipated problem areas requiring DA assistance.

(b) The content of the narrative report is basically a forecast of how the major command intends to accomplish its environmental program during the succeeding 12 months. This requirement should not be confused with the requirement for the annual status report (RCS DD–H&E(A) 1269), specified in § 650.9 of Subpart A of this part of this regulation, which is an annual summary of environmental protection accomplishments for the specified preceding calendar year.

1. Facility.
Name: Camp Faraway.
Address: Mulch City, Enny County, S.D.
Agency Contact: Col. John Smith, Facilities Engineer (615) 755–0022.

2. Specific Type of Pollution. Camp landfill.

3. Amount of Pollution. Leachate of high BOD concentration.

4. Pollution Source, and Discharge, Emission, or Deposit Point. Landfill is used for disposal of installation wastes. Due to frequent rains, wastes build up high moisture content and leachate, which emanates from side of fill. Also, area is noted to be a common breeding ground for flies and mosquitos, and is generally unsightly.

5. Existing Treatment and Other Control Measures. a. Landfill receives 10 tons per day of solid waste altogether, 5 from the Camp and 5 from the nearby Lindberg Air Base. It consists mainly of normal municipal-type wastes delivered on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Once a week a large load of oily rags is dumped in one corner of the landfill site.

b. Landfill was first opened in Summer of 1970 and is designed to operate until 1990.

c. Some control of run-off waters is exercised by a trench on the downhill side of landfill draining into a settling pond.

6. Effectiveness of Existing Treatment and Control. Trench prevents run-off waters from entering local bay waters, but does not solve vector, or aesthetic problems, nor does it minimize the amount of leachate forming.

7. Remedial Measures Proposed and Estimated Effect in Correcting Problem. Purchase of bulldozer to compact and cover wastes, minimize formation of leachate, control vectors, and improve general appearance. Relocate landfill to area with better drainage.

8. Applicable Standards. EPA Guidelines for Land Disposal of Solid Wastes, published in FEDERAL REGISTER July 1, 1974, requirements under sections 241.204, 241.207, 241.208, 241.209, and 241.210.

3. Amount of Pollution. Isotopes of iron and manganese exceed new AEC and Army standards for water coolants.

4. Pollution Source and Discharge, Emission or Deposit Point. Primary coolant water discharged to holding tank and then periodically released to Lake Enny.

5. Existing Treatment and Other Control Measure. Holding tank before release to lake.

6. Effectiveness of Existing Treatment and Control. Only limited decay obtained from retention in holding tank.

7. Remedial Measures Proposed and Estimated Effect in Correcting Problem. Redesign holding tank system to include addition of ion exchanger.

8. Applicable Standards and Regulations. 10 CFR Part 20 and AR 85–80.

GSA Inventory Control No.: 45678

1. Facility.
Name: Camp Faraway.
Address: Mulch City, Enny County, SD
Agency Contact: Col. John Smith, Facilities Engineer (615) 755–0022.

2. Specific Type of Pollution. Noise is broadband with discernible tones. (Noise is nonimpulsive; it is continuous at a steady in level, but with a discernible tone).

3. Amount of Pollution. The source measures 75 dBA at the property line. Source is 20 feet from boundary line at a height of 15 feet. Facilities or areas affected: Civilian school and housing (off the installation).

4. Pollution Source, and Discharge, Emission, or Deposit Point. One power plant with forced draft fans and cooling tower.

5. Existing Treatment and Other Control Measures. No noise control exists. Acoustic expertise-Acoustics, Inc., Chicago, IL.

6. Effectiveness of Existing Treatment and Control. None.

7. Remedial Measures Proposed and Estimated Effect in Correcting Problems. Installation of commercially available mufflers on all forced draft fans and noise enclosure on cooling tower. It is expected that this action will lower the sound level below the background noise.

8. Applicable Standards. Mulch Noise Ordinance, Section 4–12, Chapter 17 of the Municipal Code of Mulch, requires that the noise level at the boundary line in business and commercial districts not exceed 62 dBA.

9. Project Schedule.

PART III (Section 1):

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

PRIVACY ACT OF 1974

Notice of Systems of Records

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

Department of the Treasury
Privacy Act of 1974
Notice of Systems of Records

Notice is hereby given that the Department of the Treasury, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4) and (11), Sec. 3 of the Privacy Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-579) (88 Stat. 1896) ("Act"), adopts the Notice of Systems of Records set forth below.

The Notice of Systems of Records was drafted and the files to be noticed were selected with major reliance on the "Guidelines and Responsibilities" for implementation of the Act published by the Office of Management and Budget in the Federal Register for Wednesday, July 9, 1975 (40 FR 28949).

The notice consists of an alphabetical listing of the systems of records of the Department of the Treasury by bureau or office. The alphabetical list is followed by the notices of systems of records which are required by the Act to be published. In addition, some of the notices for a bureau or office are followed by an Appendix A which sets forth addresses applicable to notices for the corresponding bureau or office. All of the notices for the Department are followed by an Appendix AA which sets forth general routine uses applicable to all noticed systems of records and incorporated by reference into the notice of each particular system of records. Such routine uses are centralized to avoid unnecessary repetition and to assist the public in its review and use of the proposed notice.

The notice does not identify expressly those systems of records existing within the Department with respect to which another Federal agency has assumed responsibility for publishing a general notice applicable to such systems of records. The primary example is the publication of systems of records pertaining to Federal employee personnel records by the United States Civil Service Commission.

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(11), the routine uses of each of these named systems of records were set out for public comment in the August 26, 1975 (40 FR 37640), September 9, 1975 (40 FR 41956) or October 31, 1975 (40 FR 50852) issue of the Federal Register. As a result of comments received including those from bureaus and offices of the Treasury, there have been several minor amendments to the notices.

Effective date. This notice shall be effective immediately.

Dated: Nov. 24, 1975.

Richard R. Albrecht,
General Counsel.

Treasury/OS 00.010

System name: Office of Debt Analysis, Actuarial Valuation System—Treasury/OS.

System location: Office of the Secretary of the Treasury, Office of Debt Analysis, Office of the Government Actuary, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Participants and beneficiaries of the following pension plans: District of Columbia: Teachers, Policemen, Firemen, Judges. U.S. Tax Court Judges, U.S. Foreign Service officers and staff personnel, U.S.I.A. Officers and staff personnel.

Categories of records in the system: Information in the system is as follows: Active Records: name; social security number; salary; category-grade; year of entry into system; service computation date; year of birth; year of resignation or year of death, & refund if any; indication of LWOP status (if any); Retired Records: same as actives; annuity; year of separation; cause of separation (optional, disability, deferred, etc.); years and months of service by type of service; single or married; spouse's year of birth; principal's year of death; number and ages of children on annuity roll; year of termination of survivors.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Statutes require the Secretary of the Treasury to certify the valuation of pension funds as follows: D.C. Teachers, 60 Stat. 881; D.C. Judges, 78 Stat. 1061; U.S. Tax Court Judges 26 U.S.C. 7448; U.S. Foreign Service Officers, USIA Officers and staff 22 USC 1101. In addition, the House District Committee formally requested certification of the pension funds for D.C. police and firemen.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The Government Actuary performs mathematical computations to assess expected income and outlays of pension funds listed in the "Category of Individual" section. For additional routine uses, see Appendix AA.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system: Data are on punched cards and computer print-outs. Individuals are listed alphabetically. Records are stored in the Actuary's office in the locked and guarded Treasury Building. The records are retained on a year-to-year basis. When agencies whose pension funds are valued forward new records for valuation, older records are discarded.

System manager(s) and address: The Government Actuary, Office of the Secretary of the Treasury, 15th and Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220.

Notification procedure: The Government Actuary keeps subject records for statistical purposes only and does not release information on individual records. See System Manager above.

Record access procedures: Inquiries should be directed to the organization whose pension funds are valued. If that organization's address is unknown to the inquirer, the Government Actuary will forward the inquiry to the appropriate organization.

Contesting record procedures: See Notification and Access above.

Record source categories: Data for actuarial valuation are provided by organizations responsible for pension funds listed under "Category of Individual," namely the District of Columbia Government, the U.S. Tax court, the U.S. Foreign Service and the U.S. Information Agency.

Treasury/OS 00.045

System name: Personnel Security Files—Treasury/OS

System location: Room 1306, Main Treasury Building, Personnel Division, Security Branch, Office of the Secretary, Department of the Treasury.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Government employees or applicants occupying or applying for Sensitive positions in the Office of the Secretary of the Treasury as defined in EO 10450 and FPM 736 and Chapter 736, Treasury Personnel Manual. Also, contract employees who require access to classified information as defined in EO 11652.

Categories of records in the system: Full field or limited background investigations, and FBI Name Checks.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Sections 2 and 3, EO 10450.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: Consistent with the provisions of Sections 5 and 6, EO 10450, when unfavorable or questionable information is developed on an employee or applicant which could conceivably have a deleterious affect on the position filled or to be filled or adversely affect the granting of a security clearance, such information is made available to the appropriate employing officials limited only to those transcendent authorities who are in a position to make final determinations on hiring, continued employment or access to classified information. In addition, files are periodically made available to official investigative or security personnel from other U.S. Government agencies, upon request, when an employee or former employee is being considered for employment by another U.S. Government agency for a Sensitive position as defined in EO 10450. For additional routine uses, see Appendix AA.

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: Each security file is inserted into an individual file folder which is filed in metal containers designed for the storage of classified information and secured by government approved three-position, combination locks.

Retrievability: Each security file folder is identified by the name of the person to whom it applies and these are filed in alphabetical order.

Safeguards: In addition to being stored in secure metal containers with government approved, combination locks, the metal containers are located in locked rooms, the keys of which are controlled and issued to the custodians of the files. The security specialists and administrative personnel who maintain the files are selected for their experience and afforded access only after having been cleared by a full-field background investigation and granted appropriate security clearances consistent with the provisions of EO 10450 for critical-sensitive positions. Those departmental officials who may occasionally be granted access consistent with their positions to employ and concur in the granting of security clearances have also been investigated prior to filling critical-sensitive positions as required by EO 10450.

Retention and disposal: Active security files are retained during incumbent employment tenure, and subject to update investigation as required by EO 10450. Files of employees who affect intra-agency transfers (to other Department of the Treasury Bureaus) are automatically transferred to the gaining Bureaus. If an employee leaves the government or is transferred to another governmental department, the file is retained, but separated from the active files, for a period of five years, except for background investigations completed by the Civil Service Commission which are returned to that agency immediately following the employee's departure from the Department.

Treasury/OS 00.049

System name: Security Clearance Index Card File, Security Branch, Office of the Secretary of the Treasury—Treasury/OS.

System location: Room 1306, Main Treasury Building, Personnel Division, Security Branch, Office of the Secretary, Department of the Treasury.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Government employees occupying positions within the Office of the Secretary, including Consultants, occupying Sensitive positions and on whom security investigations have been completed pursuant to EO 10450 and who have been granted security clearances for access to classified information as defined in EO 11652.

Categories of records in the system: TD Form 4027 (Notice of Security Clearance) reflecting identification data on incumbent and record and type of EO 10450 investigation and degree and date of security clearance.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Local implementation to facilitate responses for inquiries on security clearances from within Treasury and from other federal agencies on Treasury employees who may transfer or who may attend classified conferences or meetings.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: When inquiries are received from offices within Treasury or other federal agencies as to the clearance status of Treasury employees who may have an official need to attend classified conferences or meetings or have access to classified documents, the availability of this index system facilitates a response. For additional routine uses, see Appendix AA.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: The alphabetized indices are filed in a metal, 3 x 5 card file cabinet available to authorized security and administrative specialists on duty in the Security Branch during normal working hours. During non-working periods, the office in which the file is located is locked, with keys issued only to those who are normally employed in the office and an emergency key in the custody of the Officer in Charge of the Treasury Security Force.

Retrievability: Since each card is filed alphabetically by the last name of the individuals concerned, they are retrieved accordingly.

Safeguards: As indicated under "Storage" above, the metal card file is located in an office which is under direct supervision of an authorized employee of the Security Branch during normal working hours, and in a locked office during non-working hours.

Retention and disposal: The active indices are maintained on current employees and when an employee departs the Office of the Secretary for employment elsewhere, the card is transferred to an inactive index where it is maintained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address: Chief, Security Branch, Personnel Division, Room 1306, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury (Administration), Office of the Secretary, Department of the Treasury, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenue, Northwest, Washington, D.C. 20220.

Authority for maintenance of the system: The Civil Service Commission in the Federal Personnel Manual (Chapter 713, Subchapter 3A), establishes the full control of an automated minority group identification system under the agency Director, Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO), or his designated EEO Official.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The centralized system for Reporting Employment Statistics in the Treasury is used to furnish statistics on employment distribution to Personnel Officers, EEO Officers and Department staff as needed. Also, a periodic report of employment statistics on distribution of minority groups and female employees is provided to all Personnel and EEO Offices. Data will be provided OMB, the White House and Congress upon request. For additional routine uses see Appendix AA.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system: The Centralized Automated System for Reporting Employment Statistics is kept on a mag-tape which is the master file for minority and female statistics. Information concerning the employee is retrievable through the use of the individual's social security number. The mag-tape is not kept more than a year and is reused normally for the same or similar data. Tape data is reduced to hard copy in the form of reports.The Director, Equal Opportunity Program (EOP), is the designated Treasury official responsible to insure that minority group identification of Department employees is maintained and used in such a manner that will guard against the invasion of privacy of employees as set forth in all regulations.

System manager(s) and address: Chief, Treasury Employee Data and Payroll Division, Department of the Treasury, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20220.

Notification procedure: Office, Equal Opportunity Program, Department of the Treasury, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20220. Record source categories: The Processing Clerk enters each new employee's minority group designation code, cost code or organization designation code, sex code, citizenship code and supervisory position code on one copy of the SF-50 and sends it to the IRS Data Center.

Treasury/OS 00.082

System name: EEO Complaint Processing System—Treasury/OS.

System location: Office, Equal Opportunity Program, Department of the Treasury, Room 1000, 1612 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Applicants for employment and aggrieved employees who have filed formal Equal Employment Opportunity complaints against the Department and its Bureaus.

Categories of records in the system: Each EEO investigative file contains: (a) a copy of each affidavit of the complainant, the alleged discriminatory official, and other witnesses; (b) a copy of each agency record obtained; and (c) a copy of the other information acquired in the investigation. When information concerning the agency's policies or procedures is essential to an understanding of matters covered by the investigation, a copy of, or an excerpt from this material will be included in the file. Files may include, depending on complainants exercising appeal rights, Hearing Transcripts and Decisions by Civil Service Commission Complaints Examiners, and Decisions by the Appeals Review Board.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Part 713.203(k) of the Civil Service Commission's Rules and Regulations, require agencies to "provide for the prompt, fair and impartial consideration and disposition of complaints involving issues of discrimination on grounds of race, color, religion, sex or national origin." Federal Personnel Manual Letter No. 713-25, provides "an agency will process complaints of discrimination on account of age."

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The EEO investigative record is used to resolve complaints of discrimination between aggrieved employees or applicants for employment, and agency management. For additional routine uses see Appendix AA.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system: The records are maintained in EEO complaint case file folders. The files are maintained by the name of the complainant in an alphabetical order. The Director, Equal Opportunity Program, and his EEO staff, and the Civil Service Commission have access to these files. The Federal District Courts have access to the files in the event the complainant appeals to that level. Normally, the files are maintained in the Department of Treasury for a period of from two (2) to three (3) years before being forwarded to the Federal Records Center, Alexandria, Virginia.

System manager(s) and address: Director, Office of Equal Opportunity Program, Department of the Treasury, 15th and Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20220. Treasury/OS 00.111 System name: FAC 1950 Census of Blocked Chinese Assets—Treasury/OS.

System location: 1331 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20220.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Most of these records contain reports and correspondence regarding blocked accounts of persons or firms who are nationals of the Peoples Republic of China. However, there is a small class of cases where reports were received regarding the assets of an individual subject to U.S. jurisdiction when such individual is the trustee of a Chinese national, Administrator or Executor of the estate of a Chinese national, heir of the estate of a Chinese national, etc. Most of the persons filing these reports were American corporations. However, a small number of reporters were American individuals.

The principal category is individuals residing in China who had an interest in property in the U.S. on December 18, 1950. This category would include (a) U.S. citizens who left China after December 17, 1950; and (b) non-U.S. citizens who left China after December 17, 1950, and became U.S. citizens or permanent alien residents of the U.S.

In addition, this system includes individuals in the U.S. who had acted for or on behalf of the government of the Peoples Republic of China, or individuals who had an interest in property in which there was also an interest of a Chinese national on or since December 17, 1950, for example, trusts and estates, joint accounts and partnerships.

Categories of records in the system: (6) Reports containing a brief description, including location and value, of assets in the U.S. on December 18, 1950, in which, China or a Chinese "national" (as defined in the Regulations) had any interest. (2) Correspondence regarding such reports. (3) A computer print-out summarizing the information contained in the reports.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Section 5(b) of the Trading with the Enemy Act (50 U.S.C. App., Section 5(b)). Section 500.603 of the Foreign Assets Control Regulations (31 CFR 500.603).

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The information in this system of records: (1) is used by staff to verify the accuracy of reports submitted under the 1970 Census of Blocked Chinese Assets; (2) is made available to the Chief of Enforcement, in connection with determining the present whereabouts of holders or custodians who cannot be located; (3) is made available to the Chief of Licensing for assistance in determining the propriety of the release of blocked property; (4) is made available to the Legal Section in connection with questions regarding the disposition of blocked property requiring a legal opinion; (5) is made available to the Acting Director in connection with questions regarding the property reported under the 1950 census; (6) is made available to the original holder or custodian of blocked Chinese property or his successor in interest to aid in preparation of the 1970 census report; (7) is made available to the legal representatives of persons listed in (1) to aid in preparation of the 1970 census report; (8) for additional routine uses see Appendix AA.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: Reports and correspondence files.

Retrievability: Reports are indexed by name of holder or custodian of blocked property, by name of individual for whom blocked accounts are maintained, and by report number. Files are indexed by name of holder or custodian of blocked property or by name of individual.

Safeguards: The FAC 1950 Census of Blocked Chinese Assets records consist of documents in folders and a computer print out. Some of these files are stored in file cabinets secured by approved detachable combination locks. The room where these records are stored is manned by FAC personnel who are instructed not to admit unauthorized persons, nor to release any material from these records to persons other than FAC personnel. During off duty hours this room is locked and safeguarded by appropriate security measures. The remainder of these files are stored in a supply room which is always locked except when in use by FAC personnel.

Retention and disposal: None have been destroyed.

System manager(s) and address: Office of Foreign Assets Control, U.S. Treasury Department, Washington, D.C. 20220.

Notification procedure: Requests by an individual for notification as to whether FAC 1950 Census of Blocked Chinese Assets records contain information relating to him should be—(a) Mailed: Office of Foreign Assets Control, U.S. Treasury Department, Washington, D.C. 20220. (b) Presented in person: Office of Foreign Assets Control, 1331 G. Street N.W., Room 500, Washington, D.C.

Record access procedures: Requests for information on gaining access to or contesting of information contained in Foreign Assets Control 1950 Census of Blocked Chinese Assets records should be mailed to: Director, Office of Foreign Assets Control, U.S. Treasury Department, Washington, D.C. 20220.

Treasury/OS 00.113

System name: FAC 1964 Census of Blocked Cuban Assets—Treasury/OS

System location: Federal Record Center, Suitland, Maryland

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Most of these records contain reports and correspondence regarding blocked accounts of persons or firms who are nationals of Cuba. However, there is a small class of cases where reports were received regarding the assets of an individual subject to U.S. jurisdiction when such individual is the trustee of a Cuban national, Administrator or Executor of the estate of a Cuban national, heir of the estate of a Cuban national, etc. Most of the persons filing these reports were American corporations. However, a small number of reporters were American individuals.

The principal category is residents of Cuba, who had an interest in property in the U.S. on July 8, 1963. This category would also include (a) U.S. citizens who left Cuba after July 8, 1963, and (b) non-U.S. citizens who left Cuba after 1963 and became U.S. citizens or permanent alien residents of the U.S. In addition, this system includes individuals in the U.S. who had acted for or on behalf of the government of Cuba, or individuals who had an interest in property in which there was also an interest of a Cuban national on or since July 8, 1963, for example, trusts and estates, joint accounts and partnerships.

Categories of records in the system: (1) Reports containing a brief description, including location and value of assets in the U.S. on

V40232 DEC 2 75 XUM

July 8, 1963, in which Cuba or a Cuban "national" (as defined in the Regulations) had any interest. (2) Correspondence regarding such reports. (3) A computer print out summarizing the information contained in the reports.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Section 5(b) of the Trading with the Enemy Act (50 USC, App., Section 5(b). Section 620(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 USC Section 2370(a)). Cuban Assets Control Regulations 31 CFR Part 515.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The information in this system of records may be used in connection with a future census of blocked Cuban assets. This census would be undertaken as part of a vesting and claims program to compensate Americans who had property nationalized or expropriated by the Cuban government. The uses may be as follows: (1) by staff to determine persons to whom specific correspondence should be addressed advising them of the census requirements; (2) by staff to verify the accuracy of reports submitted under a new census; (3) by the Chief of Enforcement, in connection with determining the present where-abouts of holders or custodians who cannot be located; (4) by the Chief of Licensing for assistance in determining the propriety of the release of blocked property; (5) by the Legal Section in connection with questions regarding the disposition of blocked property requiring a legal opinion; (6) by the Director in connection with questions regarding the property reported under the 1964 census; (7) may be made available to the original holder or custodian of blocked Cuban property or his successor in interest to aid in preparation of a new census report; (8) may be available to the legal representatives of persons listed in (7) to aid in preparation of a new census report.

Contesting record procedures: See Access above.

Record source categories: Serves as a central point for locating correspondence of a general nature handled by the Disclosure Staff which is not otherwise processed under any other system of records reported by the Disclosure Staff. For example, this system of records contains requests for address information; inquiries from members of Congress, both on their own behalf and those of their constituents; requests from Governors to inspect out of state tax returns; and requests for general information about the Service's disclosure practices and policies. In most cases, the file contains only the incoming request and reply. On occasion, the file may contain memoranda to further clarify the request or to seek additional information to satisfy the nature of the inquiry. For the most part, information required to respond to these inquiries is obtained from the National Computer Center, showing the latest address on record for the taxpayer, or information may be obtained from field offices concerning the individual tax affairs of the persons making the inquiry or who are of interest to the persons making the request. This information would include data from the individual's income tax return, that supplemental to it, and that obtained by the Service in its examination or investigation. In some instances, information directly bearing on the request would be obtained from functions within the National Office, such as the Audit Division, to clarify a matter within their jurisdiction.

(8) In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, state, local or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto. (9) For additional routine uses see Appendix AA.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: Paper records.

Retrievability: Records are retrievable by the name of the person to whom they apply.

Safeguards: Access is limited to employees who have a need for such records in the course of their work. Background checks are made on employees. All facilities where records are stored have access limited to authorized personnel or individuals in the company of authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal: Except for files retained for their research value, Regional Counsel legal files are generally retired to the Federal Records Center three years after they are closed and disposed of 10 years after being closed. National Office legal files are retired to the Federal Records Center 5 years after the case is closed. National Office non-precedent cases are transferred to the National Archives 20 years after the case is closed. Records other than legal files are retained indefinitely and disposed of when no longer useful. Files transferred from other divisions are returned to the source when no longer needed.

System manager(s) and address: Each Regional Counsel is the system manager of the systems in his or her Region. The Director of the General Litigation Division is the system manager of the National Office system. The addresses are in the Appendix.

Notification procedure: Most of the records in this system may not be accessed for purposes of determining if the records pertain to a particular individual as the records are exempt under 5 U.S.C. 552a(d) (5) and/or (k) (2). An individual who wishes to determine whether the system contains any records pertaining to himself which are not exempt may address inquiries to the Regional Counsel of the Region in which the records are located or the Director of the Disclosure Division in the case of National Office Records. The addresses are listed in the Appendix. Inquiries must be made in accordance with the instructions appearing at 31 C.F.R. Part 1, Subpart C, Appendix B.

Record access procedures: Most of the records in this system may not be accessed for purposes of inspection or for contest of content of records as the records are exempt under 5 U.S.C. 552a (d) (5) and/or (k) (2). Individuals seeking access to any record which is not exempt or seeking to contest its content, may inquire in accordance with instructions appearing at 31 C.F.R. Part 1, Subpart C, Appendix B. Inquiries should be addressed to the Regional Counsel of the Region in which the records are located or the Director of the Disclosure Division in the case of National Office Records. The addresses are listed in the Appendix. Taxpayers seeking to adjust records which affect the determination of a tax assessment or the balance due, should utilize existing procedures for doing so, as substantive tax matters are not subject to the amendment provisions of the Privacy Act.

Contesting record procedures: See Access above.

Record source categories: Taxpayers and their representatives, Department of Treasury personnel, Other Federal agencies, State, local, and foreign governments, Witnesses, Informants, Parties to disputed matters of fact or law, Other persons who communicate with the Internal Revenue Service.
